THE INCOME TAX. — Much virtuous indignation has been expended by some people, in denouncing the law which subjects all incomes (unless derived from government bonds) above a certain limit to a special tax, as being oppressive; and some have argued that it is calculated to produce immorality, in the shape of falsehood and fraud, and should be abolished for that reason! The latter argument has no force at all; for any man who will lie that he may be enabled to steal under one law, would lie and steal under any other, if he got a chance; and his "morality" is not worth saving or mentioning.

The income tax law is only oppressive in that it compels men of wealth to pay a tax which they do not want to pay, though well able to. Poor men—laborers and mechanics—do not find it crushing in its operation; but if the income tax was collected from them, and the rich allowed to go scot free, we should not have many of those who now cry out against the law then opposing it. Gen. Butler's plan for taxing all railroad tickets and telegraphic messages a specified sum, and abolishing the income tax, has not occasioned such a howl of holy horror as is raised against the latter, though its operation would be much more oppressive and unequal; for a poor man who should ride on a railroad would have to pay the same tax as a rich one, without regard to the difference in their fortunes.

The income tax is a tax on wealth only; and wealth only inveighs against it,—because wealth doesn't want to be taxed at all. One while there was a great outcry in certain quarters about "taxing the bonds," which was a ridiculous demand, inasmuch as it was simply saying that we should "live on the interest of what we owe,"—that the nation should tax its own debts. But had the demand been that the income from those bonds should be treated the same as incomes from any other sources, and taxed the same, it would have been supported by justice and common sense; for there is no reason why the man whose wealth is invested in trade or manufactures should be taxed, and the owner of bonds go free—such a course is affixing a positive penalty to enterprise of all kinds, and offering a premium to the hoarding of capital.

America is not the only nation with a national debt; England tried it before we did. But unlike us, that country never considered the expediency of taxing what she owed to other people; and as no other means was for a long time devised by which holders of the national debt could be made to contribute their fair share towards defraying the current national expenses, many of the wealthiest men in England paid next to nothing in the shape of taxes. Their money was all invested in non-taxable government bonds.

But at last the income-tax scheme was hit upon, and carried out, despite the shrieks of "oppression," "invasion of private affairs" and "injustice," with which it was assailed, and the gigantic efforts of privileged wealth to prevent its being adopted. The result has been that several million pounds sterling are poured into the British Treasury every year, by property which formerly paid no taxes at all, and without any branch of productive industry being crippled or a single poor man being harassed or oppressed.

The wealthy Britisher groans bitterly over his sorrows, it is true, just the way the wealthy Yankee does—both of them considering that the poor should be taxed for the support of those who are really unable to pay taxes—the rich. But John Bull holds well on to the plan he has found to work so well—the income tax—and Uncle Sam, if wise, will do the same, notwithstanding the wailings of those "oppressed" with wealth on which they don't want to pay taxes. But to make the law perfectly just, all incomes, from whatever source derived, should be included.

I do not intend to discuss the question as to whether the tax is too high, or the amount exempted too small; but in face of the pathetic appeals, elaborate arguments and fierce denunciations of many New England papers, I venture to assert that no possible tax can be imposed which will bear so lightly on the workingmen of the country—the real wealth-producers—as a tax on the surplus wealth of the moneyed classes.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1870.

THE SENATOR.—Whether or no Mr. Cragin shall succeed himself and succeed to himself as U. S. Senator, is one of the questions of the day—among the press of New Hampshire, at least. The Manchester Mirror having come out for any other man almost, rather than him, on the plea of rotation in office; the Lebanon Free Press quietly remarks that the Mirror went for John P. Hale's and Judge Clark's re-elections, under circumstances similar to Mr. Cragin—and that the proprietor of the Mirror was willing to accept a third election as State Printer.

To this the Mirror responds that as the Republicans refused to re-elect either of the other great men named, to a third term, so also they should find a substitute for Mr. Cragin. As to the State Printing, he says he is not again a candidate, until the office has gone the rounds of Portsmouth, Dover, Nashua, Laconia, Lebanon, &c., where he claims it should go; and that there is no rule as to this appointment when outside Concord—and as the Sec. of State and other officers hold for three years, he claims no point made on this.

Since our friend of the Mirror asks why the Portsmouth Chronicle, Dover Enquirer, &c., claim that in asking the re-election of Senator Cragin, they only follow established precedent—we reply, because we believe the facts bear us out in the statement. And as to the rights of the case, we think the interests of this State, and especially this section of it, will best be promoted by his re-election.

The Chronicle has never been a loud shouter for rotation in office. We have always gone, rather, for keeping in the old incumbents—not, generally, for their own sakes, but for the good of the body politic.

The Portsmouth delegation, too, went mostly for keeping Hale, and Clark; and we have no doubt will support Cragin. They also, both the delegation and the Chronicle, went in for the editor of the Manchester Mirror for State Printer, for all the three years he asked for it; and thus we don't think he can find much fault with us, that we adhere to Mr. Cragin, for a second Senatorial term.

BANK ROBBERY AT ROCKLAND, ME. The vault of the Lime Rock Bank was broken into Wednesday night, and the safe blown open and rifled of its contents. The burglars effected an entrance by breaking open the telegraph office adjoining the bank, and digging through the brick wall separating the telegraph office from the bank vault, in precisely the same manner as when the former attempt was made upon the safe last September. The door of the safe was blown entirely off, and the brick wall between the bank and telegraph office was badly cracked and bulged by the explosion.

CONGRESS.—In the House, Wednesday, Mr. Ela of N. H. offered a resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Commerce, directing the Secretary of War to have a survey and estimate made of the cost of removing obstructions from Cocheco River, at Dover.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES—No.1

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL MINISTER IN PORTSMOUTH.—Settlements commenced in Portsmouth in 1623, and the first meeting was Episcopalian. Prior to 1638 a house of worship was built, and Rev. Richard Gilson preached. He closed about 1642. From that period there is no record of any operations of the Society until 1680, and not much until 1733, when Queen's Chapel was built. Afterwards the name was changed to St. John's Church, which is still retained.

About 1658 the Congregationalists began, and built a meeting house a little south of the south mill dam.

Joshua Moody was the first invited to preach. The town seems to have been awake to a sense of religious propriety and decorum at the time of religious worship, as a vote was passed to build a cage for those who used tobacco or slept at meeting. It would require many cages now in some places for such.

Mr. Moody was a native of Wales in the old country, and was born in 1633. When young he came to this country with his father, who was among the early settlers of Newbury, Mass. He was of studious habits, was encouraged to prepare for College, entered Harvard, and graduated in 1653 at the age of 20.

In 1658 he came to Portsmouth. He supplied 13 years before he was ordained. It is probable that the religious interest was so small that no church could be formed.

But in 1671 it was thought advisable to organize. A council was called from two churches in Massachusetts and from the church in Hampton. Of this last church Rev. Timothy Dalton was pastor.

It was customary in those times for the candidate for ordination to preach the sermon. So after the Council had organized a church of nine members, Mr. Moody preached his own ordination sermon, and the first for such an occasion in town, from Ezekiel 48:35, "And the name of the city from that day shall be, the Lord is there."

Mr. Moody continued faithfully in the discharge of his duties until 1684, when trouble with the arbitrary Provincial Governor Cranfield caused a painful interruption of his labors. Mr. Moody had offended Cranfield by opposing some of his unjust measures; so the Governor resolved to silence him. He ordered him to administer the Lord's Supper after the Liturgy of the English church, and sent word to him that he and two others intended to partake this Sacrament the next Sabbath. Mr. Moody refused, was arrested, put in jail at what is now Newcastle, tried by a Board of Justices, some of which appear to have been brought over to Cranfield's interest by improper measures, and the result was he was sentenced to six months imprisonment. After a confinement of 13 weeks, with injunction to preach no more in New Hampshire, he was released.

This was a sad trial, a heavy blow to the church, which had its pastor in high estimation. Those were the times of Puritanic zeal and great observance of the Sabbath. It is said that people used to walk from what is now Greenland to Portsmouth, a distance of 5 or 6 miles, to hear Mr. Moody preach. And so earnest and faithful was the minister that few if any slept and got into the cage we have noted as built for such.

While Mr. Moody was in prison, the people entreated to be allowed to go to the jail and hear him there, but this was not allowed. The prison was on Great Island, now Newcastle.

Mr. Moody being released, went to Boston and was with the first church there, preaching as assistant.

Cranfield having been removed from being Governor, troubles died away, and in 1693 Mr. Moody was recalled to Portsmouth, and he continued the beloved pastor of the flock till 1697, when he died at the age of 64.

Since Mr. Moody first came to Portsmouth, 212 years have passed, and 199 since the church was formed. The church exists now, and its house of worship is the North Church.

N. H. LEGISLATURE.—It has been thought all along, that the Great and General Court of New Hampshire would have rather a quiet session this year; but sufficient exciting business is gathering, of late, to promise a very lively time. Besides the Senator,—the Concord, Wolfeborough, Lake Shore, and Concord & Rochester Railroads, will have somewhat to say. Then a new Warden of the State Prison, new State Printer, &c., are to be chosen. The Speaker will no doubt be the same, but there is talk of new Clerks. The Temperance politicians may make some work.

THE MCFARLAND TRIAL.—On Tuesday, Samuel Sinclair testified that he paid to McFarland some of the proceeds of Mrs. McFarland's readings.

Mrs. Sage, mother of Mrs. McFarland-Richardson testified that her daughter was married in 1857, at Madison, N. H.; she taught for three terms in the Normal school in New Haven; she was married at about 20 years of age; did not know of the intimacy of my daughter with Richardson in 1867; the first I knew Richardson was going to marry my daughter was perhaps one year ago or perhaps two; heard of the intercepted letter in the spring of 1867; never knew what it contained until I came on here this time; think it was a rash letter to write so soon after the separation; I think my daughter acted perfectly right in every particular; I approve of Mrs. McFarland's going to Indiana to reside in order to obtain a divorce. On my last visit to the house of Mr. and Mrs. McFarland, the former was drunk and silly; that was my last visit to them.

Judge Davis read the deposition of Miss Phœbe Wood, to prove when Mrs. McFarland took up her residence in Indianapolis, and to disprove that she was in New Jersey, as the witnesses for the defence had testified, when she was in reality in Indiana. Miss Wood deposes that Mrs. McFarland boarded with her in Indianapolis in the early part of the summer of 1868, and stayed a year. Schuyler Colfax recommended Mrs. McFarland as a lady of high standing; met Richardson in Washington; Mrs. McFarland was writing articles for the New York Tribune, Riverside Magazine and Independent. Schuyler Colfax called on Mrs. McFarland; Mr. Richardson never to my knowledge visited Mrs. McFarland; she never spoke to me of her husband; did not know on what business she came to live in Indianapolis.

Miss Lilian Gilbert testified that it was wholly accidental that Mr. Richardson at one time occupied rooms near Mrs. McFarland.

—The wretch who can stand in a pair of slippers worked for him by his wife, and scold her, is a brute who deserves to have the gout in both feet.

DIDN'T WONDER.—'The fact is,' said an elderly wife, 'a man does not know now to straighten up things. He does not know where to commence. I don't wonder,' she remarked in conclusion, 'that when God made Adam he went right to work and made a woman to tell him what to do.'

—Over a hundred young ladies are at present studying law in this country. One of these days they will probably all become mothers-in-law.

LADIES DESIRE WHAT MEN ADMIRE.—And this little thing is Beauty. What do we say is beautiful? A transparent complexion and a luxuriant head of hair. What will produce these? HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM will make any lady of thirty appear but twenty; and LYON'S KATHAIRON will keep every hair in its place, and make it grow like the April grass. It prevents the hair from turning gray, eradicates Dandruff, and is the finest Hair Dressing in the world, and at only half ordinary cost. If you you want to get rid of Sallowness, Pimples, Ring-marks, Moth-patches, etc., don't forget the MAGNOLIA BALM, ladies. 4wdmy5

A TRUE BALSAM.—DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under the balsamic influence.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Prostration Played Out.

Violent purgatives, emetics, salivants, blistering and bleeding have had their day.

The sick can no longer be persuaded that the best way to cure them is to destroy the little strength that disease has left them.

Dyspeptics instead of dosing themselves with epsom salts, aloes, colycinth, jalap, and other powerful cathartics, tone their digestive organs and regulate their bowels with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Persons of bilious habit, instead of throwing the whole glandular system into a state of morbid irritation with mercurial poison, seek relief, and find it, in the operation of that wholesome vegetable alterative upon the disordered liver.

Nervous sufferers, tremulous, weak and dispondent, recruit their shattered energies with a course of the great invigorant, and bless the day when the adulterated liquors of commerce were superseded by a medicated stimulant, perfectly efficient and entirely harmless.

Travelers by land and sea rejoice in the possession of an agreeable corrective, which protects them from the evil effects of malaria, from sea sickness, and from the disturbing influences of changes of temperature, and change of water.

The weak and debilitated feel their strength return, and their spirits revive under its bracing, appetizing, gently exhilarating action.

It is the only stimulant which cautious physicians can conscientiously recommend to ladies in delicate health, or to the aged and decrepid.

There is not a city, town, or settlement, on the American continent, where it is not recognized as a household remedy, and a safeguard against epidemics; and, in short, wherever there is intelligence, prudence and common sense, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is pronounced a standard specific, for which, in the whole range of pharmacy, there is no substitute or equivalent.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was so, one bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. Time tests the Merits of all Things.
FOR THIRTY YEARS!
PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER
The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the PAIN KILLER to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular wherever it is known than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone; all over the world its beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged and appreciated, and as a PAIN KILLER its fame is limited to no country, nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalled popularity it has attained. It is a SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. Sold by all Druggists.

Directions accompany each bottle.
Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most decidedly in advance of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

as PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

☞ We hope our Board of Aldermen will do something towards allowing our streets to be sprinkled, at their session, this evening.

☞ The Freewill Baptist Church of this city is enjoying an extensive Revival—more than 130 exhortations and prayers having been witnessed in one evening.

☞ There has been considerable talk of a new Organ for St. John's Church, and it would seem that one is needed; but so much veneration is felt for the old one, that there seems no immediate prospect of its being given up yet—as, indeed some stops in it should not be. We understand that in reorganizing the Choir, the new Wardens, and the whole Parish, were desirous of retaining the former lady organist, but she declined the position.

New Publications Received.

The Heart of the Continent: A Record of Travel across the Plains and in Oregon, with an Examination of the Mormon Principle. By Fitz Hugh Ludlow. New York: Hurd & Houghton. $8.75. This is a large and handsome volume of 568 pages, with unusually good illustrations. Its title indicates the character of the book, which contains much information in relation to sections not much known, and will be found highly interesting to the general reader. The Appendix, devoted to the Mormon Question, contains much information in regard to that peculiar people. For sale by J. H. Foster.

THE CONCERT, TO-NIGHT.—We are glad to hear of the general interest in the concert at the Temple, this evening. The Band desire to retain the services of Mr. Chas. H. Tompson, the beneficiary, and have for some time been contemplating this compliment to his valuable services. They are to be encouraged to retain their organization by the action of the public, or to see their efforts to maintain a first-class musical organization, of which Portsmouth may well be proud, unseconded. Mrs. Susie Foster Marcy, who has been delighting Boston audiences of late, is unable to accept an engagement to sing at the Music Hall, Boston, this evening, because of her engagement here, and offers some of her choicest selections for this entertainment. Mr. J. P. Cobb of Boston had a good reception at his first appearance in Portsmouth, a year ago, and among other songs will sing "Almost Married." There are some people who dislike the music of a Band in-doors, but they can hardly complain in this instance, for the reason that the other exercises on the programme prevent their playing more than one selection. We are of the opinion that the audience in attendance would be richly paid, were Mrs. Marcy's and Mr. Chase's songs, and the duet with cornet and voice by Mrs. Marcy and Mr. Tompson, the sole performances of the evening.

We append the programme:—

1. "Spirit Immortal,"—from Attila, arranged by C. H. Tompson, Cornet Band; 2, Humorous Song, "Almost Married," Mr. Cobb; 3, Song, "No tongue can tell," Mr. Chase; 4, Song, "Swiss boy" and variations, Mrs. Susie F. Marcy; 5, Duet, "Swallow, happy swallow," Miss Remick and Mr. Chase; 6, Song, "Oh loving heart trust on," Mr. Cobb; 7, Duet, (voice and cornet,) "Qual mare qual terra," Mrs. Marcy and Mr. Tompson; 8, Song, "Separation," Mr. Chase; 9, Cornet solo, "Cavatina and variations," from Beatrice di Tenda, Mr. Tompson; 10, Duet, "The wanderer's joy," Mrs. Marcy and Miss Remick; 11, Humorous Song, "Tea in the arbor," Mr. Cobb; 12, Quartette, "There's beauty everywhere."

—Miss Annie M. Bernard's concert at Tremont Temple was unfortunately timed to meet the first thunder-shower of the season, and as a necessary result all of the tickets which were sold were not represented. The concert in every other particular was a success, the efforts of the performers commanding perfect attention and liberal applause. Charlestown Chronicle.

New Hampshire Items.

At Rochester, near the junction of the old and new roads to Gonic, a large hole has appeared in the ground, nearly seven feet in diameter and of the depth of twenty feet and over. There was no appearance of any dirt having been thrown up and washed away, and the query is, where has the earth gone? Has the bottom fallen out?

The County Almshouse at Brentwood has been in operation about seven months. The largest number of inmates at one time has been one hundred and forty-nine. At present there are one hundred and twenty-seven. There have been nineteen deaths. The building is kept very neatly and is warmed by steam. The inmates appear to be comfortably clothed and well fed.

Mr. J. F. C. Rider of South Newmarket, and a friend, a few days since, while taking a walk, found and killed 5 black snakes, whose total measurement was 32 feet in length.

The Grand Division, Sons of Temperance, of New Hampshire, held their quarterly meeting at Hampton last week. The attendance was quite large, delegations being present from different parts of the State. The next meeting is to be held at Portsmouth, the last Wednesday in July.

In the early part of November last, Mr. Horace C. Tolles, of Nashua, lost a silver watch. Whether it was stolen or accidentally lost, he was unable to determine. A short time since it was returned to him through the post office. The postage was underpaid and it went to the dead letter office and was then returned to Mr. T. On the letter was written "intentionally underpaid." A case of conscience.

OF THE
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad

Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,

Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500 and $100,

and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

Morning Chronicle.

TWO CLEVER SAILORS.—In a small old town built on the sea-shore, there used to live two sailors, named Jack and Joe. They were great friends, and had one boat between them, and went out fishing together.

They were both strong and brave, and sunburnt. They both liked rum, and both wore loose trousers. And so they could never make out which was the most clever.

"I know the best way to cook mackerel and herring, and sole," said Jack.

"So do I. And I know the best way to sell them," said Joe.

"So do I," answered Jack. "And I know the best way to catch them."

"So do I," answered Joe; "but what is the use of all this when we have not got any ropes for our nets?"

"If we had time, we could make some," said Jack.

"If we had money, we could buy some," said Joe.

"If we knew where, we could borrow some," said Jack.

"If we knew where, we could steal some," said Joe.

Just then then bells of the church on the hill began tolling for evening prayer.

"They ring those bells with ropes," said Jack.

"And the ropes are very good," said Joe.

Jack began to smile. Joe began to laugh.

"Shall we go to church, mate, to-night?" asked Jack.

"And shall we stay there till the last?" asked Joe.

Up the hill went the two sailors. They stopped in church till the prayers were all over, and everybody had gone home.

"Now is our time," said Jack.

"It is our turn now," said Joe.

Off they went to the tower where the bells were hung. Here they found two long, strong, thick ropes.

"One for me," cried Jack.

"And one for me," cried Joe.

Up the ropes climbed the two clever sailors, like a couple of monkeys.

"I'm up at the top," said Jack.

"And so am I," said Joe.

Jack pulled out a knife from his pocket. So did Joe.

Lick! slick! went Jack's knife. He cut through the rope over his head, and down he fell, and broke his pate on the stones at the bottom.

"Oh, crikee!" groaned Jack at the bottom; "who could have thought of that!"

"What a stupid-head you are," cried Joe at the top. "You should have done as I do."

With these words he cut the rope close under his feet. Down it fell, and left him hanging by his two hands at the top.

"Oh, crikee!" cried Joe, at the top; "who could have thought of that!"

"What a stupid-head you are," groaned Jack. "You will have to hang there till morning."

And so he did, and made his arms so stiff that he could not move them for a week.

It was a sad night for the two clever sailors. They cried, and groaned, and prayed, and said bad words till morning.

Then Jack was taken off to the hospital, and Joe was taken off to prison.

WHAT HEN MANURE AND ASHES WILL DO.—Seven years ago, we applied a quantity of hen manure and leached ashes to a lot under cultivation in corn. They were applied in the hill. On the corn crop we did not perceive any special effect, it being no better—and in fact at the time we thought not quite as good—than the other part of the lot where good manure was applied to the hill. In other respects the land was all treated alike—plowed at the same time, and as nearly as possible the same amount of manure applied to the surface and harrowed in.

The next year it was sown to grain and grass, the part where the hen manure and ashes were applied producing considerable more grain than the other part. Since that time the lot has remained in grass, and each year the difference in the crop has been more apparent—that part where the hen manure and ashes were applied producing at least twice as much hay as the other part.

Last year the difference was greater than ever before, for on one part there is but a small growth of sour grass, while on the other there was a heavy crop of Timothy standing not less than three feet high. The line of demarkation between the two is sudden and abrupt, and is precisely where the two modes of treatment met.

Those who may be curious to examine this lot, will be cheerfully shown it on application. It is the most marked effect of hen manure and ashes, either one or both, we have ever seen, and we hardly think any man can examine it without involuntarily making up his mind to take especial pains hereafter to save the droppings of his fowls and apply them to his land.

The cause of there being no perceptible effect the first year from the hen manure, was undoubtedly owing to the condition in which it was used, having been applied in precisely the condition it was taken from the hen house. If it had been thoroughly pulverized and composted with loam or muck, its strength would have been sooner appropriated by the growing crops.

We attribute this effect on the grass principally to the hen manure, as where ashes have been applied, no such effect has been produced.—Exch.

—"I believe the jury were inoculated with stupidity," said a lawyer. "That may be," said his opponent, "but the bar are of opinion that you had it the natural way."

WOOING IN POETRY.—An old gentleman of the name of Page, finding a young lady's glove at a water-place, presented it to her with the following words:

"If from your glove you take the letter G,
Your glove is love, which I devote to thee."

To which the lady returned the following answer:

"If from your page you take the letter P,
Your Page is age, and that won't do for me."

— An Iowa stump orator, wishing to describe his opponent as a soulless man, said, "I have heard some persons hold the opinion, that just at the precise moment after one human being dies another is born, and the soul enters and animates the new-born baby. Now, I have made particular and extensive inquiries concerning my opponent thar, and I find that for some hours before he drew his first breath, nobody died. Fellow-citizens, I leave you to draw the inference?"

— The swivel plow is highly recommended by the Maine Farmer. It says by the use of the swivel plow, dead furrows and ridges, alike unsightly objects in a field, are avoided; the sward is turned level and uniform, and by its peculiar convex form it more completely pulverizes the soil than other plows, thus reducing the expense of securing a good tilth to the seed-bed.

— A young lady in Galesburg, having set her cap for a rather large specimen of the opposite sex, and having failed to win him, was telling her sorrows to a couple of her confidants, when one of them comforted her with these words:—"Never mind, Mollie; there are as good fish in the sea as ever were caught." "Mollie knows that," replied her little brother, "but she wants a whale."

TO THE POINT.—We are particularly pleased with the motto of one of our exchanges—"Ourselves first; the Public afterwards." We like this outspoken frankness. Its true significance is that the publisher pursues the business of printing a newspaper for the purpose of making a living, and instead of disguising his intention under some lofty sounding platitude, comes out in plain, manly English and lets his readers know that he means business.—Typog. Mess.

$100 IN PREMIUMS
FOR INDIAN CORN.

Fully convinced that this vastly valuable crop can be greatly increased by the judicious selection of seed, the subscriber offers premiums for corn grown in New Hampshire in A. D. 1870 as follows:

For the best 100 ears of eight-rowed Corn, $35.00
" 2d " " " " " " " 15.00
For the best 100 ears of more than eight-rowed Corn, 35.00
" 2d best 100 " " " eight-rowed Corn 15.00

Same number of twin or triple ears upon the stalks, received same as above. The traces must be secured by cords upon boards or otherwise, so as not to break, and reach the subscriber at City Hall, Manchester, by noon of the last Tuesday of December next, at which time and place the awards will be made. Size, beauty and quality, both of the ears and grain, to be considered in awarding the prizes.

Each 100 ears must be grown upon one farm, and upon plots of not less than one acre. The four premium traces to be retained by subscriber for distribution. Method of cultivation must be furnished in writing, or made verbally at time so it may be written. New Hampshire's best farmers believe that more than two hundred thousand dollars a year of the money now sent out of the State for corn, could be saved by a judicious selection of seed corn.

Farmers, freely giving you my time and money, I earnestly pray you to make an exhibition that shall honor yourself and the State.

The committee are to have no means of knowing the owners of the corn until after the awards are made. The Committee are as follows:

The Chronicle.

A HOUSE MORE THAN TWO CENTURIES OLD.—At Durham, N. H., stands what was built in the year 1638 for a garrison house, by Captain John Woodman, its present occupants being the sixth or seventh generation that had dwelt there for the name. It was a citadel of the early settlement. Round about it, from ten to thirty rods distant, may yet be distinguished the cellars of houses which mouldered at periods beyond the memory of any man living, clustering near by, that the occupants might speedily take refuge within its defense when menaced by Indians raids. It stands on rising ground, three quarters of a mile from Oyster River, commanding a view of the valley of that branch, by which goods were brought from Portsmouth. It is constructed of solid white pine logs, a foot thick, some of them two feet in depth as high up as a few feet above the second floor, thus forming a parapet to serve as breastwork, the roof being of moderate pitch, for use in some exigencies of Indian warfare, this mode of construction having been adopted in similar strongholds in other places. On this upper tier of logs now rests a frame building, finishing out the second story and attic.

It has in front the projection common to such houses, to beat off assailants, and prevent them from setting fire from below. Its small windows and various port holes and lookouts were provided with heavy blocks of wood to protect the inmates from the enemies' bullets. It has all been changed now, and covered with clapboards and otherwise modernized; it is commodious and sufficiently elegant for present needs, but as originally constructed, it must have proved a formidable defense against the weapons and methods of Indian warfare.

As the fisheries in the neighborhood were the best along the coast for salmon, shad, and whatever product of the sea Indians chiefly delighted in, it was natural that their temper should have been stirred to the quick, exasperated by the indifference manifested by the settlers to their earlier claims. If they wreaked resentment by frequent massacre and cruelties peculiarly savage, their sense of wrong was aggravated by their want of power to drive off the intruders or compel redress.

Recent events of greater immediate interest have blotted out the memory of these baptisms of blood, and the legends that have floated down to us are too shadowy and almost too horrible for belief. Certainly no part of the country was more constantly harrassed; nowhere were more needed fortresses of strength. The Indians own castles were girded about by thickest palisades, and this outer defense was likewise adopted by the settlers for their garrison houses.

They well answered their purpose, and Belknap mentions an instance when upon alarm the inhabitants of Durham took refuge in their fort. The Indians, some hundreds in number, invested it, but unable to make any impression upon its solid walls, and themselves exposed to a galling fire from the port-holes and roofs, which rapidly reduced their force, were obliged to retreat.—Amory, on the "Old Homes of New England."

IMPORTING SETTLERS FOR MAINE.—The State of Maine has made arrangements to settle a colony of Norwegians in Aroostook County, at public cost. An agent (Mr. Thomas) has left for Europe to forward such emigrants. He has negotiated with companies for the transportation and maintenance of the emigrants till they are landed in Aroostook, there to find comfortable homes prepared for them. He expects to return with these emigrants by August next. So successful have been Mr. Thomas' negotiations that the cost to land each emigrant at Aroostook will be but about $25 which includes their maintenance on the way. Hon. Noah Barker is now carrying on a survey under the direction of the Land Office, for the land set out for them. It is to be divided up for twenty-five families, each family to have one hundred acres, four or five acres on each lot to be felled by the State, and a log cabin built on the clearing. They receive a bond from the State at first, and at the end of five years, if they remain as located, they are then given a clear title to the property.

—The Boston Journal says: "A widow, who has followed successively three husbands to the grave, entered a well-known jewelry establishment in this city, and producing the three silver plates which had once adorned the coffins of the dear departed, desired the astonished proprietor to have them "made over into a butter knife!"

—"Get away! get away!" said an embarrassed matron to houseless Pat, who was begging a night's lodging; "this is no place for you. Go away; for shame! This is the lying-in hospitol." "Och! indade, thin," replied the outcast, "it's the very place for me, for I've been living out these three nights."

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is seen restored to its original color, with the glossy freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a nasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made no fewer rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MAGNUSON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, or more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1870.

THE MCFARLAND CASE.—The testimony for the prosecution closed on Wednesday, some rebutting evidence being offered afterwards by the defence. From the character of the testimony on both sides, we infer that McFarland is a man of uneven temper, easily excited and weak in governing his passions. He married Miss Sage in 1857, when she was 20 years of age, and a most unhappy marriage it proved. McFarland's counsel had read a letter written but two years after the marriage, by McFarland to his wife, asking forgiveness of his ill treatment of her. He was accustomed to using intoxicating liquors and often went home drunk, insulting his wife and any caller who happened to be there on his arrival.

Mrs. McFarland's sufferings during this time can be imagined but not described. A beautiful woman, talented and lovable, with no prospect of release from the yoke which draws daily more burdensome, she at last finds sympathizing friends who unselfishly encourage her by obtaining employment for her—writing for the press; and as it becomes more and more evident that she must not depend on her wretched husband for maintenance, she prepares herself for the stage. She meets with success and cheering words, and the profligate husband pockets a portion of the proceeds of her readings.

The sad mistake of her life, the acceptance of McFarland for a husband, is more and more evident and the bond between them more and more irksome, until acting under the advice of friends, Mrs. McFarland proceeds to Indiana, remains there a year and secures a divorce. A. D. Richardson, well known as a writer for the press, and a part owner of the New York Tribune, formed her acquaintance previously; and it was his publicly avowed intention to marry her. McFarland, mercenary and vengeful, deliberately goes to the office of Brick Pomeroy and offers to sell for publication for the sum of $100, letters describing the alleged debauchery of his own wife by A. D. Richardson. Pomeroy testifies that he did not read the documents, but that McFarland urged them upon him. Pomeroy lives on sensation, but this was too much for him; and McFarland went to another market with his scandal.

What wondrous love this man had for his wife, the mother of his children, to be willing to blast her reputation, do his best to accomplish her ruin and embitter the lives of his children, by his most outrageous and cowardly course. No man with a spark of self-respect would have been capable of such a deed, and the assassination of Richardson afterwards will be thought less of than the deliberate attempt of this loving husband to sell his wife's good name, and parade before the public a statement, which, even if untrue and proved so, could not fail to have injured her beyond reparation, and caused such grief that a lifetime of repentance by her villainous husband could not have alleviated.

A drunkard, worthless and dishonorable, he afterwards dogs the steps of Mr. Richardson, whom he had once before tried to murder,—and finally awaits his coming at the Tribune office. Then the miscreant, thinking perhaps that "hanging for murder in New York is played out," coolly shoots his victim, who, after a few days of suffering, dies, not forgetting to do justice to McFarland's divorced wife by marrying her while on his death-bed.

A sad story is this, and its foundation is the prisoner on trial for his life. We care not what may become of him, except that he should be put where he can do no more harm. Mrs. Richardson, the unheard witness, debarred from testifying in the case, certainly deserves the sympathy of all who believe that women should not be made the slaves of men, and especially of men inferior in mind, manners and morals.

New Hampshire Items.

Isaac H. Jones, Superintendent and Treasurer of the State Reform School at Manchester, has been missing since Monday last, at which time he left for Derry, to be absent for the day only. As no information has been received of his whereabouts since, considerable anxiety exists. His accounts appear to be perfectly correct and it is feared that he may have wandered away in a fit of insanity. He has been very nervous of late and stated that his condition demanded rest and that he was physically unable to perform the duties required of him.

The whole amount of insurance on losses, at the recent Nashua fire, will not vary much from $45,000.

☞ A notorious robber, C. Adams alias Langdon W. Moore of New York, who entered and robbed the Concord, Mass. Bank and stole $100,000, in broad daylight, several years ago,—was arrested near Rockland, Thursday, for robbing the Rockland Bank. He also robbed the Norway Bank and the safe of Mr. O'Brien of Cornish, Me., in connection with Dr. Young and others, some time ago. Adams was recently in this city, and an ex-Government detective here notified our Banks; and a year since he was authorized by the Gov. of Maine to arrest him, but was requested by the authorities at Washington not to do so. Moore is said to own a nice farm in Framingham, Mass., and to keep a saloon on Courtlandt St., New York.

NAVAL.—Capt. Enoch G. Parrott of this city has been confirmed by the U. S. Senate as Commodore.

There is the most urgent necessity for vessels abroad, and hardly a day passes but letters are received at the Navy Department from our consuls in different parts of the world, asking that United States vessels be sent to their stations to look after American interests.

It is understood that the sentence of the Court Martial in the case of Commander Upshur, charged with purchasing a Cadetship, is that he be reprimanded.

THERE IS ONE SERIOUS OBJECTION to the Civil Service bill now before Congress; and that is that it might build up an aristocracy which would become as irresponsible, disagreeable, pedantic and undemocratic as are certain classes already engrafted on the country. The tendency of the present age should be towards true democracy in government and not towards illiberality and the fostering of classes wholly at variance with the ideas of the masses of intelligent citizens of this country.

RICHMOND.—The terrible calamity that occurred in Richmond, Va., on the 28th ult, where a large audience had assembled in the hall of the Court of Appeals, State Capitol building, when the gallery and then the floor fell, precipitating hundreds, with the debris of broken timbers, upon those assembled below—killing about sixty persons, and wounding over a hundred others, is the second sad catastrophe that has befallen this ill-fated city.

December 16th, 1811, was a day long to be remembered in the annals of theatrical history, and of Richmond. A fire broke out in the Richmond Theatre and in a few minutes the building was one sheet of flames. The doors opened inward, and when the fire broke out the audience rushed for the doors, to escape; but the pressure prevented them from being opened. The scene was terrible. Some jumped from the windows to escape, while others who were jammed in, were roasted to death. No less than seventy persons lost their lives; one hundred others were injured. Among those who perished were the Governor of the State, and other men of wealth and position, and ladies of beauty and distinction, one of them a daughter of Henry Clay. Master Taft, a school teacher of Portsmouth, was visiting Richmond, and at the theatre, but escaped by leaping from a window.

CONGRESS.—On Wednesday, the Senate discussed the question of adjouring July 4th.

The House debated the Civil Service bill.

Mr. Maynard of Tennessee argued against the bill as removing the civil service farther away from the control of the people. He would not say the present system was faultless, but denied that the government was any worse served by its officers and clerks than private institutions were. He believed that there was more fraud perpetrated by cashiers, book-keepers, clerks, conductors, ticket-takers, and employees of banks, railroads and other private companies, than there was by government employees.

Mr. Peters of Maine was opposed to the bill yesterday and more opposed today. He objected to it because it gave to three commissioners the entire under-patronage of the United States, and virtually appointed men to office for life.

Mr. Bingham of Ohio opposed the bill on constitutional and practical grounds. He said it would limit the appointing power of the executive to the will of three commissioners. Without their consent, neither the President, the heads of the department, nor the courts could appoint anybody to office; it created an aristocracy, a privileged class, in the face of the provision of the Constitution, that neither the United States nor any State shall confer a title of nobility.

The bill was further opposed by Messrs. Paine of Wisconsin and Niblack of Indiana.

Bronze boots are no longer fashionable.

A TRUE BALSAM.—DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under the balsamic influence.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Prostration Played Out.

Violent purgatives, emetics, salivants, blistering and bleeding have had their day.

The sick can no longer be persuaded that the best way to cure them is to destroy the little strength that disease has left them.

Dyspeptics instead of dosing themselves with epsom salts, aloes, colycinth, jalap, and other powerful cathartics, tone their digestive organs and regulate their bowels with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Persons of bilious habit, instead of throwing the whole glandular system into a state of morbid irritation with mercurial poison, seek relief, and find it, in the operation of that wholesome vegetable alterative upon the disordered liver.

Nervous sufferers, tremulous, weak and despondent, recruit their shattered energies with a course of the great invigorant, and bless the day when the adulterated liquors of commerce were superseded by a medicinal stimulant, perfectly efficient and entirely harmless.

Travelers by land and sea rejoice in the possession of an agreeable corrective, which protects them from the evil effects of malaria, from sea sickness, and from the disturbing influences of changes of temperature, and change of water.

The weak and debilitated feel their strength return, and their spirits revive under its bracing, appetizing, gently-exhilarating action.

It is the only stimulant which cautious physicians can conscientiously recommend to ladies in delicate health, or to the aged and decrepid.

There is not a city, town, or settlement, on the American continent, where it is not recognized as a household remedy, and a safeguard against epidemics; and, in short, wherever there is intelligence, prudence and common sense, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is pronounced a standard specific, for which, in the whole range of pharmacy, there is no substitute or equivalent.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. PAIN KILLER.

Perry Davis' & Son, Proprietors, 1840. PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1870.

Time tests the Merits of all Things.

☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the PAIN KILLER to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular and commands a larger sale than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone; all over the world its beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged and appreciated, and as a PAIN KILLER its fame is limited to no country, nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. Sold by all Druggists.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middleburg, Vermont, says: "I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs."

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

It will be a grand entertainment.

THE MAN WITH THE BEAR created a dusty sensation about the streets, Thursday, while the man with a drum endeavored zealously to collect pennies with which to defray the expenses of the show. There was considerable discussion in the crowds which gathered to see the bear, as to whether he would take up his residence in Ward Three. The knowing ones of that locality were of the opinion that the fifteenth amendment allowed him the right to vote, as much right at least as have the grave yard voters of that ward. It is said that dead men tell no tales, and that this bear can claim to be a voter where the dead are not dead, though they speak not, breath not, nor are seen by mortal men or women, but still exercise the right (?) of suffrage.

CITY COUNCIL, May 5th.—In Board of Aldermen, (absent Nowell and Marvin) the Com. on Sts. reported in favor of relaying sewer and cesspool on Richards Av. The Com. were authorized so to do, through land of Wm. Varrell.

Ald. Fernald reported Morning St., at the Creek, to be in bad condition, and that water from Mr. Ramsdell's premises drains above ground into the St. Ref. to Com. on Sts. and Mayor with power.

Complaints were made that drainage from premises of Mr. Walter Cate into Hanover St, is a nuisance; and the Com. on Sts. were requested to examine and report on same.

John H. Folsom asked for sidewalk on Vaughan St., which was granted; and the Com. on Sts. were also requested to ascertain if the other property owners on that St. will join in improving the other pavements there.

Ald. Clark reported a dangerous opening from So. Mill Bridge—which was ref. to Com. on Sts. and Mayor to act.

Chas. Robinson asked for Crosswalk at his residence on Middle St., and stated that Mrs. Williams desired that at her house removed. Ref. to Com. on Sts. and the Mayor to report.

The Com. on Sts. were requested to see to the condition of Water St., from Mr. John Dixon laying drain last year.

John Hodgdon asked for sidewalk on Warren and Church Sts. Ref. to Com. on Sts. to report. Likewise W. Tuckers petition for drain on Court St., and Wm Ward's request for sidewalk on Langdon and McDonough Sts.

Several small bills from the Sch. Com., for repairs on Sch. Houses, were voted to be paid when approved by the Ald. Com. on Sch. Houses—and the Sch. Com. were voted to be notified that the Board will hereafter refuse to pay any bill not authorized by the Board.

The Com. on Sts. recommended new common Sewer to be laid in Bridge St., and were requested to report cost of same, and the number of abutters who will enter same.

In Common Council, no quorum—the old, old story, too often heretofore, in previous Boards.

☞ May 5th was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Market Street fire of 1845, which destroyed a large amount of property—larger than has been burnt at any one time since, and which has never been excelled by more than two conflagrations here, we believe. It was of a warm Sunday morning—and we well remember assisting to fight the fire all night long, in the attic of the old Journal Office, with the late Messrs. Miller & Brewster, and all hands. The glass in the rear windows was shattered in a singular manner, by the heat and water, but did not fall out, and remained thus a curiosity for years; and Uncle Toby's face was swollen all out of shape by the exposure.

Of those who were burnt out that night, were Messrs. Hill & Carr, (who had been there ten years previous, and we hope may remain there many more) Dr. Kimball, Messrs. Mathes, Lyman, E. M. Brown, and others, who still are or recently were in trade. A quarter of a century has passed since then—a long while to look forward, but nothing to look back. F.

THE LATE REV. MR. SALTER.—Rev. C. C. Salter whose death at sea we have before mentioned, died when only two days out of New York, and his body could not be brought here. His heart was so much out of order that his brother when laying at his side, could hear it making strange noises—and on going to his stateroom on the second morning found him dead.

At a meeting of the Assembly of the Harvard Law School, in Dane Hall, Cambridge, April 29, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that we mourn the sudden death of our friend and brother, Charles C. Salter.

That during the short period he was associated with us, his modest and amiable disposition, and his earnest and disinterested character bound many to him by strong ties of friendship, while his perseverance and bright talents as a student won the respects and praise of all.

That these resolutions be printed and copies sent to his relatives and friends, as a testimonial of our appreciation of his worth, and of our sympathy with them in their bereavement.

THE STREETS OF BOSTON.—This Panorama is represented to be a pleasing and artistic painting. Mayor Shurtleff of Boston says, in a note to the manager:—

I availed myself of a public exhibition of your Panorama, and was much gratified. The internal views were, of course, all new to me, but the scenery and street views were very familiar objects, and were true in their drawing and very admirably executed. The scenes which you have chosen to illustrate, and your lectures for doing it, are such as will be beneficial, and should be so familiarized as to put unwary persons on their guard, which I have no doubt they will do. An undertaking such as yours should meet with proper encouragement, and I have no question but that it will, on account of the interest it gives in local matters.

—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad

Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 237 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 437 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,

Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500 and $100,

and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

Morning Chronicle.

From the Concord "People."

A REMEDY SUGGESTED.—I have been much interested in the discussion going on of late in your paper, on the question "Does Farming Pay?" Now, Mr. Editor, all that has been said on either side is mere assumption or guess work, as far as the profits in farming are concerned. That the farmers of New Hampshire do not get rich, as a class, I do not deny; but I do assert that they live as easy, take as much comfort and have as many leisure hours, as any class of laborers; dress well enough, and have houses that are furnished neatly and comfortably; and their city cousins, the children of the merchants and lawyers and doctors, consider it a great treat to come out and eat and drink and sleep and luxuriate on the farmer's hospitality.

True, the farmer does not visit those expensive places of fashion and amusement, because he has earned his money by honest labor, and knows the value of it. The people that visit such places are those, as a general thing, who are living on other people's money, either by inheritance or otherwise. These are the men that have such fine equipages and lead such gay lives. Is there any well-to-do high minded farmer, let me ask, that covets or envies them their position?

Would you, Mr. Dunbar, exchange your snug, highly cultivated and productive little farm, and your free and easy life, for the wealth, the vexations, the cares and amenities of the richest man in Warner? Would money induce you to exchange your position for that of the doctor, lawyer or merchant? How many farmers in the town of Warner will apply these questions to themselves and answer in the affirmative.

But I see I am digressing. Let me draw a comparison. Suppose two men go into business with three thousand dollars each, one into farming, the other into trade. The merchant understands that to succeed in his business the first thing for him to do is to take an account of stock, and that his accounts must be scrupulously kept; no leaks must be allowed in any department of his business. A glance at the books at any time, will tell him whether he is making or losing. At the end of the year he does not guess he has made three or ten per cent.; he goes to work, takes his account of stock again, strikes his balance sheet and knows to a cent how much he has made. The merchant that does not do this, will not be successful in one case out of a hundred.

The farmer buys his farm and stock and implements, goes to work, takes no account of stock, keeps no account whatever with his crops, his cattle or his farm; he don't know whether his corn cost him one dollar or two a bushel; he builds stone walls, puts in under drains, brings water to his house and barn, sends his boys and girls to school, has had his city friends on a visit a few weeks through the summer, but he makes no account of this, and at the end of the year, he finds he has no money to put into the bank, and concludes he has not made anything, when in fact he has invested his capital in his farm.

Now, if this man had commenced the same as the merchant, and kept exact accounts with his farm, his different crops, and his family expenses, and struck his balance sheet at the first of the year, he would have been surprised to have seen how much his farm had netted him. He would know that he was on the right track. He would be better able to discover the leaks and stop them. Now, brother-farmers, I know this from experience. If I had not kept accounts for the last two years, I should have agreed with every word Mr. Herbert and Mr. Dunbar said in regard to one farmer in ten not making three per cent. on his capital invested. But my books tell a different story from my pockets.

Now I want to urge upon every farmer that reads this article, to procure a blank book and on the first day of April, take an account of stock; this should embrace the value of the farm stock, tools, grain, fodder and roots, and all matters of investment pertaining to farming account; and upon another column enter all your other possessions; from the sum total, deduct debts and the balance will show you your net worth; and by comparing this with the inventory taken the year previous, it will be seen whether there is need of retrenchment or whether you may not be permitted to enjoy a walk at the "beach" or the "mountains." Farming accounts should be kept independent from all others. Under this head charge all expenditures pertaining to the farm, and credit all receipts connected with the farm.

At the close of the year, compare the present farm inventory with the farm inventory taken one year previous, and credit farm account with the increased value or charge with the decreased value, as the case may be. Charge the farm account with the interest on the footing of the general farm inventory, that being the value of the farming investment. This column of expenses will show all the expenses for the year, and the column of receipts will show all the receipts for the year; the difference of the two columns will show the profits or loss of farming for the year.

Keep all other accounts the same way, such as cash account, family accounts, accounts with crops, accounts with individuals, &c. This is no heavy task after you once get about it. And if you would make it light and pleasant procure Perkins' Farm Accounts, a blank book published by C. H. & F. Perkins. It is designed for three years, and costs $3.50 and $2. It contains all necessary directions so that any one familiar with the rudiments of arithmetic, cannot fail to write it out.

Now if you would appreciate this, try it; you ought to understand your own business. There is no reason why you should not be able to tell to a cent what your crops cost, what kind of stock pays the best, how much your pork costs a pound. When the farmers as a class do this, we shall no longer have it said that the farmers of New Hampshire are worth no more than they were twenty years ago.

Take the social position which your occupation and the nature of your calling justly demands. Use your brains—do more thinking and figuring, and less work. This is the key to the success of the merchant, the manufacturer and the speculator, of which friends Dunbar and Herbert would make you so envious. S. C. PATTEE, Warner.

RAISING WHEAT.—We think every farmer who has a suitable soil should raise sufficient wheat to supply his own family with bread; and thus, in the important matter of bread, farmers would be independent of speculators and exorbitance, and sure of sweet and wholesome flour. Further than this, each one must judge for himself. We cannot raise wheat or corn or potatoes or grass without manure. The great problem with us is to get manure. We need every ounce we can obtain, and the question occurs to every one, how can it be most profitably used?

An acre of land well manured will give us twenty bushels of wheat. This same land with the same manure will yield fifty bushels of corn, one hundred and twenty bushels of potatoes, or two tons of hay. We need all the corn we can raise. This makes milk, pork and fodder, and leaves a valuable residue in manure. The potatoes and hay find a ready market. Which crop, then, is the most profitable? In the vicinity of the cities, other crops are more profitable than cereals of any kind, and the cultivator will raise neither wheat nor corn. The fifty bushels of corn are worth sixty-five dollars. The wheat forty-five or fifty. The potatoes eighty, and the hay forty.

The first three crops require thirty dollars' worth of manure each. The hay none, and the labor of harvesting is less. Each farmer must determine for himself as to the expediency of raising every particular crop. The corn crop is, and ever will be, the favorite crop in New England. If we had manure to raise all the corn we need, and to raise wheat besides, there would be less question about the matter. But if we must import the one or the other, will it not be cheaper to import flour?

One important consideration we have alluded to. The farmer likes to see his manure heap increasing. Wheat yields no manure, at least unless the straw is fed to stock. But corn stover is worth more for fodder than wheat straw. This question has received a good deal of attention already among the shrewd Yankees. The nature of his soil, his facilities for market, and for obtaining artificial manures, will assist in determining what crop each shall raise. In the northern half of New England, where the corn crop is more uncertain, it may be best to raise wheat as a leading crop. In the southern half, where the corn crop is the most certain crop we have, it may not be so.—N. E. Far.

THE HARNESS, AS FAR AS HEARD FROM. — A poet says: "Oh! she was fair, but sorrow came and left his Traces there." What became of the rest of the harness the poet don't state. Erie Dispatch.

Oh yes. Further down the hill of poetry, it says—"come with me, my lassie, and I'll take thee to thy Hame." The balance of the harness is still missing.—Exchange.

No, still another has turned up, for further on the muse tells us that, "Loving hands and simple flowers had decked her for the Bridal." Nothing has yet transpired as to the whereabouts of the rest of the harness.—York Republican.

All a mistake, for had not Walter said, "Give me out what this Belt has bound, take all the rest the sun goes round." Don't be discouraged, friends, the rest of the harness is bound to come. Ohio State Journal.

Of course it is, for has not the poet said, "When Greek meets Greek, then comes the Tug of war." Pass along the balance.—Toledo Blade.

No more; no more. We'll give you only what Gratiano proposed for Shylock. "A Haller gratis; nothing else, for God's sake."—Chicago Republican.

The reins are missing, or were, until the poet found one of them "In the narrow lane," and remarked, "How beautiful is the Rein." The breeching is still lying around loose somewhere.—Portland Advertiser.

Yes, and so were the bits till old Bill Shakspeare picked 'em up and said they were "the needful Bits and Curb to headstrong steeds." The collar and girths are still missing.—Me. Standard.

No, the collar is found—the same mentioned in the old play, "You inflame my Choler." Reply, "Then pin your collar."—Collars as used now-a-days, frequently inflame instead of being inflamed.

"An Orphan (off-un) she was till this Sad-ill befell her."—The harness is all found—now run quick and tell her.

—"You say," said a judge to witness, "that the plaintiff resorted to an ingenious use of circumstantial evidence; state just exactly what you mean by that?" "Well," said the witness, "My exact meaning is that he lied."

—Be solemn, if you want to succeed. The world looks up to the ringmasters and down at the clown. It despises the man who entertains it. Be as solemn, therefore, as an ass. Some monuments have been built to solemn asses.

A TROUBLE-SUM KETTLE.—Messrs. Editors:—I hand you the following question, which appeared in some newspaper more than thirty years ago. It excited considerable notice at the time, and was considered a hard and knotty question. It was difficult to answer. Whether our modern Tyros will prove themselves greater experts than the old ones, remains to be shown. I rehearse wholly from the stores of memory, having lost the original. N.D.

As I happened one evening with a Tinker to sit,
Whose tongue run a little too fast for his wit,
He bragged of his art in working brass metal,
So I agreed with him, for a flat-bottomed kettle—
That the top and bottom diameters might be
Just in the proportion as five are to three,
Twelve inches the depth, I would have it no more,
And to hold its beer gallons, seven less than a score,
He agreed for to make it, to work he then went,
But when he had made it, he found it too scant;
He altered it then, and too large he had made it,
And when it held right, the diameter failed it.
So in working so often, too big and too little,
The tinker at last, almost spoil-ed my kettle.
Yet he vows he'll bring the said kettle to pass,
Or he'll utterly waste every ounce of his brass.
Now to keep him from ruin, pray help him out.
For the diameters' lengths he will never find out;
The length each diameter, I gladly would know,
And this is the thing you're desired to show.

OLD NEWMARKET.—I have compiled the following singular and rather remarkable historical facts in relation to said town, as it was before the division in 1849. The population of said town was some 200 more in 1767 than in 1820. Early in its history there was a large amount of ship-building and lumbering carried on; probably more ship-building done at one time at Lamprey River Village, than on all other branches of the Piscataqua. Seven vessels, some of them quite large for those times, have been seen on the stocks in process of building at one time, and twenty-one of all kinds have been built in a single year. Ship building was also carried on at Newfields Village, now South Newmarket. Lumber and Shooks were shipped there direct for the West Indies.

The decline in these two branches of industry was, probably, the principal cause of the decrease in population. Although quite a small town in extent of territory, it was the seventh town in the State as to population.

One other remarkable fact in regard to said town, is the number of large families of children, each by single or only marriages, especially of the exact number twelve. The writer has been intimately acquainted with sixteen of such, 12 in what now is Newmarket, and 4 in what is now South Newmarket, to wit: those of Wentworth Cheswell, Vincent Torr, Reuben French, Thomas Cheswell, Daniel Hill, Joseph Churchill, Timothy Murray, James Chapman, Newman Durell, Joseph S. Watson, Ebenezer Joy, James L. Bennett, Rev. John Brodhead, Nathaniel Paul, father of Hon. Amos Paul, John Speed and Cyrus Littlefield.

Dea. Thomas Drowne and Benning Brackett had each 16, and Joseph Young and Simeon Locke each fourteen by a single marriage. Mr. Drowne was a brother of Capt. Peter Drowne who was murdered by Elisha Thomas. Benning Brackett was the father of the New Hampshire giant, Daniel Brackett. His family consisted of 5 sons and 10 daughters, one having died in infancy, and although several were of ordinary size, yet the aggregate weight of the 15, as estimated by a grandson, was 3,580 pounds, two of these, a brother and sister, weighing 1000 pounds.

The late David Chapman had eight children, only six of whom were married previous to 1816, and yet he had 50 grandchildren born between October 4, 1766 and April 10, 1815, (the writer being the eldest,) all within 3-4ths of a mile of his residence; and James Chapman, above named, son of said David Chapman, had 71 grandchildren, and died at the age of 74 years. Such families are rare now-a-days.—DAVID MURRAY, in Exeter News Letter.

MANAGEMENT OF COWS.—The New England Farmer is of the opinion that when the udder becomes enlarged by a superabundance of milk before the calf is dropped, the milk should be taken away, though contrary to the popular belief, which that paper considers erroneous. It adds: "If the udder is hard and no milk can be drawn from it, it should be bathed in warm water, warm soapsuds, together with a great deal of gentle friction by the hand.

If the milking, bathing and friction do not succeed, rub the udder with a liniment made of sweet oil and ammonia, or simple lard or fresh butter. In such cases, the condition of the bowels must be regarded, and Epsom salts given as a laxative. All cows should have entire liberty for a week or two previous to calving, such as an open, dry shed, or a pen twelve feet square in the barn. After dropping the calf, the cow should have a drink of shorts and warm water, once each day, for two or three days, in addition to her usual food."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected application, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1870.

Chat.

All but one of the persons engaged in the robbery of the Lime Rock Bank, in Rockland, Me., have been secured, and most of the stolen money recovered.

General F. A. Walker has decided that women are not eligible for appointment to the office of assistant-marshal for taking the census.

Wilmington, Delaware, has a White Man's Party convention.

Lieut. Stumbach and one private were lost in a fight between Major Gordon's cavalry and the Indians, near South Pass, Wyoming Territory, Wednesday.

The forthcoming report of the Bureau of Statistics will show that the excess of imports over exports for the seven months ending Jan. 31, 1870, has been only $8,693,572; while for the corresponding seven months last year the excess was $33,852,178. The specie value of the exports for the seven months first-named was $299,931,214.

The earnings of Adelaide Patti the past season have been one million francs, to say nothing of the presents she has received.

The English government offers a free passage in transports, which are about to sail for Canada, to all dockyard laborers who have recently been discharged, and who wish to emigrate.

The Republicans of Maryland have settled their troubles, and now hope to carry the State.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, Thursday, Mr. Thurman of Ohio, from the committee on finance, reported a bill for the reduction of taxes. The amount of the reduction proposed is as follows:—On incomes, $14,000,000; on sales, $8,868,000; gross receipts, $6,632,000; articles in schedule A, $895,000; salaries of United States officers, $683,000; passports, $27,000; legacies and successions, $2,848,000; miscellaneous, $448,000; special taxes, except on spirits and tobacco, which include a license tax, and on all taxes on employment, $9,311,000. Total—$43,607,000. This will leave the taxes on the following articles in force:—On distilled spirits, fermented liquors, tobacco, gas, and at the rate of 3 per cent. on incomes.

The House took up the bill to regulate the civil service.

Mr. Peters of Maine presented as an argument against the bill a letter from a cripple in the employment of government, pleading the claims of his class as against the provisions of the bill.

After speeches against the bill by Messrs. Niblack of Indiana, Morrill of Maine, and Maynard of Tennessee, Mr. Kelsey of New York moved to lay it on the table. Negatived—43 to 104.

Mr. Jenckes of Rhode Island rose to close the debate, and gave notice that he would move to recommit the bill and amendments to the committee on the civil service. He yielded a part of his time to Mr. Benton of New Hampshire, who denounced the bill as impolitic and impracticable, and part of his time to Mr. Kelley of Pennsylvania, who announced his adhesion to it.

Mr. Jenckes of Rhode Island said he was not disappointed at the reception which the bill had experienced. He believed that if 228 men were drawn by lot from among the people of the United States, there would be fewer found among them who were opposed to this measure than were found among the members of the House. In reply to the objection of Mr. Maynard that the bill removed the power further from the people, he asked what chance the people had now to gain admission to minor offices. Who ever gained any appointment now except through political or personal influence? He ridiculed the constitutional argument of Mr. Bingham, and thought that he found good reasons for the opposition of Messrs. Peters and Benton in the fact that the States of Maine and New Hampshire had as many employes in the Treasury Department as eighteen other States.

Mr. Ela of New Hampshire remarked that there was but one appointment from this district.

The bill and amendments were then recommitted and ordered to be printed.

The Northern Pacific R. R. bill was debated.

Mr. Ela of New Hampshire opposed the measure, which proposed to mortgage to European money lenders land enough to make a dozen of their little kingdoms, bring in millions of Asiatic pagans and enrich the Jay Cookes of the United States.

☞ F. H. Burns, the champion telegraph operator of this country and the world, died in his native town of Fishkill, N. J., Wednesday.

New Hampshire Items.

As Mrs. Hutchinson, and her daughter Mrs. Goodwin, were passing from their residence at Manchester, the elder lady fell and injured her face; which so effected her invalid daughter, that congestion of the lungs ensued, and Mrs. Goodwin died next day.

The Concord Independent Democrat completed its 25th year May 1st, and the editor indulges in a little gratulation on the occasion. And well he may—for few men in this or any other State have done more for liberty than George G. Fogg, with John P. Hale and the rest.

Gen. S. G. Griffin of Keene has been very sick, but is now expected to recover.

A stage full of passengers was tipped over in front of a hotel at Amherst, but not a body hurt. A German vase-seller lost $40 worth of vases.

Mr. Charles F. Conant of this State has been appointed chief of the warrant division of the Treasury Department at Washington.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

Messrs. Editors:—In your paper of May 2nd you gave the following problem in Compound Interest:—What will be the amount of $100 at 6 per cent. interest, compounded every instant for 5 years?

This at first view may appear formidable, and seem almost beyond the reach of computation; but with the aid of a good table of logarithms, (Vega's, for instance,) and a knowledge of their uses, the work may be accomplished in a few minutes.

A newspaper is not particularly well adapted to show to advantage the solution of a mathematical problem, but a tolerably good idea of the solution of this question may be obtained by a careful examination of the following calculations:—

We first find the amount of $100 for 5 years, by compounding once a year, which amounts to $133.82. Next find the amount of $100 for the same time, compounding the interest twice a year, which will be the same as for ten years at 3 per cent; this amount will be found to be $134.39. Then compound 4 times a year, (the same as for 20 years at 1 1-2 per cent.) Then compound 8 times a year with one-eighth of 6 per cent. This process may be continued at 16 times a year, and so on for 32, 64, 128, 256 and 512 times a year, which will be sufficiently far to show the law of increase, and to determine the limits of the series thus formed. This series will be as follows:—

Compounded once a year			$133 82
"	twice	"	134 39
" 4	times	"	134 69
" 8	"	"	134 83
" 16	"	"	134 91
" 32	"	"	134 95
" 64	"	"	134 97
" 128	"	"	134 98
" 256	"	"	134 99
" 512	"	"	134 99

Yours truly, A. M. H.

[The answer is the same as arrived at by Mr. S. W. Clark, who solved the question by algebra.—Eds. Chronicle.

WHAT AGE TO PLANT FRUIT TREES. A correspondent of The Horticulturist makes some very sensible remarks on this subject. He says: "A great many think that a three or four year old tree will bear sooner than one two years younger, and the nurseryman can testify well to the demand for trees for 'immediate fruiting;' but I consider it a costly, unsatisfactory practice. Nearly every tree of that age loses by necessity a large portion of its roots by transplanting from the nursery to its future bed; and in order to maintain a healthy progressive growth, the top must be shortened in, in the same proportion, sometimes quite severely; and by the time this is completed, the tree is little or no better than one a year or two younger. It happens, however, in the majority of cases, that the trees are neither well planted nor well pruned, and the first year's growth after planting in its new home is weak, sickly, stunted, with the least possible prospect of fruit.

Our experience has been precisely this. We have seldom succeeded well with trees over two years old. Last spring we sent for about two dozen pear and cherry trees, and in the hurry of writing the order, not being able to go after the trees personally, nothing was said about the age of the trees. We only said, "Send good trees, well branched." We never saw a more perfect lot of trees, but they were at least four years old, and some of them nine feet high. They were planted carefully and cut back severely, but only moderately at first, to save them. The spring could not have been more favorable for transplanting, and when the dry weather set in they were frequently watered, which doubtless saved the majority. Five of the lot died. We do not remember losing a small tree.

We believe with this correspondent where he farther says that one and two year old trees are better in the end than those older; and though we may have to wait some time longer to get fruit, the trees are far healthier and more productive and give more satisfaction. Germantown Telegraph.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

HAMPTON FALLS, May 5.

GOLDEN WEDDING.—Josiah Smith and wife celebrated their Golden Wedding May 3d, with cordial reception to their friends. They were married by Rev. Noah Webster at Hampton, May 3d, 1820. Brides maid and groom were Newell Brown, Esq., and Miss Abigail Leavitt, (now his present wife) both being present at this time. Also all the children, grandchildren and great grandchildren of Mr. Smith and wife, with other friends, numbering between forty and fifty.

The day being very fine, much like the one fifty years ago, it was enjoyed by both old and young. Tables were bountifully provided with the good things of this life, and all seemed to enjoy being there. Time passed pleasantly and rapidly, and when the time for parting came, friends went reluctantly, but not without leaving substantial tokens of their friendship, and a desire that the venerable couple may long live, and that their last days may be their best. A FRIEND.

A TRUE BALSAM.—DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under the balsamic influence.

PROPOSALS FOR FUEL.

QUARTERMASTER'S OFFICE, U. S. MARINE CORPS, WASHINGTON, May 4, 1870.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at this office until TUESDAY, the fourteenth day of June, 1870, at two o'clock P. M., for supplying wood and coal to the U. S. Marines at the following places during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1870; the wood to be merchantable oak, and to be delivered, piled, measured, and inspected at such points within the walls of the Marine Barracks, as may be designated by the commanding marine officer, free of expense to the United States. The coal to be good white ash anthracite egg coal, free from dust, and to weigh 2,240 pounds to the ton, to be weighed, inspected, and delivered at such points within the walls of the Marine Barracks as may be designated by the commanding marine officer, free of expense to the United States, and both wood and coal to be furnished upon the monthly or quarterly requisition of the commanding officer, showing the quantities required, agreeably to regulations, viz:

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Prostration Played Out.

Violent purgatives, emetics, salivants, blistering and bleeding have had their day.

The sick can no longer be persuaded that the best way to cure them is to destroy the little strength that disease has left them.

Dyspeptics instead of dosing themselves with, epsom salts, aloes, colocynth, jalap, and other powerful cathartics, tone their digestive organs and regulate their bowels with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Persons of bilious habit, instead of throwing the whole glandular system into a state of morbid irritation with mercurial poison, seek relief, and find it, in the operation of that wholesome vegetable alterative upon the disordered liver.

Nervous sufferers, tremulous, weak and despondent, recruit their shattered energies with a course of the great invigorant, and bless the day when the adulterated liquors of commerce were superseded by a medicated stimulant, perfectly efficient and entirely harmless.

Travelers by land and sea rejoice in the possession of an agreeable corrective, which protects them from the evil effects of malaria, from sea sickness, and from the disturbing influences of changes of temperature, and change of water.

The weak and debilitated feel their strength return, and their spirits revive under its bracing, appetizing, gently exhilarating action.

It is the only stimulant which cautious physicians can conscientiously recommend to ladies in delicate health, or to the aged and infirm.

There is not a city, town, or settlement, on the American continent, where it is not recognized as a household remedy, and a safeguard against epidemics; and, in short, whenever there is intelligence, prudence and common sense, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is pronounced a standard specific, for which, in the whole range of pharmacy, there is no substitute or equivalent.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used. Hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the PAIN KILLER to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular and commands a larger sale than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone, but all over the world its beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged and appreciated, and as a PAIN KILLER its fame is limited to no country, nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. Sold by all Druggists.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WCOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

N. H. Fire Insurance Company.
Notice—Two second-hand Hacks For Sale.
Proposals for Fuel—Wm. B. Slack.

☞ Chas. E. Shedd & Co. notify customers that they have a nice stock of boots, furnishing goods, &c. They have a large and choice lot of neck ties on hand.

MR. AND MRS. HOWARD PAUL come next Tuesday evening and announce a part of their programme in their advertisement, this morning. "If you love fun, go; if you like pathos, go—you get both of the right stamp," says an exchange, and those who attended when the Pauls were here last Fall talk the same way.

☞ "A nice Concert" was the verdict of the audience in attendance at the Temple, Thursday evening, at Mr. Chas. H. Tompson's benefit. We particularly liked the beneficiary's performances on the cornet. The ladies and gentlemen all did well in their various selections. We should have been pleased with a little more band music, even had the programme been lengthened in consequence.

☞ A new candidate for patronage, is the New Hampshire Fire Insurance Company, whose advertisement we give this morning. This is a stock concern, incorporated by the N. H. Legislature last year; is in the management of well known reliable and responsible men; and we see no reason why it should not take a portion of the risk and realize a part of the profit of the fire insurance of the State and elsewhere. Mr. John M. Davis is the Agent in this city, and will gladly give all information as to the terms of policies, &c.; and we take pleasure in commending to public confidence and favor this first home Stock Fire Insurance Company.

☞ The Panorama opened at the Temple, Friday evening, and will continue this afternoon and evening. The Haverhill Gazette says:—"The panorama is both entertaining and instructive. It shows up life at the "Hub" in its different phases, points out to the young the evils which beset them, and vividly portrays the course of a young man who left his New England home to try city life. It is a life lesson—and one that will leave a lasting impression on the minds of those who witness it. Mr. Scott's experience as a policeman and detective fits him to describe the different scenes — and the audience were alternately amused and affected. The automaton figures wound up the evening's entertainment merrily and satisfactorily."

MEMORIAL DAY. — Storer Encampment, Post No. 1, G. A. R., of this city, are making exertions to have the ceremonies this year equal if not superior to those of previous ones; and in their labors to honor the heroic dead, they ask the coöperation of the citizens, who have responded liberally heretofore. The gentlemen below named have been appointed to attend to the following duties:—

Committee on Programme, J. H. Locke, J. Albert Sanborn; on Invitations, D. J. Vaughan, J. W. Parsons, C. E. Plaisted; on Preparation of Flowers, E. A. Tilton, J. R. May; on Donations, N. B. Coleman, A. M. Lane, J. H. Mawbey; on Evergreen, C. H. Osgood, Reuben Kimball, Jr., M.M. Miller; on Location of Graves, D. J. Vaughan, J. R. Curtis, C. E. Hawkins, Robert Rand; on Decoration at Plains, Newcastle, Rye, E. H. Leslie, D. J. Vaughan.

THE ST. CLOUD HOTEL, New York, under the management of Rand Brothers, (Portsmouth boys,) is highly spoken of by the New Yorkers, as well as by all visitors. The Home Journal of last week says, "The guests of the St. Cloud Hotel, seconded by the proprietors, Messrs. Rand Brothers, gave their last hop of the season on Tuesday evening, to a gathering of select and fashionable people, among whom were Hon. S. C. Reed, of Fifth Av. Hotel, Col. James Fisk, Jr., Jay Gould, Gen. Vodges of Fort Hamilton; Gen. Quesada and suite, Mexican Consul; Mrs. Ann S. Stephens the authoress and family, and a crowd of other notables.

All the arrangements passed off with commendable eclat: The music, decorations and appointments, superintended by the Messrs. Rand Brothers, and the superior collation prepared, gave general satisfaction. Nothing was omitted that could add to the pleasure and comfort of the guests. Space forbids description of the elegant toilets. This has been the first season of the Messrs. Rand as hotel proprietors in New York. Their success in managing the St. Cloud has been complete, and the hotel, under their careful direction, has taken a first-class rank."

DR. BURROUGHS' MONUMENT.—From "Mount Auburn Memoranda," in the Boston Transcript, we copy the following description of the resting place of our late venerated townsman.

Inclosure of Charles Burroughs, Camelia path.—The pedestal consists of a large plinth of granite with a marble base, die and cap, of the sarcophagus form. The cornice is neatly moulded, and the frieze is decorated with sculptured fret work. The front of the die is deeply panelled, and has the following inscription:

"Sacred to the memory of Charles Burroughs, D. D. Born in Boston, Mass., 1787. Died in Portsmouth, N. H., 1868. Incruce Fides."

A sub cap or base to sustain a finely proportioned cross succeeds the pedestal, the extended portions of which are ornamented with scrolls and two beautifully chiselled honeysuckle flowers. An open Bible standing on the pedestal leans against the sub cap, and presents the following text of scripture: "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

The cross is embellished with a neatly sculptured spray of intertwining ivy, which proceeds from the pedestal and reaches to the summit of the former member.

Communication.

Dear Mr. Miller:—Will you not introduce at one of the Aldermanic meetings, a motion that the City should enforce the New Hampshire Law which makes it a penal offence to disfigure natural scenery, by painting medical and other advertisements on the rocks and fences? Also, that the Road Commissioners be instructed to remove such nuisance by painting over with stone color, in the instances where it has already been committed?

A city as celebrated as ours for the beauty of its environs, ought to use its power to protect itself against those pill-box vandals who do their best to disfigure the world, and by disgusting us with our rides and walks, keep us at home, the better to prepare us by ill health to "try" their nauseous compounds.

I know I speak for all the lovers of nature and lovers of exercise in town. Do not use my name.

Yours truly, A LADY.

THE OLDEST NEWSPAPER IN AMERICA.—We have before us a copy of the New Hampshire Gazette for April 2, published at Portsmouth, N. H. This publication bears under its heading the words "The Oldest Newspaper in America—Established October 7, 1756," and is No. 26 of Vol. CXIV. Looking at this connecting link of the great literary present with the puny past of over one hundred years ago, it awakens a current of thought within us as we speculate on the wonderful scenes that this paper has been the chronicler of in the eventful history of our country. Starting at a period when the facilities for procuring news were of the most meagre character, and when the demand for such a species of literature was exceedingly limited, it has passed through its more than a century, to see this mighty continent flooded with the innumerable issues of ten thousand newspapers, any one of which, in a single number, probably contains more news than did the publications of an entire year of the Gazette at its start.

As it passed through each successive decade, what marvelous scenes and incidents have been portrayed within its columns. And what a faithful historian it must be to have been able to hand down the every detail of the affairs of our great nation, from its restless unsatisfied condition as a dependent British colony, to and through that fierce struggle for independence from the unjust thraldom imposed upon it by the mother country. And later still, how glorious has been its destiny—to be a speaking witness of the wonderful progress of this Great Republic, from its stormy birth to its present grand development. Then let us respect and cherish this memento of an honored past, and hope that the Gazette may have a bright future before it, and that it will long continue to be "the oldest newspaper in America."—Phil. Typog. Mess.

☞ Rev. Mr. Dillingham, formerly of this city, has left the New Church and returned to the Universalists.

☞ We notice the name of Dr. John W. Parsons of this city among the list of delegates to the American Medical Association at Washington, D. C.

☞ Philadelphia is to have a new independent Daily paper, to be called the Record, and published by Wm. J. Swain, the wealthy son of the former prietor of the Philadelphia Ledger. Verily, of making books there is no end; neither is there of papers.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 237 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,

Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500 and $100,

and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at the full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

Morning Chronicle.

New Hampshire Items.

Messrs. Brown & Co. have erected a mill for manufacturing lumber at Whitefield, which is 112 feet long and 70 wide, and its capacity is 8,000,000 feet of lumber yearly. Messrs. Brown & Co. are constructing a railway for the mill to their timber land, a distance of six miles. The same parties carry on some extensive saw mills at Wentworth, where they manufacture about 4,000,000 feet of lumber per annum.

It is rumored that the Boston and Maine Railroad directors will locate their new freight station on the Rollinsford road. They recently bought a large tract of land with buildings thereon for $14,000, for the above object. It is said to be the intention of the directors to build also, if possible, a new passenger station this year at Dover.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Merrimack Agricultural Society on the 26th, it was announced that a guarantee fund of fifteen hundred dollars had been secured towards paying any deficiencies that may arise in holding the School until they return home.

At Keene, in a suit to recover damages for alleged unsoundness in a horse—the jury failed to agree.

A son of Rev. J. W. Adams of Keene, having been killed while at play about the cars—fifty-one of his friends sent him a letter of condolence enclosing $121.30.

OPPOSITION TO MR. LYNCH'S BILL.—A deputation of New York ship-owners, urging relief from the burdens of navigation laws, have appeared before a joint committee of Congress. Letters were read from R. B. Forbes and Harrison O. Briggs of Boston, and Paul Forbes of New York, who were unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Lynch's bill offered no adequate relief, and that the only true course was to allow the registry of large ships from abroad, thus reviving our foreign commerce and, at the same time, not interfering with the coasting trade.

☞ The celebrated revivalist, Jacob Knapp, preached in Boston recently, to crowded houses. Also the original and veritable Uncle Tom of Mrs. Stowe's Cabin. He is a Methodist preacher; his real name is Hanson, and he is now 82 years of age, and black as a coal.—Rev. Rowland Connor's rationalistic, semi-infidel, anti-Christian Society, gave up the ghost last Sabbath and disbanded.

CONNECTICUT. — Governor English was inaugurated on Wednesday. Hon. Lafayette Foster was elected Speaker of the House, and Edward Harland, Esq., President pro tem. of the Senate,—both Republicans. During the past year the funded debt has been reduced $346,600. The entire liabilities of the State at the commencement of the present fiscal year are $6,727,406.69.

—Com. Vanderbilt, Ald. Barker, and a darkey horseman were arrested and fined for fast driving, last week by the Superintendent of Police in New York.

—A bothered housekeeper thinks that servant girls, instead of being "subject to a hire law," are a law unto themselves, and quite lawless at that.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

SANDOWN, May 6.

Six persons, four males and two females, have died in this town during the year ending April 30. The oldest one was 86 years of age, and the youngest 4 years and 6 months. Average age, 48 yrs., 1 month. There have been 2 marriages and 8 births during the same period.

The total number of polls taxed this year is 143; tax on each poll, $2.53; rate of taxation, $1.69 on $100; dog tax, $38; support of schools, $390. The total valuation of the town is $224,877, an increase of $2859 over last year. The largest tax paid is $171.09; the smallest resident tax, 33 cents. There are three persons whose tax exceeds $100 each, and 15 whose tax exceeds $50 each.

There is now a fair prospect of having a tri-weekly, and possibly a daily mail from Plaistow to Sandown via South Danville—circulars having been issued by the P. O. Department, inviting proposals for carrying the mails. C.

THE LORRAINE

VEGETABLE CATHARTIC PILL

LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILL,

—OR—

LA MEDICINE CURATIVE.

Mild, Certain, Safe, Efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing injury to any of them. The most complicated and confirmed cases are in many localities; and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs free from irritation, and never over tasks or excites the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys,—of children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, it brings prompt relief and certain cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it; and no person who once uses this, will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

Communication.

THE CORRUPT CITY.—Very few persons have any conception of the corruption of the city of New York, with its population of about one million human beings. It is often called "the corrupt city." One of our public journals states that it is the most corrupt city in the world. We have no account of any other place so depraved. Yet we know that there is a numerous class of upright, high-minded citizens in it. But at elections, they are sure to be outvoted by illegal and double voting of the same persons in different wards, under fictitious names. The expenditure of the city authorities far exceeds the amount formerly paid for the support of the Federal government. Bribery is practiced upon a large scale. The judges of the courts, elected by the popular vote, are stated by some of the New York periodicals to be well known as receivers of bribes.

But when we read in the New York papers of the debasement and total depravity of the lowest classes in the city, the mind is filled with horror. The statement was published in the New York Tribune, that the members of the police force agreed in estimating the whole number of female prostitutes at about twelve thousand! The number of males would not be less.

The New York Times of Dec. 10, 1869, contains nearly two columns giving an account "by an accurate census of two thousand subterranean residences or cellars, of the most miserable and abandoned human creatures of which we can conceive. The cellars were of different kinds. In the third, the most infamous class, the underground residents were found associating themselves together in large numbers in a single room. No one can have even a remote idea of the filth, crime, drunkenness, debauchery and wretchedness of this class. During the day they leave their miserable, loathsome dens, and earn, beg or steal sufficient to eat and wear, and at night resort again to these hellish dens, where they may be found at midnight packed together, men, women and children, with little or no regard to modesty or family relations, and frequently in a condition the most bestial possible." Most of these abodes are in the region of the "Five Points."

An account is also given of similar dens in the lower part of the city along the river. "Here are the lowest specimens of those unhappy characters who flaunt in all our streets at night in gaudy colors, and they are full of physical rottenness that all the chirurgery of medical science could not restore to soundness. Here in these cellars, want the most abject, vice the most loathsome, ignorance the most besotted, dwell in darkness and in filth."

The annual mortality of these wretched beings, more filthy than the beasts that perish, has been very great. The Board of health of the city during the past year has adopted measures to abate some of the nuisances, and improve the condition of others.

From this appalling picture of human misery we turn to the highest class, so-called, of the city, which has accumulated millions upon millions, directly or indirectly, out of the hard earnings of the laboring classes. These millionaires are the chief cause of the poverty of others, but for the latter they care not. Indeed they are miserable men without souls to save. Where there is extreme wealth there will be extreme poverty. Those who are worth from one to twenty millions "will die poor," and their heirs will be thankless for their estate. Let them remember that this "life is a vapour which soon passeth away," and what shall their end be? We would rather envy the condition of a poor, honest man, than that of the possessor of many millions. V.

—An excellent pianist, whose fame has swollen his breast out with pride, recently asserted in an aristocratic Parisian salon, before a circle of admirers, that an ancestor of his accompanied the Crusaders. "O yes; we know all about that; he accompanied them on the piano," responded a wag.

—It has been well said, that beneath what every man says he believes, and beneath what he thinks he believes, lies what he really does believe.

— One kind of high-living does not produce the gout—living in the garret.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leaves me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, MAY 9, 1870.

Chat.

Sunday was election day in France.

Judge Davis, one of the counsel for the prosecution in the McFarland trial, Friday, announced his retirement from the case. Mr. Graham began the summing up for the prisoner, and had not concluded when the court adjourned to Monday.

The white men's association of doctors in session in Washington confirmed its decision regarding the colleges educating colored men, and also voted to exclude delegates from the colleges educating women.

Quincy, Ill., had a $300,000 fire, Friday.

The New York Mutuals defeated the Morrisania Unions, 17 to 14.

The income returns, so far as received, show an increase over those of last year.

The Chicago nine defeated the Atlantics of New Orleans, 51 to nothing.

The convention in Dover, Delaware, to organize a white men's party, did not amount to anything.

The boilers connected with the Gainesville, Ohio, waterworks exploded Friday morning. Loss, one life and $100,000.

The Tennessee Constitutional Convention reassembled Thursday, and declared the new State Constitution ratified by a vote of 98,125 against 33,472.

President Grant has signed the census bill and the bill apportioning representatives to Congress.

One-fifth of the entire debt of Wurtemberg was incurred in constructing railways.

Gov. Chamberlain of Maine is a candidate for a re-nomination by the Republicans. They don't always rotate in Maine, though Gov. Chamberlain wouldn't object to being rotated from his present position to that of U. S. Senator.

The Fenians have an "army" of 33,000.

There is a faint hope that the steamer reported fast in the ice off the coast of Greenland may be the City of Boston. She was reported to have had a short supply of sails and after all control over her had been lost, she would have drifted in the direction of Greenland. If this supposition should prove true, and should the passengers and crew be saved, there will be three more Enoch Ardens.

Business in Chicago is unusually brisk.

A Belgian pedler was recently murdered in Bruges, and as a recompense to his wife the government has granted her a permit to beg.

Bismark's disease is said to be very like delirium tremens.

San Francisco has Spanish opera.

Gold, Saturday, 114 7-8.

A disastrous storm occurred at Council Bluffs, Iowa, Friday. A church costing $15,000 was entirely demolished. The entire loss was $30,000.

New Hampshire Items.

The railroad from Bradford to Claremont is contracted for building.

A railroad is talked of from Mast Yard station in North Concord, on the Concord and Claremont Rrilroad, to Andover.

The citizens of Bradford, in open town meeting, 104 to 13, voted not to appoint a Town Liquor Agent, but to allow Col. Littlehale of the hotel to sell liquor "in a moderate and judicious manner." A resolution passed condemning all attempts at prohibition. Only think of it—judicious rumselling.

THE MCFARLAND TRIAL has taken a new range, and has become a theological inquiry. The main anxiety, Wednesday, seemed to be the religious opinions of Mr. Junius Henri Browne. We cannot imagine what relation Mr. Browne's notions about a future state can have to the guilt or innocence of McFarland, although it is interesting to know that Mr. Browne does not believe in a future state of rewards and punishments, but does believe in "a system of compensation." What this means we scarcely know, unless as a hardworking journalist he feels that a system of compensation is a necessity. Mr. Browne feels that there are some errors in the Bible, although he declines to specify them without a week's preparation.—N. Y. Standard.

☞ Mesdames Woodhull & Claflin, the female brokers of New York, are to publish a new Weekly paper, "Upward and Onward," devoted to progress, especially Woman Suffrage, and which will support Victoria C. Woodhull for President. The prospectus states that the Democratic Party has long been only the shadow of a name, that the Republican Party is effete—that Conservatism is impracticable, and Progress the only principle worthy of a live journal.

MARY.

I see her not, but still I feel
Her presence is around me here,
She greets me from the "Summer land,"
A guardian angel often near.

Friends say she's far away from earth,
Some tell me that she sleeps—is dead;
Her body lie 'neath the sod,
Her spirit knows no confined bed.

Heaven's not a city whose area 's
Twelve thousand furlongs, form four
Tis space, illimitable space, [square,*
No length, no height, no depth are there.

Her Heaven is here and far beyond,
Not cramped within a narrow place—
Where millions, untold millions dwell,
From every nation, kindred, race.

I see her not, though others may,
But still she comes and talks to me;
Though changed now her form and life,
She's clothed in immortality.

Our love's the same, pure, noble, true,
These garlands of my life I bring,
There is no victory won by death,
Nor is there in the grave a sting.

*Rev. 21st, 16th. H.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

THE BEAUTIFUL vs. THE USEFUL.—Our neighbor of the Journal wants the City Building beautified. He says:—

We do not doubt that were the questions put to the people of Portsmouth, whether to build roads in the outskirts of the city or to beautify Market Square by spending a like amount on the City Building, ten to one would vote the latter. Projecting eaves, mastic front and sides, with suitable trimmings for the doors and windows, would do a wonderful amount of adornment to the building, and be a standing invitation to strangers to come and tarry here.

I am inclined to doubt the "ten to one vote" against the road-making. Some of those citizens who are so fortunate as to have good roads between their houses and places of business might vote that way, but the number of such citizens in Portsmouth is not very large. It may do for persons who already have all the road accommodation they want, to say that no one else needs any more; but that style of reasoning never enlarged or improved any city yet, nor ever will. One of the first and most important requisites for the growth and prosperity of cities, (as of countries and states,) is facility and cheapness of communication between different points; and this can only be secured to us by good roads wherever they are needed.

The Journal's renovated City Building would "be a standing invitation to strangers to come and tarry here;" but of what use will it be to invite strangers here, if we don't make roads so that they can get here when they try? I have no doubt, however, but what fixing up the building at the expense of the roads would tend to make strangers "tarry" here; for if they once got in sight of the edifice, they would never be able to leave the city, if our streets were any worse than rainy weather makes them now.

Any money expended in attempting to make our City Building look well, would be wasted. The original architect endeavored to plan a building which should exhibit the largest amount of hideousness in the smallest possible compass, and which no one should be able to improve in appearance; and he succeeded very well. If its walls and roof were covered with mastic six inches deep, and the eaves extended till they stuck out twenty feet all round, it wouldn't make a good-looking building of it—it would still be an old brick ark, and nothing else. Let us have roads. PAKEHA.

☞ What will be the amount of $100 at 6 per cent. interest compounded every instant for 5 years?

Compounded once a year			$133 82
"	twice	"	134 39
" 4	times	"	134 69
" 8	"	"	134 83
" 16	"	"	134 91
" 32	"	"	134 95
" 64	"	"	134 97
" 128	"	"	134 98
" 512	"	"	134 99

By a mere inspection of the above series, it will be readily seen that it is so rapidly convergent, that, as far as dollars and cents are concerned, it has already reached its limits; and that there is no perceptible difference between compounding 256 times and 512 times a year. It can never go beyond $135, however often it may be compounded, although compounding once a day brings it within one cent of that amount.

There is one fact to be learned from the above solution, which may interest those who lend or borrow money; and that is, that it makes but little difference whether we compound the interest annually or semi-annually; making only 47 cents difference on $100 for 5 years, and only 30 cents difference between compounding semi-annually and quarterly. Yours truly, A. M. H.

LOST.

One evening in the month of May,
Strolling up the broad highway,
While hand in hand with Minnie Ray,
I lost my heart.

I cannot now define the place,
For I was gazing in her face,
Striving in vain her thoughts to trace,
Upon that eve.

My heart away so quickly flew,
Whither it went I never knew;
And Minnie Ray was lost to view,
So I went home.

If some one will my heart restore,
In good condition as before,
I'll promise truly, nevermore
To walk with girls.

☞ Dr. Hall says things are so nicely balanced by nature, that if the earth should ever "run against anything," the water of the Pacific ocean would slip out of its basin, and drown the whole of Europe and North America. This being the case, we hope the man who guides the North Pole will keep a bright lookout for runaway comets. It would be very damp to wake up some morning and find "a thousand fathoms of solid pork pickle" above the place where we take in oxygen.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Old Fallacy Exploded.

Thirty or forty years ago, it was the fashion to administer powerful purgatives as "spring medicines." Terrific doses of salts and senna, calomel and jalap, or glauber salts were given to all the members of a family, whether sick or well, by way of preparing them for the warm weather in prospect. This pernicious custom is nearly obsolete, but there are some old Bourbons of private life, incapable alike of forgetting anything or learning anything, who obstinately cling to it still. Nothing could be more pernicious, more utterly unphilosophical, than such an onslaught on the vigor and elasticity of the system. In order to enable the physical structures to resist the enervating effects of spring damps and summer heats, it should be toned and reinforced, not relaxed and weakened.

The best medicine agent for this purpose is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Its effect is to tone the stomach and liver, gently relieve the bowels from obstructions, brace the nerves, improve the quality of the blood, stimulate the appetite and cheer the spirits. In this improved condition the organization is capable of resisting unhealthy influences, which would prostrate an enfeebled system.

A vigorous digestion is absolutely essential to health, and there is no danger of the stomach faltering or failing in its important office if this génial vegetable elixir is taken regularly as a stomachic. None of the tonic tinctures or extracts will supply the place of the Bitters, for the simple reason that they operate as astrin gents only. in fact, in ordinary practice, five or six prescriptions would be required to produce simultaneously, the beneficial results, which are effected simultaneously, and harmoniously by this single specific.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which lead the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state it is was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. 1840. PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1870.

Time tests the Merits of all Things.

☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the PAIN KILLER to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular and commands a larger sale than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone; all over the world its beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged by the people, and as a PAIN KILLER its fame is limited to no country, nect nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. Sold by all Druggists.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.
Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

as PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. mh12dawlm

☞ A session of the U. S. Circuit Court commences in this city to-day. Judge Clifford will preside.

PERSONAL.—We learn that Col. G. Frank Towle who has been stationed in Arkansas, is ordered with his regiment to Louisiana. He will be located at New Orleans.

THE LAST OPPORTUNITY to see the Panorama is offered this evening. Public men of other places testify that it is well worth seeing, which our citizens who have attended thus far coincide in.

☞ We have been shown some specimens of Photography, which, if they do not excel, equal the finest German Photographs. They were taken by Mr. Frank Nowell, assistant at Davis Bros., in this city, whose work has met the approbation of our citizens. The improvement adopted in the excellence of these pictures gives those who have found it difficult to procure a good likeness perfect satisfaction.

FISHY.—The Newcastle Summer fishing fleet, longshore, under Adm. Zaccheus Randall of the Dashaway flagship, is doing a fine business, having landed more fish than in any previous season for years. Even the Dr.'s Homeopath took 25 nice cod in the river a few days since in an hour or two. Messrs. Harding & Doane have dried on their flakes or picked, 700 quintals of fish during the past month, from river and harbor boats. Fishing is good down river now.

A BAD SPELL.—Not the dry-as-dust weather of last week, though mercy knows that was bad enough; but the numerous evidences of the schoolmaster being abroad. For instance, on a sign not far from Market Square are or recently were no less than nine errors of punctuation; a guide-board in a neighboring town points to Portsmouth Plaines; and a beautiful wagon just from the manufactory hails from Gravelly Ridge, which is a more solemn location than that evidently intended.

MR. AND MRS. HOWARD PAUL are on their farewell tour through New England and their entertainment to-morrow evening will be the last here previous to their departure for Europe, where Mrs. Paul has a professional engagement for two years, after which she will leave the stage. Both performers are finished, versatile and highly accomplished. They have met with great success in America, Great Britain, Germany and France. Their costumes are brilliant and appropriate, many of them being made in Paris.

☞ Mr. John S. Treat of this city, marble worker, has won considerable fame by cutting animals from marble and granite—lions, dogs, horses and others. Last week a noble Newfoundland Dog, life size, with natural, easy pose and curly hair, was evoked from a fine block of white marble, by the skill of Mr. Treat, and now surmounts a granite and marble monument to Mr. James Batchelder jr. at Hampton. In an adjoining lot, that of Mr. J. W. F. Hobbs, are two lambs, and a dog is to be placed over the grave of a boy.

☞ The total receipts at Mr. Chas. H. Tompson's Concert, Thursday evening, were $100.85—expenses $92.47, leaving a balance of $8.38 for the beneficiary. We wish the sum had been much larger, but as the case stands Mr. Cobb of Boston seems to have been the person most benefitted, pecuniarily. His songs and recitation were good and pleased the audience, but the concerts without him was good enough and the audience would probably have been nearly or quite as large had the gentleman from Boston remained at home. Mr. Tompson has the proud satisfaction of offering one of the nicest entertainments of the season to his friends.

CHARLES DICKENS.—Everbody will be reading "Edwin Drood" for a year to come, and Dickens' name will be on every one's lips and in all the newspapers. There is a fresh growth of readers for his novels, and we predict that the famous novels of Dickens' will be read more this year than ever before. In choosing an edition care should be taken to buy one that has good clear type, is compact and cheap. All these qualifications are met by the Globe Edition, in 14 volumes, published by H. O. Houghton & Co. This edition also has the advantage that it contains stories and sketches by Dickens that are not to be found in any other American edition, and has besides a splendid Index of eighty pages, giving the names of all the wonderful characters in Dicken's novels, telling in what books they are to be found,—in fact, a regular street directory. Happy those who know Dickens' characters, and happy those yet to know them.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

KITTERY, ME., May 7.

Competent judges say that there is enough good granite on Seavey's Island (lately purchased by Government) to wall all round the Navy Yard and island, and for building purposes. This is quite an item—to have abundance of stone so close at hand. The granite is either greenish or the color of soapstone, and finishes beautifully. It would not take a large sum to make this the best Dock-yard in the world—and there is almost room enough to build the world's navies, if it was all improved.

This Station has advantages which no other one can boast—a great extent of water-frontage, with depth enough for the Great Eastern to lay alongside almost anywhere; harbor never frozen over, but always clear of ice; land-room enough for the largest naval manufactory in the world; a climate warm enough for work at all seasons of the year, and as good mechanics as are in the country.

In a grove near the M. E. Church is an old graveyard, nearly obliterated by time. In the centre is buried Rev. John Newmarch, the first pastor of the first Congregational Church in Kittery. He was born in 1673, graduated at Harvard in 1690, commenced his ministry in Kittery in April, 1695, was ordained pastor of the Church November 4, 1714, and continued his pastorate until 1751. He died Jan. 15, 1754, aged 81 years. Good grave stones have been erected to his memory. * K. M.

PROPOSALS FOR FUEL.

QUARTERMASTER'S OFFICE, U. S. MARINE CORPS,
WASHINGTON, May 4, 1870.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at this office until TUESDAY, the fourteenth day of June, 1870, at two o'clock P. M., for supplying wood and coal to the U. S. Marines at the following places during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1870; the wood to be merchantable oak, and to be delivered, piled, measured, and inspected at such points within the walls of the Marine Barracks, as may be designated by the commanding marine officer, free of expense to the United States. The coal to be good white ash anthracite egg coal, free from dust, and to weigh 2,240 pounds to the ton, to be weighed, inspected, and delivered at such points within the walls of the Marine Barracks as may be designated by the commanding marine officer, free of expense to the United States, and both wood and coal to be furnished upon the monthly or quarterly requisition of the commanding officer, showing the quantities required, agreeably to regulations, viz:

Wash'n City, D. C.,	200 tons	Coal,	500 cords	Wood
Portsmouth, N. H.,	125	" "	150	"	"
Charlestown, Mass.	150	" "	130	"	"
Brooklyn, N. Y.,	200	" "	150	"	"
Philadelphia, Pa.,	120	" "	120	"	"
Gosport, Va.,	60	" "	75	"	"
Pensacola, Fla.,	—	" "	125	"	"
Mare Island, Cal.,	130	" "	140	"	"

Payments will be made upon the receipt of accounts duly authenticated by the commanding officers of the posts at which the wood or coal has been delivered.

The right is reserved to reject all bids considered unreasonable.

A guarantee to be signed by two responsible persons, whose responsibility must be certified to by the United States District Judge, United States District Attorney, or United States Collector, must accompany each proposal, otherwise it will not be considered.

To be endorsed "Proposals for Fuel," and addressed to the undersigned.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500 and $100,

and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they yield nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

A MYSTERIOUS VISIT.

BY MARK TWAIN.

The first notice that was taken of me when I "settled down" recently, was by a gentleman who said he was an assessor, and connected with the United States Internal Revenue Department. I said I had never heard of his branch of business before, but I was very glad to see him, all the same; would he sit down? He sat down. I did not know anything particular to say, and yet I felt that people who have arrived at the dignity of keeping house must be conversational, must be easy and sociable in company. So, in default of anything else to say, I asked him if he was opening his shop in our neighborhood.

He said he was. [I did not wish to appear ignorant, but I had hoped he would mention what he had for sale.]

I ventured to ask him "how was trade?" and he said "So-so."

I then said we would drop in, and if we liked his house as well as any other, we would give him our custom.

He said he thought we would like his establishment well enough to confine ourselves to it—said he never saw anybody who would go off and hunt up another man in his line after trading with him once.

That sounded pretty complacent, but barring that natural expression of villainy which we all have, the man looked honest enough.

I don't know how it came about, exactly, but gradually we appeared to melt down and run together, conversationally speaking, and then everything went along as comfortably as clock work.

We talked, and talked—and talked—at least I did. And we laughed, and laughed—at least he did. But all the time I had my presence of mind about me—I had my native shrewdness turned on, "full head," as the engineers say. I was determined to find out all about his business, in spite of his obscure answers—and I was determined I would have it out of him without his suspecting what I was at. I meant to trap him with a deep, deep ruse. I would tell him all about my own business, and he would naturally so warm to me during this seductive burst of confidence that he would forget himself and tell me all about his affairs before he suspected what I was about. I thought to myself, my son, you little know what an old fox you are dealing with. I said:

"Now you never would guess what I made lecturing, this winter and last spring?"

"No—don't believe I could, to save me. Let me see—let me see. About two thousand dollars maybe? But no—no, sir, I know you couldn't have made that much. Say seventeen hundred, maybe?"

"Ha-ha! I know you couldn't. My lecturing receipts for last spring and this winter were fourteen thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars. What do you think of that.?"

"Why, it is amazing—perfectly amazing. I will make a note of it. And you say even this wasn't all?"

"Ah! Why, bless you, there was my income from the Buffalo Express for four months—about—about—well, what would you say to about eight thousand dollars, for instance?"

"Say! What I should say is I should like to see myself rolling in just such another ocean of affluence. Eight thousand! I'll make a note of it. Why, man!—and on top of all this I am to understand that you had still more income?"

"Ha-ha-ha! Why, you're only in the suburbs of it, so to speak. There's my book, 'The Innocents Abroad'—price $3.50 to $5 according to the binding. Listen to me. Look me in the eye. During the last four months and a half, saying nothing of the sales before that—but just simply during the four months and a half ending March 15, 1870, we've sold ninety-five thousand copies of that book! Ninety-five thousand! Think of it! Average four dollars a copy say. It's nearly four hundred thousand dollars, my son. I get half!"

"The suffering Moses! I'll set that down. Fourteen-seven fifty—eight—two hundred. Total, two hundred and thirteen or fourteen thousand dollars. Is that possible?"

"Possible! If there's any mistake it's the other way. Two hundred and fourteen thousand, cash, is my income for this year, if I know how to cipher."

Then the gentleman got up to go. It came over me most uncomfortably that maybe I had made my revelations for nothing, besides being flattered into stretching them considerably by the stranger's astonished exclamations. But, no; at the last moment the gentleman handed me a large envelope and said it contained his advertisement; and that I would find out all about his business in it; and that he would be happy to have my custom—would, in fact, be proud to have the custom of a man of such prodigious income—and that he used to think that there were several wealthy men in Buffalo, but when they came to trade with him they discovered that they barely had enough to live on; and that in truth it had been such a weary, weary age since he had seen a rich man face to face, and talked with him, and touched him with his hands, that he could hardly refrain from embracing me—in fact, would esteem it a great favor if I would let him embrace me.

This so pleased me that I did not try to resist, but allowed this simple-hearted stranger to throw his arms about me and weep a few tranquilizing tears down the back of my neck. Then he went his way.

As soon as he was gone I opened his advertisement. I studied it attentively for four minutes. I then called up the cook and said—

"Hold me while I faint. Let Maria turn the butter-cakes."

By-and-by, when I came to, I sent down to the run-mill on the corner and hired an artist by the week to sit up nights and curse that stranger, and give me a hit occasionally in the daytime when I came to a hard place.

Ah, what a miscreant he was! His "advertisement" was nothing in the world but a tax return—a string of impertinent questions about my private affairs, occupying the best part of four foolscap pages of fine print—questions, I may remark, gotten up with such marvellous ingenuity that the oldest man in the world couldn't understand what the most of them were driving at—questions, too, that were calculated to make a man report about four times his actual income to keep from swearing to a lie. I looked for a loophole, but there did not appear to be any. Inquiry No. 1 covered my case as generously and as amply as an umbrella could cover an ant-hill:—

"What were your profits, in 1869, from any trade, business or vocation, wherever carried on?"

And that inquiry was backed up by thirteen others of an equally searching nature, the most modest of which required information as to whether I had committed any burglary, or highway robbery, or by any arson or any other secret source of emolument had acquired property which was not enumerated in my statement of income, as set opposite to inquiry No. 1.

It was plain that that stranger had enabled me to make an ass of myself. It was very, very plain, and I went out and hired another artist. By working on my vanity the stranger had seduced me into declaring an income of two hundred and fourteen thousand dollars. By law, one thousand of this was exempt from income tax—the only relief I could see, and it was only drop in the ocean. At the legal five per cent., I must pay over to the government the appalling sum of ten thousand six hundred and fifty dollars, income tax.

[I may remark in this place, that I did not do it.]

I am acquainted with a very opulent man, whose house is a palace, whose table is regal, whose outlays are enormous, yet a man who has no income, as I have often noticed by the revenue returns; and to him I went for advice in my distress. He took my dreadful exhibition of receipts, he put on his glasses, he took his pen, and presto! I was a pauper! It was the neatest thing that ever was. He did it simply by deftly manipulating the bill "Deductions." He set down my "State, national and municipal taxes" at so much; my "losses by shipwreck, fire, etc," at so much; my "losses on sales of real estate"—on "live stock sold"—on "payments for rent on homestead"—on "repairs, improvements, interest"—on previously taxed salary as an officer of the United States army, navy, revenue service," and other things. He got astonishing "deductions" out of each and every one of these matters—each and every one of them. And when he was done he handed me the paper, and I saw at a glance that during the year 1869 my income, in the way of profits, had been one thousand two hundred and fifty dollars and forty cents!

"Now," said he, "the thousand dollars is exempt by law. What you want to do is to go and swear this document in, and pay tax on the two hundred and fifty dollars.

[While he was making this speech his little boy Willy lifted a two-dollar greenback out of his vest pocket and vanished with it; and I would bet anything that if any stranger were to call on that little boy to-morrow, he would make a false return of his income.]

"Do you," said I, "do you always work up the 'deductions' after this fashion in your case, sir?"

"Well, I should say so! If it weren't for those eleven saving clauses under the head of 'Deductions,' I should be beggared every year to support this hateful and wicked, this extortionate and tyrannical government."

This gentleman stands away up among the very best of the solid men of Buffalo—the men of moral weight, of commercial integrity, of unimpeachable social spotlessness—and so I bowed to his example. I went down to the revenue office, and under the accusing eyes of my old visitor I stood up and swore to lie after lie, fraud after fraud, villainy after villainy, till my immortal soul was coated inches and inches thick with perjury, and my self-respect was gone forever and ever. But what of it? It is nothing more than thousands of the highest, and richest, and proudest, and most respected, honored and courted men in America do every year. I shall simply, for the present, talk little and wear fireproof gloves, lest I fall into certain habits irrevocably.—Buffalo Express.

☞ Those New York editors are furious talkers. Mr. Theo. Tilton of the Independent has said something in his paper which hurts some one's feelings, we should judge, for Mr. Hastings of the Commercial Advertiser gives this public notice:

We inform the editor of the Independent that as we have kicked nothing for a long time he will be likely to be introduced to our calfskin the first time we chance to meet him. It is the only way to treat such fellows. We shan't hurt him, but merely kick.

☞ The N.Y. Standard thinks, "in the event of Mr. Morrissey's resignation, the Democrats of the Fourth Congressional District could not do better than to nominate Hon. M. M. Pomeroy. He would represent something, which is more than many of the Democratic members do. New York wants one red-hot member."

LA MEDICINE CURATIVE.

Mild, Certain, Safe, Efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing injury to any of them. The most complete success has long attended its use in many localities; and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs free from irritation, and never over taxes or excites the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys,—or children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, it brings prompt relief and certain cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it; and no person who once uses this, will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the New York Times writes as follows concerning General Butler:

"Whatever we may say of the New England member, wherever he sits, he is the head of the radical table. He is the Macgregor of them all. I lounge into the gallery and look down—and the eye drifts unconsciously to the large brain, the wide expansive forehead, the profile that looks like an old Roman coin stamped with the face of the earliest Cæsars—and I know that most eyes in those wide galleries rest with mine upon the member from Massachusetts. If at rest, which is not often, he insensibly sinks into the Napoleonic attitude—the body slouching in the chair—the arm thrown over its back—the face looking thoughtfully into some mental vista. How much hatred—how much anger—how much terror—how much passionate envenomed wrath has curdled over the pathway of Benjamin F. Butler.

Is he popular in the House?" I ask one who should know. "No! he is too aggressive." The thought comes to me that greatness is always aggressive—that nothing is more aggressive than the sea—the tides—the thunderbolts; and as a man who believes in the Cromwells, the Dantons, the Napoleons, the Gambeetas, the Carnots, the Stantons of history—who sees more royalty in the Danish figure of the Great Protector than in all the Plantaganets and Stuarts and Hanovers whose statues stand in the English palaces—I retain for Butler the same enthusiasm which came to me when he solved the war by making the slave a contraband and punished a traitor in the sight of traitors for dishonoring the flag.

This Representative, with all his enmities, is to-day the strongest man in Congress—the strongest with the administration. You feel his influence everywhere. Those who claim to hear the whispers of the throne say that no voice is more potent, and that no mind outside the Cabinet more frequently impresses itself upon Executive deliberations. Hated and feared as he is, he is one of the most genial and courteous and generous of men. He has the rare gift of commanding the awe and the affections of those around him. They say a man is never great to his valet. Before I esteem a hero, tell me what his private secretaries say.

As a mere idler in this capital city, with nothing to do but see the great comedy as it changes from day to day, and dispose to look cynically beneath the robes that drape the "greatness" that is all around, and seek to know which was bronze and which mere clay and earthenware, I am impressed with the devotion and esteem which those who know Butler and serve him, feel for his genius and character.

"'I have my gods,' as Carlyle would say, and an odd lot they are, perhaps; but to me they are gods, and I don't take them down when the rain falls. For this administration, and perhaps for the one that comes after, the hand of Butler will rest upon this country with increasing power. Stevens has gone, and Sumner, after his long war, glides into scholarly conservatism, and the radical leader is the member from Essex."

MAINE ITEMS.—The County Tax of Kittery for 1870 is $828.71, Eliot $624.44, York $937.41, Berwick $754.15, Kennebunk $1714.03. The effect of the new valuation is advantageous to some towns and disadvantageous to others. Kittery pays $200 more tax than last year. While the County is 2d in valuation in the State, is is 3d in State tax and 4th in County tax.

The schooner burned at Ogunquit was the Caroline Kriesher. Capt. Charles H. Littlefield, principal owner, estimates his loss on vessel and goods at about three thousand dollars. Barak Maxwell lost on goods about five hundred dollars, Charles E. Weare about two hundred dollars, and others lost about five hundred dollars, on all of which there is no insurance. The cause of the fire is supposed to be spontaneous combustion.

Wm. Hussey, Esq. of North Berwick, for many years engaged in the manufacture of plows, died at his residence last week.

Rev. J. E. Baxter of Cranberry Meadow, Berwick, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday. He intends making Biddeford his residence, where the good wishes of those he leaves behind attend him.

The Congregational church in Kennebunk, which has been repaired at a cost of about $8000, was re-dedicated last week.

The 5th Me. Regiment Association celebrates its third anniversary in Biddeford the 17th of July.

—Fritz says that at the lecture the other evening the audience was so still that you could hear a bed tick.

TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1870.

Chat.

The Cuban General Goicouria has been garroted by the Spaniards at Havana.

The first Australian mail steamer has arrived at Honolulu.

The New Zealand war with the natives continues.

Great gales and floods, attended with immense loss of property and life, have occurred on the Eastern coast of Australia.

Paris voted 183,000 against and 139,000 for the Plebiscitum.

Four of the Rockland bank robbers have been committed for trial.

Much damage was done in Philadelphia Sunday afternoon by a hail storm.

An Austrian Prince was assassinated by some one unknown, in St. Petersburg, Friday night.

The Idaho brought 210 passengers to San Francisco, from Australia via. Honolulu, and left more than a steamer load anxious to come.

The body of W. P. Angell of North Providence, R. I., missing since January 31, was found on Sunday in a reservoir by some boys fishing. There were six bullet holes in his heart, and other indications of murder on the body. An Irishman employed in Mr. Angell's family, named James Fagan, has been arrested on suspicion.

France demands the trial of Gustave Flourens, who is in England, but the British ministry refuse to move in the matter.

Rio Janeiro advices strengthen the suspicion that Lopez and his companions were massacred after surrender.

George Ricker, seaman, was accidentally and fatally shot in Portland, Saturday.

Three men, while gathering floodwood at Greenpoint, N. Y., Sunday morning, were drowned.

A railway collision near Charleston, S. C., Sunday, killed one man and maimed several.

New Orleans democratic journals denounce Gen. Longstreet, Hon. John Ray, ex-confederate cotton agent, and other ex-rebels, for joining in the fifteenth amendment jubilee procession.

France has voted for the plebiscitum about 6,000,000 to 1,500,000.

Nearly one-half of the town of Fincastle, Virginia, was burned Friday night.

☞ Mr. Isaac H. Jones, for four years Superintendent of the State Reform School at Manchester, and a man highly respected, deserted his post and his family last week, and wrote letters from Boston stating that he shall not return, —but perhaps he may be obliged to when found. His accounts are in disorder, but he denies fraud, and says he was worn out and disgusted with the position. No fraud has been discovered as yet, but the Trustees are investigating matters.

☞ The Freewill Baptist pastor immersed eleven persons at Noble's Island, Sunday afternoon; and the same ordinance was administered to seventeen converts, in the baptistry at the Middle St. Church—the house being crowded on the occasion.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

STOPPING THE WORLD.—The American Medical Association, which has just adjourned at Washington, has done all that was in its power to do to convince men that the profession, instead of being styled "liberal," deserves to be termed "the bigoted profession." They stuck to their former action, condemnatory of advertising by physicians, and decided that doctors who consult with colored physicians are not doctors at all, any more than are men educated in colleges where women or colored men are instructed in physic and surgery. They don't recognize homeopaths as doctors at all; they are irregular practitioners. If a medical man prefers curing a patient by some new-fangled notion to letting him die according to scientific principles, he's no genuine physician.

According to the newspaper reports, all the real business done by the select Association was to decide that physic is "a white man's science," (with which women and black men have no right to meddle,) and to set the minimum price of a course of medical lectures at $100, and for an examination for life insurance at $5. The excluded delegates did not lose a very great deal, and if the learned men inside wanted to air their little prejudices, they had a right to do it, as long as they harmed no one —and they didn't hurt anybody much.

Resolutions are good things, but all resolutions are not effective; and some are so ridiculous that instead of being laughable they are painful to consider. Holy Church (the infallible) once "resolved" that the earth stood still, and bullied Galileo into saying that such was the case; but we have no record that the earth did stop for a moment. All have heard of the worthy men who "resolved, that we are the saints," to the inferred exclusion of all other people—which resolution is not now regarded as an evidence of saintly humility. Then last year, a grand brewers' convention "resolved" that making beer for men to get drunk on promoted temperance, and that therefore the brewers of the only true temperance men. Now the sacred assemblage at Washington has "resolved" that "we are the doctors," and persons who study or consult with inferior creatures, such as women, homeopaths, colored men, hydropaths or advertising physicians, are not the doctors.

All these resolutions were well enough in their way; but the earth still goes round, irreverent men consider themselves quite as saintly as the good people who advertised their own godliness, and no great movement to put the brewers at the head of public affairs has yet been made by the Temperance party. Nor will the action of the white man's Medical Association be any more effective in keeping that profession sacred from invasion by either women or colored men. The world is moving still; holy church couldn't stop it, and holy medicine will have no better success.

PAKEHA.

U. S. SENATOR.—The Rochester Courier is out in favor of Hon. Jacob H. Ela for next U. S. Senator. The Exeter News Letter goes for Gen. Marston; and spares no means, fair or unfair, to defeat and disparage Mr. Ela, who is a gentleman at all events, and should be treated as such. A dispatch to the Boston press says, "the implication of Ex-Gov. Smyth in the Concord railroad 'ring' speculation, has damaged his prospects for the Senatorship," but we wonder who knows that? The Nashua Telegraph comes out strong for rotation; that is, for rotating Mr. Cragin out; and the Amherst Cabinet is the latest out for Cragin. In fact, the newspapers seem to have no trouble in settling the matter, however it may be with the Legislature.

The Concord Monitor thinks Maine and Massachusetts need a lecture from the Manchester Mirror and Nashua Telegraph, on the great Republican principle of rotation. Senator Sumner has had four elections; Wilson three, and will have four; Fessenden had three, and Hamlin has had three or more; and now Morrill is to have his fourth without opposition. Has lack of rotation killed the Republican party in Maine? or does not a State gain, rather, by keeping experienced men in office to serve it?

☞ Mr. Nath'l Cate has been appointed sexton at St. John's Church, in place of Mr. Robert King; and Mr. William Batchelder at the Methodist Church, in place of Mr. C. B. Mason.

Mr. Samuel Amazeen has resigned the position of toll-gatherer at Newcastle Bridge, and Mr. Robt. Rand takes it.

☞ New Hampshire Politics, just now, consists of Railroad and Senatorial questions chiefly.—with Taxation, Temperance and Labor Reform not to be forgotten.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. Horace Wentworth, a painter from Great Falls, fell from a staging twenty feet to the ground, while engaged painting the Shoe Manufactory of Geo. B. Wentworth in Dover, and for a wonder escaped without further injury than to spill his paint and damage his pail.

Among the things taught at Robinson Female Seminary, at Exeter, is the art of receiving and entertaining company. Two hundred and seventy-five persons were practised on in that line, a few days since.

Hon. John Pa[illegible] Hal[illegible] of Rochester. He studied law with the late Jeremiah W. Woodman, after which he moved to Dover.

The May Festival of the Unitarians at Exeter netted $500 and a good time.

Geo. Hutchins, conductor on the Montreal Railroad, was thrown from a carriage and much injured, at Lake Village; and his pocket was robbed of $20 at the time.

At Dover Landing, there is an extensive Sand Paper and Glue Factory, of Messrs. Wiggin & Stevens, at Fresh Creek. Most of the employees are hardy, robust looking German men and women, and the works in full operation. Their sand paper and glue stands A No. 1 in the market and meets with a ready sale.

The Strafford Guards, Capt. Wallace, invite the "Blues" of Portland to spend their anniversary, about the 25th June in Dover, and on the Lake.

☞ The Governor and Council have sanctioned the contract between the Concord and Northern Railroads, and Onslow Stearns has been chosen business manager; and it is thought the stockholders of the Concord Road will oppose the movement at the annual meeting.

ALABAMA CLAIMS.—We are informed that the most per[illegible] and unyielding of the private citizens [illegible] have claims vs. the British Governmen[illegible] Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., of Lowell, Mass., the manufacturers of medicines They will consent to nothing less than that their demand for medicines destroyed by the British pirates shall be paid in gold and in dollars to the last cent. They are emboldened by the fact that the destruction of their goods by the English in China and elsewhere (for where are not that troublesome nation trampling upon somebody?) have hitherto been paid in full, and they now say that they shall be. They however propose this compromise:—Give us Canada and we will call it even, because we can then send our remedies there without duty. —Washington News.

A TRUE BALSAM.—DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under the balsamic influence.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Old Fallacy Exploded.

Thirty or forty years ago, it was the fashion to administer powerful purgatives as "spring medicines." Terrific doses of salts and senna, calomel and jalap, or glauber salts were given to all the members of a family, whether sick or well, by way of preparing them for the warm weather in prospect. This pernicious custom is nearly obsolete, but there are some old Bourbons of private life, incapable alike of forgetting anything or learning anything, who obstinately cling to it still. Nothing could be more pernicious, more utterly unphilosophical, than such an onslaught on the vigor and elasticity of the system. In order to enable the physical structures to resist the enervating effects of spring damps and summer heats, it should be toned and reinforced, not relaxed and weakened.

The best medicine agent for this purpose is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Its effect is to tone the stomach and liver, gently relieve the bowels from obstructions, brace the nerves, improve the quality of the blood, stimulate the appetite and cheer the spirits. In this improved condition the organization is capable of resisting unhealthy influences, which would prostrate an enfeebled system.

A vigorous digestion is absolutely essential to health, and there is no danger of the stomach faltering or failing in its important office if this genial vegetable elixir is taken regularly as a stomachic. None of the tonic tinctures or extracts will supply the place of the Bitters, for the simple reason that they operate as astringents only. In fact, in ordinary practice, five or six preparations would be required to produce separately, the beneficial results, which are effected simultaneously, and harmoniously by this single specific.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which foster the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the PAIN KILLER to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular and commands a larger sale than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone; all over the world its beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged and appreciated, and as a PAIN KILLER its fame is limited to no country, sect nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietor claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. Sold by all Druggists.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

as PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

☞ The threatened storm for three days past, gave us a cold rain Monday, being, we believe, the 20th rainy Monday out of 28.

BASE BALL.—The Granite State first nine of this city will play a game at Dover with the Sawyer Club of that city on Wednesday. The Granites sport a new uniform.

☞ The Concord Monitor is in error in stating that the debt of the Unitarian Parish in this city has been paid off. That has been done in Dover, and there is no doubt but it should be and will be here.

☞ The new fishing schooner Lettie Linwood, of Hyannis, Mass., was handsomely launched from the yard of Mr. W. F. Fernald in this city on Monday. Mr. Fernald has a 1000 tons ship on the stocks, for sale.

☞ The Panorama of the Streets of Boston, did not have large attendance while exhibited here—perhaps because some of our people are sore on the subject of Streets—but those who did see it, pronounce the show a good one of the kind; and we found the managers to be responsible and courteous gentlemen.

THE FIRST APPEARANCE of Mr. and Mrs. Paul in Portsmouth, last November, delighted a large audience, and their last appearance this evening, cannot fail to secure them like satisfaction. A well known Portsmouth singer, now a resident of Boston, pronounces Mrs. Paul the most versatile lady on the stage. Mr. Paul has also met with great success in his delineations, and both have a world wide fame.

The New York Herald says. "Mr. and Mrs. Howard Paul quite upset the calculations that 'one and one make two;' between them they impersonate a dozen people with wonderful skill and truthfulness to nature."

Mrs. Paul's fine imitation of Sims Reeves, the great Tenor, is alone worth the price of admission. Her lecture on "Woman's Rights" and the "Sneezing Song" are included in this evening's programme. Reserved seats may be had by applying early.

Grand Jurors;—Foreman, Frederick Livingston; John N. Thayer, Peterborough; Wm. A. Stinson, Mount Vernon; Osmon Bailey, Newbury; Addison Wiggin, David D. Batchelder, Stratham; John Moulton, Levi W. Clifford, Salisbury; James W. Garland, Lemuel J. Bunker, Rye; J. Albert Walker, Geo. W. Marston, Ward Two, Portsmouth.

The Grand Jury will probably rise on Thursday.

THE CITY BUILDING.—The Journal goes in for improving the exterior of Jefferson Market. So do we—though we don't yet see that the improvement of any new or old road need be given up for this purpose. Let each project stand or fall on its own merits.

And Pakeha of ours, being comparatively a young man, is mistaken when he condemns "the original design" of Jefferson Hall building; for those people whose memory reaches thirty years back, will recollect it as a handsome structure, with a hip roof and elegant cornice like that on the Savings Bank adjacent. The guilty parties were the Selectmen who about 1844 exchanged this for the present miserable narrow-brimmed abortion, which is the daily disgust of all citizens of taste, and the laughing stock of every visitor.

Mr. Brewster in his Rambles well says that with the removal of the handsomely-projecting eaves, the good architectural symmetry was wholly destroyed. Why the citizens allowed such an outrage, we cannot understand; nor do we believe it longer necessary or advisable to tolerate such a deformity and eyesore.

We regard the present use of the hall for City Offices, as judicious and appropriate, and it would not take a very large outlay to render the exterior attractive and ornamental to our chief Square. The site has long been talked of for a City Hall, but the lot is not large enough for the purpose,—if, indeed, Portsmouth shall ever feel able, like almost any country town, to build one. So why not improve the looks of the old Market?

☞ Our neighbor of the Journal desires the next U. S. Senator to be taken from Rockingham County, and belittles the chances for Senator Cragin's re-election in the following ridiculous manner. In its issue of May 7th, the Journal says:—

"A Washington dispatch says, Senator Cragin claims that he is sure of 124 votes in the New Hampshire Legislature, which insures his re-election to the Senate.' The 'special' has probably mistaken figures. Our House of Representatives contains 340 members, and a majority of that number is somewhat more than the number which Mr. Cragin is reported to be sure of. The indications are that there will be a sharp contest, with Mr. Cragin on the inside track. But unless he has an absolute majority at the first trial, the chances are that a combination will be made by those running against him, which will put some one of their number ahead, as has sometimes been done at former Senatorial elections in this State."

Does our neighbor seriously contemplate a coalition with the Democrats and Labor Reformers of the Legislature, in a last vain and desperate attempt to defeat Mr. Cragin? or, what is more likely, has he forgotten that there but 326 members of the House? Several towns, entitled to 14 Representatives, voted not to send. There will probably be 11 Republican Senators, after the vacancies in that body are filled, and we presume they will take part in the caucus for the nomination of U. S. Senator. The Republican strength in the House is 193 or thereabouts, and in both houses, 204. One hundred and three votes would be a majority in the caucus, and if Mr. Cragin shall have 124, his opponents can have but 80 in all—leaving Mr. Cragin the nominee by a vote of a little more than a ratio of 3 to 2. Mr. Cragin's vote may run higher than 124, and on the first ballot, too; and we have no doubt that the minority will support the nominee, in any event, as in times past. A departure from such a course would find the Republican party at low water mark at the next election.

☞ The Streets in Concord, and in most other cities except Portsmouth, we believe, are Sprinkled, wholly or chiefly, by the City authorities; and the Mayor of Concord having hesitated whether to go on with the sprinkling, the people are asking where the Sprinkler is? So they are here, and pretty loudly too. The work has thus far been done in Portsmouth mainly by private enterprise and subscription, and without a dollar of profit; and Mr. Plaisted, besides getting his labor for his pains, has been unfairly put to great trouble and expense in removing his tanks from place to place. We understand he has received an offer from Boston, to purchase all his sprinkling fixtures; and unless the City furnishes a place for obtaining water, he will sell the whole—and we know many citizens would regret to lose this luxury—which is not all a luxury, either, for doubtless the sprinkling saves its cost, besides the comfort, in preventing the soil blowing off the streets and into the stores and houses, thereby injuring both.

Speaking of this matter, the Dover Gazette says,

The Sprinkler made its first appearance Thursday, and was heartily welcomed by the business men and pedestrians generally, after their experience of dust the day before. "Down with the dust," was the cry of every one; and in return Joe Abbott says, "Down with your dust," if you want your streets sprinkled.

That's just what Mr. Plaisted says—or will say, if he can get water.

THE SENATOR.—We believe the 3d Congressional district to be substantially a unit in favor of the re-election of Senator Cragin. It will probably give him 50 votes. This will be a strong team, and together with the very considerable support he is certain to receive from the other districts, renders his nomination highly probable. A hundred devices will be resorted to defeat him, but Senator Cragin is strongly entrenched in the hearts of the people, and we are slow to believe that any or all of these devices can accomplish their object.—Lebanon Press.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.
In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.
When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.
It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.
It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.
The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)
The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipment, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of
INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.
Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.
All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.
They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

HEALTH BY GOOD LIVING.
Next to the Bible and Webster's Dictionary there is no book so essential to every family as a DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE.
When you buy a Dictionary you get an Unabridged, or you are not satisfied. In getting a Dictionary of the Bible, it is sound sense to get the very best in the market. There is no question whatever that this is now publishing in parts. Three volumes have appeared, and the fourth will be completed the ensuing bi monthly parts. Subscribe now; get the three volumes and receive the parts as they come out. It is the Great Biblical Work of XIX Century.
SMITH'S UNABRIDGED
Dr. Howard Crosby says of it: "It is worth more on a Bible-reader's desk than fifty commentaries." One can find plenty of unsatisfactory abridged dictionaries, but no one should be satisfied until he has
☞ The Very Best in the English Language. ☜
Price in numbers, 75 cents each. There will be 32 numbers.
Three volumes now ready (24 Nos.) $6.50 each.
N. B.—Any one sending the names of three subscribers with the money will receive the Dictionary free.
A MAGAZINE FOR YOUNG AND OLD.
No family that has children in it should fail to have that "prince of juvenile magazines", (see "Sabbath at Home"),—
THE RIVERSIDE MAGAZINE
FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.
A SUPERB ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY.
It stands at the head of juvenile literature in America.
The subscription price is $2.50 a year, but any one who sends the names of four subscribers and $10.00 will receive the Magazine free for a year.
N. B.—Special attractions begin with the May number, and those who choose can send $1.70 and receive the Magazine for eight months.
CHARLES DICKENS.
Now is the time, when Dickens is to be talked about for a year, to read his splendid novels. There is no edition in the market so cheap and complete as
THE GLOBE EDITION.
14 vols. $21.00. Any volume separately.
N. B.—For the names of 16 new subscribers to the "Riverside Magazine" and $40.00, the publishers will send free of expense a complete set of the Globe Dickens.
MOTHER GOOSE.
Mother Goose has had justice done her in a Superb Edition, illustrated by eighteen full-page pictures by H. L. STEPHENS, ten pages of music by CHARLES MOULTON, and ten smaller illustrations by GASTON FAY.. It has a full account of Mother Goose, valuable historical notes, and is altogether

New Hampshire Items.

Supervisor Legro, now in Washington, reports that the taxes are well paid up in this State, but that the income tax will be comparatively small, as manufacturers (especially the woolen mills) have lost money the past year.

Mr. Edward Crowninshield, of the present graduating class of Harvard Divinity School, has accepted a call from the Unitarian Society in Exeter.

A cat belonging to Mr. H. M. Coffin, who lives near the river, in Great Falls, caught a large perch which had ventured too near the shore. Madam Puss brought the fish into the house and laid it at the feet of her mistress. The fish was alive, and was not torn or mangled.

A party of Indians have been in camp a short distance out of Great Falls for three or four weeks. On Monday one of the number stole the trunk belonging to the party, containing about $400, and left for parts unknown.

Mr. French of Newmarket, Mail Route Agent on the B. & M. railroad, has been transferred to the Eastern railroad, where he will hold the position of assistant clerk. We understand that Mr. D. L. Batchelder of Chester, will take his position on the B. & M. railroad.

There was quite an exciting footrace at Dover foundry, between the two celebrated pedestrians, Meldrum of Dover, and Joe Tighe of Salmon Falls, which was easily won by Meldrum.

Wm. Rand, Esq., the very efficient collector of taxes at Rochester, has again been appointed to that office. Both years all the taxes that were collectable were collected and the money paid into the hands of the Selectmen and everything settled up before the Rochester town meeting.

A few days ago Henry Cilley of Epping passed away from earth, but a month less than 85 years; and only ten days before, his wife Sally was called from earth, also within a few months of 85. These excellent people had lived together as man and wife for sixty years, always united while living, and "in death they were not divided." They were born in Epping, had for forty years resided on the same snug farm, and now rest side by side in the quiet graveyard there. Life with these excellent people was not a failure.

Mr. Oliver Staples of Exeter dropped dead, on Wednesday last. He was conductor of a gravel train on the B. & M. railroad, and at the time of his death was coming from Newmarket to Exeter. He fell on the car as the train was passing the old camp meeting ground, and scarcely breathed afterwards. His age was about 40. He leaves a widow and one child. Fortunately for them, he leaves an insurance on his life of $5000, besides a considerable amount of other property. Mr. Staples was a very industrious and trustworthy man, and had charge of this train for several years.

The house of Mr. Stephen S. Jenness, in Rochester, was burned Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Jenness was sewing, when, on hearing the cat make a loud noise, she hastened to the kitchen and discovered the sparks and cinders coming down through the roof. The fire caught on the roof, and it is supposed, from a locomotive on the D. & W. railroad.

On Sunday two young men broke into a house in South Newmarket belonging to a man named Tibbetts, residing in that part of the town called Piscataqua. They broke the door, when they were resisted by the owner, who defended himself with an axe. The names of the fellows were Oscar Neal and John Pease. They were taken to Newmarket, where the affair was settled up.

The present population of this State is estimated at 350,000—an increase of 24,000 since 1860.

A French Canadian called upon the telegraph operator in Great Falls, for the purpose of sending a roll of greenbacks to Canada.

The Rochester Trotting Park Association has purchased and paid for land sufficient for all trotting purposes.

Col. John Chandler, Plaistow, whose house and extensive outbuildings together with all his furniture and farm implements, were entirely destroyed by fire, last week, will immediately rebuild. The insurance was $8000.

Fred. Caverly, son of Leonard W. Caverly, Esq., of Strafford, stands in his stockings 6 feet 4 1-2 inches, and is 16 years of age.

Joseph Morrill, Esq., has concluded to build a new block on Franklin Square, Dover, the coming season, at a cost of $40,000. Messrs. Noyes, Clements & Cressey of Lawrence, are the contractors. Blaisdell of Dover, is the architect.

Song of the Fifteenth Amendment.

Come all you happy darkies,
Dinah, Pomp and Crow,
De 'meendment passed de 'Lates,
Now we hab a blow;
Pompey wid de banjo,
Cæsar wid de bones,
Gumbo wid de tambareen,
Scrushcatin' tones.

Bring forth de little 'Publicans,
Ned and Gizzardfoot,
Ebryone a ticket,
Ebryone a vote;
Ebry one a subbreen,
Ekil 'fore the law—
Ching-a-ring, a ching-a-ring,
Ching-a-ring a chaw.

Oh, Cæsar 'Gustus,
How you gwine to vote?
Ebrything is lubbly,
How de darkies float!
I wrote for Freddy Douglass
To be de President;
Revels for de 'sistant—
How's you gwine to went?

Pompey on de jury,
Williams on de bench,
Gumbo in the Senate,
Sluginatin' French;
Douglass in de White House,
Dis chile for Mr. Dent—
Possum fat and coon grease,
Won't de nation went?

Go way, white man,
Don't you come anigh,
Gizzardfoot and Shiabones,
Chalk in de eye.
We are now all votists.
Ekil 'fore de law—
Ching-a-ring a-ching-ching,
Ching-a-ring a-chaw!

—Josh Billings says "There haint been a bug made yet in vain, nor one that want a good job. There iz lots of human men loafing about blacksmith shops and cider mills all over the country, that don't seem to be necessary for anything but to beg plug tobacco and sware and steal watermelons, but you let the kolery break out once and then you will see the wisdom of having jist sich men laying around; they help count."

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

LA MEDICINE CURATIVE.
Mild, Certain, Safe, Efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing injury to any of them. The more complete success has long attended its use in many localities; and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs free from irritation, and acts over more or less of the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys,—of children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, it brings immediate relief and certain cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it; and no person who once uses this, will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.—In the course of a debate in the U. S. Senate, one day last week, Mr. Cragin said:

Mr. President, it is only about five years that I have had the honor of occupying a seat in the Senate, and I have observed during all that time that some members of this body are extremely anxious to adjourn early, and the argument generally has been that the country is anxious that Congress should adjourn. Now, sir, I do not believe that we are more anxious to adjourn, as a general thing, than the country is to have us do so.

I am myself opposed to fixing at this time any day for the final adjournment of Congress. I admit, I know that this session has been a laborious one, an exceedingly laborious session; but up to within ten days but little business has been done; few bills have been passed. The most of the time has been spent in debate, properly undoubtedly; but some of the time, with all the patience I have possessed, I have inquired of myself whether the silent members of this body, or those of us who only speak occasionally, have any "rights which white men are bound to respect." But, sir, I hope that time has passed, and I hope we may now come to business—to real business. I agree with the Senator from Illinois that the country expects of this Congress certain things to be done; especially does it expect that this Congress will pass a funding bill by which the interest on the public debt may be largely reduced, thereby saving expenses and reducing taxation. It also expects that the taxes will be largely reduced, and I am not willing to fix any time for final adjournment until some bill shall be perfected and acted upon looking to such a result.

This present Administration in its first year has reduced the expenses of the Government largely, more than $90,000,000; and I am anxious that it shall continue this reduction; and we must as a Congress enact some laws reducing the taxes. I say the people expect it; they demand it; and I appeal to my party friends in this Chamber, and tell them that if they go away from here this summer without meeting that demand of the people, our majority will be less than it now is.

I give them this notice here to-day, and though they may have no wish to stay here personally, yet, if they have any regard for the interests of the party which we love, I ask them to remain here sufficiently long to perfect certain measures at least. The newspapers say—I do not know whether truthfully or not—that the Secretary of the Treasury remarked on the floor of the House the other day that he did not believe this Republican Congress could afford to adjourn or would dare to adjourn till they had given him the opportunity at least to try to fund the debt at a lower rate of interest. I do not know whether he ever made any such remark; but it is in the newspapers, and I only repeat it here. If he did not so remark, I will say the same thing, and commend the consideration of the subject to every member of this body.

ADVERTISING has created many a new business; has enlarged many an old business; has revived many a dull business; has rescued many a lost business; has saved many a falling business; has preserved many a large business; and insures success in any business.

— A bad little Chicago boy, who had been inveigled into a Sunday-shool the day after specie began to be paid, kept pretty quiet until he saw the collection plate passed, on which were several dollars in silver, when he turned to a companion and said, "Hey! Billy, there's silver on that plate for Christ's sake!" The teacher, a nice young woman, took him across her knee and fanned him with her hand.

— Here is the extravaganza of a Memphis lover:—"If the ocean with ink were filled, and every leaf of parchment made, and every stick on earth a quill, and every man a scribe by trade, to write the love for you would drain the ocean dry—nor would the scroll contain the whole, though stretched from sky to sky."

—The Boston editors don't think much of the Springfield editor; and the Springfield editor thinks the Boston editors are poor shucks. We shall perhaps find out that they are all right in their conjectures. It is, however, much the easier to be a critic of editors, than a live editor.—Charlestown Advertiser.

—"Now, my little boys and girls," said a teacher, "I want you to be very quiet,—so quiet that you can hear a pin drop." In a minute all was quiet; when a little boy shrieked, "Let her drop."

—A loafer left his wife in a rage, telling her that he would never come back until he was rich enough to come in a carriage. He returned the same evening in a wheel-barrow.

—A little Connecticut boy, asking a mate who Good Friday was, received the withering reply, "Well, you go home and read your Robinson Crusoe."

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S
CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR
BITTERS.
They are not a vile fancy drink.
Made of wine Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and refined Liquors, destroyed and reconstructed to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Restorers," appetizers, &c., that leave the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair. The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 11, 1870.

The News.

Colonel Hough of the late General Thomas's staff, publishes in San Francisco a card denying in General Thomas' own words, the assertion by Fitzhugh Lee that Thomas is writing, at the beginning of the war, offered his services to Virginia.

There is a little discrepancy in the reports from Cuba. One account says the insurgents in the Camaguey district are destroyed; another says the insurgents have destroyed the Spaniards in that district.

Mr. Graham concluded his argument in the McFarland case Monday. He says McFarland's sobriety, and his uniformly kind treatment of his wife and family, have been proved.

Rev. Horace Cook is in New York, penitent and poor.

The Bay State Moulding Mill in Boston was partly destroyed by fire, Monday night. Loss heavy.

Senator Revels left Boston for Washington on Monday.

Lizzie Chase, the woman who kidnapped the child Nellie C. Burns, in Boston, has been indicted by the grand jury there. Her paramour was discharged.

Gen. Sheridan was at Salt Lake City, Sunday.

The Erie Canal opened Tuesday.

The London News contradicts the rumor that John Bright will resign.

Herman Clark, a Brooklyn high school pupil, is under arrest for carrying a pistol to shoot his teacher.

The New York Tammany Convention has ratified the nominations made by the sachems.

The French vote on the Plebiscitum has sustained the government by an immense majority. The whole affair passed off quietly. A few barricades were erected in Paris, but no harm was done.

The Arapahoe and Snake Indians have contrived a little war between themselves. Eight Arapahoes were recently snaked out of this life.

Chicago has news from Red River that the Indian excitement has subsided. Riell has proclaimed peace and business is reviving.

The Fenian centre-heads met in New York city Sunday to concoct war.

An insurrection of a serious character has broken out in the province of Calabria, Italy.

Kate Vanderbilt Barker, granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt, was lately married in Pau, France, to Gustave Lafette.

The sheriff of Warren County, Ga., is confined in barracks by General Terry's order, he having taken bribes from the murderers of Senator Atkins.

The gallery of a church in Washington settled a foot during services Sunday night, and there was a stampede. No person was much hurt.

Gold, Monday, 114 5-8.

New Publications Received.

Man's Wrongs, or Women's Troubles, a Novel, by Kate Manton. Boston, published by Crosby & Damrell. For sale by Foster Shores & Co. The author aims to give man the place God gave him, and to present to woman her follies and vanities, for her benefit. Incidents of history and a love story are are interwoven.

Beecher's Magazine for May—a good one.

The London Quarterly Review, for April. American edition; reprint of Leonard Scott Pub. Co. of New York. Contents, the English Bible, Lanfrey's Napoleon, the Church in Wales, and other articles.

Howe's Musical Monthly, Boston, No. 10. A cheap and convenient way to procure the latest new songs and piano music.

Kimball House Schottische; by L. H. Johnson, Dover. Dedicated to L. C. Kimball, Esq. Published by L. P. Whitney, Dover.

ABOUT LOVELY WOMAN.—"A Pennsylvania Bachelor" thus gets after lovely woman:

"I impeach her in the name of the great whale of the ocean, whose bones are torn asunder to enable her to keep straight. I impeach her in the name of the peacock, whose strut, without permission, she has stealthfully and without honor assumed. I impeach her in the name of the horse, whose tail she has perverted from its natural use to the making of wavy tresses to decorate the back of her head and neck. I impeach her in the name of the kangaroo, whose beautiful figure she, in taking upon herself the Grecian bend, has brought into ill-favor and disrepute."

Here the old fellow heaved a sigh, and heaved himself overboard.

—When her a man chews or eschews tobacco, it's a mere matter of choosing.

New Hampshire Items.

The Universalist Society at Kingston have had no settled preacher for the past few years, yet they have had occasional services at the Town Hall, their only place of worship. A church is soon to be erected, with the assistance of Gideon Lodge of Free Masons, they occupying the upper part as a Masonic Hall, while the lower story will be for public worship. If their anticipations are realized, it will be completed by Fall. The first services of the season were held May 8th, by Rev. Dr. Thayer of Boston, to be succeeded by such men as John C. Adams, A. J. Patterson and other excellent men of the denomination.

Chas. H. Gilman of Sandwich was employed to drive young cattle from Lake Village to pasture, for B. F. Parker; and sold several of them.

The Dover Bee is delighted that the streets are being macadamized and sprinkled. Also that there is a prospect of cleaning the Cocheco River of obstructions, as proposed in Congress by Mr. Ela.

Mr. Oliver Philbrick of Rye has a Brahma hen which has hatched 16 chicks, and laid an egg every day while sitting.

Gen. Stark gives notice in the papers, that application will be made to our next Legislature, to consent to the consolidation of the Boston & Lowell and Nashua & Lowell Railroads and other corporations.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

UNCLE JOSEPH'S INTRODUCTION.—An article or two has already appeared in this paper by "Uncle Joseph," and an extended series under the head of "Old Time Chronicles" is intended. When people hear a stranger in the pulpit, they are anxious to know who he is and where he is from? Also when they read what is published by the Press, they wish to know who the writer is. We make our lowest bow to all the patrons of this paper, and will tell them who we are as far as it is expedient for them to know.

Mr. C. W. Brewster, who died a few years since, and Mr. T. H. Miller, who died but a few weeks ago, were both natives of Portsmouth; were practical printers, and well acquainted with the local history of the town, much of which they gave to the public. They had a good taste for antiquarian research. Mr. Miller was familiarly known to all around as "Uncle Toby." When he departed, our admiration for the man and his interesting work, led us to endeavor to catch his falling mantle. When the prophet Elijah ascended, Elisha caught the one that prophet had worn, but he was not so great a man as his predecessor. In this case we do not expect to do as well as "Uncle Toby" did; but what ability we have, shall be employed for the interest and benefit of our friends.

We do not live in Portsmouth, but 25 miles back in the country. Forty years ago, while about commencing to teach the youth in a tavern a little south of it, we made our first visit to the place. What we saw impressed us favorably, and ever since we have felt a great interest in the town. We have collected historical matter relative to it, as well as its vicinity, that we will venture to say, few men living possess.

We came here to give readers the benefits of what we have obtained. History is a Chronicle of the past. It is a Telescope, pointing back to former ages and bringing all to full view. Bunyan's Mr. Talkative said, "he would talk of things heavenly or things earthly; things moral or things evangelical; things sacred or things profane; things past or things to come; things foreign or things at home; things more essential or things circumstantial; provided that all be done to our profit." We do not profess quite so much, but lay stress on his expression, "things past," and, "provided all be done to our profit."

We bow again, and shall proceed immediately to our work. In the language of another, we hope, "to lend readers to a hill and up its heights, rugged, but so full of goodly prospects that the harp of Orpheus were not more charming." UNCLE JOSEPH.

—A young lady met in company a young man who evidently had an excellent opinion of himself. During conversation he introduced the subject of matrimony, and expatiated at length upon the kind of wife he expected to marry; that is, if ever he should take the decisive step. The honored lady must be wealthy, beautiful, accomplished, amiable, &c. His listener quietly waited until he ended, and then completely confounded him by asking in the coolest possible manner, "and pray, sir, what have you to offer in return for all this?" The young man stammered, reddened a little, and walked away.

HEADQUARTERS G. A. R., Washington, April 30.—The annual ceremonies of "Memorial Day," which has been firmly established by national choice and consent, will take place Monday, May 30th.

All Departments, Districts, Posts, and Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, wherever dispersed throughout the land, will unite in such manner, and with such ceremonies, for the proper observance of the day, as may be best suited to each respective locality, and all organizations, communities, and persons whose gratified aid, sympathy and prayers sustained us throughout the dark days of the Nation's peril, and those whose loyal, patriotic hearts beat in unison with our own, and who have heretofore, or may hereafter, join with us in the observance of this National Memorial Day, are hereby cordially invited to unite, and are earnestly requested to lend their aid and assistance in strewing the pure garlands of Spring, that come with votive memories of love and prayer, o'er the mounds that mark the country's altar and fold in rest eternal our martyred dead.

This is the third public observance of a day which has become marked and national for this sacred occasion. Many are now missing from our ranks who were with us before. Time, with busy finger, counts the hours for all. "In the midst of life we are in death," and one by one our veterans are "mustered out" to join the Grand Army on high. Let this teach us that we should so live that when we too are gone, it can be said: He was a citizen, a soldier, and comrade "without fear and without reproach."

It is desirable that the memorial services may be preserved, and Department and Post Commanders will forward direct to the Adjutant General at National Headquarters, a record of such proceedings as may occur in each locality. Should the same appear in the press, or by pamphlet, a duplicate corrected copy is requested. By order

JOHN A. LOGAN, Commander-in-chief.

HOW TO MAKE RATS CHANGE THEIR RESIDENCE.—The Hartford Times tells the following rat story:—A gentleman of Hartford, who found the rats too cunning to be caught, circumvented 'em by hanging a piece of meat to a hook, just high enough to compel the rat, in order to reach it, to stand on his hind legs, and set under it a wide, shallow dish of vitriol. Into this the rodents must step ere they could get at the meat—and he hid himself and watched. One rat came, stood up, sniffed at the meat, then walked round the dish, smelling at the vitriol, and finally dashed in. In the midst of his feast, something hurt his hind quarters, and he left, dragging himself along the ground to wipe off the burning liquid. By and by another came, went through the same performance, and left in a hurry. No rats have been heard of on those premises since! The whole colony skedadled.

A TRUE BALSAM.—DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under the balsamic influence.

ALABAMA CLAIMS.—We are informed that the most persistent and unyielding of the private citizens who have claims vs. the British Government are Mr. J. C. Ayer & Co., of Lowell, Mass., the manufacturers of medicines They will consent to nothing less than that their demand for medicines destroyed by the British pirates shall be paid in gold and in dollars to the last cent. They are emboldened by the fact that the destruction of their goods by the English in China and elsewhere (for where are not that troublesome nation trampling upon somebody?) have hitherto been paid in full, and they now say that they shall be. They however propose this compromise:—Give us Canada and we will call it even, because we can then send our remedies there without duty. —Washington News.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Old Fallacy Exploded.

Thirty or forty years ago, it was the fashion to administer powerful purgatives as "spring medicines." Terrific doses of salts and senna, calomel and jalap, or glauber salts were given to all the members of a family, whether sick or well, by way of preparing them for the warm weather in prospect. This pernicious custom is nearly obsolete, but there are some old Bourbons of private life, incapable alike of forgetting anything or learning anything, who obstinately cling to it still. Nothing could be more pernicious, more utterly unphilosophical, than such an onslaught on the vigor and elasticity of the system. In order to enable the physical structures to resist the enervating effects of spring damps and summer heats, it should be toned and reinforced, not relaxed and weakened.

The best medicine agent for this purpose is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Its effect is to tone the stomach and liver, gently relieve the bowels from obstructions, brace the nerves, improve the quality of the blood, stimulate the appetite and cheer the spirits. In this improved condition the organization is capable of resisting unhealthy influences, which would prostrate an enfeebled system.

A vigorous digestion is absolutely essential to health, and there is no danger of the stomach faltering or failing in its important office if this genial vegetable elixir is taken regularly as a stomachic. None of the tonic tinctures or extracts will supply the place of the Bitters, for the simple reason that they operate as astringents only. In fact, in ordinary practice, five or six prescriptions would be required to produce separately, the beneficial results, which are effected simultaneously, and harmoniously by this single specific.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. PAIN KILLER. Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors, 1840. PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1870.

Time tests the Merits of all Things. FOR THIRTY YEARS! PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the PAIN KILLER to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular and commands a larger sale than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone; all over the world its beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged and appreciated, and as a PAIN KILLER its fame is limited to no country, nor sect nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. Sold by all Druggists.

Directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle. 1mdawap18

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

as PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. mh12dawim

☞ At a corporation meeting held in this city lately, the united ages of the President and the four Directors was 375 years—being an average of 75 yrs.

☞ We commend Uncle Joseph to our readers and the public, as a worthy and fit successor to Uncle Toby as a writer of Old Time Chronicles. We think his introduction shows that he is the right man on the right track.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.—The Annual Convention for the Diocese of New Hampshire will meet at Dover, May 24th inst. Messrs. A. R. Hatch, J. R. Reding and Lory Odell are the delegates from Portsmouth.

☞ The advertisement of the concert of the Philharmonic Society, assisted by Dr. J. H. Wilcox, Thursday evening, May 19th, will appear to-morrow. The Concert will come off as at first announced, at the Middle St. Church.

☞ At the new Lunch Rooms on Ladd Street, where a good square meal or a tit-bit can be obtained at any hour of the day or evening, cheap, Coffee and Cream may now be had in perfection, Mr. Smith having succeeded in securing a daily supply of the latter article. We advise those who think milk in coffee as good as cream, to give him just one visit, and try his beverage.

☞ The May Festival at South Seabrook the evenings of May 2 and 3—passed off very pleasantly. The receipts were $215. The Union Cornet Band of East Salisbury and Atlantic Cornet Band of South Seabrook furnished good music; which with tableaux and singing caused the time to pass pleasantly. A detail of Portsmouth Police was present, ensuring peace and good order. The Atlantic Cornet Band have just bought a new set of brass instruments, Bell fronts, 13 in all, at the well known music store of Haynes & Co., Court St., Boston.

— The good taste of Postmaster Pierce has been frequently exhibited since he has been in charge here, and in many minor details the office has been carried on in a manner most satisfactory to the public. The arrangement by which the morning mail is delivered earlier is not the least of his favors to the public. But our attention has been just now called to the thorough spring cleaning he is giving to the premises inside and out, and the air of tidiness that is adding a charm to the elegance of the structure of the building and grounds.—Journal.

True enough, only Mr. Sladen the new porter of the Custom House, deserves some of the credit for cleaning up. F.

THE U. S. CIRCUIT COURT adjourned Tuesday morning until Thursday at 11 o'clock, A. M. The following is a list of the Petit Jury.

Charles N. Healey, Foreman, Stratham; Franklin Trow, Mont Vernon; Nathaniel Baker, Newbury; Thomas Moore, North Hampton; John O. Nay, Peterborough; Isaac L. Dunckleе, Lyndeborough; Alemson C. Haines, Joseph Pinkham, Newmarket; Jeremiah Smith, Seabrook; Daniel B. Lovering, New Boston; Henry C. Couch, Salisbury; Albert M. Walker, Rye; Emery C. Jenness, Rye; J. Warren P. Carter, Portsmouth.

District Attorney H. P. Rolfe has a number of cases before the Grand Jury.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

Messrs. Editors:—A Convention of professional men (representing a large portion of the New England States) met at Salem, Mass., last week, holding a session of two days. Towards the close, the question as to where the next semi-annual meeting (Nov. 3d and 4th) should be holden came up. Several places were named,—Concord, Manchester, Lowell and Lawrence; but upon the assurance of one of our townsmen, present as a member, that Messrs. Pierce of the new Rockingham House would by that time have about the finest looking and one of the best kept houses in New England, it was unanimously voted to hold the next convention in Portsmouth. I give you this item as indicating the effect a good Hotel has upon the good name of a town or city.

DENT.

—The Evening Mail says that two girls at a New York boarding school, finding that at the close of the term they were to be separated, concluded to take poison and die together rather than live apart. The resolution was carried into effect, but a timely discovery by one of the teachers and powerful emetics saved the lives of the romantic pair. Each accused the other of treachery, however, and after a dreadful quarrel they separated the most deadly and bitter enemies.

GRAND JURY LIFE.—Twenty men from different towns in the State found themselves drafted to serve for three days or during the war, on the Grand Jury of the U. S. Circuit Court. Twenty men attended the opening of the Court on Monday, May 9, and listened to the prayer of the officiating clergymen and the cries of the court crier. Twenty men said "here," as their names were called by the clerk. Twenty men stood up and looked as solemn as owls while being charged by the Judge, who was more lenient than the South Carolina colored magistrate, who charged each of the jury 25 cents before he would go on with the case under consideration.

Our twenty sat down patiently and waited to be escorted to the Grand Jury room. Twenty minutes passed and the twenty seized their overcoats, umbrellas, hats and other furniture and were ushered into their present abiding place. Umbrellas were deposited in the corners, overcoats hung up and twenty black hats and caps, tall and short, shoo flies and beavers were left pendent upon twenty black hooks. Twenty chairs were taken for ease and comfort, and twenty jurymen were ready for business.

So was the indefatigable District Attorney. with his multiplicity of witnesses and bundles of documents. Jurymen looked askant as he spoke of a prolonged session. Homesickness set in and he gave them a recess for dinner. This calmed their feelings and prepared them for afternoon duty, which they faithfully performed. Twenty hearts breathed silent thankfulness when the day's work ended.

And the second day was like unto the first. Nineteen men were prompt and waited for number twenty. Cases were brought on after his arrival. Dry details were eliminated from witnesses and documents, and during a short recess the twenty were presented with circulars from Smith of the Oriental Coffee House—a fact uninteresting to the mass of busy men but decidedly refreshing to the hungry twenty.

Again they put their minds to work and long for the end. Good natured pigeons strut along on the outside of the window sill and look pityingly in as they pass. They are free; the twenty may be—two days hence. The dining hour comes. The Attorney suggests an adjournment of twenty minutes—but what are twenty minutes among twenty. Twenty voices gaspingly remonstrate and gain thirty minutes more. After the fifty minutes are gone, the twenty are on hand smilingly to the call of "time." Ten minutes additional are granted, and the twenty solemnly mount to the roof of the Custom House to take birds-eye views of Portsmouth and the Shoals, to see what they can see at sea, as they stand along the platform like penguins at home.

Twenty sighs, and they pensively descend. Number one, being heavy, smashes the lower step as he goes down, and makes an ejaculation to which there are nineteen echoes. Number nineteen is granted ten minutes' recess alone to himself, and takes twenty-five, because he meets an old acquaintance, a Judge.

The twenty resume, cogitate, vote and think. The doves pass in review again before the window, the tobacco chewers endeavor to extinguish the coal fire by vain spirts. The weary witnesses retire, the case is briefly reviewed, dismissal for the day comes at last—and the following day will be like unto it. Nice fun!

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.
In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.
When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.
It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.
It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.
The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)
The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of
INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.
Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.
All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

THE ENGINEERS OF THE NAVY.—The position assumed by the line officers of the United States Navy towards the staff, is a disgrace to this country, to democratic government, and to science. The Navy is the most intensely and absurdly aristocratic organization known to our laws. The Army is far more democratic, and not a whit, on that account, less efficient. In fact, the arrogance of the line of the Navy is fast destroying the efficiency of the staff, which, whatever the young gentlemen from Annapolis may think, is nevertheless quite essential to the successful management of this arm of the service.

Let us briefly consider the duties and deserts of these two departments. The regular line officer is educated by the Government at a cost of $26,000 for each cadet. When a class is graduated, the cadets rank as ensigns. They must be sent to sea to learn their profession practically; and for this purpose a frigate is sent, with the whole class on board, to make a pleasure trip under roving commission. The expense of keeping a large frigate in commission is not far from half a million per annum. After this, the young officers are detailed to different ships; and when they have seen four or five years' active service, they are in a position to begin to repay some of the labor and expense that has been bestowed upon them.

The staff comprises chiefly surgeons, paymasters, and engineers. The surgeons must have previously passed through a regular medical course at their own expense, and received a medical degree. They are then subjected to an examination so severe, that only five per cent. of the graduates of medical colleges who apply are able to pass. The paymasters are obliged to furnish high testimonials of business ability and moral character, and to furnish bonds for a large amount of money. The engineers must likewise be theoretically and practically expert in their profession, and this expertness has been acquired without costing the government a cent. All these classes enter the navy as grown men and responsible citizens.

The line demands that the staff shall enter the navy with the rank of ensign, which is borne by the Annapolis boys when they are only fit to be messengers on board ship; and the avowed object of new measures now proposed, is to make all the staff junior to all the line. Let no one be misled by the use of the word rank in this connection. The staff corps of the army do not command troops; and a quartermaster or engineer, though he be a major-general, may be under the orders of a line officer in command. Nobody proposes to let paymasters or surgeons command vessels, or exempt them from the duty of obedience to those who do command, or put them in the line of succession to command, or of promotion outside of their own corps. Nobody would object, unless on the ground of its superfluousness, to a legal provision forbidding all these bugbears of insubordination. The line is well aware of this fact; but its spirit arises from very different motives. It is a spirit of conceit and social exclusiveness. Officers who do not understand, as a general rule, such vulgar things as steam-machinery, medicine, anatomy, or keeping accounts, propose to keep themselves, as "gentlemen," above the "apothecaries," the "clerks," and "coal-heavers," who do understand them. This is the worst form of aristocracy, the aristocracy of ignorance.

The position of the engineers is what concerns us most nearly. The knowledge of steam-engineering acquired by the cadets of Annapolis is merely general and theoretical. Under the pressure of public opinion, a separate professorship of this branch has been established, but the prejudice against it is so strong among the cadets that hardly any of them devote themselves to it. Perhaps they are not to blame, considering the insulting treatment which awaits them if they choose to be engineers instead of "gentlemen." The accomplished engineer who for some years filled the professorship alluded to, was not long ago removed from that position, and ordered to a small gunboat, where he found himself outranked and socially ostracised by the very youngsters whom he had but just graduated from his class-room. Of course he resigned, and this is the course which all the best staff officers of the navy will follow, if they are to be treated with such combined tyranny, stupidity, and malice. Already it is impossible to fill the vacancies in the medical corps with competent surgeons.

So who are able to command respect and success outside of the navy will not enter it to be insulted by pensioners in jackets. Nor will competent engineers continue to serve in a capacity where merit and education are positive disqualifications. If they are treated as mere "coal-heavers," they will resign their places to coal-heavers. No doubt this result would tickle the proud and sensitive line; but what will be its effect upon the service and the country?

It is too late for stripes and shoulder-straps to sneer at brains and hands. Either our gentlemanly young sea-kings must trouble themselves to learn about steam and machinery, or they must trouble themselves to look up, not down, to their superiors in that knowledge. There is no need of any ill-feeling between the different corps; but if either must be exalted at the expense of the other, why should not the scientific branch strut around, and speak of the line as "those fellows that we keep to attend to the police-duty, and now and then do the fighting, you know?" How would the middies like that?—Engineering and Mining Journal.

—If the best man's faults were written on his forehead, it would make him pull his hat over his eyes.

PREPARING MANURE.—About the first agricultural operation that farmers put their hands to, in the Spring, is the throwing over of manure heaps. This is a laborious and expensive process, especially when it is repeated, as it sometimes is, two or even three times, and it might not be amiss to inquire if it pays. Two reasons are given for this onerous manipulation—that it pulverizes the manure, and induces fermentation and heat; though whether the pulverization and fermentation are themselves of any possible advantage in the circumstances under which the manure is to be applied, is another question, which, if asked at all, seems to be answered in the affirmative, altogether as a matter of course.

Now we take it that the most industrious farmer don't work for the fun of it, and if it can be shown that for ordinary field culture this preliminary labor is useless and worse than useless, it may be counted as so much in. The immediate result of throwing over the heap is the creating of fermentation, which, unless it is carefully attended to, will develop so much heat as to "burn" it, and almost entirely destroy its fertilizing properties. But suppose this is guarded against, the very act of fermentation evolves ammonia, the rapid escape of which can be detected by the senses. Now this ammonia is the great essential property of the manure, its very essence and spirit, which furnishes to the plants the nitrogen, without which no vegetable product can supply a particle of true food to man or beast.

That the quality of the manure is deteriorated, and its value lessened by just the amount of ammonia which has escaped, is as patent as that a man's cash on hand is diminished by just the amount he spends. The only question, therefore, is whether or not there is any counteracting advantage. In the case of early gardening there may be, though even then the same advantage may often be better obtained by the use of stimulating fertilizers. If it is desired to force the crop of a particular bed, regardless of cost, the application of heating manure will do the work, and the finer it is pulverized the more ready access will the roots have to it.

But this is an emergency, and can only be justified in that light. We are simply burning up manure for the sake of the heat we must have, just as a man might burn up valuable furniture to keep from freezing. But field crops are in no such hurry, and a day or two earlier start for corn or potatoes is not of sufficient importance to justify a loss of twenty-five per cent. of the value of the manure, and at any rate a day or two earlier planting would come to the same thing in the harvest. It is simply amusing to see men who delay their planting two or three weeks, after the seed might be in the ground to advantage, still make so much account of the early start their fermenting manure will give it.

Better let the manure ferment under ground in contact with the seed, and where its nutritious gases cannot escape into the asmosphere, but will be taken up by the roots of the young plant. As to the advantage of pulverization, it is doubtless true that the present crop will find more of the manure, if it is in a state of minute division, than if it is hauled out and spread in large lumps; but what the crop this year does not get the land does, and it must be remembered that there is another year and another crop coming. But when the manure is applied directly to the seed, in the hill, as it generally is in these parts, it can make but little difference to the seed whether it be fine or coarse, provided it be in contact with it.

But experiment in this, as in everything else, is preferable to the theory, and we cannot do better than refer to the statement of Mr. Coke, a distinguished English agriculturist, who tested the matter thoroughly, by a large number of experiments, on all kinds of crops. His verdict after several years' trial was that the crops were just as good with manure that had not been thrown over, and that the manure went twice as far.—Newburyport Herald.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is now restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

CARE OF HOUSE PLANTS.—There is an art in watering plants which a novice rarely knows. They should never be watered unless they are really thirsty, unless the surface of the soil is dry; then water until it runs out into the saucer. After all are thus thoroughly watered, turn out the surplus which is in the saucers, as it is injurious to most plants to have the pot stand in water. Hydrangeas, Calla Lillies and Lobelias are the exceptions which prove this rule. Plants which are budding and blossoming vigorously require more water than those which are not so healthy. In fact, judgment is needful in this matter of watering, and it is only attained by practice.

One thing is very necessary, and that is always to use warm water to the hand. Never apply even one drop of cold water. It chills the roots so that they cannot grow. We had a friend who used to water her plants with the tea left in the teapot after breakfast, and her success as a cultivator was marvellous! Rather expensive after "this cruel war;" but it certainly was efficacious. All plants kept in rooms should be well washed at least once a week which will insure a more healthy growth.

A VIRGINIA BELLE'S DARING.—A Washington letter writer classes among the most handsome ladies in that city Madame de Potestad, wife of one of the secretaries of the Spanish Legation, and adds:

This lady is also an American. She was a Miss Chapman, of Virginia. Her mother was a Miss Mary Randolph, a great belle in Virginia many years ago. This Miss Mary Randolph was especially noted for her fearlessness in riding. On one occasion, it is said, when staying at the Warm Springs, in Virginia, she started out with a riding party for the Warm Spring mountain, and dared the gentlemen accompanying her to do whatever she did.

The mountain is quite high, and has at its top a rock jutting out over a precipice. To the extreme verge of this rock Miss Randolph rode, to the great consternation of her friends. She did not even leave her horse room to turn around, but, having accomplished her purpose, she backed him from the dangerous position and faced the rest of the party in triumph. Not a man would follow her example, but one youthful piece of inexperience stood on his head in his saddle and dared the lady to do that. Of course she cried quits.

New Hampshire Items.

Burglars are very troublesome in Concord, and many houses have been entered and robbed. Mr. John Foss lost a $200 watch, chain worth $22, and $26 in money. The houses of Ira A. Eastman and Lewis Downing were also entered. The Mayor and citizens have offered rewards for detection of the thieves.

Dea. Jonathan Cawley of Sanbornton, a wealthy and respected citizen, aged 82 years, committed suicide by hanging himself in his woodshed on Monday. Suicide in all shapes seems to be increasing.

The Concord Independent Democrat is 25 years old; and in its quarter century article is naturally a little jubilant over its retrospect. And well it may be, for mighty is the improvement in the State and country since its day; and whatever may be thought of the course of the chief editor of that paper of late,—no one can deny that from 1845, George G. Fogg, standing side by side with John P. Hale, fought with him a sturdy battle for freedom, when the cause was not the popular one. All honor to both of them for it, too. Thanks to them, as much as to any men in New Hampshire, perhaps, that in all our broad land, at this day, the sun rises on no master and sets on no slave.

Samuel Emerson, of Moultonborough, 78 years of age, is the oldest member of the Carroll County Bar.

A man in Concord sued a note given for liquors to sell; but the jury would not give him a cent.

The Catholic church at Peterborough has been attached by unpaid workmen and contractors.

John M. Page, of Henniker, recently caught an otter in a fish pot, which measured four feet seven inches from tip to tip, and weighed eighteen and a half pounds.

The postmaster of Peterborough reports twelve different ways of spelling the name of that town, as observed by him on the backs of letters. The worst "spell" was "betterborough."

A young child of Mr. E. M. Hurd, of Warner, fell into a tub of hot water, a few days since, and was scalded to death.

STAFF OFFICERS' RANK IN THE NAVY. Hon. A. F. Stevens, of New Hampshire, has given attention to the question about rank which has been long in controversy between the line and staff-officers of the Navy. During more than a year he has listened to the opposing parties, and after as full an investigation as a landsman can give profitably to a conflict of technical opinions, he has presented the result of his studies in a bill, "to regulate rank in the Navy of the United States and for other purposes." The military service rendered by General Stevens during the rebellion helped him to an experience which necessarily gives weight to his opinions about the details of military organization, and they will be respected accordingly.

The object of the measure seems to be to restore to staff officers the degrees of rank conferred upon them in 1863, by a general order issued by Mr. Welles, Secretary of the Navy, after consultation with the Attorney General, and the members of Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet, which general order was revoked in the very first days of Mr. Borie's administration of the Navy Department, bringing to many highly respectable gentlemen a painful sense of unjust humiliation, as well as a reduction of the very moderate pay of those who have been placed on the retired list on account of age, long service or infirmity resulting from a faithful discharge of duty.

This bill proposes no change in the rates of pay at present provided by law for staff-officers. It gives those on the active list degrees of rank from Master to Captain, and to those who are retired after forty-five years' service—a very long period—the rank of Commodore. The rank proposed is, compared with lineal rank, limited in its properties. It has no virtue in selecting quarters, as the rank of staff officers in the Army has. And the line officer duly assigned to command a ship or station has precedence of all placed under his orders without reference to their degree of rank or seniority. Staff officers cannot command or exercise authority in the line, nor in any staff corps other than that to which they belong. The authority of the line is very properly and carefully preserved, so that there can be no conflict in this respect between the line and staff, ascribable to the degrees of rank conferred upon the latter.

The details of the bill seem to have been carefully and cautiously considered. The measure seems to be well calculated to terminate an unhappy controversy, and at the same time render the naval service more acceptable and alluring to gentlemen of the several vocations employed in it. Whether it will be adopted by Congress will depend, in a great degree, upon the acquiescence of certain line officers, whose warlike renown has given to their opinions on all subjects much weight and influence, without regard often, to the intrinsic value of their views. But we hope this bill will meet with the favor which, in our judgment, it seems to deserve, in spite of representations of extremists of either party to the contrary. Evening Bulletin.

The bill introduced by Mr. Stevens reflects the views of Senator Cragin, Chairman of the Senate Naval Committee,—whose influence in this, as in every other question, is unmistakably on the side of fair play and equal rights.

☞ It is reported that the sub-committee on the decline of American commerce have agreed to report a bill to establish five steamship lines—from Boston and Portland to Glasgow and Liverpool, New York to Liverpool, Philadelphia and Baltimore to Southampton and Bremen, New Orleans to Hamburg, and New Orleans to Rio Janeiro—allowing a subsidy of $750,000 for each line. The committee decided to reduce the subsidy to China to $350,000 instead of $500,000, as proposed in the Senate bill.

New Hampshire Items.

The wife of Mr. John Mason of Chichester, attempted to strangle her husband the other night with a rope, by fastening one end of it to the bedpost, and then winding it around his neck and pulling on the other end; but his daughter came and cut it with a shoe knife.

Two Lodges Knights of Pythias have been organized at Manchester, and one at Nashua.

The News Letter cites as an evidence of the tardiness in the settlement of accounts with government, the case of James M. Lovering of Exeter, formerly Collector of Internal Revenue. His successor was appointed about one year since, and Mr. L. has just obtained a settlement of his accounts. Government owed him about $1400.

WILL EXHIBIT AT PORTSMOUTH On Middle Street,

FRIDAY, May 20th,

AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

THIS CELEBRATED TROUPE

Which is permanently established in a splendid iron edifice on Fourteenth Street, in the City of New York, will occupy the usual Summer vacation, during which the building is closed, with a Grand Excursion through the country. It should be distinctly understood that this establishment is in America, permanently established in a large city, conducted in metropolitan style, and which has acquired a metropolitan reputation.

With the New York Circus will be found the names of beyond all question the most daring and accomplished lady rider living, who executes all her wondrous flights from a BAREBACK HORSE.

MLLE CAROLINE ROLLAND

THE GREAT MELVILLE

(WITH HIS CHARMING INFANT SON,)

whose daring bareback Steeple Chase Act has rendered him celebrated throughout the world.

ROBERT STICKNEY,

the champion Equestrian, without exception the best general performer who has ever lived, whether in his astounding feats upon a single horse, or in his superb act upon Four Bareback Steeds—thus presenting the

3 Best Riders in America,

in one company, a combination which cannot be equaled in any equestrian troupe in the world.

JOE PENTLAND,

The Great American Clown;

WILLIAM CONRAD,

The Champion Trick Clown;

—AND—

A FULL AND EFFICIENT CORPS

—OF—

VAULTERS AND ACROBATS,

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Old Fallacy Exploded.

Thirty or forty years ago, it was the fashion to administer powerful purgatives as "spring medicines." Terrific doses of salts and senna, calomel and jalap, or glauber salts were given to all the members of a family, whether sick or well, by way of preparing them for the warm weather in prospect. This pernicious custom is nearly obsolete, but there are some old Bourbons of private life, incapable alike of forgetting anything or learning anything, who obstinately cling to it still. Nothing could be more pernicious, more utterly unphilosophical, than such an onslaught on the vigor and elasticity of the system. In order to enable the physical structures to resist the enervating effects of spring damps and summer heats, it should be tuned and reinforced, not relaxed and weakened.

The best medicine agent for this purpose is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Its effect is to tone the stomach and liver, gently relieve the bowels from obstructions, brace the nerves, improve the quality of the blood, stimulate the appetite and cheer the spirits. In this improved condition the organization is capable of resisting unhealthy influences, which would prostrate an enfeebled system.

A vigorous digestion is absolutely essential to health, and there is no danger of the stomach faltering or failing in its important office if this genial vegetable elixir is taken regularly as a stomachic. None of the tonic tinctures or extracts will supply the place of the Bitters, for the simple reason that they operate as astringents only, in fact, in ordinary practice, five or six prescriptions would be required to produce separately, the beneficial results, which are effected simultaneously, and harmoniously by this single specific.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. ☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the PAIN KILLER to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular and commands a larger sale than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone, but over the world beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged and appreciated, and as a PAIN KILLER its fame is limited to no country, nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. Sold by all Druggists.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it—at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Grand Concert—Forts, Philharmonic Society.
Portsmouth Directory—Foster Shores & Co.
New York Circus—L. B. Lent.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—The Grand Jury will probably report this morning. They visited the Navy Yard, Wednesday afternoon, and had an evening session.

NAVAL.—1st Asst. Engineer Samuel L. P. Ayres, on duty at this Yard, and 1st Asst. Engineer Oscar H. Lackey of the Norfolk Yard, have passed examination for promotion to be Chief Engineers.

☞ We believe Mr. Smith names his Coffee House the Oriental, from the famous Tea Company of that name in Boston—where his excellent supplies in that line are procured, and which are always of the most delicious and aromatic quality.

☞ In Uncle Joseph's Introduction, the types made him say he kept school in a "tavern," when it should have been in a town. And in an item on the Concord Railroad, the statement that the stockholders will "oppose" the lease to the Northern Road, was intended to be approve,—which so far as we know, is the feeling of those in this city.

☞ Brewster & Co. of New York have just built a road wagon which weighs only 86 pounds. Kimball & Co. of Portland a few years since built chaises that weighed from 125 to 175 lbs. Uncle Toby used to ride in a chaise that weighed 606 lbs.

A great team in miniature, was that seen on our streets a few days since; the span of black ponies of Capt. Emerson of York, and an elegant pony wagon which came from the Portsmouth manufactory.

A GRAND CONCERT by the Portsmouth Philharmonic Society is advertised in another column. The music to be performed is Mozart's Twelfth Mass,—a masterpiece of that great Master. The wardens of the Middle Street Baptist Church have kindly granted the use of that building for the occasion; and with Dr. Wilcox at the fine organ, and accompanied by an Orchestra such as our city has seldom (if ever before) been able to boast of, the Society will undoubtedly present the magnificent Mass in a manner to reflect credit upon themselves and to delight their audience; and Dr. Wilcox, besides the music of the Mass, will favor those in attendance with choice selections as organ solos—an announcement which of itself should be sufficient to fill the house.

☞ A very fair audience assembled at the Temple on Tuesday evening, to witness the farewell performance here of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Paul. The entertainment gave general satisfaction, as was to have been expected; and no little amusement was created by Mrs. Paul's lecture on Woman's Rights, and her impersonations of the Kicklebury Family — though her making fun of spectacles, in the latter, occasioned several young ladies who had shone resplendent in gold-bowed glasses in the first of the evening, to gaze at the stage with unassisted eyes during the last of it. Mr. Paul was well received,—his best thing, we thought, being the Unfortunate Man. But the great thing of the whole entertainment, of course, was the singing of the lady tenor—"The MacGregor's Gathering" being given with taste and power, in a voice in which no trace of any feminine quality could be detected.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

WOOD CHOPPING CHALLENGE.—Messrs. Editors Chronicle:—Some of my friends having been pleased to give you a statement of my Cutting down and Cording up five and one-half Cords of Pine Wood in one day, and 42 Cords in 12 days, besides walking 6 miles per day to and from work—I understand that a Mr. Wetherell or other party of Danville, claims in the Exeter News Letter, to have Cut and Corded much more than that, though whether cut from the stump or from sled lengths is not stated.

Now, therefore, since I have been thus placed before the public, and for the sake of a little sport, I, DAVID P. WRIGHT, do hereby authorize and desire you to state in your columns, that I am ready at any time to Chop Wood with this Mr. Wetherell or any other man, for $25 a side, one day or more; and will name Mr. R. C. BERRY of this city as Stakeholder, and have placed the above amount in his hands for the purpose. Yours truly,

DAVID P. WRIGHT.

☞ George Seddons, the victor in the prize fight with Tom Kelly, at the Isles of Shoals, over two years ago; and who was afterwards convicted in Boston, of leaving Massachusetts to engage in a prize fight, and stepped out on his bondsmen—was returned from the West on a requisition from the Governor of Massachusetts, last week. It remains to be seen what will be done with him.

DEERFIELD, May 11.

The new steam saw mill of Pollard & Sanborn was burned on Thursday, May 5. Loss reported at about $2000—no insurance.

The dam of the saw mill owned by Mr. Rogers, also in South Deerfield, was carried away a few weeks ago by the flood.

Within a few weeks 32 persons have been received into the Congregational Church here, and 31 into the Baptist and Free Will Churches. A Revival is much needed among the friends of Temperance. C. J.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

THE WINNIPEG REGION.—This is a part of British America, lying north of the State of Minnesota and the Territory of Dacota.

One of the first who explored that part was Mackenzie from Europe in 1780. He was there several years and a river far on to the North-West, falling into the Arctic Ocean, bears his name. The latitude is as high as 50, yet it is not excessively cold, and the Spring is as early for warm weather and vegetation, as with us.

Settlements made by English, French, Scotch, Irish Canadians and others began in 1811. They had great opposition from the North West Trading Company and the half-breeds, and some were killed, but there was firmness and perseverance. The number of people is not great and it is a long distance East to the Canada settlements, and then West, the country stretches far away to the Pacific Ocean, with but very few if any inhabitants.

Fort William is on the northern shore of Lake Superior. It is 600 miles from there to Winnipeg. In all it is 800 miles from Winnipeg to the Canada settlements. From the settlements of Winnipeg to the boundary of the United States is less than a hundred miles.

The line of latitude 49 is just about the line between the British possessions and the States. The country has a good soil, is well wooded and there is considerable coal.

The Winnipegers are in rebellion against their government. An expedition of British soldiers is on its way to quell the rebellion. Col. Lindsey is in command. In two months or so the place will be reached. Perhaps those in rebellion will be easily subdued. But then, the Northern Pacific Railroad is before long to be opened up that way. Emigration is already flowing thitherward. Their affinities may be for the United States. Annexation of that region may be for our country. Who knows? We want that more than we do St. Domingo or Cuba, to have land communication with the Russian Posessions already obtained. Those who live a few years may see great changes up that way. OBSERVER.

—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO
RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.
In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.
When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.
It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.
It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.
The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)
The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of
INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.
Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.
All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.
They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

Morning Chronicle.

UNFRUITFUL YOUNG ORCHARDS.—It is a frequent complaint of the anxious owners of young and thrifty apple orchards that they do not bear. The trees are old enough, they are healthy, and they grow very fast, but they yield little or no fruit. As a general rule these orchards are pretty well cared for —they are well cultivated, pruned, scraped, washed and manured, and the trees do grow splendidly, but that is about the only reward, if it may be called one, which the owner gets for his trouble and expense.

If the owners of such unfruitful orchards understood and practised the simplest principles of the art of pruning, they would, if prevented by no local causes, soon be brought into fruitful condition. The owners do, indeed, partly understand the cause of their not bearing, for one will often hear the remark, "They grow too fast to bear well," but they seldom understand, or at least practice, the means of changing this state. It should be borne in mind that a tree which grows a great deal of wood will produce little if any fruit. A large growth of wood and a great yield of fruit are not conditions that will take place in the tree at the same time.

During the first year of the life of a tree the treatment should be such as will produce a vigorous and healthy growth of wood. In orchards of standing trees fruit is not expected, nor desirable in view of ultimate profit until the trees are of proper size. The aim of the cultivator is to make his trees grow fast and to make them healthy. He prunes early in the spring before the sap starts—prunes closely—and throws the juices of the tree into a diminished head and large and thrifty branches are the result. He also manures and cultivates.

But when he wants fruit a different course must be resorted to. Whatever diminishes the vitality of a tree—threatens its life—induces fruitfulness. Instinctively the tree puts forth an effort to perfect its seed. The wood-buds change to fruit-buds, and the strong branches in the glorious autumn bend down with promise. Sometimes this result is brought about unwittingly—a sod forms around the tree—it receives a wound or becomes sickly—and the unfortunate specimen that falls behind its fellows in growth is loaded with a burden of fruit.

The orchardist, desirous of inducing fruitfulness in his young and overthrifty trees, should check their growth. He should prune in the summer, the season of growth—instead of in winter, the season of rest. Summer pruning diminishes the vitality of the tree. Pinching should be resorted to; all of the strong shoots, at least, if not all shoots on a very vigorous and non-productive tree, should be pinched in the summer and thus dwarfed. The roots should be pruned, likewise, cutting off from one-fourth to one-third by thrusting down a long, sharp spade in a circle round the tree. If the summer pruning and pinching has been done, the end of that season is the proper time to root-prune. Many unfruitful orchards, we believe, might be brought, by skilful pruning, into a condition of profitable bearing.—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

GREAT MILKERS FOR BUTTER DAIRIES.—It is fast coming to be understood that for the manufacture of butter simply, great milkers are not always the best cows. To say nothing of the superior butter-making qualities of Jersey cattle, the difference in butter-making capacity between different cows of any breed depends very slightly on the quantity of milk they give and almost entirely on its quality. A cow giving ten quarts of milk per day will often make more butter than another of the same breed giving sixteen quarts; and where this is the case, if the business is exclusively or chiefly the manufacture of butter, the smaller milker is much the more profitable, for the reason that the skimmed milk is usually of little value, except for the manufacture of pork, and this will not compensate for the greater amount of food that the larger milker consumes.

For butter-dairies, then, it should be our aim, setting aside all other considerations, to select such animals as ample experience has shown will make the largest quantity of butter from a given amount of food. Whether the food be fed to one animal or to two, is a matter of little consequence. What we want, is to get the most money as the result for its consumption; and this is often attained by feeding it to a larger number of smaller milkers. In the case of thoroughbred animals, the advantage of the larger number of cows is still greater, for the reason that they give us more valuable cows.

The Ayrshire cattle, now a well-marked and well-defined breed, have long been distinguished for their remarkable dairy qualities, for the quantity of milk they yield in proportion to the size of the animal and the amount of food consumed. The form and structure of the cow from the muzzle to the tail indicate that she possesses qualities which adapt her to the purposes of the dairy. Her head is small, with a low and narrow muzzle. Her eye is small and lively. Her horns are usually small, clear and crooked, set well apart at the roots. Her neck is long and slender, small toward the head, and free from dewlap. Her shoulders are thin, her forequarters light, her hindquarters large and well developed, giving her a wedge-shaped appearance, which, though not adding materially to her beauty of form, is universally regarded among dairymen as a sign of a great milker.

A post office has been established at Alton Bay, and C. P. Emerson appointed postmaster.

GRAPES.—From a somewhat extended experience in the cultivation of grapes, and from careful observation of the numerous varieties recommended, we have reached the conclusion that the number which can be successfully raised in the New England and Northern States is quite small. We selected, several years ago, four varieties which we regarded as best suited to our climate, and placed them together in a favorable locality for field culture.

The varieties we selected were the Concord, Hartford Prolific, Delaware, and Northern Muscadine. Our object was to note the time of ripening, the comparative hardiness, prolific character, and quality of each kind when grown on the same field and subjected to corresponding treatment. The Concord is the grape of the four varieties which has most fully met our wants or expectations. It has ripened at about the same time with the Hartford, is a better grape, and the fruit does not fall from the stem, as that does. The Delaware is too tender, and very liable to mildew. This year it suffered from three different species of fungi, one of which attacks the under, another the upper surface of the leaf, and still another the berry.

The Northern Muscadine is a foxy grape, not worth cultivating. We raised, the present year, from less than a third of an acre, over three thousand pounds of Concords, most of which ripened very fairly, although the season has been exceedingly unfavorable.

We are fully convinced of another fact regarding the fertilization of the grape, which is of the highest importance. Animal excrement or stable manure we regard as unsuited to its successful cultivation; or, at least, it is far better to employ the fertilizing agents which are so largely found in the plant structure and in the fruit. Potash, phosphoric acid and lime are the great food staples which the grape demands, and they cannot flourish unless these elements are abundantly supplied. We fertilize our vineyards and grape borders with unleached ashes and dissolved bones, and obtain most abundant returns.—Dr. Nichols.

PROFITABLE INVESTMENT OF CAPITAL. A question discussed at the N. Y. State Fair was: "In what way, and to what extent, can farmers employ more capital on their farms?"

Joseph Harris, of Rochester, one of the editors of the "American Agriculturalist," writing under the head of "Walks and Talks on the Farm," took part in the discussion, and among other things said:

"Another way that capital can be profitably invested is in underdraining, for that not only increases the quantity, but improves the quality of products. It often doubles the produce of a farm and quadruples the profits. The same thing may be said about clearing fields of loose stones, such as not only throw out or fasten the plow, but often break it. I often find it profitable to employ labor upon my farm which is a rough one, to get such stones out of my fields. I plow down clover sod in June, July or August, get off the loose stones and then plow again. I often find a bushel of earth under a stone that is rich and as good as manure. Every dollar that I spend at this work brings me in two."

Now in this State there are a great many fields in which there are a great many just such stones. If, as Mr. H. says, every dollar spent in removing them will bring back two, what an opening for lots of our farmers to get rich! What a chance for them to profitably invest their surplus capital!

While M.'s estimate may not be realized by all who employ their fields of moveable stones, thereby not only bringing into use the bushel of earth that lies under and around each one, but removing obstacles in the way of the mower, tedder and horse-rake, as well as the plow and cultivator, there is no question but such labor and capital will bring a very large return.

With a judicious outlay for such a purpose, there will be no complaint of our farms growing poorer, or their "running out." Their productive capacity as well as their selling value would be largely increased. There is no doubt that a field properly underdrained and cleared of stone, would be donated in value to keep or sell. Here is food for profitable reflections.

☞ Colonel Commodore James Fisk Jr., Esq. will appear behind (we wonder he don't go ahead of) a six-in-hand team at Long Branch this season, consisting of three white and three black horses, all mismatched as to color; a most imposing carriage,—no doubt of it and with a London harness; the whole to cost $35,000. A good advertisement, as well as a good team.

HOW THEY DID IT.

They were sitting side by side,
And he sighed and she sighed.

Said he "my darling idol!"
And he idled and she idled.

"You are creation's belle, oh!"
And he bellowed and she bellowed.

"On my soul there's such a weight,"
And he waited and she waited.

"Your hand I ask, so bold I've grown,"
And he groaned and she groaned.

"You shall have your private gig,"
And he giggled and she giggled.

She said "my dearest Luke,"
And he looked and she looked;

"I'll have thee if thou wilt,"
And he wilted and she wilted.

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S
CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR
BITTERS.
They are not a vile fancy drink.
Made of pure Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Restorers," appetizers, &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a pure Medicine, made from the native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER, AND LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair. — J. CITY ORDINANCE.
AN ORDINANCE authorizing the Sale of a part of the City Farm.
Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth, as follows:
SEC 1st. That the Committee on City Lands and Buildings are hereby authorized to advertise for bids for that portion of the City Farm which lies westerly of Creek St., offering the same in lots of Ten Acres or more as in their judgment they may think for the best interest of the City; said bids to be opened before a convention of the City Council on the Nineteenth day of May next; said Board reserving the right to accept or reject any or all of said bids for a part or all of said portion of the City Farms; they may fix terms of payment as they think best.
SEC. 2nd. The Mayor is hereby authorized for and in behalf of the City to sell and convey the said portion of the City Farm or any part thereof, giving a Warrantee deed in the name of the City whenever arrangements therefor shall be completed by the Committee named in the preceding section; he shall receive all money paid for the same, and shall pay said money to the City Treasurer for the use of the City.
Passed April 21st, 1870.

Chat.

The Toronto Globe charges Sir John A. MacDonald, the Prime Minister of the Dominion, with being a common drunkard.

A citizen of Lewiston has sold out his stock of velocipedes, that cost $1100, for $25.

A dangerous rock was blasted out of Newport harbor, last week, by a torpedo and electric battery.

The Massachusetts Editors and Publishers' Association will hold its first annual meeting at Gloucester on the 14th of next month.

☞ The long-established Insurance Agency of Mr. John S. Harvey in this city, affords undoubted security in Fire or Life Assurance — some details of which are given in the new advertisement this morning. Mr. C. C. Whittemore is engaged with Mr. Harvey.

Philadelphia has raised $9000 for the Richmond sufferers.

Mining prospects in Arizona are good, but the Indians are not.

The coast survey wants $50,000 to fix the position of Alaska.

A democratic convention in Morrisania, N. J., Monday, broke up in a row which killed one man and hurt others.

The Protestant Methodist Conference in Baltimore has voted that no minister shall celebrate matrimony contrary to our Lord's decision in Matthew, chapter 19th, 9th verse.

The first of three races between the American yacht Sappho and the English yacht Cambria was won, Tuesday, by the Sappho. The Cambria gave up the contest before it was half over.

The excitement in Paris does not appear to lessen. Troops fired on the people Tuesday night, but the streets were again filled last night, although the military kept possession of the most dangerous sections.

Two rival Women's Suffrage conventions were in session in New York Wednesday, Theodore Tilton presiding over one, and Henry Ward Beecher over the other.

United States Collector Thomas Kearney was robbed May 6th while in camp sixty miles from the Rio Grande, by soldiers of his escort, of $12,810 in specie belonging to government.

It is rumored that Secretary Robeson desires to have ex-Naval Constructor Hanscom restored to the position which he resigned, and that Vice-Admiral Porter is opposed to it.

The grand encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic began in Washington Wednesday, General Logan presiding.

The deposition of Vice President Colfax, excluded in the McFarland trial, details many interesting circumstances connected with the affair, especially the Indiana divorce. Mr. Colfax denies any agency in the matter, or that he ever had a private interview with Mrs. Richardson.

THE MCFARLAND TRIAL.—The trial of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, Horace Greeley, Vice President Colfax, Theodore Tilton, H. Ward Beecher, Mrs. Calhoun, and a few others, under the name of the McFarland trial, has, happily for the posted public, who well knew from the first what the verdict was to be, and have been bored to death with daily scandal and false swearing, terminated in the acquittal of McFarland, charged with the murder of Richardson, of the Tribune.

The jury have virtually declared that two of the most honest papers in New York are free love institutions, and that two of the purest and most worthy editors in that Sodom, are rascals. They have also declared that hanging is played out in New York, if the murderer has plenty of money, furnished by political friends, and the murdered man is a prominent republican and a friend of Greeley. But everybody is glad that the farce is over. The verdict was squarely against the charge of the judge, and the New York mob cheered loudly. Mrs. Richardson's statement in the Tribune, which we copy to-day, should be read by all candid persons.

THE FRENCH ELECTION.—The following official returns have been received from some of the principal cities:—Paris, Yes, 111,363; No, 156,376. Nantes, Yes, 32,916; No, 12,883. Marseilles, Yes, 18,412; No, 34,829. Lille, Yes, 66,367; No, 13,803. Bordeaux, Yes, 10,127; No, 18,469. Toulouse, Yes, 9112; No, 12,534.

The French opposition and clerical organs question the result of the election. They maintain that while the vote may have a numerical value, it is without social, political or religious significance.

New Hampshire Items.

The Exeter News-Letter says there was a young lady some years since, daughter of Joe Bartlett, Esq., of Nottingham, who was a mute. She was liberally educated at Hartford, Conn., and subsequently married a Mr. Foster, also deaf and dumb. The fruits of this marriage were six children, all of whom can hear, and talk like so many blackbirds. They were recently at Nottingham, and even the youngest, a girl 18 months old, could articulate even more readily than most children of her age. What is most amusing and interesting is, the little child, thus early, can use the deaf and dump alphabet readily, and talks with her mother, telling what she wishes to eat drink and wear, and whether her head aches or throat is sore, and many other things truly surprising. Indeed, all the children are possessed of more than ordinary intelligence.

The Dover Board of Trade are talking of getting up a Lyceum. The clergymen keep up the interest of temperance there.

The wide-awake Manchester people are desirous of building the Suncook Valley Railroad from Pittsfield to Gilmanton.

Daniel Sullivan of Manchester goes to State Prison seven years for breaking and entering. He is not 21 years old, and has been 3 years in Prison before.

A convention is to be held, at Concord, on the 25th instant, for the purpose of forming a society to aid those liberated from penal institutions. The call for the meeting is signed by Rev. Hosea Quimby, D. D., the faithful chaplain of the State prison, and sixteen other well-known citizens.

Centre Harbor boasts of a great curiosity, in the shape of a colt which was recently foaled by a mare belonging to J. B. Dow of that town. The most remarkable feature of the colt is, that it has but one eye, which is very large, and is placed in the centre of its forehead. It has no nostrils, neither has it any upper jaw, the under jaw being quite perfect.

Mayor Jones of Concord offers a reward of $300 for the arrest of the burglars now operating there, and a similar amount for Carroll Sanborn, whose depredations are notorious.

The board of trustees of the State Reform School are now sending out to the towns which have pupils at the school, to ascertain when their last payments were made, and see if the replies correspond with the books. No deficit has yet been found.

HOW GOOD FARMERS SAVE MONEY. They keep a strict account of all farm operations.

They do not leave their implements scattered over the farm, exposed to storms and heat.

They repair their tools and buildings at a proper time; and do not suffer a subsequent three-fold expenditure of time and money. They use their money judiciously, and they do not attend auction sales to purchase all kind of trumpery because it is cheap.

They see that their fences are well repaired, and their cattle are not grazing in the meadows, or grain fields, or orchards.

They do not refuse to make correct experiments in a small way of many new things.

They plant their fruit trees well, care for them, and of course get good crops.

They practice economy by giving their stock good shelter during the winter; also good food, taking all that is unsound, half rotten or mouldy out.

They do not keep tribes of cats, or snarling dogs around their premises, who eat more in a month than they are worth in a whole lifetime.

Lastly they read the advertisements, know what is going on, and frequently save money by it.

Successful farming is made by attention to little things. The farmer who does his best, earns his money with best appreciation, and uses it with best results. Such men are the salt of the earth.—Farmer.

BASE BALL.—The Granite State nine of this city, visited Dover on Wednesday and played four innings with the Sawyer Club of that city. The rain stopped the game, when the score stood Sawyers 21, Granites 11.

It is said the Sawyer Club will return the visit and play a game here about the last of May.

CONGRESS.—The House, on Wednesday, refused a third reading to the Northern Pacific Railroad bill—yeas 77, nays 92. Mr. Ela voted nay.

Hon. John Lynch of Maine, chairman of the special committee on the decline of American commerce, made a forcible speech in support of the two bills already reported by the committee.

☞ The Boston Traveller, disgusted with the display of mawkish sentimentalism which marked the close of the McFarland farce, and with that style of hero-worship which elevates every thief or murderer (the more criminal and debased the better) to the honors and dignities of a god, discourses as follows:

The acquittal of McFarland, charged with the the murder of Albert D. Richardson, at New York, will surprise no one. His conviction, under the circumstances, by any jury, was hardly possible, and least of all by a New York jury. The letter of his former wife, given to the public Wednesday, affords quite as conclusive evidence of his insanity as any of the testimony offered during the trial. But the acquittal of McFarland furnished no excuse for the shameless conduct of some of the women who witnessed the close of the trial, and embraced the prisoner and his counsel, when the verdict was announced. We shall not be surprised to hear that their husbands, if such unfortunates there be, were made insane by their misdeeds. The bad taste of Mrs. Richardson in rushing into print with her tale of wrongs, just at this time, may be pardoned, but there can be no excuse for the women who thus openly disgraced their sex, in their joy for a verdict which, right or wrong, casts a stain upon the reputation of a woman who would be degraded by being placed on a level with them.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

TEMPERANCE AND KISSING. — The late N. P. Willis stated in some of his writings that kissing came of a temperance movement in Rome. Wine was prohibited to the women of ancient Rome by law. Male relatives had the right to taste the lips of their sisters, cousins, &c., to see if they had partaken of the prohibited liquor, and this kind of investigation was pushed with vigor.

But it appears that by the time of Seneca, about the time of the advent of the Sericum, females drank to great excess. That moralist said, they often outdid the men in drinking.

We doubt not the fact here stated, said to be historical. But as to that being the origin of this kind of embracing, it is not correct. Jacob, who became a patriarch, when he first met Rachel, whom he afterwards married, gave her the kiss of warm affection. This was more than a thousand years before the Roman nation began. And it is highly probable embracing with a kiss is as old as the first human pair.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Old Fallacy Exploded.

Thirty or forty years ago, it was the fashion to administer powerful purgatives as "spring medicines." Terrific doses of salts and senna, calomel and jalap, or glauber salts were given to all the members of a family, whether sick or well, by way of preparing them for the warm weather in prospect. This pernicious custom is nearly obsolete, but there are some old Bourbons of private life, incapable alike of forgetting anything or learning anything, who obstinately cling to it still. Nothing could be more pernicious, more utterly unphilosophical, than such an onslaught on the vigor and elasticity of the system. In order to enable the physical structures to resist the enervating effects of spring damps and summer heats, it should be toned and reinforced, not relaxed and weakened.

The best medicine agent for this purpose is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Its effect is to tone the stomach and liver, gently relieve the bowels from obstructions, brace the nerves, improve the quality of the blood, stimulate the appetite and cheer the spirits. In this improved condition the organization is capable of resisting unhealthy influences, which would prostrate an enfeebled system.

A vigorous digestion is absolutely essential to health, and there is no danger of the stomach faltering or failing in its important office if this genial vegetable elixir is taken regularly as a stomachic. None of the tonic tinctures or extracts will supply the place of the Bitters, for the simple reason that they operate as astringents only. In fact, in ordinary practice, five or six prescriptions would be required to produce separately, the beneficial results, which are effected simultaneously, and harmoniously by this single specific.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the PAIN KILLER to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular and commands a larger sale than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone; all over the world its beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged and appreciated, and as a PAIN KILLER its fame is limited to no country, nor nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim, is amply shown by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. Sold by all Druggists.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WCOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical medical agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

SUMMER STREET EXTENSION.—The bids for the construction of Summer Street, from Middle St. to Lincoln Avenue, were opened by the Mayor and the Aldermanic Com. on Streets, at the City Clerk's Office on Wednesday at noon. There were nine bids, as follows:—

Joseph Marston	$1975
Geo. H. Pickering	1800
Wm. Plaisted	1700
Supply Trefethen	1675
C. A. Shannon	1649
Joseph R. Holmes	1450
N. B. Sides	1369
James Jones	1180
Thos. M. Lang	1149

and Mr. Thomas M. Lang being the lowest bidder, the contract was awarded to him, for $1149. By the specifications, the road is to be completed by the 1st of July proximo.

CITY COUNCIL, May 12.—In the Aldermen, Thursday evening, the Appropriation Bill was passed — for Roads $1,500, Streets $5000, City Debt $15,000.

The Joint Com. on School Houses were authorized to advertise for Proposals to build Creek School-house, and to decide on same.

Voted to pay Wm. Plaisted $50 for removal of street sprinkling tank, &c.

Proposition from Nathl. Hanscom, to accept $126.40 for land damages and fencing Myrtle St. at his residence, was accepted, to be paid when bill appd. by Mayor.

Voted, that the Mayor order a supernumary Policeman placed on the South Road each Sunday during the Summer.

Common Council.—(Messrs. French, Thompson and Marden absent.) A resolution was passed, the Aldermen concurring, that Mr. Wm. Plaisted be paid $100 by the City towards defraying the expenses of moving street sprinkling tanks, and paying rent for same.

A joint resolution was passed authorizing Com. on Fire Department to purchase 1000 feet of Leading Hose, for Steamers and one Hose Carriage.

The Com. on City Lands and Buildings reported in favor of adopting the plans previously submitted to the Council, for new School-house near the Creek, which was done.

Adjourned for one week.

MEMORIAL DAY.—We have already announced that Dearborn S. F. Engine Co. No. 1, Foreman E. E. McIntire, will take part (as an organization) in the ceremonies of Memorial Day; and Sagamore S. F. Engine Co. No. 2, Foreman Wm. B. Randall, will also participate, and have secured the Marine Band to furnish music on that occasion.

The strewing of flowers on the graves of departed, friends is a grateful and graceful tribute of affection; and we hope that the observance of this beautiful custom by the G. A. R. may lead to its general adoption by all classes. The setting apart of one day in the year as a perpetual holiday for the decoration of graves, as is done in some countries, would help to infuse a touch of poetry into the hard, matter-of-fact style of life in this part of the world,—for one day, at least. We understand that the Sagamores have made arrangements to strew flowers on the graves of the former members of their Company, on the 30th; and hope that others will follow their example, until Memorial Day becomes not only a day for special acknowledgment and remembrance by the nation of her fallen heroes, but a day of general tribute to the memory of all who have left friends behind—and wretched indeed must he have been who has not left one who would wish to lay a flower on his last resting place.

To cherish the memories of those who lost their lives in defence of the nation, is a mournful pleasure as well as a sacred national duty; and should the custom of remembering the dead once each year become universal, the decoration of the soldiers' graves with flags and flowers will ever be the central ceremony of the day, while one comrade remains, or history keeps alive the recollection of their sacrifices, their patriotism and their gallant deeds.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT, Judge Clark. On Thursday, the Court reassembled, and the Grand Jury reported nine indictments, and were dismissed subject to summons to re-assemble, if needed. The indictments are as follows:—

One against Hattie O. Bean of this city for taking a letter not belonging to her from the Portsmouth office and opening it; three against Wm. M. Hanscom, formerly clerk at the same office, for robbing the mail; one indictment against Geo. T. Wentworth, a Dover lawyer, and Wm. F. O'Neil, a claim agent of the same place, for fraudulently obtaining a pension of $240 a year, and $1100 of back pension, for Hannah Smith of Ossipee — (Mrs. Smith has since refunded the $1100 to the Treasury Department); two against J. D. Ricker of Farmington, for robbing the Post Office at that place; one against Joseph Hayes and David L. Drew, for attempting to defraud the government by presenting at the Portsmouth Custom House a fraudulent invoice of lumber shipped from Frederickton, N. B., to Dover, N. H.; and one against Dennis Lyons of Manchester, for not paying $15 due on a license of $25 for selling liquor.

The Grand Jury has had more than the ordinary amount of business to transact, and District Attorney Rolfe's duty has been arduous and exhausting.

The trial of A. K. Moore of Franklin, for neglecting to use revenue stamps according to law, was commenced, Thursday afternoon.

YORK COUNTY.—Rev. Mr. Pillsbury of the Methodist church at Kittery baptised eight persons on Sunday. An unusual religious interest is still prevalent in this church.

The ladies connected with the Methodist Society at Kittery Foreside, recently held a levee which was largely attended. The proceeds are to be appropriated in furnishing their lecture and class rooms. This Society has during the past few months made extensive improvements and additions to its church accommodations.

Dr. A. W. Johnson has purchased the fine residence of A. J. Chadbourne at Kittery Foreside.

Col. Luther Junkins of York, who has been absent for three months on a tour through the Southern States, has returned.

—"To the parent whose son dies in infancy there must be something peculiarly soothing in the thought that, no matter what may be the fate of the child in the next world, it can never become a member of a base ball club in this."

The above from the Louisville Courier Journal is a pretty small attempt at wit, hardly in keeping with its former reputation for brightness. Such flings at the game shows that the person who wrote them, lacks the courage and pluck, necessary to make a good player, and at the same time is unable to appreciate these qualities in any one else. National Chronicle.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.
In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.
When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.
It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.
It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.
The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)
The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of
INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.
Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.
All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.
They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

Morning Chronicle.

MRS. RICHARDSON'S ACCOUNT OF HER LIFE WITH MCFARLAND.—The Tribune publishes Mrs. Albert D. Richardson's full statement and history of her married life, the circumstances of her separation from her husband, her acquaintance with Mrs. Calhoun, Richardson and other friends, together with a confidential statement in writing from Richardson to Junius Henri Browne, dated Dec. 1, 1867, and first opened by Mr. Browne some time after Richardson's death. Mrs. Richardson says:

"Now, after I have waited in patience for a verdict of the newspapers, of the public and of a New York Court and jury, I have decided that I will speak the first and last words I shall ever speak for myself. And this is what I mean to do: To write as exactly as I can the whole and simple truth to the minutest detail, reserving nothing and extenuating nothing. In doing this I neither ask nor expect sympathy or justice from the press or public. I married Daniel McFarland in 1857. I was a girl of 19, born in Massachusetts, and educated in New England schools. I had been a teacher, and was just beginning to write letters for the press. Daniel McFarland was an Irishman of 37 or 38, who had received a partial course at Dartmouth College, and had, seven years before I knew him, been admitted to the Massachusetts bar. When I married him, he represented himself to be a member of the bar in Madison, Wisconsin, with a flourishing law practice, brilliant political prospects, and possessed of property to the amount of from $20,000 to $30,000. He also professed to be a man of temperate habits, of the purest morals, and, previous to my marriage, appeared neither intemperate, nor brutal, nor profane. After marriage we went first to Madison, Wisconsin, being detained till Mr. McFarland could borrow money to continue his journey. We returned to New York in February, 1858, Mr. McFarland leaving his watch and chain in pawn at a Rochester hotel to pay his board bill."

In less than three months after their marriage Mrs. McFarland went home, and for fourteen days did not hear from her husband, whom she left in New York. In answer to a telegram he came to Mr. Sage's in New Hampshire, and then, for the first time, she had a suspicion that he might be intemperate. During the summer of 1858 Mrs. McFarland remained at her father's, and in the fall returned to Brooklyn, living with her husband in two or three hired rooms, and he here first began to eddie home intoxicated.

"He would come home sober, bringing with him bottles called Schiedam Schnapps, containing a quart or so of vile liquor, and he would put them by his bedside and drink sometimes the whole before morning. When I begged him not to do so he said, his 'brain was on fire,' and that this made him sleep. This is the first time that he began to tell me about his 'brain being on fire,' which was a favorite expression with him after he had been drinking, and to which so many people have testified to his using on his recent trial for his life. As this was two or three months before my first child was born, and as all my senses were nervously acute, and as I was, also, as I believe, a woman of refined taste and feeling, his breath and whole body steaming with the vile liquor which he drank during these nights while I lay awake beside him made him very obnoxious to me, so that before I had been married to him a year my affection for him was very much chilled—I might say nearly destroyed."

Mrs. Richardson then recites at length the story of her husband's increasing brutality and the poverty of their roving life among New York boarding-houses and lodging-rooms, her narrow and straitened circumstances, feeble health, and utterly deplorable condition. The narrative covers the time from 1859 to 1866, and the following are among the most striking incidents:

"At Christmas, 1862, I was so anxious to have Percy with me, and I felt so hopeful of doing well during the winter with the dramatic readings which I had begun, that I sent Mr. McFarland on to New Hampshire to get Percy, who had been all this time at my father's. On this occasion Mr. McFarland took with him all the little stock of jewels I possessed—my rings, brooches, watch and chain—which had by this time been so frequently pawned and repawned that I did not care for them—and sold them all in Boston. These were the last jewels I ever possessed except a plain gold ring, which is the wedding ring placed on my hand by my dead husband.

Mr. McFarland was unspeakably cruel to me the fall and winter of 1862 and 1863 while we boarded at 58 Varick street. We occupied the only sleeping apartments on the parlor floor, and he could give full scope to his furies without fear of being overheard. He would lock himself into the room with me and give way to such terrible fury that only the extremest pride and self-control prevented me from making it known. He brought home what he professed was prussic acid, and threatened to take it and to force me to take it also. He would snatch my scissors from my workbasket, and laying open his breast, he would brandish them about, swearing that 'he would let out his heart's blood' before me. He told me,—then a shrieking girl, that he kept loaded pistols, with which he would at any moment shoot me. He left one evening, declaring that he should shoot a gentleman, because he had been invited to join, himself, his wife and another lady in a party to some public picture gallery, although I had, at the most, a general acquaintance with the party, and refused the invitation as soon as made.

One morning during this winter which I am now describing, after Mr. McFarland had been out nearly all night in a drunken orgie, and had risen from bed in one of his worse tempers, I approached him as he stood by the mirror finishing his toilet, and began to say something soothing to prevent the outburst of his ill-temper, which I feared was soon coming, when he turned and struck me a blow across my face, which made me reel backward.

From that time I took an entirely different course with him. When in one of these furies, I had shed a great many tears under his cruelty, and had tried to reason with him, and had tried entreaties and persuasion; after this, whenever he was in one of his paroxysms, as he himself called them, I never moved nor spoke, but keeping perfectly self-controlled, as far as I could, I kept quiet, always keeping my eye on him, because I always fancied that when I looked steadily at him he would not do me any mortal violence. And I believe now, as I believed then, that my life was saved by this silence and self-control. He has sometimes approached me with his hands extended, the fingers bent like claws as if he were about to clutch my throat, and cried, 'How I should like to strangle you,' or, 'Your life is bound some time to end in tragedy,' or, 'Your blood will be on your head,' and has, as I think, been restrained because I simply looked at him, without saying a word. In these furies he would often seize and break anything which was at hand—lamps, glasses, mirrors and sometimes the heavier furniture of the room.

Often he would rise from bed in these uncontrollable fits of passion, tearing away all the bed clothing, tearing in shreds his own, throwing anything he could find which was breakable, crashing about the unlighted room till it seemed to me there could be no pandemonium worse than that in which I lived; and all this he would do without explanation or even a pretext for complaint against me, and when I knew no more what excited him than a babe unborn. He would sometimes keep up this conduct and this abuse for hours, without a syllable or a motion being made on my part, and he would then burst into tears, begging my pardon, say I was the best woman he ever saw, and then go to sleep exhausted. Sometimes he said, 'Your silence irritates me more than if you talked.'

In the winter of 1863 and 1864 we were at Mr. Sinclair's, our neighbors. One night while there Mr. McFarland came home so bruised and bleeding from some street brawl (a common occurrence on his part,) that I was obliged to call on Mr. Sinclair for aid in getting him to bed. It was only two or three weeks before the death of my youngest child, or I should not have done so. This event kept Mr. McFarland in his room for more than a week. I carried his meals to him myself, that his disgrace might not be seen and commented on by the boarders."

Mrs. Richardson also narrates her efforts to support herself and her children by writing for papers and magazines; the greater part of her earnings being appropriated by McFarland. She declined aid from the Sinclairs from motives which could not allow her to receive charity, and mentions McFarland procuring a thousand dollars in January, 1866, by blackmailing an oil land owner of Pennsylvania, threatening to expose irregularities in his income returns if he did not give him money.

In the winter of 1866, she first met Mrs. Calhoun, and January, 2, 1867, after unusually harsh and inhuman treatment from her husband, wrote her the letter giving the statement of her wrongs, and appealing for sympathy and advice, which Mrs. Calhoun answered in the letters which were read on the trial. In this Mrs. Richardson says: "Dear—I try to write these things—coldly and mechanically. I want to do so, so—as not to be unjust, but I must write you. I feel I must let you know something of my inner life, and of the struggles which no one can see, or I shall die. I don't know what to do, or what course to take. I want to be advised. I have written these wild words incoherently. I know writing is not my natural method of expression to get some of this weight off of me, and I have tried to write justly. I know I must in some way protect myself from Mr. McFarland's mode of revenging any careless words upon me. I have half made up my mind to day to tell the Sinclairs I feel the encroachments of his habits, I dread my future so much, and I have my babies to think of beside. Yesterday he drew two weeks of my salary at the theatre and paid the week's board bill, and I fear he will spend a good deal of the money, which we need so much, in liquor. Don't come to me after reading this. I fear I shall repent writing it. Yours always.

(Signed) ABBY."

"On the evening of February 20, 1867," says Mrs. Richardson, "before going to the theatre, I secreted his razors, his pocket-knife, my scissors, and all articles I considered dangerous, as I frequently did on such occasions, and left him; but when I came home he was still raging. He frequently had made threats of committing suicide, going out of doors with that avowed purpose. On this occasion about midnight, he bade me an unusually solemn 'eternal farewell,' and told me that this time he was certainly going out to destroy himself. He had done this so many times that I said nothing and made no effort to detain him. At the door he hesitated, and asked if I had nothing to say in their last parting. I said, 'I can only say that I am hopelessly sorry for you.' He went out and in a few moments returned, as I knew he would, cooled and sobered by the cold night air, and then, it being nearly morning, as mildly and firmly as I possibly could, I began to talk with him. I told him decidedly that I should leave him forever; that I had borne with patience for many years great outrages from him; that he had made my life miserable and had often put me in great dread of my life; that I could not endure it any longer; that by his outrageous conduct for the two days past, and by the language he had used when he had found me at Mr. Richardson's door, he had added the last drop to my cup of endurance, and that I should go away from him at once.

On this he groveled at my feet in the most abject penitence. He wept, sobbed and begged of me to forgive him. He confessed that he had wronged me, and that no woman would have borne with him as I had, and then went to sleep exhausted. The next morning I did not allude to my purpose, but after seeing him leave the house for Mr. McElrath's office, I went to Mr. Sinclair's and placed myself under the protection of his roof and never afterward saw Mr. McFarland, except once or twice in the presence of others."

Mrs. Richardson then passes to a statement of her acquaintance with Richardson, which, before his coming to room at the same house in Amity street, had been very light and formal. "There was never," she says, "prior to my leaving McFarland, a word, a look, passed between us which I should not be glad now if all the world had seen and heard." The day that Mr. and Mrs. McFarland separated, Richardson told the latter, "This is a matter in which I cannot advise you, but whatever you make up your mind to do, I shall be glad to help you in." "The evening after the separation took place Mr. Richardson called at Mr. Sinclair's and stayed an hour or two with the family. When he arose to leave, I went to the door to say what I could not say before the others, that he had been very, very good to me, that I never could repay him, but that God would bless him for it. At this, Mr. Richardson, still holding my hand that I had given him to say good by, stooped down, and speaking in a lower tone, said these words; 'I wish you to remember, my child, that any responsibility you choose to give me in your possible future I shall be very glad to take.' I think those were his exact words, and with this he went away, without a single word being spoken by either of us."

Mr. Richardson first heard of an intercepted letter after the first shooting, and never saw the letter or knew its contents until it appeared in print. "The letter was a mixture of jest and sentiment, which any one who knew Richardson would readily understand. I shall not explain it point by point, but the allusion to his love for me (using the 'growth of years' was simply a sentimental expression as to a point of fact. I had known him only a few months, and had been acquainted with him not more than a few months."

The remainder of Mrs. Richardson's statement details the circumstances of her residence in Indiana for sixteen months, during the whole of which time she never saw Richardson, though in his journeyings he frequently avoided passing through the city where she stopped, that there might be no cause for scandal. On October 31, 1869, she returned to her mother's, free, and on Thanksgiving Day met Richardson. The statement briefly passes over the facts of the marriage at the Astor House, and concludes with a denial of any desire for revenge on McFarland, "hoping with all my heart that he may escape the barbarous penalty of a barbarous law."

Richardson's letter to Junius H. Browne, which was offered on the trial and excluded, evinces a full acquaintance with Mrs. McFarland's wrongs and sufferings, and expresses his most earnest determination to make her his wife when she would be free.

The Tribune contains the affidavit of Charles A. Richardson, executor, that the Richardson property does not amount in value to more than $23,000 or $25,000, and that Mrs. Richardson has steadily refused to receive the benefit from any, except so much as is necessary to educate Richardson's children.

Havana and other Cuban cities are scourged with small-pox.

—Wm. W Houseman presented the New York Institute Farmer's Club with the following suggestion concerning the management of old orchards; "Old orchards should be highly manured, unless the soil is naturally very rich, and cultivated every third year at least, the plowing being very shallow. Mulch the trees in the fall with a load of barnyard manure to every four trees, summer fallow the next year, spread the manure from the trees, and you can grub around the trees very easily, as the turf will be rotten. Throw some ashes and a little salt around each tree, wash the bark with lye, and your orchards will bear fruit unless some thing serious is the matter.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it rare more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract of Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by uric acid in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel impelled to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. N. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER

is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rate of advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to commence myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse due last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things and cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I was still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. Do you see this? "Buchu" was doing its work, though I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berlin, Meriden and in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write much more, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
[Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park.]
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer disturbed by the fear of wet, the daily morning anathemas of the chambermaid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the benefit of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit must unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be also benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with weak kidney, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted one of my physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies with but little good, then worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies but regular established Rules of the Ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubeb, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician that it was a diuretic; and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and found there was three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might be only temporary, and therefore concluded to defer, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu, being devoid of any unpleasant taste or odor, is a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

Weston, the walker, started on Wednesday to walk from one extremity of Long Island to the other. When he gets to the other end, can't he be induced to keep right on?

The Red Stockings defeated the Forest City Club of Cleveland, Thursday, 12 to 2.

It is reported that armed Fenians have appeared at Duluth, Minn., on their way to the Red River.

It is reported that McFarland is going to Indiana to get his former wife's divorce set aside if possible.

Captain J. H. Johnson, formerly connected with the Louisville Courier, and a writer over the signature of "Yuba Dam," died in Lexington, Ky., Thursday.

A Washington special says that the proposed bill giving bounties to shipbuilders is not expected to pass, but some one of the propositions giving substantial relief to the shipping interest will probably be adopted.

WAS IT FREE LOVE OR WHAT?—After the announcement of the verdict in the McFarland trial, so great was the joy of the ladies that they made an attack on Mr. Graham, McFarland's counsel, and many of them kissed him. For some time he was hardly able to speak, and was obliged to receive these manifestation of regard in silence.

And so it went on for fifteen or twenty minutes. It was all hand-shaking, kissing, and congratulations all around. A reporter was approached by a lady, who said, "Ain't this beautiful! Why, bless me, I think the reporters ought to get some of it," saying which she seized him around his paper collar, and "smacked" him right plump in the the mouth. He was so taken by surprise that he was unable to collect himself for several minutes, and when he did the lady looked upon him smilingly, and said, "Why, bless me, I guess you're not used to it."

☞ There is no better or cheaper place in Boston to buy Carriages, than Wm. P. Sargent & Co.'s extensive Depositaries, on Sudbury and Tremont Streets. Their large stock includes every variety of vehicles for riding, from the lightest trotting wagon or sulky, to the richest and most magnificent coupe, landau, brett, or chaise; and purchasers can depend on courteous and fair treatment.

BASE BALL.—The Lowell Club, we are glad to see have organized for the season of '70 in earnest, and there is a fine prospect of their making a good record the ensuing summer. Last Wednesday evening the friends and members of the club to the number of one hundred or more assembled at the rooms of this organization, where the time was most agreeably passed in discussing the prospects of the season and the programme arranged for the Lowell club by its efficient directors, and in listening to some excellent vocal and instrumental music, from club talent.

The Club has, by the addition of the adjoining room, which has been supplied with water and fitted up for the reception of base-ball apparatus, provided finer accommodation for the members. The larger room has been perfectly put in order; a splendid Chickering Piano has been purchased and placed in it, and provisions have been made for the supply of this room with all the best newspapers and periodicals of the day. The interest of the club in the nines (for there will be two if not more) is such as to make them feel that their efforts to sustain the reputation of the organization is appreciated, and they are thus encouraged to perfect themselves by steady practice. No amateur club in the country has better prospects for the season than the Lowells, and if they continue as they have begun, they will show a creditable record at the end of the year.—National Chronicle.

The Lowell nine is as follows; Bradbury c., Lovett p., Reed 1 b., Jewell 2b., Joslin 3b., Conant s. s., Briggs, Rogers and Newton in the outfield.

The Athletic Club of Philadelphia will arrive in Boston on the 23d of May, and play the Harvards Monday, Lowells Tuesday and Trimountains Wednesday. The Forest City Club of Rockford, Ill., one of the leading amateur clubs of the country, who played the famous Red Stockings of Cincinnati, last season, their sharpest game, will play in Boston the last three days of the following week, June 2d, 3d, and 4th. About the 20th of June the Red Stockings are expected, and will play there the only games they will play in New England this season. Later in the month the Mutuals of New York will come. The Atlantics of Brooklyn, Keystones of Philadelphia, the Maryland Club of Baltimore and the Olympics of Washington have all decided to visit Boston, not to speak of many other clubs who undoubtedly will do so before the season closes.

The Mutuals of New York are very strong this year, and Chadwick regards them as being next to the Red Stockings.

☞ The Boston Transcript, which (strangely enough, we think) has taken the side of McFarland against the Richardsons, from the first, thinks "the intercepted letter from Richardson was more damaging to him than anything else at the trial; and that since its publication, no one thought McFarland would be declared guilty of murder." Perhaps not, in a New York Court; but we don't see how any man, and especially any woman, can hold him guiltless of wilful murder, and not wish him a halter. F.

The Transcript says, of that fatal letter;

We read the original soon after the first shooting, and made some comments, which so enraged Mrs. McFarland, that she ordered her Boston lawyers to bring an action of libel against the editor and proprietors of the Transcript for $10,000 damages. Under the laws of Massachusetts the action could not be sustained, and under those liberal statutes in favor of fearless and honest journalism, there was no libel. Richardson reported that he opposed this action, but Mrs. McFarland thought it would frighten other newspapers from comments upon the case. No Boston paper mentioned this foolish suit, which so enraged Mrs. McFarland's friends that they published the fact in the New York and Western papers. The suit never came to trial, being abandoned before the sitting of the Court before which the writ was returnable.

☞ In the McFarland case, it is stated that the jury stood ten for acquittal and two for conviction of one of the grades of manslaughter, when they first entered the jury room. The matter was discussed for some time, and finally the two jurors yielded and an unanimous verdict was agreed upon. It is further stated that the names of these two jurors were Richard Brown, the foreman, and Thomas Scott, the seventh juryman.

CONGRESS.—In the House, Friday, Mr. Schofield, chairman of the Naval Committee, made an effort, Friday to have the House devote next Wednesday evening to the consideration of bills reported from the Naval Committee of a public character, including one for the removal of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, but Mr. Dawes objected.

☞ A house on Mount Vernon St. was discovered to be on fire, Thursday. It was extinguished without serious damage by some of the neighbors. No one lives there although the former residents have furniture in the building. The fire was probably the work of an incendiary.

THE G. A. R.—The New England members of the National Council of Administration of the Grand Army are A. H. Quint of Massachusetts, George L. Beale of Maine, D. J. Vaughan of New Hampshire, George J. Stannard of Vermont, James Shaw of Rhode Island, and E. W. Whittaker of Connecticut.

☞ We are glad to learn that Gov. Langdon Engine Co. No. 5 have voted to come out on Memorial Day—and have ordered new uniforms at Myers & Co.'s for the occasion.

BOSTON STREET WALKERS.—The Advertiser says the change that has come over the streets after nightfall since the arrest of night-walkers by the wholesale, is marvellous. Where there were a hundred moving up and down Washington and Court streets from nine o'clock till midnight, there are not now to be seen ten, and the crowds of male loafers are considerably if not correspondingly, reduced. All respectable people whose duty or habit it is to be out on foot at a late hour have great reason to rejoice over the reform. The Chief of Police has daily demonstrations of the good which his action is resulting in. From two to six of the unfortunates visit his office daily, soliciting his aid to secure them homes out of the city, and he has in several instances secured places for them, and sent officers to accompany them to their new quarters.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET,

FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, MAY 12,

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 1438; Sheep and Lambs 5305; Swine 3725; number of Western Cattle 677; Eastern Cattle 32; Northern Cattle and Working Oxen 677. Cattle left over 49.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $13 25 @ $13 50; first quality $12 50 @ $13 00; second quality $11 50 @ $12 25; third quality $10 50 @$11 25; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $7 50 @ $10 00 ℔ cwt, (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 7 @ 7½c ℔ lb; Country Tallow 6 @ 7c ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6½ @ 7½c ℔ lb; Country Tallow 6 @ 7c ℔ lb.

Calf Skins 16 @ 17c ℔ lb.

Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 25 @ $1 50 each;

Prices of the best grades of Beef this week were full as high as those of last, but for the coarser Cattle trade was not so good. The Cattle were not so good this week as those of last. Some few of the very best sold at 14c ℔ lb., 30 per cent. shrink, but most of the extra Beeves sold at prices ranging from 13 @ 13½c ℔ head. There were but few Cattle from Maine, mostly workers. There were some Western Cattle and several hundred Cattle landed at Cambridge and driven direct to Brighton to be sold. Most of the Western Cattle that are landed at Cambridge usually come here to a market.

Store Cattle—With the exception of Working Oxen and Milch Cows there are but a few Store Cattle brought into market during the summer months. Most of the small Cattle that are in a fair condition are bought up to slaughter.

Working Oxen—Sales at $125, $215, $230, $240, $220, $235, $200, $250 @ $300 ℔ pair. There were but a few pairs in market, and not much call for them.

Milch Cows—Extra $80 @ $100; ordinary $50 @ $75; Store Cows $35 @ $55 ℔ head. Most of the Cows were of an ordinary grade. But a few very extra Cows offered for sale.

Sheep and Lambs—There was a good supply from the West, most of which were owned by butchers or taken at a commission from the cars. We quote prices of extra and selections at $6 @ 10 50; ordinary lots $4 @ 6 50 ℔ head, or from 5½ @ 10c ℔ lb.

Swine—Store Pigs—Wholesals 12½ @ 15½c ℔ lb; retail 13 @ 16c ℔ lb. Spring Pigs 25 @ 30 c ℔ lb. Fat Hogs—2700 at market; prices 10 @ 10½c ℔ lb.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Old Fallacy Exploded.

Thirty or forty years ago, it was the fashion to administer powerful purgatives as "spring medicines." Terrific doses of salts and senna, calomel and jalap, or gamboge salts were given to all the members of a family, whether sick or well, by way of preparing them for the warm weather in prospect. This pernicious custom is nearly obsolete, but there are some old Bourbons of private life, incapable alike of forgetting anything or learning anything, who obstinately cling to it still. Nothing could be more pernicious, more utterly unphilosophical, than such an onslaught on the vigor and elasticity of the system. In order to enable the physical structures to resist the enervating effects of spring damps and summer heats, it should be toned and reinforced, not relaxed and weakened.

The best medicine agent for this purpose is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Its effect is to tone the stomach and liver, gently relieve the bowels from obstructions, brace the nerves, improve the quality of the blood, stimulate the appetite and, over the entire system, the improved condition the organization is capable of resisting unhealthy influences, which would prostrate an enfeebled system.

A vigorous digestion is absolutely essential to health, and there is no danger of the stomach faltering or failing in its important office if this genial vegetable elixir is taken regularly as a stomachic. None of the tonic tinctures or extracts will supply the place of the Bitters, for the simple reason that they operate as astringents only, in fact, in ordinary practice, five or six prescriptions would be required to produce separately, the beneficial results, which are effected simultaneously, and harmoniously by this single specific.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1866.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides Croup, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest, &c. No one who tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the PAIN KILLER to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular and commands a larger sale than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone; all over the world its beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged and appreciated, and as a PAIN KILLER its fame is limited to no country, nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a SURE and EFFECTIVE remedy. Sold by all Druggists.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WCOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As a cough pectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT, TUESDAY.—The jury found A. K. Moores of Franklin guilty of a violation of the Internal Revenue law.

Court adjourned to Monday. The trial of Wm. H. Hanscom is assigned for Tuesday.

THE PORTSMOUTH PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY has more claims upon the good will of our churches than may at first sight appear. Every choir of our city is very fully represented in its membership, and there is not a a service in church, Sunday School or devotional meeting that does not derive great benefit from the vocal exercise of the society's rehersals, and we have no doubt that taking this view of the matter every lover of sacred as well as of secular music will give practical aid to the society, which now looks with some anxiety to know if the public will encourage its continuance in our midst.

☞ Mr. William Henderson, a native of this city, died in New Orleans last week, where he had lived nearly fifty years. His death was very sudden, of heart disease. The Picayune speaks very highly of him, as a business man and upright, honest, influential citizen. He was a director in the Jackson Railroad, and probably the late contest with Gen. Beauregard, the President, hastened his death. Mr. Henderson leaves an independent fortune.

CITY MATTERS.—We last week published the Appropriation Bill, as the Common Council proposed to have it. The Aldermen on Thursday made several changes in it—Ald. Nowell, from the Com. on Bills on 2d Reading, recommending increasing the payment of City Debt from $10,000 to $15,000, and decreasing the item for Roads from $2500 to $1500, that for Streets from $6000 to $5000, and for Fire Dept. to $4200 in place of $5000. Ald. Nowell also opposed the $2000 for Stone Crusher; but this alone, of all the items added by the Common Council to the draft of the bill from the Joint Finance Committee, was adopted—the other reductions being made, as stated above. Ald. Nowell also opposed the $2000 for increased water pipes and hydrants, but this was passed, like the Crusher, by yea and nay vote.

Ald. Pender, Miller and Fernald went in for $6000 for Streets; and attention was called to the Street Commissioner having about two miles more of highways under his care than ever heretofore. Ald. Cotton liked good streets, but was not willing to be taxed for them, and called attention to Washington Street, which Ald. Miller thought was a disgrace to the City. Ald. Clark also thought $5000 was sufficient, and that amount was agreed on.

After a good deal of discussion, (Ald. Nowell favoring a two-story schoolhouse at the Creek, instead of one story, as also Ald. Clark and Cotton—Ald. Pendexter opposing) and the matter being left as heretofore; Ald. Nowell and Fernald left the Board for an engagement elsewhere. Soon after, Ald. Clark seeming not especially pleased with the action of the Board, left; and not long after Ald. Cotton followed,—thus leaving the Board without a quorum. After three-quarters of an hour's delay, Ald. Fernald was found and returned to his seat, and the necessary business for the evening was completed, as stated in our report of Friday.

On the resolution to pay Mr. Plaisted the cost of removing his two old tanks, and preparing and hiring another location, there was different opinion. The Mayor and Ald. Miller stated that numerous citizens, heavy taxpayers, had applied to them for facilities, being furnished for sprinkling, and citizens seem to regard this as a public benefit, to be cared for in its way as well as the Fire Dept. or any other. And why not? $50 was finally voted, (but Mr. P. states that this is insufficient.)

The Appropriation Bill, with the above amendments, was passed and returned to the Com. Council—but it will hardly get through that Board in its present shape. The members seem to care less about economy to pay off the debt, than to make needed present improvements.

☞ Rev. H. Clay Trumbull of Hartford, Conn., will preach at the North Church on Sunday.

☞ The Portland Advertiser thinks Portsmouth needs young blood. It doesn't mean bloods, does it?

☞ During the debate in the Senate on the appropriation bill, Mr. Sherman of Ohio remarked that it had been proposed by high officers of the government to combine the Secretarship of War and Navy in one office.

☞ Gray and Sullivan, charged with larceny from the U. S. S. Plymouth, were re-arrested Thursday, examined before Commissioner Hackett and bound over in the sum of $400 to appear for trial for the offense, in Maine.

☞ It is said that Hon. Chas. A. Shaw of Biddeford declines a re-nomination as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the 1st Maine District. Wm. P. Haines of Biddeford is spoken of for the nomination. Why don't our Democratic friends try ex-Mayor Putnam of Portland? They could do worse.

STREET BALL-PLAYING.—Messrs. Editors:—Will you please call the attention of our city guardians to the reprehensible practice of throwing cannon shot (re-christened as "base balls") about the public streets, which is a very prevalent custom just at present, and not a proper one at any time. There is an Ordinance against the throwing of stones in the streets, and it might easily be made to apply to the flinging about of base balls—for the effect is essentially the same, whether a person is hit by one or the other. I believe the ball-throwers themselves are a little uneasy in their consciences regarding their misdeeds, for I have noticed that they don't throw the balls much when there's a policeman around.

One afternoon last week, while walking down one of our thoroughfares in a most delightful frame of mind, (being on my way to call on a young woman, and thinking over all the pretty things I was going to say to her—having a kind of mental rehearsal, so that I might not contradict anything I had told her on previous occasions,) just as I passed the corner of an intersecting street, a huge, dense, spherical body came from somewhere in space with inconceivable velocity, barely cleared the end of my proboscis, and plumped into a puddle of water at my feet, spattering the mud piteously all over my best trousers. My pleasing reverie vanished at once; and instead of trying to realize the delightful visions of a few moments previous, I went straight to the place of business of a gentleman friend, and engaged him in a fierce theological discussion; and as men are always bitter and uncharitable when they are pitching into other men's religious prejudices and erroneous opinions, (no man ever yet had any religious prejudices or erroneous opinions of his own,) our arguments at last became so energetic that the coal-hod was capsized and five panes of glass broken, and we hav'n't spoken together since—hate each other like poison, and each acknowledge the other's total depravity and hopelessness of salvation.—All this was the effect of that infamous base ball.

On Thursday evening a young lady was hit in the small of the back by one of these missiles, while standing for a moment on the street, but as the ball had been thrown but a short distance she did not lose her life. [I had it reported at first that she was instantly and fatally killed; but as she was seen on the street on Friday, probably that account was incorrect.]

Both these disasters were the result of accident, certainly; but people die all the same when they are killed accidentally as though they were killed on purpose. Base ball is a manly, inspiriting game; but our streets are not the place to play it. Would it be oppressing the boys to stop it? SORROW, NOT ANGER.

☞ The Carriages of Mr. March, late of Greenland, are advertised to be sold at auction to-day by Mr. Morse, on Market Square.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.
In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.
When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.
It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.
It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.
The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)
The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipment, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of
INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.
Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.
All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.
They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

COMMEMORATIVE ADDRESS

At the Funeral of Rev. T. H. Miller,

At Portsmouth, April 1st, 1876.

BY REV. A. J. PATTERSON.

"We have here no continuing city." The little child in its innocence, the old man in his weakness, and the strong man in his prime, are alike subject to the decree, "dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return." To-day the heart-beat is strong, and the step elastic and firm; to-morrow the manly form is laid low, and "the places that knew him shall know him no more forever."

A little while ago his promise of life seemed quite as sure as yours and mine. But he has reached the end of the journey. "The silver cord is loosed and the golden bowl broken," and we gather this afternoon around the altar where he worshipped, to meditate upon the mystery of life and death, to implore help and comfort from the Author of our being and the Giver of all blessings, to pay grateful tribute to his memory; to recall, though we may not recount, his many virtues, and then to bear this familiar form—the recent tenement of an immortal spirit, to the "city of silence," to mingle "ashes with ashes, dust with its kindred dust."

Tobias Ham Miller, the son of John and Ruth Miller, was born in the town of Portsmouth on the 10th of August, 1801. His father—a man of character and enterprise—died while Tobias was but a child, leaving the whole care of his mental and moral training to his mother. Being a woman of remarkable energy and piety, she discharged this important trust to her own credit and the welfare of her child. To her judicious care and counsel, he was indebted for the early planting of those seeds of moral integrity and Christian principle which ripened into such abundant fruitage in mature years. The most intimate and tender relations existed between them. She was a faithful mother, be a dutiful and obedient son. His helpful hand lightened her burdens, his cheerful, hopeful spirit, was a constant source of sunshine in her darkened home; and to the latest year of his life he remembered her, and spoke of her, with filial gratitude and affection.

In addition to the instruction received in the public schools of Portsmouth, he was the pupil of a private tutor by the name of Forrester, who had been educated in a Scotch University. But the rudiments only of his education were gained under instructors. He was emphatically self taught. Apprenticed to printing at thirteen years of age, he never attended school a day afterwards. Still he continued to be a gleaner in all fields of useful knowledge, and it is not too much to say that he became a riper scholar than many a man who has shared all the privileges of liberal culture. For he ever possessed a larger fund of general information. He has been called, and not inaptly, "a walking encyclopedia."

The first "printer's stick" was placed in his hand, and his first lessons in the "art of arts" were imparted by G. W. Bazin, now of Boston, who continued to be his life-long friend.

He soon became an expert at setting type, and was employed in the office of the Newburyport Herald, where he made the acquaintance of John G. Whittier and Wm. Lloyd Garrison. With Garrison he stood side by side at the printer's case, and a strong friendship sprang up between them.

Whether it was here that the young men acquired their love at liberty and their hatred of oppression, we do not know, but one thing is certain; they were among the first, as they have been among the most consistent and persistent workers, in the cause of human emancipation.

From Newburyport he went to Boston, and was employed for about two years, in the Printing House of "Wells and Lillie." Then returning to Portsmouth, he engaged in business as a Publisher and Bookseller. Though but twenty years of age, he soon built up a successful business. His House was one of the first in the state, including music as well as literature in its list of publications.

And here let me say that he was not only an enthusiastic lover of music, but for many years he was one of its representatives and patrons. You are all deeply indebted to him for the musical taste and talent of this city to-day, as to any man living or dead.

After two or three years, he gave up his store, and formed a co-partnership with the late Charles W. Brewster in the publication of the Portsmouth Journal. Never were two men better adapted to each other, in taste, temperament or character; and never were business relations more pleasant and harmonious. For more than twenty years they worked together, in one capacity or another, during all of which time there was not the slightest jar or misunderstanding between them. Each trusted the other implicity, nor was this trust ever betrayed. After their business relations were dissolved, their friendship remained unbroken; and when the Journal editor was carried to his rest, he had no truer mourner than his brother of the Chronicle.

He was also at different times during those years employed as editor of the N. H. Observer—a religious paper published in the interests of the Congregational Church; The Washingtonian, a spicy and influential Temperance Journal; The Carpet Bag, in writing for which he was associated with Benj. P. Shillaber; and The Teacher and Miscellany, a Universalist Magazine, intended for Sunday Schools and families. It was in the Carpet Bag I believe, that he first assumed the nom de plume of "Uncle Toby," under which he has ever since, from time to time, sent out these bright, keen, crystalline articles, which have been so extensively read and admired.

But we who are here to-day, and the people of this generation, are most familiar with him as an editor, through the columns of the Chronicle. From the time that paper was started—a period of nearly twenty years,—he has stood at his post, enriching its pages with his racy items, contributing almost daily to the instruction of his fellow citizens, and lending his influence to mould a healthy public sentiment, and help forward every genuine reform.

As a writer he was always clear and comprehensive, and sometimes even brilliant. No less a critic than Rev. M. Ballou, who was intimately associated with him in his best days, pronounced him the most ready writer he ever knew. When his pen touched a subject, it always let light fall upon it. With a stroke of its keen point he could sweep away the chaff of extremes and reveal the golden grain of truth. As a maker of newspaper items he had few equals and no superior. He was a sharp critic, but always kind and just. If a writer revealed real merit, or some manifested strong devotion to the right, no man could be more appreciative or generous. He do more to call forth his latent power. But if he appeared as the conceited advocate of some false or hurtful opinion, no man knew better how to probe the bubble, and leave its author in his confusion and shame.

When other journals engaged in their war of words, over some important or unimportant questions, he would remain silent until they had exhausted their arguments, and then with a few chosen sentences, he would dispel the mists of sophistry and reveal so clearly the golden thread of truth which lay between them, that they would be ashamed of their one-sided reasoning; and his summing up of the evidence was usually the end of the controversy.

These brief reviews, as Wiggleworth says of the epigram, were "like a bee—a thing of little size, with honey and a sting." He saw the truth almost by intuition. He was on the right side of every moral question. He had a fund of humor and good nature which threw a genial charm over all his writings. His extensive reading, and almost faultless memory, enabled him to give a ready answer to a great variety of questions, and to correct the mistakes of his less careful brethren. When he spoke, men believed almost as if he spoke by authority. They knew that he was honest and well informed, that he would not deceive them, and that he was not greatly liable to be deceived. Few men in New England have written so much for the public eye. Few men have written so little that they could wish to erase.

If he had served the public only as a journalist, his brethren and patrons, gathering around his sleeping dust, would say, "Well done, good and faithful servant," and the ascending spirit, entering the heavenly portal, would receive from its welcoming Lord the plaudit, "Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many; enter into the joy of thy Lord."

But it is not as an editor and writer only that he has left an honorable record in the world. Early in life, he became interested in religion, and sought until he found the "pearl of great price." Desiring to strike hands with his Christian brethren in Christian labor, he asked and received the fellowship of the North Congregational Church in this city. Young as he was, he soon became one of its most diligent and useful members. In the choir, in the conference and prayer meeting, and wherever he could be of service, his voice was heard. His zeal and devotion, coupled with his ability as a thinker and writer, soon marked him for a higher sphere of Christian usefulness. By the encouragement of his pastor, Rev. Dr. Putnam, he began a course of study preparatory to the Christian ministry.

While pursuing his studies with Dr. Putnam, he made the acquaintance of Mary Moses—a beautiful, pure hearted, cultivated girl, an inmate of the Doctor's family, whom he subsequently married. No union could have been more fortunate or more happy. The most perfect sympathy existed between them. She entered heartily into all his plans, and encouraged his aspirations. His reverence for her and his desire to do something worthy of her, was a constant incentive to noble endeavor.

For a period of some twenty years they walked hand in hand beneath the sunshine of domestic joy, a mutual blessing to each other. Children were given them, whom together they trained for usefulness and who revere alike to-day the memory of their father and mother. It is no discredit to him, neither is it the slightest reflection upon the companion who survives him,—to say that something of his heart, and much of his ambition were buried in her grave. I have heard him say that he never felt so strong as the brief sentence after she died. Thanks, O Father, for the assurance that their spirits are together now in heaven; that hand in hand they walk by life's pure water, and blend their voices in the joyful songs of the sanctified!

Soon after their marriage in 1826, he was ordained as pastor of the Congregational Church at Kittery Point, Me. During his ministry here, which extended through two years, and as the result of his exertions, the church edifice was erected. He was also instrumental in the building of the bridge across the Creek at Kittery Point. As a minister he was not satisfied with preaching well on Sunday. He interested himself in every enterprise connected with the material, moral and spiritual welfare of his people.

The church prospered under his administration. His ability and fidelity as a preacher and Biblical scholar were widely known and acknowledged, especially in N. H. The editorial chair of the Journal of his Church in that State was offered him and accepted. He was rising in influence day by day and year by year, when he changed his denomination affiliations because of a change in his theological opinions.

The steps leading to this change are worthy of mention. At a meeting of the Ministerial Conference to which he belonged (the Piscataqua Association, I think it was called) a brother was appointed to read an essay or preach a sermon in proof of the doctrine that this life is a "probationary state," and the time to come is to be a life of "retribution or of recompense." All supposed that this brother had an easy task before him, and that he would appear at the next quarterly session with his subject well supported by a "thus saith the Lord." To their surprise and disappointment, he appeared and reported himself as unprepared, asking for further time. His request was granted, and it was believed that another three months of meditation would enable him to do full justice to the subject. But when the time of meeting came round, he declined to preach the sermon at all.

Believing this doctrine all-important to the welfare of men, Mr. Miller administered a sharp rebuke to his recreant brother, and was himself appointed to the too long neglected service. He went home from the meeting, resolved that the next session should not find him unprepared. As he rode along, the sermon took shape in his mind, and his proof texts arranged themselves in the order in which, as he supposed, they would rivet the argument and make it unanswerable.

Reaching home, he went at once to his study, took down his Bible and Concordance, his Lexicons and Commentaries, and applied himself to the task of writing the sermon. But to his great surprise he found that the text which he had selected in his mind as an appropriate starting point, would not serve his purpose. When he examined it in its connections, its force as a proof-text seemed to disappear; and consulting the original he found that it would not do at all.

Still he was not discouraged. Though that passage failed him, he confidently believed that other texts would be plain and unmistakable. So he turned to and examined them, one after another; and as he read and thought and prayed, the impression grew upon him more and more, until it became a settled conviction, a sure anchor of hope and of joy—that the soul has but one life;—a life which, beginning here, leaps across the little channel of death and continues forever; that it is under the control of the same spiritual laws, now and always; that if we squander our opportunities in this infant school of earth, we shall sustain a loss in the higher school of heaven; that growth in grace is provided for eternity; that God will never build partition walls between himself and his immortal children; that his voice that sounds along the halls of time will sound through all eternity, "Son, give me thine heart," and that wherever, whenever, a prodigal es of sin and seeks the Father, that Father will come with outstretched arms to meet him and receive him to that blessed home, where there are "fullness of joys and pleasure forevermore."

Accepting this faith, he must proclaim it to the world. He could not "hide his light under a bushel." He felt that it was "the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Accordingly he withdrew from the Church of which he was an honored minister,—the popular Church of New England — and joined his fortunes with a sect which was "everywhere spoken against." He was willing, like his Master, and the early apostles, to "labor and suffer reproach, because he trusted in the living God, who is the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, especially of them that believe."

From that hour until he died, this confidence in God never forsook him. It was the greatest pleasure of his life to preach it to the world. Through summer heat and wintry cold he journeyed far and near, to tell men that they have a Friend and Father in God. In city congregation, in country church and school house, his message was received with great joy.

If people offered him material compensation he declined it with a thankful spirit. If they did not, he never complained. And it is an interesting fact, as indicating the respect in which he was held by his former brethren, that they never cast the slightest aspersion on his character or motives. They continued to respect him, and fellowship him as a Christian, and there is hardly an orthodox pulpit, within a score of miles, in which he has not stood since he became a Universalist.

There was no bigotry in his nature. He believed intensely, and was loyal to his convictions, but he recognized the right of all to their honest opinions. Speaking of sectarian bitterness he wrote, "I am certain it has been conquered in some individuals; therefore it may be in others; why should it not be in all. I am not conscious of possessing one particle of it; nor do I think much the better or the worse of any man for the name he bears. The Spirit of the Gospel is what we need, and what all sects need. Our doctrine, however, best agrees with that spirit. If our practice does not, we ought to amend the latter, and not desert the former."

A more unselfish man never lived. He was utterly destitute of the spirit of jealousy or envy. He could see a young man in the ministry, (who might well sit at his feet as Saul sat at the feet of Gamaliel,) stand in place and receive favor, while he was passed by unrecognized, and yet be that young man's best friend.

In the home Church, or at Conventions and Association, he was always ready to do any work assigned him, and to do it well. It may be said in truth of him that he never failed; that he never "rore to speak without having something to say." But if he was not invited to serve, he sat a happy guest at the spiritual table. Even if the fare was coarse and uninviting he was the last to complain. If there was any wheat among the chaff, he would find it and appropriate it.

A more sweet, genial, even tempered man, never lived. One who was associated with him in a printing office and elsewhere for many years, testifies that amid all its perplexities and discouragements he never heard from his lips a hasty or impatient word. I doubt whether there is a man, woman, or child in this city, where he passed his days, who ever saw him lose his self-control.

In the morning of life he espoused the cause of temperance, and has been one of its most earnest and consistent advocates. The cause of liberty also has shared the influence of his voice and pen. Years ago, when it cost a man something to take such a stand, he spoke and wrote against slavery, with courage and power. Soon after the "Proclamation of Emancipation" was issued by President Lincoln, as many of you will remember he repeated in this pulpit a sermon, which he wrote and preached nearly thirty years before, on the subject of slavery.

In this sermon he foretold the aggression of the slave power, its cruelty and crime—how the government would yield to its demands more and more, and the church would crouch and cower before it, and at length in an insane endeavor to conquer and control the continent. it would overreach and defeat its own wicked designs, and the Lord would destroy it, making it perhaps the instrument of its own destruction. "How this will come to pass," said the preacher, "I cannot foresee or foretell, but I hope to live long enough to see the fetters stricken from the limbs of every slave in America."

When that sermon was repeated, all pronounced its prophecy fulfilled. If anything was lacking in its fulfillment then, nothing is lacking now. He lived just long enough to see the Fifteenth Amendment become a part of the National Constitution. On the very day that President Grant issued his proclamation declaring it a part of the fundamental Law of the Land,—having seen the salvation of God, he departed in peace and was "gathered to his fathers,"

I will not break the silence of your sorrow by speaking of his domestic relations—of his tender, faithful and affection, and devoted care, as a husband and father. It is too sacred a subject to be marred to-day by any poor words of mine. You, my dear friends, his widow and children, will always thank God, and feel that you were highly favored among men, in being permitted to call him Husband, Father.

Gentle, true, brave, faithful, grand old man, he has filled up the measure of his days, and filled it well.

"Long standing in the Master's field,
Fed daily by his sun and dew,
Eager its best returns to yield,
To perfect symmetry it grew;
The storm swept over it in vain,
Nor frost could blight its noonday heat,
Till a fair shock of golden grain,
It stood in perfectness complete.
Fully ripe.

Men saw, and gave to God the praise,
Who smiled well pleased and passed it by,
Till in these later autumn days,
Its garner was prepared on high.
Then came the Reaper down at morn,
Softly as feathery snow-flakes come,
To gather in the golden corn,
And bear the precious burden home—
Fully ripe."

"Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace." His end was indeed peace. He was permitted to pass away with a brief sickness and with little pain. He knew from the first that the end was at hand. He could not have it otherwise. His children were about him. He asked his youngest daughter to play for him as she had been wont to do in the evenings gone by. She seated herself at the instrument and running her fingers along its keys, responded to her feelings in a sad and plaintive strain. When she had finished he said, "That is very well: but now play something bright and cheerful." She struck a lively melody, in which his spirit joined, making the house of death a place of cheerfulness and praise. His last message to any friend, except his parting words to those about him, was this to me, "My work is done! It is well! I am at peace! For we which have believed do enter into rest!"

"He sleeps well!" His eminently useful life is at an end.—At an end, did I say? No, not ended—only beginning—opening out into larger spheres of usefulness! His influence will remain. The example of his fruitful Christian service will remain. And the persistent force, the life principle, the immortal soul, has not died, does not die. "Man lives on, as the planets roll along the zones of heaven. Death is only a tremor, a ripple, a faint perturbation on the spirit's track." Aye, better than this, it is an unfolding, like the bursting life of the reviving year. We only die as the bud dies when the flower unfolds—as the egg dies when the prisoned bird breaks its shell and soars and sings.

He never knew until now what it is really to live! We who walk amid the burdens and disappointments of this world, not they who have crossed the river, are in the valley of the shadow of death.

And remember, O remember, that though this venerable form, upon whose casket loving hands have laid the cross and the crown, woven of rare exotics and the choicest native flowers, may be borne away to the silent city, and you may see his face and hear his voice no more, yet the real man that animated this clay tenement, and thought, and felt, and loved, cannot slumber there. "He is not here but is risen." All the problems that ever puzzled and perplexed him are made plain. He sees no longer as "through a glass darkly, but face to face." He can do the work of that higher sphere, without getting weary, without growing old.

And from those heavenly heights, he will watch over you, as friend and helper and comforter,—your guardian spirit still,—perhaps your guardian angel now, loving you more tenderly than when he walked by your side, and exercising an influence that will lift your hearts toward heaven. I love to think that the souls of our dear dead are nearer than we dream; that it is only a thin veil which hides them from our sight; a veil which though impervious to sense, is all transparent to the spirits sight.

And though you must walk alone for a little while yet the way will not be long. Even should we live to be old,—older than he was,—we shall soon reach the end of our journey. And will not that little way be brighter, now that his dear faithful feet have walked in it before you? Will you not bear with trust and patience all your burdens, feeling that they were appointed by one who knows how and where to lead his children, and who will cause afflictions to work out for you a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory?

Thou art the exercise of that faith which he preached to men, and that thrust in God which was crowning glory of his life, we shall be fitted to walk with steady step and build with faithful hand. And when one after another we shall come down to the shore of the river, and listen to its rippling waters, looking back, we shall see a path that budded and blossomed by our walking in it, and the veil will be lifted to our future gaze, and we shall see not the material but the more glorious and immortal form, of him whom we have known so intimately and loved so well, waited to welcome us to those celestial scenes where the sun never hides his face, where the flowers never fade nor the fruits decay, where "shall be no more death, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away."

"Then bow thy head, and God shall give thee
Bravely to do his will; [meekness,
So shall arise his glory in thy weakness;—
O struggling soul, be still
Dark clouds are his pavillion shining o'er thee;
Thy heart must recognize
The veiled Shekinah moving on before thee—
Too bright to meet thine eyes.

O! it is sweet to watch the world's night waning,
The Sabbath morn come on;
And sweet it were, the vineyard labor sharing,— Sweeter the labor is done
All finished; all the conflict and the sorrow;
Earth's dream of anguish o'er;
Deathless there dawns for thee a nightless morrow
On Eden's blissful shore.

Patience, then, patience! soon the pangs of dying
Shall all forgotten be;
And thou, through boundless years, rejoicing,
Beyond the jasper sea. [flying,
Shalt know hereafter where the Lord doth lead
And all his dealings trace, [thee;
And by those fountains where his love will feed
Behold Him face to face." [thee,

PACIFIC RAILROAD LAND GRANTS.—On the proposition to force through the House, without opportunity to have an amendment even read, the joint resolution which came from the Senate making a new grant of land to the Northern Pacific Railroad, and giving them the right to mortgage the lands which had heretofore been granted them, Mr. Ela made the following brief but sound speech:

I hope the House will not sustain the call for the previous question on this joint resolution without giving us an opportunity to look into it and see what is in it. Now, sir, what is this proposition? It is, practically, a proposition to enable this corporation to go into the money market of the world to borrow money with a mortgage upon forty-seven million acres of land, in competition with the government, which has nothing but the public faith of the people to guaranty it in what it may want to borrow, and that guaranty to be damaged by the chance of Democratic successes, if these plunder schemes are to be put through a Republican Congress.

Why, sir, it has not even the merit of being a bill for the protection and benefit of American labor. What is the demand for this hot haste? Is it to enable this corporation to scour the purlieus of Europe, for what? To get the scum of the population of Europe to be brought in here to compete with the farmers of the West, who, to-day, if we can believe the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. Burchard], cannot produce wheat except at a loss of $4.67 per acre on the average. Here is a proposition to mortgage to the money-holders of Europe a domain bigger than half a dozen of their small kingdoms for the purpose of bringing in the lower classes of their population to compete still further with the farmers of the West, and to depress them still further. It is practically a proposition also to bring in the vagrant hordes of Asia to build this road; a population not at all desirable, of alien blood, with an alien religion, and with alien views of government, and sure to become a source of weakness to our government.

And if the effort is to be mad to obtain money in our own money markets, where capital is scarce, with this mighty advantage over everybody else, it will make it harder for individuals and local and State governments, as well as the general government to obtain money for their purposes, and thus increase the burdens of the tax-payers. And is such a scheme as this to be driven through this House with only an hour of discussion, in order that these foreigners may be brought into our country; and for what purpose? Is there any occasion to develop this region of our country? Are not our crops now greater than we consume? And what other object can there be except to build up enormous fortunes for the money kings who hold the franchise?

HEALTH, AND MOTHER GOOSE.—Two books have been published by H. O. Houghton & Co. that go very well together, if one thinks of it. One is "Health by Good Living," by Dr. Hall, the editor of that witty journal "Hall's Journal of Health." Any one who reads the newspapers must have noticed the frequent paragraphs from that journal giving good sensible advice about dress, diet, warmth, and the like. Dr. Hall has brought into this book the cream of his long experience, and it is just what every household wants. Every household that has babies wants, also, that first of all books "Mother Goose's Melodies;" and here is a royal edition, fit for kings' houses, and so, fit for every American nobleman. If any one wants to laugh and grow fat, let him buy this splendid "Mother Goose." Buy the two books, and save all doctors' bills.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find the greatest more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a lose of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

TESTIMONY.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named T. B. Excell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such considerable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,
D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold:

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures by secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Incosed please find our rate o advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also legored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all the time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took water it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. I was sure for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be more of the kind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday. I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wants to see the stone, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time. so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. ROWARD,
Paper Maker, Burnside, Hartford County, Conn.

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
(Corner of 5th av. and 26th st., Central Park.)

(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant of A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a sensitive boy from the ridicule in Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from his weakness than from blows, be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping they may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had tried all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice after a thorough examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much better for the use of your Remedy. I kept on at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to delay, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

CHRONICLES OF OLD TIMES.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

The Portsmouth Privateers of 1812.

NUMBER SIXTEEN.

A friend has furnished some papers pertaining to the cruise of the privateer First Consul, (whose fancy name was the Bunker Hill,) which was mentioned in our Third Chapter.

The following is a copy of her Commission, and that of her captain and lieutenant. It is in the regular form of privateer commissions of that day. Very few of our readers, probably, have ever seen one.

(Copy.)

JAMES MADISON, President of the United States of America.

No. 174—

TO ALL WHO SHALL SEE THESE PRESENTS, GREETING.

BE IT KNOWN, That in pursuance of an Act of Congress, passed on the 29th day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, I have commissioned, and by these presents do commission, the private armed Sloop called the First Consul, of the burthen of 52 78-95ths tons, or thereabouts, owned by George Long and Thomas W. Penhallow, Merchants, & Hanson M. Hart, Ship Master, all of Portsmouth, N. Hampshire, mounting Two Swivels & Three carriage guns, and navigated by Forty men, hereby authorizing WILLIAM TULLOCK, Captain, and JOHN READING Jr., Lieutenant of the said Sloop First Consul, and the other officers and crew thereof to subdue, seize and take any armed or unarmed British vessel, public or private, which shall be found within the jurisdictional limits of the United States or elsewhere on the high seas, or within the waters of the British dominions, and such captured vessel, with her apparel, guns and appurtenances, and the goods and effects which shall be found on board the same, together with all the British persons and others who shall be found acting on board, to bring within some port in the United States; and also to retake any vessels, goods and effects of the people of the United States, which may have been captured by any British armed vessel, in order that proceedings may be had concerning such capture or recapture in due form of law, and as to right and justice shall appertain. The said WILLIAM TULLOCK is further authorized to detain, seize and take all vessels and effects, to whomsoever belonging, which shall be liable thereto according to the Law of Nations and the rights of the United States as a power at war, and to bring the same within some port of the United States in order that due proceedings may be had thereon. This commission to continue in force during the pleasure of the President of the United States for the time being.

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States of America, at the City of Washington, the twenty-second day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and of the Independence of the said States the thirty-seventh.

(Signed) JAMES MADISON.

JAMES MONROE, Secretary of State.

We have seen also the original Instructions of the Owners, to Capt. Tullock, signed T. W. Penhallow, Hanson M. Hart. And the Inventory of the Armament, Naval Stores, Steward's Stores, Provisions, &c., &c. Eben. Lord was Steward; and he still has his commission, and this inventory of his department. Only one prize was taken, and she was recaptured.

The Bunker Hill's armament was three 6-pounders, 2 swivels, 24 muskets, 20 pistols, 20 cutlasses, 20 boarding pikes, 15 tomahawks, 80 six-pound shot, 152 lbs. grape shot, 208 lbs. langrage, 259 lbs. powder, &c.

She carried 15 bbls. beef and 8 bbls. pork, to serve 40 men 70 days; 2500 lbs. bread, 5 bbls. rum, &c. The whole inventory goes to show that it was a costly undertaking to fit out even a small privateer.

Sailed, from this port, May 26, ship Ram-Dololl-Day, 420 tons, (formerly the British ship Falmouth.) Capt. Goodwin, for Calcutta.

June 15, sailed for New York and Calcutta, the elegant ship Criric, Capt. Humphreys, owned by James Sheafe Esq. The Criric was formerly the British ship Volunteer, captured by the unfortunate frigate Chesapeake, Captain Evans.

The elegant Baltimore built privateer schooner Macedonian, was sold on June 15, 1815, to Mr. Ellery, of Gloucester, for $7000. The same day the fortunate privateer Fox was sold to Mr. E. G. Parrott, for $2400; the new privateer Piscataqua was knocked off at $14 per ton.

This last was a great bargain.—The Fox is said, by those who remember her well, to have been a fast vessel: when carrying much sail, in anything of a heavy sea, it was necessary to batten down everything on deck,—for the schooner buried herself. This might be bad for wet feet, but then shot from a foe could not easily hit her hull when under water.

Bonaparte's final overthrow at Waterloo took place June 18, 1815, and the account of it was received here on the 4th of August.

The Oracle of May 5, contains the following item of ship news.

Friday, Aug. 4.—Arrived, the British ship Somerset, Rogers, 43 days from Portsmouth, England, via Boston, (prize to the Macedonian, of this port, lately released in England), with 10 pipes brandy, 118 do. wine, 100 bales barrilla, 26 sacks almonds, 20 qtls. cork, 37 boxes raisins, 667 bundles cane reeds, &c.

The prize seems to have been released by the British, because she was re-captured by them too late.

The Oracle of August 5 contains a libel of the British ship Somerset, by Capt. Townsend of the Macedonian;—and a petition to administer on the estate of Dr. Joseph Grecley of Greenland, who went out as surgeon of one of the missing privateers.

The prize ship Somerset, 220 tons, a fine vessel, was sold here, Sept. 7:—and on the 16th of December, a dividend of prize money for the crew of the Macedonian, was advertised, by Thomas A. Harris, Thomas Haven and Wm. Walker, agents.

On the 23d of December, 1815, the Overseers of the Poor, "in consequence of some additions to the Almshouse," advertise to bind out 25 children, 13 boys and 12 girls, to serve during their minority! By additions to the Almshouse, they do not mean more rooms, but more paupers;—and these were the product of the fire, the war, and especially of the loss of the privateers Mars and Portsmouth, and of the U. S. ship Wasp.

[Note.—This Chapter of "Chronicles of Old Times," the sixteenth and concluding one of the series, is also the last writing done by our late Uncle Toby, in the Chronicle office; and when stricken with what he felt was to be his last sickness, he evidently derived much satisfaction from reflecting that he had been able to finish all his work. The last sentence he ever penned was in reference to these articles on the Portsmouth Privateers—and may fittingly be introduced here, at the close of his latest work. It reads: "I have finished the Privateer Stories;—can point out the right one."—Ed.]

A LIVE MAN.—John Russell Young of the New York Standard is a thorough newspaper man. Dana of the Sun has been abusing him for a year past without mercy. Mr. Young bore it all patiently and without replying to the scandalous assaults of the Sun. Now, Mr. Young has started the Standard, and it has a rapidly increasing circulation. Dana pitched in strong against Mr. Young when the Standard first appeared and Young demolished him with a reply that delighted all who despise the mean tactics adopted by the proprietor of the Sun.

Good for Young, and good enough for Dana. The Standard is a wide awake sheet, ably conducted, newer prosy, and is on the road to success. Long life to it and its enterprising manager, and the opposite condition to disgraceful journals and disgraceful journalism generally.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Wear and Tear of Business Life.

The cares and labors of business life are apt to tell severely upon the health and constitution of the ardent, energetic business man, and when the need of some sustaining agent is felt, stimulants that cause only a temporary exhilaration, and leave the system in a state of partial collapse when their first effect has passed off, are too often resorted to. As certainly as night follows day, a residuum of ashes, the use of the adulterated liquors of commerce produces premature exhaustion and decay. Touch lightly, then, the fragrant and the overtaxed vital machinery with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

In that wholesome elixir, the alcoholic element which is the purest derivable from any source, is tempered by the choicest tonic, aperient, anti-bilious and anti-febrific vegetable extracts and juices. To strengthen, recruit, solace and purify the system is the mission of the great vegetable specific. When the stomach is in a healthy condition, the bile flows regularly, the bowels perform their office properly, and the telegraphic fibres of the nervous system are in perfect working order, an enormous amount of labor can be borne without risk or inconvenience, and the direct effect of the Bitters is to promote this vigorous condition of the functions upon which the nourishment of the body, and its power of endurance mainly depends.

The great tonic and alterative is, therefore, emphatically recommended for its remarkable strengthening properties, to all upon whom the responsibilities of life press heavily, and who feel like fainting under the burthen. A lively appetite, a splendid digestion, elastic spirits, and a marvellous ability to withstand fatigue, are among the blessings justly ascribed to the renovating operation of this palatable and powerful cordial, and as a spring and summer alterative, there is nothing in the materia medica that can be compared with it.

PAIN KILLER.

Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors, 1840. PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1870.

Time tests the Merits of all Things.

FOR THIRTY YEARS!

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

This valuable Family Medicine has been widely and favorably known in our own and foreign countries, upwards of

THIRTY YEARS!

It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest.

It is an External and Internal Remedy. For Summer Complaint, or any other form of bowel disease in children or adults, it is an almost certain cure, and has without doubt, been more successful in curing the various kinds of CHOLERA than any other known remedy, or the most skillful physician. In India, Africa and China, where this dreadful disease is more or less prevalent, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as European residents in those climates, a sure remedy; and while it is a most efficient remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in unskillful hands.

Directions accompany each bottle.

Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 3, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease, as a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup where my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Koscisko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says; "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is not equal to the head of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye as PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Cottage House at Auction—M. T. Betton & Co.
Relinquishing Business—Wingate N. Ilsley.
Concord Monitor—Ind. Press Association.
House for Sale—William H. Hackett.

☞ John Stokell & Co. were the successful bidders for the yoke of cattle offered for sale at the Navy Yard, Saturday. Their bid was $385.

☞ We understand that Hon. Joseph B. Adams of this city has been tendered the position of Assistant U. S. Marshal for taking the census of Portsmouth, Rye and Newcastle.

☞ The Internal Revenue tax-payers are requested to call at the Custom House on Friday and Saturday, May 20-21, and settle with Collector Young their taxes, duties, etc., due the Government. See advertisement.

☞ John H. Smith of East Boston has missed a team since April 15th. Godfrey Noble and Chas. E. Laskey had it. City Marshal Johnson of this city has since traced it to Cape Neddick, where Mr. Albree Norton had swapped teams with the thieves. Mr. Smith has recovered his team, but the thieves are still at large.

HARLOW'S MARINE BAND serenaded Rear Admirals Thacher and Winslow, Commodore Parrott, Ex-Gov. Goodwin, Judge Daniel Clark, Mayor Adams and others, Friday night. The weather was fine, the moon had on its best quality of shine and several hundred listeners followed the musicians about town until near midnight.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors :—Can you, or any of your solvers of difficult problems, explain the following fact? If you catch a large codfish and cut off his head, his body will continue to flap around and wiggle so that the splitter cannot operate with his knife at all; but if you now strike the disseverd head a smart rap, the body will instantly become quiet. NEWCASTLE.

[Note.—Our correspondent, who is a gentleman of intelligence and education, assures us that the above mentioned peculiarity is a fact. We cannot explain it, and give up our chance to our correspondents.—Eds. Chron.]

☞ The Journal goes in strong for improving the outside of the City (Market) Building. So does the Chronicle, and one of the publishers, several weeks since, offered a resolution in the Aldermen, suggesting such a move; but the Journal's candidate for Mayor opposed it, and being on the finance committee, succeeded in killing it, although we think a majority of the Board really favor it.

Our report of Thursday evening's action of the Aldermen was not exactly correct. Ald. Nowell did not oppose the Stone Crusher, and favored the appropriation for larger water supplies for fires.

☞ The Carriages of Mr. Clement March were sold at auction by Mr. Morse, on Market Square, Saturday, by order of Receiver Wm. B. Small. The coach, formerly Daniel Webster's in Washington, and built in New York and presented to him by his friends in that city about 1850—a heavy plain, substantial carriage, crimson lined, and in good order, brought $86; Stoddard & Beacham were the purchasers. A six-seated French coupe, open, built by Goisnard of Paris, was bought by Leonard Cotton, for $85. A dog cart, built by Wood Brothers, of New York, was taken by Mr. Geo. W. Hunt, of Suncook for $72; and a four-spring carryall by Mr. Balch of Rye, at $125.

☞ A beautiful specimen of boat-building, in the shape of a racing outrigger, was put on the cars in this city on Friday, en route for Portland. She was built by Staples & Brothers of So. Eliot, Me., of Spanish cedar, so nicely jointed that a careful scrutiny is necessary to discover a seam, is exquisitely polished, and altogether a beautiful piece of workmanship. She is 45 1-2 feet long, 18 inches wide and 8 inches deep, with "planking" 1-8 of an inch in thickness; and is for four oars, with no coxswain. She has been purchased by the Una Boat Club of Portland, for $250; and if she pulls nearly as well as she looks, the Unas will be hard to beat on a four-oared race. Her weight is 133 pounds.

Since the above was in type, we learn that the boat was badly stove, while on a car at the depot awaiting transportation, by a base ball, which passed thro' her thin planking, injuring her greatly.

The Prussian Reichstag ratified the supplementary postal treaty between the United States and the North German Confederation.

General J. J. Urquiza, Dictator of the Argentine Republic, has been assassinated at Buenos Ayres.

☞ In the U. S. Senate, Friday, the subject of paying female clerks at the Departments the same rate as men receive, being under consideration, Mr. Cragin of New Hampshire said that he knew it took considerable courage to oppose the amendment, but he knew as a result of personal observation that the females in the departments could not compete with the males. The former were absent on account of sickness two days for every one of the latter.

A NEW BOUNTY BILL.—The new bounty bill passed by the House early in February has been favorably reported in the Senate. It gives the same bounty to the heirs of soldiers who enlisted for one year and died or were killed in the service as is now given to two-years' soldiers. Claims may be presented at any time. It further gives $100 bounty to all soldiers who enlisted between May 4, 1861 and July 22, 1861, who were honorably discharged or mustered out.

PENSIONS.—The U. S. House of Representatives passed a bill on Thursday defining the duties of pension agents and prescribing the mode of paying the pension. It requires the pension agents to prepare quarterly vouchers for pensions, and direct the same to their post-office address, to be executed and returned to the agency, on the receipt of which, properly executed checks for the amount of the pension are to be transmitted to the pensioners by mail; pensions to be payable in March, June, September and December.

Two inches of snow fell in Lancaster between sunset the 11th and sunrise the following day. Telegraph wires were broken down.

The late Catholic Church Fair at City Hall, Dover, netted the handsome sum of $1800. Work, which has been suspended all winter, will be resumed at an early day. The windows will be put in and the spire run up, which from its height (200 feet) will be a landmark for miles around. Rev. Father Drummond deserves great credit for the energy displayed in the erection of the new Cathedral.

AQUEOUS.—The Waterbury American says, We would state that the windows of Heaven were distended, yesterday, and poured out upon this mundane sphere unlimited quantities of the aqueous element, divaricating itself in all directions, compelling bipeds and quadrupeds to seek umbraciform shelter." Poor fellow!

Several people have perished by the fires raging in the mountains of New York.

Lent's Circus, advertised to exhibit on Middle Street the 20th, come with a reputation well earned, and their former exhibition here before a critical audience will be an assurance that this establishment avoid all disreputable things in word or act. A prominent feature of Lent's is their new, finely carved Golden Chariot, recently built at an expense of eight thousand dollars, drawn by twenty-four gaily caparisoned horses, containing Prof. Boswold's Brass and Reed Band, of New York, uninformed in the style worn by the French Imperial Cent Garde, each costume costing three hundred dollars.

The outside pageant will be worthy of a more than passing notice. The features inside the tent are promised to be of the best and most chaste, and the accommodation of "seats for all," will be much to the comfort of all those who shall attend.

It is a feast to an epicure to dine at the Rockingham House under the catering of Messrs. G. W. & J. S. Pierce. "In season and out of season" is their motto.

Rev. J. Herbert Senter, formerly of this city, is now Assistant Librarian at Howard University.

OUR ADVICE.—Don't buy goods of hawkers and peddlers, when you can buy of our own storekeepers, who sell just as low.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of
INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

Morning Chronicle.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—The House judiciary committee has agreed on an important bill regulating the mode of determining the ratification of amendments to the federal Constitution. It is based on the one introduced by Mr. Bingham. The first section makes it the duty of State executives to forward certificates of ratification to the State Department, where it shall be put on file. The second section declares that after a certificate of ratification has been given it shall be unlawful for any State officer to certify any repeal unless Congress shall have proposed a repeal, and if such certificate of repeal is received the State Department shall make no record of the same, but it shall be void and of no effect. The third section declares that after three-fourths of the States have ratified any am e person attempting to repeal it either by color of State law or ordinance shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and on conviction be subject to fine and imprisonment.

The Senate district committee reported a prohibition liquor act for the District of Columbia. It is in eleven very stringent sections, and forbids the sale or gift of intoxicating liquors in any form except by a druggist, and then only for medicinal, chemical, and mechanical purposes. Violation is to be punished by a fine and imprisonment. Habitual drunkards are to be treated as vagrants or insane persons. Keepers of tippling houses are to be severely punished by fine or imprisonment. The wife and children of any person made intoxicated shall have cause of action for damages against one who furnishes liquors. Fines and costs under the act are to be a lien on both the real and personal estate of persons convicted.

Action on the Kearsarge bill from the House naval committee was defeated by the opposition of two or three members of the House when unanimous consent was required, and Mr. Hale, who had it in charge withdrew it so that it might be perfect and kept in control. It recognizes the claims of the officers and men of the Kearsarge to $190,000, the estimated value of the Alabama, and deducts $80,000 that they receive under the general prize bounty law.

New Hampshire Items.

The Laconia Democrat says that Hon. S. M. Wheeler of Dover has a pair of matched horses so near alike that but few can "tell t'other from which." They were raised in Gilmanton. Mr. W. has refused $2000 for them.

The Manchester Union says: A sheep belonging to Mr. Jonathan Foss of Barnstead recently gave birth to four male lambs, weighing in the aggregate, about 22 pounds. They were all lively and hopeful at last accounts.

Concord don't seem to be a safe place to live in. If you don't get burnt up, you may be robbed.

The town of Hancock is out of debt, and has a surplus in the treasurer's hands, consequently only $300 will be raised the present year by taxation to defray current expenses. The rate of taxation is $1 on a $100.

The Indian who stole the $400 from his brethren at Great Falls has been caught. He was taken in charge by the crew, but how they punished him is not known.

In Newport, a man engaged in plowing in a field owned by Francis Boardman, Esq., came upon a well about fourteen feet deep, with considerable water in it. The two horses drawing the plough stepped upon the cover of the well, which, being rotten, gave way and both horses went in, one on top of the other. The heads of both remained out of water and in about an hour and a half both horses were extricated by means of digging and ropes. They are now in excellent condition and as good as new.

THE ARMY BILL.—It is not at all possible to tell yet in what shape the army bill will go to the President. The Senate has provided that, after July of next year, the army shall be reduced to thirty thousand men; that the pay of officers shall stand as it does at present, and that officers on the retired list, like General Sickles at Madrid, General Badeau at London, and General Fessenden at Portland, shall not hold civil office. The House bill and the Senate bill will now go to a committee of conference.

MUSICAL,

The advertisement of the Portsmouth Philharmonic Society will remind our readers of an elaborate musical entertainment such as should merit our generous attention. Of classical music, such as Mozart's Twelfth Mass presents, we have have had too little, and it will be a relief to listen to a chorus of over fifty voices of our own talent in the rendering of such sacred and elevating music as this. Our privilege of attending several rehearsals of this Society the past winter "makes assurance doubly sure" that their rendition will be good. The talent, of the Orchestra is the best introduction we have ever had for accompanying music, and their performance will not be the least of the feast, we predict. Dr. Wilcox is the organist of New England, and while he will use the new and superb organ of the Middle street church in unison with the chorus and orchestra, he will also render several of his own compositions including "The Thunder Storm," an imitation, for grandeur and effectiveness, alone worthy double the price of admission.

For the zeal manifested by the Philharmonic Society, let us show our demonstrativeness by our readiness to open our purses, for it will serve to command the continuance of this our only musical organization for another season.

As a theme which will be interesting to our readers, we append carefully prepared selections from the pen of John S. Dwight, the musical critic, which gives a comprehensive idea of this great work :

The music of this Mass has latterly commanded much attention among musical circles, outside of the Roman Church.

The Mass is commonly written in four voice parts with alternations of solo, quartette, and chorus passages. And each voice part, as well as the air, has a movement and melody of its own, maintaining a clear individuality, at the same time that all are woven into a complex and harmonious unity according to the profound fugue principle which more or less runs through all art, hinted at when not strictly followed. There is abundant alternation of sentiment in this Mass; it modulates through all the important shades of devout emotions, while the impression of the ensemble is a predominating cheerfulness,—without which it could not be the voice of any true religion. The grave and solemn supplication of the opening Kyrie eleison (Lord have mercy;) the triumphant Gloria in Excelcis, subdued to heart-felt, quiet thankfulness in the Gratias agimus, shaded for a time by the Miserere and Qui tollis, but sparkling into sunshine again in the Quoniam; the august Cum Sancto Spiritu, wrought frequently into an elaborate fugue: this for introduction. Then the middle portion, which is the "heart" of this great "mystery," consisting of, first the cheerful, honest, hurried, narrative style of the Credo; next the deep, dark, mysterious, awe and pity-moving harmonies of the Et incarnatus est and the Crucifixus; and finally the sudden deliverance and contrast of the Resurrexit, leaping forth in rapturous joy and freedom. To this add another solemn choral pause, the Sanctus; then the stately, gentle, spring-like Benedictus; the profound tenderness of the Agnus Dei; and the happy child-like dismissal hymn of Dona nobis pacem; and is not here enough, when it is all made alive and glowing with the recreative warmth of music, to constitute a complete act of worship in itself?

It opens in G major, and is commonly called the Mass in G, although a majority of its movements are in the next related and most central, that is to say, the natural key—the complete noon-day sun-shine of the key of C. A single firm bass voice commences the Kyrie eleison, when a single tenor begins repeating the same notes. Soon a soprano and alto pour in their sweet floods to swell the strain.

The orchestral accompaniments brighten and become more varied as the full choir adds its weight to the quartette; and the parts go on, now blending in rich chords, now echoing each other's sudden thoughts of melody, until there is a regular canonic, and the key-note, and a momentary suspension of the voices. The instruments however keep on, modulating into the Dominant, when presently again a single base begins with the Christe eleison (Christ have mercy!) and is joined as before by the tenor, and then by the upper parts of the quartette. The Christe closes on the chord of D, the instruments adding at the same time the Dominant Seventh, whereby the original key-note is brought back, and with it a repetition of the Kyrie in the same plainer and severer strain in which it was first given out.

Now in quick, yet steady time goes up the Gloria in excelsis (Glory to God in the highest,) in full chorus, climbing through the common chord intervals of the key of C.

The great choir resigns to the quartette the gentle ejaculations : Laudamus—benedicimus—adoramus—glorificamus ("we praise thee we bless thee," &c.) and the subdued devotion of the Gratias agimus (we give thanks) which sinks awhile into the serious minor ("most sorrowful mode, most melancholy!") ; when the whole vocal sea breaks in again with the "Lord God, Father Omnipotent," for a triumphal close.

In the earnest, deep adagio of the Qui tollis peccata mundi (Who takest away the sins of the world), and the Miserere, in C minor, the plaintive voices slowly and painfully lift their long chromatic waves of harmony.

Forth springs the sprightly Quoniam. This is in G. And now comes the grand finale to this anterior portion of the Mass, the elaborate Amen fugue : Cum Sancto Spiritu. All the voices are consolidated at first upon the massive chord of C, and give the words out once in simultaneous adagio movement. Then the basses start off with the swift theme or subject of the fugue; the tenors follow, then the alti and soprani, and all these weave a perfect unitary Whole.

The expression in this Amen Chorus, is as of wave after wave of being, pouring in to swell the ocean of triumphs of God.

In the third and last division of the Mass we have the grave and solemn Sanctus, in full chorus, as of a kneeling multitude, which is incontinently followed by the loud clarion peals of the Hosanna in Excelsis! And then that most exquisite introductory symphony—almost overture—to the Benedictus qui venit, (blessed is he who cometh,) with its innocent, blithe pastoral warble of reed instruments, is played in the key of F, which is always like a soothing walk with nature. This is the most elaborate and ornate portion of the Mass, excepting of course the fugue before described.

The Mass closes with the Agnus Dei, whose beauty and tenderness are perhaps the most profound of all, by silence; and the whole floats gracefully and lovingly away in the fresh, buoyant, simple strain of the Dona Nobis Pacem, (grant us peace!)

In this Mass of Mozart, is all the bold confidence and child-like innocence of spontaneous declaration of trust in Infinite Good

A RAILROAD INCIDENT.—The Citizen, published at Phelps, Ontario County, N. Y., contains the following railroad incident in which Judge Folger, senator from Geneva, played a prominent and characteristic part. It says:—

Police officer Hiram Peck relates the following incident as having happened a short time since, while he was returning from Michigan with a prisoner. Starting out of Detroit on the Toledo road, the cars were very much crowded. Just in front of them were two well-dressed young women, who had seats facing each other, and were seated in one of them, and two-bandboxes in the other. At the first station an old lady came in, and passing by looked wistfully at the band-boxes, but, not receiving any encouragement to sit down, she passed on. Upon ascertaining that it was the only seat in the car but what had two persons in it, she went back to the women and asked them if the seat was engaged. She was answered that "it was." Every one else in the car knew they fibbed. A solid-built, dignified, smart-looking man just opposite spoke to the women and said:

"The old lady appears infirm, and if you would move your boxes along a little she could sit down beside them."

"We give you to understand, sir," was the tart reply, "this seat is engaged."

Very deliberately the gentleman got up and gave his seat to the old lady, and then turning around, coolly set the boxes on the floor aisle, and occupied the seat himself, facing the women, slipped his spectacles over his nose, and resumed his morning paper. The manner in which he did it (though he said nothing) completely awed the women, though they looked mad enough to annihilate him.

At Station No. 2, officer Peck said, "Judge, how do you like your seat?"

"Very well, indeed, very well."

When the train arrived at Toledo, the end of the road, several of the passengers asked Peck if he knew who that gentleman was.

"Yes," said he, "that is Charles J. Folger, of Geneva, N. Y., and he is now and has been for a long time a State Senator from that district."

They almost all said, "well, I'll bet he is a good one."

THE SENATORSHIP.—We occasionally hear from Concord through some of the Boston newspapers, of the formation of formidable combinations for the defeat of Senator Cragin. How much of this may be true, and how much the creation of the correspondent's imagination, we have not the means of knowing; but this we think we do know: that, however much politicans may combine, the people are not, and will not be a party to any such combination.

So far as we have been able to learn by inquiry, it is the fixed desire and determination of the great majority of the Republican party of this State, that Senator Cragin shall be his own successor, that, having served faithfully, and with credit to himself and the State one term, he shall not—as if he had proved unfaithful, and incapable—be denied the customary honor of a second term. From this view of the case we do not know a dissenter in this County, either among the representatives, or the people, and we shall be much surprised, if, when the Legislature assembles, it is not clearly found, that the justice of his claim is recognized by a very large majority of its members.

During his whole term he has been faithful in the discharge of every duty, has made no mistakes, has in all respects acted with great prudence and discretion, and has gained an honorable position in the Senate. For the last forty years, whether under Democratic or Republican ascendancy in this State, the instance cannot be found in which a re-election has been denied to a Senator who had served one term.—Keene Sentinel.

NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN.—The "Veteran Observer" of the New York Times does not believe in the much talked of political degeneracy of the present age. He says:

I will give some examples of how upright and excellent Legislatures were in what a recent writer considers a heroic age. Sixty years ago the whole Legislature of Georgia was bribed! This was in the celebrated case of the "Yazoo Claims." The fact was so notorious that the people took the records of the Legislature and burnt them on the green at Milledgeville! It will be rather hard for the negro Legislature to get beyond that; so we may leave the South. Nearly half a century ago, there was an investigation in the New York Legislature, which showed that twenty members, more or less, had been corrupted in the matter of certain bank and insurance companies. I cannot refer to names and dates without the papers of the day, but anybody can find out who is curious about the matter. In 1836—thirty-four years ago—it cost the Bank of the United States four million dollars to be rechartered, as the Pennsylvanin Bank of the United States, by a Democratic Legislature. Those were the days of Democratic purity! of Democratic honesty!

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting three eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder disease, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the ripe age of four score years, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably act on my constitution as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel that I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases in which such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Induced please find our rate o advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but now sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, all so liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and found I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently) When I would I seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and stopped up again! It slide or the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. The stone was securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are at liberty to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time. I remain, yours ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
(Corner of 5th av. and 76th st, Central Park.)
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily mortification experienced of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron or Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from Wrong, be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly self, to say that, in thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Supt and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have tried various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. I was this time prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertized that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, I gave it a fair trial of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about two months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and I determined to wait a letter, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and the public authoritatively.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

MANDRAKE
is the great Vegetable substitute for Calomel, to Act on the LIVER.
IN FREEMAN'S MANDRAKE SYRUP it is combined with Iron and Vegetable Tonics, and forms the most perfect Spring Medicine.
It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it.
It acts on the Liver and removes foul humors from the body.
It is a most excellent remedy for debility, especially for mothers who are down by nursing infants, and for all persons whose blood is poor, and who need iron and a strengthening medicine.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvelous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been rendered curable in great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unsuspected agent of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infections throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Obstructions, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to this medicine. Also, Dropsy, Liver Complaint, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the retaining poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Impotent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic or Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

NEIGHBORHOOD.

CONCORD RAILROAD.—The twenty-ninth Annual Report for the year ending March 31, states the total receipts at $855,322.15, and the expenses $536,051.33; balance of receipts over expenses $319,270.82.

The Report further states that there are on the books in the office of the Superintendent, accounts of funds heretofore set aside from earnings for contingencies which have not arisen to require the use of them and therefore the funds now remain on hand for the benefit of the Road. To them is also to be added the balance of earnings of the Manchester & North Weare Railroad, after proper deductions to be made therefrom. All these make the sum $48,554.97; no part of which is included in the trial balance of the Treasurer.

After some explanations of the accounts and a detail of the improvements made during the year, the Report says of the Suncook road:

A lease of the Suncook Valley Railroad has been taken by this Road, in connection with the Manchester & Lawrence Railroad, in accordance with the contract mentioned in our report of last year. The lease is for the term of forty-two years from January 1st, 1870, at an annual rent of $14,400, being six per cent. on the cost of the road over the contributions.

The Report then alludes to the conductor suit, and closes as follows:

In their Annual Report at the close of the year last of their management of the Road, in 1867, the present Directors thus stated the principles by which they intended to be governed in their conduct of its affairs: "The Directors recognize the rights of the public to as low fares and freights over the Road as careful management and reasonable dividends to the stockholders will allow. * * * It is hoped that the business of the Road will be such as to allow of further reductions of rates, and they will be made whenever the business will warrant."

They have not regarded it as inconsistent with such a course, that the stockholders should receive the highest rate of dividend allowed by law; and the same has therefore been paid to them. It is true that the yearly statement of receipts and expenses, since that time, have shown some excess of receipts over expenses and dividends, at the close of each year; but it will be observed that most of that surplus has been appropriated and applied for the necessities and improvements of the Road, to the accommodation and benefit of the public as well as of the Corporation itself.

Besides, successive reductions or fares have been made, as from time to time the business of the Road has warranted. The rate of those reductions will be indicated by the change in fares from Concord to Boston; from $2.60 in 1866, to $2.00 as now established. The saving to the public by the recent reductions of fares and freights, is estimated at over $22,500 per annum; but it is probable that some portion of the reduction will be compensated to the Road by an increase of business.

It has been suggested that from the assets of the Road on hand, by issue of new stock, or in some other way, extra dividends can be paid to the stockholders to make the dividends of the years prior to 1867, up to ten per cent. But your Directors have been clearly of the opinion that such a course would be most impolitic, even if it were legal. The public would understand that, in whatever way such a result might be accomplished, the burden must ultimately fall on it. And it would be a violation of the intention, if not of the letter, of the law.

The Directors assume that what the stockholders of the Road desire in the management of their property, is the security of the investment, and the rate of dividend on it which the law allows. And with those, we presume that the stockholders will be fully satisfied. With these views the Directors have recently made a business arrangement with the Northern Railroad, which they believe will prove highly advantageous to the public and yet at the same time fully secure the interests of the stockholders of this Road in all the respects we have mentioned.

The contract between the two Corporations, on the subject, provides, in substance, for the operation of their roads in connection, under the same Superintendent acting as the agent of each and both parties, and subject to the direction of the Boards of Directors of the two Roads in concurrence. From the net receipts is to be taken sufficient to pay semi-annual dividends of five per cent., free of all taxes, to the stockholders of this Road; and the balance is to be taken by the Northern Road, for its share. The passenger and freight tariffs recently established by this Road are made a part of the contract, to guard against any future changes to increase the charges on its business. This arrangement is to continue for the term of five years from April 15, 1870.

The provisions of the contract ensure the maintenance of all the property of this Road, during the continuance of the term; and the return of it, at the expiration of the time; in undiminished good condition and value. And the dividends at the rate mentioned, are placed beyond any contingency. We are confident that the operation of this arrangement will prove advantageous to the parties and to the public. It will enable the Roads to provide better accommodations and at less expense, than are practicable in any other way.

A copy of the contract is appended to the Report, and it is stated therein that "this agreement shall be construed as a business contract solely, and not in any respect as a lease of one road to another; and each party retains to itself its uncorporate capacities. The business of the joint management shall be carried on under the name of the Concord and Northern Railroads."

☞ The Keene Sentinel, Claremont Advocate, Claremont Eagle, Dover Enquirer, Portsmouth Chronicle, N. H. Gazette, Lebanon Free Press, and Amherst Cabinet, have declared for the re-election of Senator Cragin. The Independent Democrat, and Daily Monitor do not expressly commit themselves, but the tone of their comments is decidedly in the same direction. None of Mr. Cragin's competitors has the support of more than one paper, at his own place of residence. This is a very good indication of the popular current.

☞ The result of the plebiscium disappoints all parties in France. The republicans and others of the opposition are surprised by the number of affirmative votes, for they expected not more than 5,000,000 or 6,000,000; but though saddened, they are not discouraged. The large affirmative vote in Paris was also unexpected. But on the other hand the great number who voted "no" in the army equally surprises and alarms the Emperor.

By the Emperor personally, the failure to get 8,000,000 votes is felt as a still greater blow, for if the army abandons him all is lost. Its vote was managed with the greatest care. No soldier was allowed to attend a political meeting — the army voting in barracks, the colonels presiding. Every man's vote is known. An opposition vote puts a black mark against his name, stops promotion, and is surely followed by punishment. Nevertheless, out of fewer than 300,000 votes there are 40,000 "noes." The navy gives 5000 "noes," 23,000 "yeas". Some regiments give an actual majority of "noes." It is reported that two regiments at Vincennes, following Rochefort's advice, refused to vote.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Wear and Tear of Business Life.

The cares and labors of business life are apt to tell severely upon the health and constitution of the ardent, energetic business man, and when the need of some sustaining agent is felt, stimulants that cause only a temporary exhilaration, and leave the system in a state of partial collapse when their first effect has passed off, are too often resorted to. As certainly as fire leaves behind it a residuum of ashes, the use of the adulterated liquors of commerce produces premature exhaustion and decay. Touch them not. Tone and regulate the overtaxed vital machinery with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

In that wholesome elixir, the alcoholic element which is the purest derivable from any source, is tempered by the choicest tonic, aperient, antibilious and anti-febrile vegetable extracts and juices. To strengthen, recruit, solace and purify the system is the mission of the great vegetable specific. When the stomach is in a healthy condition, the bile flows regularly, the bowels perform their office properly, and the telegraphic fibres of the nervous system are in perfect working order, an enormous amount of labor can be borne without risk or inconvenience, and the direct effect of the Bitters is to promote this vigorous condition of the functions upon which the nourishment of the body, and its power of endurance mainly depend.

The great tonic and alterative is, therefore, emphatically recommended for its remarkable strengthening properties, to all upon whom the responsibilities of life press heavily, and who feel like fainting under the burthen. A lively appetite, a splendid digestion, elastic spirits and a marvelous ability to withstand fatigue, are among the blessings justly ascribed to the renovating operation of this palatable and powerful cordial, and as a spring and summer alterative, there is nothing in the materia medica that can be compared with it.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

This valuable Family Medicine has been widely and favorably known in our own and foreign countries, upwards of

THIRTY YEARS!

It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest.

It is an External and Internal Remedy. For Summer Complaint, or any other form of bowel disease in children or adults, it is an almost certain cure, and has without doubt, been more successful in curing the various kinds of CHOLERA than any other known remedy, or the most skilful physician. In India, Africa and China, where this dreadful disease is more or less prevalent, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as European residents in those climates, as sure remedy; and while it is a most efficient remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in unskillful hands.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and I can state if it was but per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Koscinsko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice which has unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

as PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT.

For Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan.

USE "PERRY'S MOTH & FRECKLE LOTION." The only Reliable and Harmless Remedy known to Science for removing brown discolorations from the Face. Prepared only by Dr. B. C. PERRY, 49 Bond St., N. Y. Sold by Druggists everywhere. 1mdawm

PROPOSALS FOR BUILDING A SCHOOLHOUSE.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the City Clerk's Office of the City of Portsmouth, until Thursday, the nineteenth day of May next, at 6 o'clock, P. M., for that part of the PORTSMOUTH CITY FARM, being 70 acr s, which lies westerly of Creek street.

A Plan of the land may be seen at the Mayor's Office, and bids will be received for either of the five fields on said plan, or for the whole.

The City Council reserves the right to receive or reject any bid.

Portsmouth, April 27, 1870.

GEO. W. PENDEXTER,
Chairman for Com. on City Land and Buildings.

CITY ORDINANCE.

AN ORDINANCE authorizing the Sale of a part of the City Farm.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth, as follows:

SEC. 1. That the Committee on City Lands and Buildings are hereby authorized to advertise for bids for that portion of the City Farm which lies westerly of Creek St., offering the same in lots of Ten Acres or more as in their judgment they may think for the best interest of the City; said bids to be opened before a convention of the City Council on the Nineteenth day of May next; said Board reserving the right to accept or reject any or all of said bids or a part or all of said portion of the City Farms; they may fix terms of payment as they think best.

SEC. 2nd. The Mayor is hereby authorized for and in behalf of the City to sell and convey the said portion of the City Farm or any part thereof, giving a Warrantee deed in the name of the City whenever arrangements therefor shall be completed by the Committee named in the preceding section; he shall receive all money paid for the same, and shall pay said money to the City Treasurer for the use of the City.

Passed April 21st, 1870.

A True copy, attest, ap28 MARCELLUS BUFFORD, City Clerk.

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

U. S. INTERNAL REVENUE.

THE undersigned, Collector of the First Collection District, in the State of New-Hampshire, hereby gives notice to all persons concerned in the

that he has received for collection the Ninth Annual Collection List within said District, made and committed to him by the Assessor thereof, in accordance with the Act of Congress entitled "An act to provide internal revenue to support the Government and to pay interest on the public debt," approved July 13, 1862, and the acts in amendment of, or supplementary thereto; that the several duties, taxes and special taxes, assessed, enumerated and contained in said Ninth Annual Collection List, are due and payable before the 30th day of May, 1870; and that the undersigned, Collector for said District, personally or by deputy, will attend, for the purpose of collecting and receiving the aforesaid duties, taxes and special taxes, assessed and payable within said county of Rockingham, at the places within said County, and at the times designated, as follows:

At NEWMARKET, at the Newmarket Bank, Thursday, the 19th, from 10 o'clock A. M. to 4 P. M. for Fourth Division.

At PORTSMOUTH, at the Custom House, Friday and Saturday, May 20th and 21st, from 10 o'clock A. M. to 4 P. M., for First Division.

At EXETER, at the Squamscott House, Monday and Tuesday, May 23d and 24th, from 10 o'clock A. M. to 4 P. M., for Second and Third Divisions.

☞ Payment may be made to the Collector, at his office in Dover, from the 25th to the 29th of May.

Notice is also hereby given that all persons who shall neglect to pay the duties and taxes assessed upon them as aforesaid to said Collector or Deputy Collector within the time above specified, will be liable, under the provisions of the Act of Congress aforesaid, to pay 20 cents additional, and those who neglect to pay within 10 days from May 30th, 1870, will be required to pay five per cent. additional upon the amount thereof.

☞ The News Letter asks why don't the B. & M. Railroad make a business arrangement with the Eastern, or vice versa, and then lower fares and freights? We answer, because the B. & M. won't do it.

☞ A correspondent writes us from Gloucester, that at an entertainment at Pigeon Cove Chapel, two evenings last week, consisting of singing, speaking and tableaux,—Mrs. Chase of Kittery sang very nicely, a song, "Put me in my little bed."

☞ A man-o'-war sailor, in a beastly (?) state of intoxication, who had stripped off part of his clothing to whip some one or any one, Sunday noon, on High street, was taken care of by some of the Police, and lodged in the Station House to sober off.

PISCATAQUA AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY. At the Annual Meeting, Saturday evening, at the National Hotel, the following Officers were elected for the coming year: President, Frank Jones; Trustees, H. R. Stoddard, M. Eldredge, H. L. Scott; Secretary, C. H. Hayes; Treasurer, C. B. Mason. Adjourned to May 28th, at same place, at half past 7.

☞ Miss Mary C. Rogers, of the North Parish, has given the Society the fine lot of land recently purchased by her on Middle Street, for the erection of a vestry, provided the sum of $8000 shall be raised for the purpose within two months. This will doubtless be forthcoming, as a large portion of the funds are already guaranteed. It is designed to erect a building of brick, two stories; including the usual modern accommodations for social gatherings, &c.

☞ The Concord Statesman don't see any advantage in hurrying to pay off the State debt. Neither do we, nor the city debts either. Don't let them grow any larger; pay the interest, and a little of the principal, each year; but what is the necessity of taxing the people so heavily to pay these liabilities? The National debt is somewhat different, being at a higher rate of interest, and large enough to be an element of danger in various ways; but even this, posterity may well help to pay.

THE PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY met on Monday evening with full numbers, and had a most successful rehearsal of Mozart's Mass, which they are to bring out in Concert, Thursday evening. Of the success of the Concert in a pecuniary sense there is no doubt—all those who heard Wilcox's "Thunder Storm" on a previous occasion, or have listened to the Orchestra and Chorus of the Society at their meetings during the winter, will attend—and will be well repaid for their attendance.

☞ The "New York Circus," L. B. Lent, director, stands A 1, in the estimation of the public; therefore everybody and all their friends who like such shows will go to see it, next Friday, in this city. The names of Lent as manager and Joe Pentland as clown, have a rich old smack to them; the pictures on the posters look like the former ring tournaments; and the absence of side-shows will be a blessing. If they would only drive out the howling peddlers of lemonade and songs, and other trash, the audience could enjoy the sights in peace and quiet.

☞ The statement going the rounds of the papers, that B. P. Shillaber has consented to deliver the Poem at the joint Convention of the Maine and New Hampshire Editors and Publishers' Associations, at Rye Beach, July 8th and 9th next, was unauthorized.

It was voted last year, that Mr. Blaine of Maine, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and a practical printer and editor, be invited to deliver the Address; and Mr. Shillaber the Poem, on the coming occasion—and it is hoped both gentlemen will be able to do so. But it is uncertain when Congress will adjourn; and we regret to hear that Mr. Shillaber has been quite unwell for several weeks, though we hope he will recover his health speedily. Neither can it be told whether the New Hampshire Legislature will adjourn in season for the N. H. editors to attend the meeting on the days named—though this is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

The Convention will be held near Portsmouth. Messrs. Job Jenness & Son of the Ocean House at Rye Beach, have invited the meeting there, on the most complimentary conditions; and Messrs. Laighton of the Appledore House at the Shoals are of course ready to hold all to enjoy themselves

New Hampshire Items.

David Hall of Centre Harbor, on Tuesday last, while engaged in yoking oxen, was thrown down, trampled upon and kicked in the head. He remained insensible until he died.

The News Letter asks what about the Exeter Railway? It is now over two months since the town of Exeter voted to subscribe $50,000 in aid of that Railway, to connect Amesbury and Newburyport with Epping, thereby giving it another route to Boston and lower fares and transportation, it was supposed. Besides, we hoped Exeter would get coal, corn and flour cheaper. We then understood, at the annual town meeting, that ground for the new road was to be broken as soon as the frost was "out." Since then we have scarcely heard of the project, excepting on the street. Now we ask, "is this railroad to be built or commenced this season?" The question is of some importance to Exeter and to towns lying along the line of the railroad.

The Great Falls Cornet Band is counted among the dead. The Cocheco Band of Dover are having a fine, tasty uniform of blue tricot made. It will become them well and will cost upwards of $400.

Charles W. Rand Esq. of Littleton, is announced as a candidate for the bench of the Supreme Judicial Court, to fill the vacancy soon to be made by the retirement of Judge Nesmith.

—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 237 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 437 miles.
In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.
When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.
It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.
It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.
The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)
The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Com.any, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of
INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.
Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
Price 90 and accrued interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.
All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peal, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls lasting in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Chemical Paint weighs 30 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 19 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

On Wednesday night, a riotous demonstration took place, in Exeter, in which the notorious "Mike" Prescott prominently figured. After the disturbance, "Mike" went his way with hasty steps, flourishing an open razor, and threatening to do execution with the keen-edged weapon, upon the following crowd and passers-by. Chief of Police Brown and Officer Tasker soon made his arrest. Prescott was arraigned on two separate charges, — assault, and assault with intent to kill. He was held in $800 to appear at Oct. Term, S. J. Court, and in default of bail was ordered to be commited to the jail at Portsmouth.

At Brentwood about noon, on Friday last, the dwelling-house of Mrs. Benj. Sinclair took fire on the roof, and would have been entirely destroyed but for the active efforts of citizens.

A dispatch from Concord recently stated that Gen. Butler had been offered a retainer to act as counsel for the Concord Railroad ring. To this statement a flat contradiction was reported in behalf of the ring. But the Patriot states that Gen. Butler himself, writes that he has "engaged to act for the stockholders who feel themselves aggrieved" by the contract with the Northern Railroad.

Mr. Wm. Page, an employee of the B. & M. Railroad, and a resident of Exeter, struck his head against a bridge in Newmarket, while climbing upon a box car, as the train was moving slowly. He was considerably, though not seriously injured.

The New Hampshire Medical Society will hold its annual meeting at Concord, June 21 and 22. This society is one of the oldest medical societies in the United States.

By official count of votes it seems that Charles T. Cram, the Democratic and Labor Reform candidate for Senator for the 4th district, lacked twenty-six votes of an election. Reuben L. French, the Republican candidate, will undoubtedly be chosen by the Legislator.

On Monday the house and barn of John Noble, in Epping, was totally consumed by fire, together with all the furniture, &c., belonging to the families of John Noble the elder, and John J. Noble his son. Loss, from three to five thousand dollars, insured for twenty-two hundred.

Hon. H. D. Walker, the President of the Board of Trustees, and Joseph Kidder, the Secretary, have made an examination of the accounts of the absconding Superintendent of the State Reform School. They found that the accounts had been very loosely kept; but they were still unable to find any misappropriation of the funds belonging to the institution. In overhauling the accounts, Messrs. Kidder and Walker found unpaid bills to the amount of $2,000 more than they had been led to expect by the statements of Mr. Jones. Mr. Jones gave bonds in the sum of $2000, and this will amply meet all possible deficiencies in his accounts, so that the State cannot suffer in any contingency.

It is suggested that one of the leading features of the forthcoming 4th of July celebration at Dover, should be a friendly contest between the five different varieties of mowing machines, each of which has an agent in that city. It would bring out the farmers far and near, and already a suitable field has been selected for the trial should the idea come to a head.

About one hundred sporting men from Great Falls and Dover, assembled Wednesday, to witness a fight between two game fowls, but the parties from Dover backed out and the affair ended in a fizzle.

Something of unusual note occurred on Sunday last. The bars in Great Falls were all closed, and no liquors were sold throughout the day. All the saloons and restaurants were closed at an early hour Saturday night, pursuant to instructions from the town authorities.

Edwin Bennett, of Newmarket, has a calf which at twelve months old girts 4 feet and 10 inches, and weighs 567 lbs. It is a cross of the Durham and Devon. Sam'l Goodwin, of Dover, Washington St., thus far carries off the palm on the calf question regarding size, having one, native stock, 10 months old, girting 4 feet 8 inches.

Mr. Caleb Tirrell, of Nashua, recently started from home accompanied by his son, in a wagon, behind which they were leading two colts. Before proceeding far the wagon was shattered by lightning, and Mr. Tirrell and his son thrown to the ground, the latter beneath the horse. Neither were injured.

Deputy Sheriff John N. Brown, in company with the city Marshal of Dover, arrested at South Hampton, Charles Seavey, on a charge of committing adultery with the wife of Frank E. Smith of Haverhill, Mass. The woman is in custody at Dover. Smith, the News Letter understands, made the complaint and ordered the arrest.

Mrs. John Mason of Chichester, who attempted to strangle her husband in his sleep, claimed to be in a fit of somnambulism at the time of the attempt, but was arrested, and all proceedings have been dropped on condition that the woman clears out and keeps away, and Mrs. M. has left the place. She is a woman of small mental capacity and moral sentiment, and is reported to have been somewhat loose in her conduct. The attempt was lightly thought of at first, but now appears to have been a serious matter.

The most notorious of the parties who attempted to rob the Bank, at Rockland, Me., was John W. Rand, who was born and raised with several brothers on the edge of Northfield or Sanbornton. He is said to have become quite wealthy, and at present certainly looks as if prosperous financially, weighing full two hundred and fifty pounds. The morning of the robbery, Rand drove to Belfast, by steam he hired, and took the boat for Portland. At this point officers set out to arrest him, but were bluffed by Jack's energetic threats of prosecution. Once let go, he was lost to official vision. The other robbers were captured.

Leading citizens of Dover, at the instance of the Mayor and the city authorities, met to take steps relative to the proposed reception of Hon. John P. Hale, who is expected home about the first week in June. It is hoped he will be able to address his friends in the City Hall on the evening of his arrival, thus enabling all, both at home and from abroad, to hear him and to shake him by the hand.

Dover is going to fund $120,000 of the city debt at 6 per cent. Bonds are to be issued in sums of five and ten thousand dollars, payable to bearer twenty years from date. These are to be sold at the highest price attainable, but not below 97 1-2 per cent.

The next meeting of the N. H. Unitarian Association will be at East Wilton, the 22d of June

WAITING FOR PA.

Three little forms in the twilight gray,
Scanning the shadows across the way;
Six little eyes—four black, two blue—
Brimful of love, and happiness too,
Watching for Pa.

May, with her placid and thoughtful brow,
Gentle face beaming with smiles just now;
Willie, the rogue, so loving and gay,
Stealing sly kisses from sister May,
Watching for Pa.

Nellie, with ringlets of sunny hue,
Cozily nestled between the two,
Pressing her cheek to the window pane,
Wishing the absent home again,
Watching for Pa.

O, how they gaze at the passers by;
"He's coming at last," gayly they cry;
"Try again, my pets," exclaims mamma.
And Nellie adds: "There's the twilight star
—Watching for Pa."

Jack nods and smiles as, with busy feet
He lights the lamps of their quiet street;
That sweet little group he knows full well,
May and Willie, with golden-haired Nell,
Watching for Pa.

Soon joyous shouts from the window-seat,
And eager patter of childish feet,
Gay musical chimes ring thro' the hall,
A manly voice responds to the call,
"Welcome, Papa!"

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

KITTERY, ME., May 16.

Some time ago it was proposed to adorn the hall of the G. A. R. in this town, with likenesses of all those from Kittery who lost their lives in the national service during the late rebellion. This proposition has been carried into effect by the citizens and the surviving comrades of the patriotic dead, and large photographs of nearly all those named below, in oval, black frames, with the name, rank, and date and place of death handsomely written under each one's picture, now hang in Armory Hall. As will be seen, Kittery contributed her share of blood towards washing out slavery and preserving our country. Likenesses of all but two of those in the following list have been obtained:

Oren W. Lowell, Daniel B. Bunker, Hiram B. Phillips, Charles W. Peckham, Daniel H. Hussey, Edward G. Parker, Manning Watson, Jonathan Goodsoe, John Webbe, Oliver T. Stimson, Francis Love, John Q. Locke, Geo. W. Remick, Chas. N. Billings, Chas. E. Witham, Henry Bond, Thos. Hubbard, George Manson, Howard J. Marden, Samuel L. Fernald, Wm. H. Neal, sergeant, Augustus P. Batland, sergeant, Isaac O. Parker, orderly sergeant—twenty-three in all.

Gettysburg, Spotsylvania and Burnside's Mine were the places most fatal to our men. Most of the slain were in the 17th, 27th and 32nd Maine Regiments; but one (Francis Love) was in the 42nd Mass., John Webbe was on board the Cumberland frigate when she was destroyed (had a leg shot off before she went down), Oliver F. Stimson was acting fleet carpenter at New Orleans at the time of his death, and Samuel L. Fernald was in the 2nd Minnesota Regiment.

Of Mr. Love there is no portrait in existence; but a frame similar to the others, with his war record written therein, hangs with the others in the hall. Mr. Fernald was out gunning at the West when the rebellion broke out, and instantly responded to the call for volunteers; and although he could have had a discharge at any time, for disability, he refused to take it, and served till his death, in July, 1862. Mr. E. G. Parker was I think brevetted lieutenant, and was one of the bravest of our country's defenders — generous to a fault, and loved by all who knew him. He was killed at Spotsylvania. His comrades regret that they have been unable to procure his likeness. Mr. John Q. Locke was a good soldier and comrade, but utterly reckless in his indifference to danger; he also fell at Spotsylvania.

Our town has one of the most ancient records in the country, I think, judging from the date, which is 1665. In it is the Declaration of Independence, and other things of much interest. And we have a most efficient and gentlemanly Town Clerk in Calvin L. Hayes Esq., who at the late election received the high and deserved compliment of a unanimous vote for the position. K. M.

—The Bath Times says that a married lady, residing in Alton, that State, who is in her seventeenth year, recently gave birth to her fourth child.

—It is an interesting sight to see a young lady with both hands in soft dough, and a mosquito on the end of her nose.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
OR
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, the blood purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from debility, and from the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

TESTIMONY.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold:

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from our system, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicine cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,
D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER

is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold:

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not hesitate to say any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicine will or would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.

August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Incosed please find our rate o advertising. Yours, T. I. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.

TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live. I have spent sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours at a time, and water would pass every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, all sorts of liquored medicines, but found no relief in any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about. I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt badly, but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind to discontinue taking, and I made up my mind the time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a tremendous pain across my back and all this

THE NAVY.—The New York Herald of the 16th has an article on the petty meanness of a class of U. S. Senators who know but little of naval affairs and take every opportunity to belittle the navy of their country. It says there is "a gleam of satisfaction that such men as Cole, Warner, Cragin, Drake, Anthony and Nye are on the ground, ready to stand by the navy and expose the ignorance of those who attempt to depreciate it. * * *

How much better it would be for the country if our legislators would do something to build up our navy, and let the United States rank, as it should do, among the foremost nations of the earth. They would be placed in a humiliating position if we should suddenly be involved in a controversy with England, which may happen at any moment."

CONGRESS. — On Monday, in the House, Mr. Schenck introduced a bill providing for a reduction of internal revenue taxation to the amount of nearly $34,000,000. A resolution instructing the reconstruction committee to bring in a general amnesty bill failed of adoption.

A CYNIC'S VIEW OF THE CASE.—McFarland has been acquitted—Of what? Of murder? No. What then? Of insanity, bless you! For look you now: This jury, which brought in a verdict of Not Guilty, pure and simple, did, in sober verity, acquit Daniel McFarland of the charge—call it the plea!—of being crazy. A mad world, my masters!

But who is to acquit the jury? Your charitable public, to be sure. And on what ground? The ground of insanity, you blockhead. Ah! but Public Opinion's a trifle insane, too; and what is to acquit Public Opinion? A mad world, my masters!

Now, let us construe this verdict. Daniel McFarland, not guilty; Albert D. Richardson, guilty. Guilty? Yes, brethren, guilty of being shot. But oh, ye generous vulgar, why condemn the dead? Why was he not, too, insane? And good Mr. Greeley, and pious parson Beecher, and wondrous Lucia Gilbert Runkle; what! no plea for them? Marry, not even the plea of insanity. A mad, mad world, my masters!

Verily, men and brethren, there is a crime of justice. Yea, an insanity of crime and a crime of insanity. Yea, all crime hath its madness. All madness hath now its verdict. Murder is insanity, forsooth, deprived of its ropecure, and there be no longer locks and bars for Bedlamites. A mad, mad world, my masters!—N. Y. Standard.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

ENCOURAGE YOUR OWN.—Portsmouth is not generally considered a very go-ahead city—in fact, many people think and say that the natural advantages which this place possesses for an extended trade, are most unaccountably neglected. This is in part true, no doubt. Take away Nowell's Shoe and Came Brothers' Carriage Manufactories, and the Kearsarge Mill, and Portsmouth could not be deemed a manufacturing centre; no collisions ever occur from the over-crowding of our magnificent harbor with big ships; nor have any editorial free passes yet been granted over the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad. But there is one enterprise which employs a large proportion of our young men, and is followed up with a praiseworthy energy and perseverance which puts Portsmouth ahead of most other cities in that particular line--I refer to Street Loafing.

One reason that so many of our young men engage in this branch of industry, is the very small amount of capital required to start with; it being only necessary that a man (or boy) should have an intellect of such limited calibre that its highest aspirations may be satisfied by the possessor standing on a sidewalk for a few hours, gaping at passers-by, and a total want of all manly self-respect, to enable him to set up at once as a Street Loafer in good and regular standing.

But though the requirements are so moderate for street loafing mediocrity, considerable talent and many accomplishments are indispensable to him who would rise to eminence in the profession. It is necessary that he should be able to grunt like a hog with defective lungs, or utter an idiotic cackle, whenever a well-dressed man or modest-appearing woman passes by; he must thoroughly understand the art of insulting people with safety to himself, by talking at them and to some creature as contemptible as himself; he must be able to distinguish at a glance between the quiet, inoffensive citizen or unprotected, friendless girl, and the man who will fight or the woman with influential friends; he must think it "smart" to crimson a woman's cheek by a disgusting double entendre; he must know every abandoned woman in town by sight, be personally acquainted with most of them, and consider it an honor to be favored with their public notice; he must be fully impressed with the great truth that sidewalks are made to loaf on, and not for foot-paths; he must be an able swearer, skillful in the use of slang, and able to whistle "Shoo Fly." It to these accomplishments he adds ability to smoke cheap cigars and drink goodly quantities of inferior benzine, he may aspire to the highest honors in the gift of his fellow-loafers.

Street Loafers may be divided into two great classes—each one meaner than the other; the Curb-Stone Guards, who stand on the outer edge of the sidewalk, facing inwards; and the Sidewalk Brigade, which occupies all that portion not required by the Curb-Stone division. In our city, the two classes generally meet about the middle of the sidewalk, so that it is hard to tell them apart, usually. There is still a third class in this organization, to which I shall refer in another place—the Stonewall Rangers.

It should be a source of honest pride to us, that our city produces so much of this kind of talent. Let any citizen walk around in our public streets (he will most likely have to walk in the streets, for our home talent monopolizes the sidewalks,) on a pleasant evening, and if what he sees does not make him feel proud that he belongs here, then he has no latent vanity in his bosom. Let him start at the Rockingham Bank, (where he will find a strong outpost of the Brigade,) pass along through the double and triple lines of loafers on the walks, the extra clusters of them on Gerrish's, Lowd's and Thacher's corners, the swarm which occupies both sides from Thacher's corner down to Congress and Bell Tavern Blocks,—go around the impenetrable mob that extends from the latter point to Fleet Street, through the witty creatures whose stand is between the Franklin House and Vaughan Street—then cross to the other side, pass by the double picket in front of Carter's, and back past the grand resting-place of wearied loafers, the North Church steps,—and see if he does not join me in boasting of the proud preeminence of Portsmouth for the number, insolence and meanness of her Street Loafers. If he still has doubts, let him look around on Sunday, just after the churches are dismissed, and remark the unerring instinct with which the loafers congregate near the benzine dispensaries which they patronize during the week; or down the South Road later in the day, and watch the Stone-Wall Rangers lolling about the graveyard boundary, leering at every woman that passes, and grossly insulting every person they dare to. [These stone-wall reptiles are about the meanest of the species—utterly useless except for funerals, and not worth much even for that purpose.] Then let him return over the South Mill-bridge, taking care to keep exactly in the middle of the bridge, so as to escape all the tobacco juice possible—and by the time he is safe at home, he will be ready to join me in maintaining the superiority of Portsmouth Street Loafers over all others.

There is but one place where I have ever beep, that can claim to come any where near our city as a producer and fosterer of street-loafing talent. I will not name the town, but will merely say that it is farther off than the Maine end of Portsmouth Bridge, and not so far off as the Navy Yard Bridge. I happened to be over there one Sunday afternoon, and what I saw there forced me to give up my vain notion that Portsmouth is very far ahead of all the world for the meanness of her loafers—tho' I am sure that no place can quite come up to us, yet.

Thirty or forty young men, and some old enough to have a sense of decency, organized themselves into two classes, just as they do here,—one lot on the outer edge of the sidewalk, the others in next the buildings. Each one had in his hand a willow switch or cane, with a spiral strip of bark removed, to make the stick look like a barber's pole; all but one wore caps or low hats—the odd one had arrived at the dignity of a bell-topper, sometimes called a nail-keg or stove-pipe. Every time a woman approached, on her way to church, there was a chorus of "Clear the sidewalk," and the two divisions would separate, leaving a loafer-fenced lane through which she must pass, or go back. The disgust and indignation of the insulted women seemed to afford great amusement to the witty creatures who thus outraged common decency; but what gave them the most evident delight was the chivalrous daring of a youth with a straw hat on,—one of the Curb Stoners—who boldly leaned forward just as three young girls were running the gauntlet, and heroically puffed cigar-smoke in their faces. After this intrepid act he sauntered off up street,—and I lighted my pipe, and mused on how confoundedly mean and contemptible human beings can be when they try,—taking the Street Loafer for a text and as an example.

Now, I much fear that unless our Portsmouth Street Loafers are encouraged, the other town I have referred to will some day have as despicable a crew of them as we shall then have; and I would propose to the City Government that the City Marshal be instructed to prepare lists of the names of the most eminent and noted of that fraternity for publication, that they may receive all the honors to which they are entitled. SUIT TO RECOVER DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF THE ONEIDA URGED.—The British government suggests to Minister Motley the propriety of the United States government commencing at once a suit against the Peninsular and Oriental Mail Steamship Company for damages arising out of the sinking of the United States war steamer Oneida by that company's steamer Bombay. The case to be tried before the courts in London, and the United States to be represented by its own consul. This case will attract great attention, and much interest is felt in the matter already, as upon the result of the prosecution depend a large number of cases to be brought against the company by the friends or relatives of the officers and crew of the Oneida, who lost their lives by the collision and sinking of the vessel. It is also stated that the survivors will claim damages, and that in the event of the success of the suit by the United States government against the company, who are reputed to be very wealthy, an enormous sum of money will have to be paid over by them, and it is thought the company will be beaten in every suit of the kind brought against them.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Wear and Tear of Business Life.

The cares and labors of business life are apt to tell severely upon the health and constitution of the ardent, energetic business man, and when the need of some sustaining agent is felt, stimulants that cause only a temporary exhilaration, and leave the system in a state of partial collapse when their first effect has passed off, are too often resorted to. As certainly as fire leaves behind it a residuum of ashes, the use of the adulterated liquors of commerce induces premature exhaustion and decay. Touch them not. Tone and regulate the overtaxed vital machinery with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

In that wholesome cordial, the alcoholic element which is the purest derivable from any source, is tempered by the choicest tonic, aperient, anti-bilious and anti-febrific vegetable extracts and juices. To strengthen, recruit, solace and purify the system is the mission of the great vegetable specific. When the stomach is in a healthy condition, the bile flows regularly, the bowels perform their office properly, and the telegraphic fibres of the nervous system are in perfect working order, an enormous amount of labor can be borne without risk or inconvenience, and the direct effect of the Bitters is to promote this vigorous condition of the functions upon which the nourishment of the body, and its power of endurance mainly depend.

The great tonic and alterative is, therefore, emphatically recommended for its remarkable strengthening properties, to all upon whom the responsibilities of life press heavily, and who feel like fainting under the burthen. A lively appetite, a splendid digestion, elastic spirits, and a marvellous ability to withstand fatigue, are among the blessings justly ascribed to the restoring operation of this palatable and powerful cordial, and as a spring and summer alterative, there is nothing in the materia medica that can be compared with it.

☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜
PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

This valuable Family Medicine has been widely and favorably known in our own and foreign countries, upwards of

THIRTY YEARS!

It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest.

It is an External and Internal Remedy. For Summer Complaint, or any other form of bowel disease in children or adults, it is an almost certain cure, and has without doubt, been more successful in curing the various kinds of CHOLERA than any other known remedy, or the most skillful physician. In India, Africa and China, where this dreadful disease is more or less prevalent, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as European residents in those climates, a sure remedy; and while it is a most efficient remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in unskillful hands.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from pain and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those nasters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WCOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that I possess very valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

A Column of Varieties on the 1st page, from the Advertising Agency, Dauchy & Co., New York. Wanted—A Farm.

☞ Three advertisements for Naval Supplies, with an error or two corrected from previous issues, will be found on our 4th page this morning.

☞ Gray and Sullivan, charged with stealing from U. S. S. Plymouth at the Navy Yard, were discharged on Monday by Commissioner Hackett.

P. M. L. A.—A full attendance is requested at a special meeting of the Mercantile Library Association this (Wednesday) evening at 8 o'clock.

☞ Dr. Gilbert, of the Daniel Street Wholesale Fruit Store, is now absent on his annual trip to New Jersey and Pennsylvania, to arrange for his summer and fall supplies of strawberries, peaches, &c. at the lowest rates. He has now oranges, pine-apples, &c., &c.

THE CONCERT of the Philharmonic Society, assisted by Dr. Wilcox and Cushing's Orchestra, comes off to-morrow (Thursday) evening; and from the general interest manifested and the number of tickets already disposed of, we make no question of its being a pecuniary success for the Society, as well as rich musical feast for the public. Joy, Preston and Thacher have the tickets for sale—and they can be procured at the door on the evening of the Concert.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—On Monday, Geo. H. Hubbard of Manchester was put on trial for selling boxes of cigars not stamped. There were two indictments and the defendant was acquitted on both.

On Tuesday, Wm. N. Hanscom plead nolo contendre to an indictment for stealing a letter from the Post Office in this city. On a second indictment he plead not guilty. The principal witness for the prosecution failed to elim inate anything of importance in his testimony, and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. Marston and Frink for Def't.

DEATH OF A FORMER RESIDENT OF PORTSMOUTH.—We notice the death, in Boston, Thursday, May 12, of Mr. Moses Piper, at the advanced age of 75. He resided in this city for many years, and will be remembered by our old citizens as a just and upright man in all the relations of life. Mr. Piper married a daughter of the late Benjamin Carter, who survives him. He also leaves five sons and two daughters, all of whom fill useful and honorable positions in society. A good man and a true christian has fallen in the fulness of his years, like a shock of corn fully ripe. It can be truly said of him:

"Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep,
From which none ever wake to weep."

LENT'S NEW YORK CIRCUS has added to its numerous attractions the largest and most talented band of musicians that has ever before been engaged with a circus. The horsemanship, in which Melville, the great bareback rider with his infant son Alexander, and the renowned Caroline Rolland and Robert Stickney, are the distinguishing features, is very superior. The outfit is entirely new, and the performances are characterized for an elegance of style and pleasing variety seldom witnessed in similar institutions. The permanent locality of this troupe seven months in the year is at Fourteenth street, New York, at which place many from this section of country have doubtless seen their exhibition.

COWS.—If it were not for Poundkeeper Shillaber and his backers, loose cows would be almost as plenty in our streets as dogs are. Captain Bob impounded several stray bovines last week; and some folks think the unlicensed and untaxed canines would bear thinning out a little more.

And what a queer idea of a highway a man must have, to suppose his cow has a right to feed in the road, even with a boy watching her. He has got just as much right to build a house there, as to tie a horse or feed a cow. The highway is sacred for the purposes of travel only; and furthermore no true gentleman, in city or country, will turn cattle loose to prey upon the public and devastate his neighbors' premises. Neither has any man except a road surveyor, a right to dig turf out of a road, or dump rubbish into it, even at the sides thereof.

If poverty be the plea, in any case, persons who cannot afford to pasture a cow cannot afford to keep one. We are frequently told by friends in the country that they are pestered by stray cows, but the sufferers lack the pluck and determination to enforce the law. For our part, we would about as soon endure a loose lion as a cow. It is full bad enough for cows to be kept in a city at all.

THE REFORM SCHOOL.—Hon. Horton D. Walker of this city and Joseph Kidder, Esq., of Manchester investigated the accounts of the absconding Superintendent of the State Reform School, Isaac H. Jones, on Tuesday, and although they do not feel authorized to charge Mr. Jones with defalcation, find reasons to judge that there is a deficiency of $2800 in his accounts. This amount may be lessened by future revelations. In some cases Mr. Jones had settled bills but left no vouchers for them and advanced money on accounts without charging the amounts

The Trustees have appointed Mr. Edward Ingham of Springfield, Vermont, to the vacancy. Mr. Ingham was a former resident of New Hampshire, is an enterprising farmer, and well educated. He will take charge about May 25th. In the meanwhile, Mr. F. A. Dodge of Concord is temporarily in charge. The Institution will not suffer by the changes.

THE CONCORD RAILROAD.—Hon. Edmund Burke, on the ring side of the controversy, having written a letter for the Boston Post, Judge Minot, the President of the Concord Road, made reply thereto; which last we copy this morning, and as in the rejoinder, the character and charges of Mr. Burke's article are sufficiently indicated, there is no need that we print that to a full understanding of the matter.

☞ Our item, Tuesday, respecting printers' Convention, should have included mention of Messrs. Peirce of the Sagamore House, proffering their hospitality on the occasion. We wrote it, but the type-setter omitted a line or two. There is no doubt but if the spacious Rockingham House was completed, the whole party would rendezvous there.

☞ The lumber composing the hull of the ship New Era, launched at East Boston on Thursday, was bent by machinery—a great improvement, which had its origin or has been brought into practical service, through the efforts of Charles A. Browne, Esq., of Boston.

A TELEGRAPHIC FEAT.—R. C. Duncan, chief operator of the Western Union Telegraph Company in New Orleans, yesterday sent a message through nine repeaters, one at Rome, Ga., one at Lynchburg, Va., one at New York city, one at Chicago, one at Pittsburg, two at Cincinnati, one at St. Louis, and one at Memphis, the writing returning to New Orleans almost as clearly as when leaving the office, having passed through eighteen States and 4800 miles of wire and electric current, traversing the distance in about three-quarters of a second. The writing was translated as rapidly as on ordinary short wires. Plaister Cove was also in direct connection and worked finely.

BASE BALL.—Both the Harvard and Lowell base ball clubs will take a tour in July. The Harvards will occupy nearly a month, in which they will visit all the principal cities as far West as Cincinnati and South to Washington and Baltimore. The Lowells propose to visit Philadelphia and New York.

IN LIFE UNITED, IN DEATH NOT DIVIDED.—Two unmarried sisters, Ruth and Hannah Adams, died on Saturday night of lung fever, in Oldtown. They were aged respectively seventy-seven and seventy-five years, and had always lived together, their deaths occurring within a few hours of each other in the same house where they were born and had lived all their lives. They have been nurses in many families in this vicinity, and were widely known and liked.—Newburyport Herald.

—"Why, Charlie, I am surprised to see you making faces at your mother!" Charlie brightened up at once, and retorted, "Why, I calculated to laugh, but, mamma, my face slipped." The "calculation" was suddenly worked out in chorus.

DEATHS.

In Salem, Mass., Mr. CALVIN H. CLEAVES, aged 25 years.——Mr. ASA LAMSON, aged 77 yrs.——Miss ABIGAIL SYMONDS, aged 64 yrs.——Mr. JOHN GARDNER, the veteran drummer.——OCTAVIA E. BERNSON, aged 9 yrs.——15th, CAROLINE LOUISA COUSINS, aged 29 years, widow of the late Thomas Cousins, Jr.——Mrs. CATHARINE CRAIG, widow of the late Mr. James Craig, aged 75 years.

In Essex, May 11th, ENOCH LOW, Esq., 87 yrs., 4 mos. He was Postmaster for more than 30 years.

L— O——A——N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

LETTER FROM PRESIDENT MINOT, OF THE CONCORD RAILROAD.

CONCORD, N. H., May 12, 1870.

To the Editor of the Boston Post:

In your paper of yesterday was a communication from Hon. Edmund Burke relative to the Concord Railroad, to which I deem it proper for me to make some reply. For if any of the matters referred to in that communication be of importance or interest to stockholders or the public, it is proper that the facts be known. I do not propose, at this time, to discuss the merits of the subject generally, because another week and occasion seem to me to be better, if not more proper, for that purpose. I wish only to correct some of the misrepresentations of the communication I refer to, so that the readers of it may judge what consideration it deserves.

And I desire that the public may see how far a writer who professes "to set the people right touching this matter," is himself from being "right" in his statements and representations. Mr. Burke says:—"It is sufficient to say that the 'Ring' thus attempted to be stigmatized, are gentlemen who now own and control a majority of its stock. Many, if not all of them, were stockholders long before this contemplated revolution in the management of the road, and helped to install the present directors in power." The first part of this is assumption, but it is not material. How far the second part of it is from being true, the records of the road will show beyond doubt. The persons composing the 'Ring' are few in number, and I will refer to the principal members of it individually. Ex-Gov. Smyth appears on the books of the corporation as the owner of 1216 shares; J. H. Pearson and family of 1502 shares; W. A. Tower of 1211 shares, and Moody Currier of 600 shares.

Every one of these shares has been acquired by those parties within a few months past; and prior to that time, not any one of those parties was, or for a long time before, if ever, had been a stockholder of the road. Further Edson Hill and family appear as the owners of 694 shares; the family of J. W. Johnson, of 771 shares; A. S. Marshall, of 241 shares; and all of these shares, with the exception of exactly fifty-four have been purchased within the period of time I have stated above. And in addition to the foregoing, over 1200 shares have been purchased within the same time, which now stand in the names of the particular friends of the same parties.

The public can judge for itself as to the natural and proper inferences to be made with regard to so large purchasers of stock, at so high prices, made by a very few parties in concert and just before the approaching annual meeting of the corporation. The suggestion of "good investment" would be an insufficient explanation under ordinary circumstances; and it is especially so in the present case to those who know the parties interested. A past transaction in this State will throw light on this movement. In 1867 a bill was introduced in our Legislature providing for the State to take the Concord Railroad from its stockholders, at the par value of the stock, and sell it to the new grantees named in the bill, for a bonus of about $250,000.

The bribe held out to tempt the State to take such a course, was the payment of that sum into the State treasury. The speculation of that scheme was too poor for any mistake. The then market price of the stock would have made a net profit of over $450,000 to the new grantees; and the price now paid for it as a "good investment," by the "Ring," would make a profit of over $700,000! The scheme and speculation were too generally denounced by the press and public as an attempted swindle on the State, as well as on the stockholders of the road, to allow of any serious consideration of the bill by the Legislature; and it resulted only in discredit to the movers of it.

Mr. Smyth and Mr. Johnson, who are the leaders in the "Ring," were the originators and parties interested in that speculation and scheme. Their names head the list of the grantees named in that bill; and other friends who are associated with them at the present time were associated with them at that time also. Comment is unnecessary.

Mr. Burke further says:—"They are dissatisfied with the management of the affairs of the road by the present Directors, because they believe it has been governed by a sordid and contracted spirit entirely beneath the character and dignity of the most wealthy, influential and flourishing corporation in the State of New Hampshire." I shall not have any newspaper controversy with any one about the merits and demerits of the management of the Concord road during the time the present Directors have been in charge of it.

The stockholders know what dividends they have received on their stock, and the public who have been concerned will decide from their own experience with regard to the accommodations and rates of charges which have been afforded and made to them.

Mr. B. himself characterizes the road as "the most wealthy, influential and flourishing corporation" in the State. If it be truly so, then the management of the last four years has, at least, the credit of not destroying the superior excellence of the road. Has its character and dignity been impaired during that time? I leave to those who know the transactions of the preceding management to judge. I admit, however, that the present Directors have not regarded or had thought about the character and dignity of the road, except so far as those may be the consequence of an honest regard and effort for the interest of the stockholders and the benefit of the public.

Is not Mr. Burke, on this point as on others, laboring under misapprehensions? May not the real cause of his dissatisfaction with the present management be—not that the dignity of the corporation, but—that the importance and dignity of Mr. Burke have not been regarded so much as he thinks they should have been? And has not the "sordid and contracted spirit," which he complains of, been most felt, at least by him, in the denial to him of the reduced rates and free passes which he has applied for as special favors to himself?

To Mr. Burke's suggestion that the recent contract between the Concord and the Northern roads has been concealed because the "transaction will not bear the scrutiny of the public," there is a ready and sufficient answer.

It is this: that at the very time Mr. Burke was writing his communication, a copy of that contract was in preparation for public print and for the forthcoming annual report of the Directors of the Concord road.

A perusal of the contract will show how much Mr. Burke has misapprehended and misstated its nature and provisions. It is not a lease of the Concord road to the Northern road, but only a contract for the joint operation and management of the two roads in connection, subject to the direction of the Boards of Directors of the two roads in concurrence. It fully secures to the Concord road the preservation of its road and of all its property in unimpaired good condition and value; and to its stockholders, the highest rate of annual dividends which our law allows, ten per cent.

The results will be satisfactory to such stockholders as regard only the proper and legitimate purposes of their road as an investment, because they cannot lawfully have more. And the rights of the public are protected by the new reduced tariffs of fares and freights being made a part of the contract and not to be changed without the consent of both parties. The Concord road will have no motive to consent to any increase of those fares and freights, because such increase would not add to its profits.

The contract was made with the unanimous approval of every Director of the Concord road, except one who was not present at the meeting. All the Directors of the Northern road present at their meeting approved it. It has been sanctioned and approved by the required authorities of the State. The careful examination and advice of the most eminent counsel in the State sustain its entire legality. A great majority, in number of persons, of the stockholders of the road, are in favor of it.

And on the part of the public in this State, there has been very general, and outside the "Ring" and its immediate influence, almost universal commendation of it. With such associates and under such circumstances, I am content to pass Mr. Burke's epithets of "highhanded outrage," "usurpers," "infamous," "treacherous," etc., without more notice. He is the retained counsel of the "Ring;" and he must submit to the necessities of his cause.

J. MINOT.

—A Proof Reader has sent to a Brooklyn paper some examples of the ludicrous mistakes made by printers when called upon to decipher illegible manuscript. He says that on one occasion Mr. Greeley made use of the quotation:—

"'Tis true, 'tis pity, and pity 'tis 'tis true," which was rendered by the types:

"'Tis two, 'tis fifty, 'tis fifty, 'tis fifty-two."

WISHING.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

Of all amusements of the mind,
From logic down to fishing,
There isn't one that you can find
So very cheap as "wishing!"
A very choice diversion, too,
If we but rightly use it,
And not, as we are apt to do,
Pervert it and abuse it.

I wish—a common wish indeed—
My purse was somewhat fatter,
That I might cheer the child of need,
And not my pride to flatter;
That I might make oppression reel,
As only gold can make it,
And break the tyrant's rod of steel,
As only gold can break it!

I wish that sympathy and love,
And every human passion
That has its origin above,
Would come and keep in fashion—
That scorn, and jealousy, and hate,
And every base emotion,
Were buried fifty fathoms deep,
Beneath the waves of ocean.

I wish that friends were always true;
And motives always pure;
I wish the good were not so few,
I wish the bad were fewer;
I wish that persons ne'er forget
To heed their pious teachings;
I wish that practising was not
So different from preaching.

I wish that modern worth might be
Appraised with truth and candor;
I wish that innocence were free
From treachery and from slander,
I wish that men their vows would mind,
That women ne'er were rovers;
I wish that wives were always kind,
And husbands always lovers.

I wish—in fine—that joy and mirth,
And every good ideal,
May come erewhile throughout the earth
To be the glorious real;
Till god shall every creature bless
With his supremest blessing,
And hope be lost in happiness,
And wishing be possessing.

A WARM PLACE.—"Many a shaft at random sent" hits something or other which "the archer little meant" to touch. We have heard an anecdote illustrative of this truth, which has probably not appeared in print before, and which has been told us as a piece of genuine history. It happened in a large city — never mind what city. There were two pretty sisters who had married, one an eminent lawyer, the other a distinguished literary man. Literary man dies, and leaves younger sister a widow. Some years roll away, and the widow lays aside her weeds. Now, then, it happens that a certain author and critic has occasion, on a broiling day in summer, to call on the eminent lawyer, husband of the elder sister. He finds the lawyer pleading and sweltering in the crowded court, sees that the lawyer is suffering dreadfully from the heat, pities him, rejoices that he himself is not a lawyer and goes for a cool saunter under the sheltering trees of a fashionable park and garden. Among the ice-eating, fanning crowd there he meets the younger of our two sisters, and for a moment he thinks he is speaking to the elder.

"Oh, Mr. ——," answered the lady, "how dreadfully hot it is here!"

"Yes, Madame," replies our luckless critic, "it is hot here; but I can assure you the heat of this place isn't a circumstance, when compared with the heat of the place where your poor dear husband is suffering to-day!"

A horror-stricken expression comes over the face of the lady; she rises from her chair and flounces indignantly away. And "Me miserable," soliloquizes our wretched critic, "I have been mistaking the one sister for the other, and she thinks I meant to say that her husband is—not in heaven!"—The Galaxy for May.

THE FIRST TROT.—It is stated that the first trotting match on record was made against time. The bet was $1000 that no horse could be procured which could trot a mile in three minutes. The wager was accepted, but the odds in favor of the old Scythe Bearer were immense. A horse called the Boston Blue was brought to the score. He won, gained great renown, and was purchased at a high figure by Cooper, the celebrated tragedian, for his private use. He drove him frequently between New York and Philadelphia.

—Newport is discussing the street sprinkling question, as Portland was last week. One editor has figured it that the appropriation made by the City Council for this purpose will cost the taxpayers a little less than 2 cents on the thousand dollars. It is no wonder that some people say they can't stand it. "We heard," says the Mercury, "a man who pays tax on five hundred dollars, complain bitterly of the burden. He had a cigar in his mouth, and had just been indulging in fusil oil."

—Thomas Smith of Malden, for evading fare on the Boston & Maine Railroad was fined nineteen dollars and fifty cents, and committed for non-payment of the fine to the House of Correction in East Cambridge for 40 days.

THE OLD RELIABLE
NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
TO BE FOUND IN EVERY VILLAGE AND TOWN IN N W ENGLAND, IS DODD'S NERVINE
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC.
DODD'S NERVINE is not a new medicine, but has been before the public for the last fifteen years. Is compounded from the best and purest drugs. Contains no OPIUM, STRYCHNISE or MERCURY in any form, and is expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of NERVOUS DISEASES, &c., &c.,

Coughs,	Neuralgia,	Female Weaknesses,
Colds,	Headache,	Fainting Fits,
Fevers,	Convulsions,	Palpitation,
Agues,	Sleeplessness,	Restlessness,
Biliousness,	Dyspepsia,	Dizziness,
Constipation,	Liver Complaint,	Children's Troubles
Diarrhœa,	Consumption,	&c., &c., &c.,

DODD'S NERVINE
Is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that good sleep is better than all medicines. And all folks that
CAN'T SLEEP NIGHTS,
Should use this truly wonderful medicine.
DODD'S NERVINE
Is one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS.
For Whooping Cough.
DODD'S NERVINE is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in Measles, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no OPIUM in any form.
LOOK OUT FOR COLDS.
It is proverbial that people treat a cold (and the generally accompanying cough) as something that will cure itself; but neglect is serious and sometimes fatal. The fame of DODD'S NERVINE is the relief of colds it has effected. Use this standard remedy, and so far abstain from liquids of all kinds as to keep somewhat thirsty for a few days, and the worst cold will soon be gone.
DODD'S NERVINE
IS A PURE TONIC—harmonizes perfectly with the NEW LIFE-FIBRE—gives instant energy to the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, and other viscera—and supplies FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It operates soothingly as pleasant to take as any wine, and with REST AND GOOD DIGESTION, which it promotes, restores the afflicted to sound health of body and quietness of mind. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine, (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative power. my17ww

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection through out the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and lasting cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer of the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

DEBATE ON THE NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL.—In the House of Representatives in Committee of the whole, Tuesday, Mr. Hale of Maine spoke in vindication of the Navy Department.

Mr. Morgan of Ohio followed in condemnation of the Navy Department for having in violation of law paid to officers of the Navy 33 1-3 per cent. in addition to their legal pay, amounting to $3,700,500.

Mr. Schofield of Pennsylvania remarked that the order of the Secretary of the Navy under which that was paid was strictly in accordance with the law.

Mr. Morgan repeated the assertion and contradicted the statement of Mr. Schofield. He denounced the extravagance of the naval establishment, showing the large disproportion of officers of high rank to vessels employed at sea, and stating that there were two commanders for each vessel.

Mr. Sargent of California defended the naval department, showing that the expenses of the current year had been economical. Three millions of dollars less had been spent in putting the ships in order than had been spent under Secretary Welles in watching their decay. The bill was niggardly in nearly every particular, and would cripple the navy. England appropriated for its navy five dollars for every dollar appropriated for the American navy, and yet the Navy Department was abused because English ships were superior to those of the United States.

Mr. Cox of New York defended his former position, criticising the department, charging it with deficiency, extravagance, and incompetency, and vindicating the administration of Secretary Welles.

Evening Session.—Mr. Dawes of Massachusetts, chairman of the committee on appropriations, regretted to be compelled to differ with the committee in reference to this bill. That difference did not consist in the details so much as in the principles of the bill. His objection to it was that it was neither one thing nor the other; that it neither met the estimates of the department to carry out its plans and ideas, nor revised those plans and compelled the department to conform itself to the policy of Congress. The gentleman from Maine (Mr. Hale) had contrasted the American navy with the navies of foreign powers, but he might as well have contrasted the United States army with the armies of foreign powers. It would be impossible, and as unwise as impossible, to attempt to fashion the navy of the United States after the navies of foreign powers. But the Navy Department, not content with the manifest and often expressed will of the law-making power in limiting appropriations, had put itself into antagonism with Congress, and had insisted upon pursuing a course inconsistent with that marked out for it by Congress. It was in this antagonism and with the purpose of likening it to the navies of other powers that it had been out of harmony with the law-making power. The present condition of the navy was not owing to hostility on the part of Congress.

For the last ten years, excluding the years of the war, the average appropriation for the navy has been less by more than two millions than was appropriated in this bill. And yet the Navy Department insisted that it should have ten millions more. The complaint which the law-making power had the right to make against the Navy Department was, that with the money furnished, the navy was in the bad condition described. Why was it that the United States navy cost three or four times as much as the navy of Great Britain?

Mr. Hale asked Mr. Dawes whether everything did not cost two or three time as much in the United States as it did in Great Britain.

Mr. Dawes went on to say that the United States navy, which consisted of only 8500 men, cost $28,205,671, while the estimate for the British navy last year, which consisted of 63,000 men, was only $49,000,000. Every vessel in the United States navy cost on an average annually $138,944 and in the British navy $69,000; every ton in the tonnage of the United States navy cost $151.10 per annum, and in the British navy $72.66. To keep the American navy afloat and to keep it in repair cost $600 a man, while the British navy costs but $60 a man to keep it up to the standard. The United States Navy Department had estimated for 1869, $7,000,000 for repairs, while the estimates for the British navy, for the year ending March 31, 1870, for men, machinery and repairs, was but $4,000,749. At the same rate of cost as in England, the whole American navy should be kept in repair for $480,000 a year. What was the reason for this vast difference? The British navy estimates for the last ten years varied but very little, man for man, vessel for vessel, and ton for ton. The whole expenditure for the repairs of the British navy was about one-tenth of the cost for the repairs of the American navy, and yet the American navy has been allowed to run down to the condition in which its friends have described it to be. The fault did not lie with Congress, it lay in the lack of efficiency, energy and spirit of the present day.

Mr. Logan of Illinois said there were in the U. S. navy 1409 officers and but 8500 men—one officer to every six men, and a fraction over. The pay of the navy was a little over $7,000,000, and of that over $6,000,000 was paid to the officers. There were on the active list of the navy 759 officers at sea, and on shore 650; there were 10 rear-admirals, 5 of them at sea; there were 25 commodores, and only 3 at sea; 50 captains, only 10 at sea; 90 commanders, only 29 at sea. There were 24 naval officers stationed at the Washington navy yard alone. In short, there were officers enough in the navy to man a navy sufficient to make war upon the strongest naval power of the world, and but few men. Why should this swarm of officers be kept without any necessity for them?

Mr. Beck of Kentucky occupied the two minutes allowed for general debate in condemning the extravagance of the Navy Department, after which the bill was considered for amendments.

Mr. Washburn of Wisconsin offered an amendment to the first section, that no allowance be made to officers for drawing bills, receiving or disbursing money, or for servants, fuel, clothing, quarters, transportation, &c., thus cutting off 33 per cent. of their allowance.

During the discussion, Mr. Cox of New York asked leave to have a letter read from the late Secretary Welles, of whom he said he would as soon think of comparing an old scow to a magnificent ocean steamer as to compare Secretary Robeson to Secretary Welles.

Mr. Stevens of New Hampshire moved as an amendment to the amendment that 33 per cent. be added to the pay of all officers of the navy below the rank of commodore.

On a call of the House no quorum voted, and the House adjourned.

The Manchester Mirror tells of a cow in that city which climbed up stairs into the hayloft, and her owner hunted all over town after her, but finally found her chewing the cud of contented fancy on the hay. She had to be lowered down, and installed in her proper place. We knew of a large black cow in Newburyport, a few years, since, that used to walk up a hard flight of stairs after hay and walk down too.

At Laconia, on Sunday, 53 persons were baptised in Lake Winnepisaukee, by Freewill Baptist Elders Smith and Henderson. An immense crowd attended.

The Wolfeborough Cornet Band has just donned a broadcloth uniform.

The store, house and barn of Mr. William Curtis of Lyndeborough were destroyed by fire on Friday last. In one of the coats of Mr. Curtis was $300 in money which was burned.

William Stark, Esq., a poet and prominent citizen of Manchester, has given indications of insanity, and has been removed to the McLean Asylum at Somerville, Mass.

ATKINSON.—The town is elevated in its location, affording a view from the Monadnock, 40 miles to the west, to the ocean 20 miles to the east, and I cannot tell how many intervening towns. As a consequence its air is very pure, and Dr. Bowditch has for many years recommended it to his consumptive patients. I have been surprised at the number of aged people in a population of but little over 500. I have been told 48 are over 70 years of age, 11 of them over 80.

Recently twin sisters died within a week of each other, 90 years of age, the last of a family of nine children, whose average age was 85. I recently visited an aged couple, the man 89, the wife 85, who have been married 66 years, and are still vigorous in body and mind.

I asked one man, in his 84th year how he had been employed, and he replied he had that day drawn home four loads of wood, over a mile distant, giving him a walk of eight miles by the side of his oxen, besides the labor of loading and unloading, and he seemed as fresh as a young man of twenty. This was no more than he is able to do daily.

I am pleased with the little church here. The first minister was Rev. Stephen Peabody, who married a sister of Mrs. John Adams, said to have been fully as accomplished as that distinguished lady. Rev. Dr. Gilman, in his Miscellanies, has given an interesting history of this parson of the old school, in whose family he spent a portion of his boyhood. The services of the church are simple but earnest, and the singing goes to, as it comes from the heart.

It is not as in the city, where every note costs a dollar, but a free offering. For many years the singing has been greatly indebted to one musical family, consisting of nine brothers and sisters, all of whom have at times sung in the choir together, and one is still the leader. The four sisters have just left the choir for seats with the congregation after having sung side by side for forty five years. One of the sisters had been in the choir over fifty years, and her husband, still there, for fifty years, most of the time as the chorister.

I think these facts almost without a parallel. To show how musical talent is hereditary, two of their sons are among the most gifted of the Boston organists. In order not to be behind the times, a beautiful little organ has recently been placed in the church, from the establishment of Stevens at East Cambridge.—W. C. T. in Boston Jour.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Wear and Tear of Business Life.

The cares and labors of business life are apt to tell severely upon the health and constitution of the ardent, energetic business man, and when the need of some sustaining agent is felt, stimulants that cause only a temporary exhilaration, and leave the system in a state of partial collapse when their first effect has passed off, are too often resorted to. As certainly as fire leaves behind it a residuum of ashes, the use of the adulterated liquors of commerce produces premature exhaustion and decay. Touch them not. Tone and regulate the overtaxed vital machinery with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

In that wholesome elixir, the alcoholic element which is the purest derivable from any source, is tempered by the choicest tonic, aperient, antibilious and anti-febrile vegetable extracts and juices. For strengthen, recruit, solace and purify the system is the mission of the great vegetable specific. When the stomach is in a healthy condition, the bile flows regularly, the bowels perform their office properly, and the telegraphic fibres of the nervous system are in perfect working order, an enormous amount of labor can be borne without risk or inconvenience, and the direct effect of the Bitters is to promote this vigorous condition of the functions upon which the nourishment of the body, and its power of endurance mainly depend.

The great tonic and alterative is, therefore, emphatically recommended for its remarkable strengthening properties, to all upon whom the responsibilities of life press heavily, and who feel like fainting under the burthen. A lively appetite, a splendid digestion, elastic spirits, and a marvellous ability to withstand fatigue, are among the blessings justly ascribed to the renovating operation of this palatable and powerful cordial, and as a spring and summer alterative, there is nothing in the materia medica that can be compared with it.

☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

This valuable Family Medicine has been widely and favorably known in our own and foreign countries, upwards of

THIRTY YEARS!

It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest.

It is an External and Internal Remedy. For Summer Complaint, or any other form of bowel disease in children or adults, it is an almost certain cure, and has without doubt, been more successful in curing the various kinds of CHOLERA than any other known remedy, or the most skillful physician. In India, Africa and China, where this painful disease is more or less prevalent, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as European residents in those climates, a sure remedy; and while it is a most efficient remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in unskillful hands.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise treated. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a mild family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now of years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Colds, Sores, Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest, No one who once tries it is ever without it. CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is a most certain cure for all dread of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedy for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which they do not know, what they say about

THE undersigned, Collector of the First Collection District, in the State of New-Hampshire, hereby gives notice to all persons concerned in the

COUNTY OF ROCKINGHAM,

that he has received for collection the Ninth Annual Collection List within said District, made and committed to him by the Assessor thereof, in accordance with the Act of Congress entitled "An act to provide internal revenue to support the Government and to pay interest on the public debt," approved July 1st, 1862, and all other offered in amendment of, or supplementary thereto; that the several duties, taxes and special taxes, assessed, enumerated and contained in said Ninth Annual Collection List, are due and payable before the 30th day of May, 1870; and that the undersigned, Collector for said District, personally or by deputy, will attend, for the purpose of collecting and receiving the aforesaid duties, taxes and special taxes, assessed and payable within said County, and at the times designated, as follows:

At NEWMARKET, at the Newmarket Bank, Thursday, May 19th, from 10 o'clock A. M. to 4 P. M. for Fourth Division.

At PORTSMOUTH, at the Custom House, Friday and Saturday, May 20th and 21st, from 10 o'clock A. M. to 4 P. M., for First Division.

At EXETER, at the Squamscott House, Monday and Tuesday, May 23rd and 24th, from 10 o'clock A. M. to 4 P. M., for Second and Third Divisions.

☞ Payment may be made to the Collector, at his office in Dover, from the 25th to the 29th of May.

Notice is also further given that all persons who shall neglect to pay the duties and taxes assessed upon them as aforesaid to called Collector or Deputy Collector at the time above specified, will be liable, under the provisions of the Acts of Congress aforesaid, to pay 20 cents additional, and those who neglect to pay within 10 days from May 30th, 1870, will be required to pay five per cent. additional upon the amount thereof. LADIES! READ THIS.—The best way of making a cup of tea is, first heat the cup with hot water, then throw in a little dry tea, pour on boiling water, cover it with the saucer, and let it stand only a few minutes.

THE TEACHER'S INSTITUTE for the county of Strafford will be held in Rochester, commencing Monday, May 23d, and continuing through the week. An excellent Board of Instructors has been engaged, including many who lectured with so much ability and acceptance in the Institute held in this city recently.

MUSIC, that great charm of all public entertainments, is the specialty of the New York Circus this season, and as everybody is supposed to like to hear good music there will doubtless be a full attendance to-morrow afternoon and evening.

This band, which is composed of twenty-five musicians of high repute, led by Prof. C. Boswold, play exclusively upon brass and reed instruments, and appear in the procession in new and brilliant uniforms, after the style of the French Imperial Cent Garde. They have one of the largest and most splendid decorated Band Chariots ever constructed, and drawn by a team o twenty-four horses, harnessed four abreast,—said to be the most beautiful team ever driven together.

THE PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY CONCERT this evening, at the Middle Street Church, should be patronized to an extent limited only by the size of the house. Independently of the claims which the Society has to the support of all who regard the elevation of musical taste as a benefit to the community, or who enjoy good singing as a part of divine worship, the Concert itself will be a most attractive one to all who can appreciate music of a high order.

Of the vocal portion of the exercises, it is enough to say that Mozart's Twelfth Mass is to be presented by the entire force of the Society; and when to this is added the organ accompaniment by Dr. Wilcox, and the assistance of Cushing's Orchestra, it is certain that the performance of the Mass alone will richly repay all attending for their time and the trifling price of admission.

But in addition to the Mass, Dr. Wilcox is to give his celebrated "Thunder Storm," which astonished and delighted the large number who were fortunate enough to hear it performed on the same organ a year or more ago; and an opportunity will be afforded to hear the fine local Orchestra, without organ or vocal accompaniment, in an exquisite Overture by Mozart.

The attractions are sufficient to crowd the house, and the indications are that its capacity will be fully tested. Tickets 35 cts., to be had of Joy, Preston, Thacher, and at the doors,—which open at 7 o'clock, the Concert commencing at 8. It may not be out of place here to remark that the earliest arrivals at concerts frequently get the best seats.

☞ Miss Phebe Cousens, the St. Louis brunette, in a speech at the woman's rights meeting in New York on Tuesday, mentioned her recent discovery of what the mission of the inferior being, man, is. It is to clean the household crockery, and this she based on the authority of the Bible, in the 21st chapter 2d Kings, and 13th verse, viz. "I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish; wiping it, and turning it upside down."

CHARACTERISTIC.—Rev. Henry Ward Beecher says that he would as soon go a courting with his father's old love letters, as to go to church and carry a book to pray out of.

FARMING.—The Paris physicians are making experiments in grafting the tails of rats on other rats.

TO ENCOURAGE THE GROWTH OF HAIR AND PREVENT ITS TURNING GREY. A young lady friend of mine was recommended by a coiffeur to use sage water. She was obliged to discontinue its daily use as it made her hair too thick. Pour boiling water on the sage leaves and let them remain some time in the oven or near a stove; strain and apply to the roots of the hair daily. If any pomade is needed, an equal mixture of cocoa-nut and olive oils, with a little perfume, is very efficacious.—London Field.

—Procure not friends in haste; nor, procured, part with them in haste.

THE CHRONICLE—A Word Personal.—We really have too much business on hand, especially this fine farming weather, to stop to notice the comments of certain would-be critical editors, on this Chronicle. But we do so far depart from our usual course this morning, as to deal one or two barkers a back-handed rap as we pass:

The Opposition organ, we are told, has recently been pleased to style the Chronicle the Free Love organ. Pretty good joke, isn't it, for a scribbler who has just been driven from his boarding house, for making unwelcome if not improper advances to a young lady? The fellow isn't so much to blame, though, for his misrepresentations and attempted criticisms, for if he does not find something to complain of in the Chronicle his occupation's gone.

The Nashua Telegraph, the editor of which has been for months working to get the office of State Printer, is amused that anybody else should aspire to it, and says one of our publishers received one vote for the position last year, and needs but to add two ciphers in the Legislature to get it. But he knows full well, that our 27 votes ready at the nominating caucus, were all, save an accidental one, turned over to the old and present incumbent, without which he could not have been elected. Perhaps you can walk over the course, Mr. Telegraph; but just wait and see.

The Exeter News Letter is troubled, like some other envious people, because the Chronicle is appreciated in the community, and the services of its managers acknowledged in various ways. And it gives as our only reason for the faith that is in us concerning Senator Cragin, the few loaves and fishes that fall to us in the way of business, &c. Now, not to remark that the Chronicle, from its position, would legitimately and naturally be thus patronized by any other public officer in the place of Mr. Cragin—we can give the News Letter three far better arguments for his re-election than any that paper names:

First, New Hampshire, and especially Portsmouth, cannot afford to lose the Chairmanship of the Naval Committee, which would be the case were Mr. Cragin exchanged for any other man. Secondly, neither this State nor New England can afford to give up the value of Mr. Cragin's experience and influence in the Senate, which no new man could have. And thirdly, there is no candidate before the public in opposition to him, who combines more elements of strength than he, and whose record is any farther above suspicion even. And so we think Mr. Cragin should, and will, receive the customary re-election. F.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles farther, making in all 427 miles.
In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.
When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.
It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.
It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.
The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)
The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of
INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.
Interest Six per cent, per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.
All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.
They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

Morning Chronicle.

COMPARATIVE VALUE OF HAY, CORN AND ROOTS.—An acre of ground retained expressly for hay, yields on an average not more than one and a half tons of vegetable food; an equal space of carrots or ruta bagas will yield from ten to twenty tons, say fifteen tons, which is by no means a high average, and has often been attained without extraordinary cultivation. It has been ascertained by careful experiment that three working horses, fifteen and one-half hands high, consume hay at the rate of two hundred pounds per week, or five tons and one thousand and forty-eight pounds per annum, each, besides one and a half bushels of oats per week, or seventy-eight per annum. By a repetition of the same experiment it was found that an unworked horse consumed four and a quarter tons per annum.

The produce, therefore, of nearly six acres of land is necessary to support a working horse for one year; but half an acre of carrots at six hundred bushels per acre, with addition of chopped straw, while the season for feeding them lasts, will do as well if not better. These things do not admit of doubt, for they have been the subject of exact trials, as some of your agricultural friends can testify. It has also been proved that the value of one bushel of corn, together with the fodder upon which it grew, will keep a horse in good working order for a week. An acre planted with corn, and yielding sixty bushels, will be ample to keep a good sized horse in working order for one year.

Let the farmer, then, consider whether it is better to maintain a horse on the products of half an acre of ruta bagas or carrots, or upon the product of half an acre of corn; or, on the other hand, upon the hay and grain from six acres of land,—for it will require six acres of good land to produce the necessary hay and grain as above. The same reasoning might be made use of in the feeding of cattle and sheep.—Stock Journal.

SURFACE MANURING.—For the reason that Nature applies her fertilizers upon the surface and does not plough them under, it is about time that agriculturists should consider whether they or Nature are right when they differ so radically in their practice.

Does Dame Nature make a mistake when she sets out to enrich a continent, by spreading dead leaves and twigs, and trunks, and grasses and weeds over the whole surface for years and years and thousands of years? Does Nature mistake when she interposes a leaf before the beating rain drops, and saves the earth from being pounded into the semblance of a brick—keeps the soil light and porous that the air carrying its ammonia and carbonic acid may reach to the waiting roots below? Is she going wrong when she lays a mat of decaying humus over the soil, and only allows the searching June sun to get to the earth as a gentle heat, incapable of drying up the moisture held there by the mulch?

Or are we wrong when we hide away our fertilizers at the bottom of a furrow, and leave the surface bleak and bare, to be beaten down with the rain, and baked with the sun, and in that condition to refuse the good gifts which the air is willing to yield up to a moist and porous soil?—Western Farmer.

PLANTING PEAS FOR HOUSEHOLD USE.—This way has been perfectly successful, not alone with us, but to all of our friends who have tried the same method. It is as follows:

Dig a trench a foot deep and a spade's width; loosen the earth at the bottom of this track; take well rotted manure and put it in to the depth of two to two and a half inches; on this put the same thickness of earth, (two to two and a half inches,) then take your peas of whatever kind you fancy, and sow pretty thickly the length of your trench, not a pea here and there, or in a single row, but sow quite thick; turn on your dirt, which will cover them with a good seven inches of mould, then your labor is done, and you can leave the rest to sunshine and rain.

The smaller peas will need no brush, the marrowfats and long vine sorts will. They of course will not come up as quickly as if sowed an inch or two below the surface, but when up they will come with a rush, and when bearing a single picking will not use up the vines, but they will bear and bear well, until frost comes in the Fall, and besides it takes more than an ordinary drought to parch up the vines.—Turf, Field and Farm.

HOW TO CULTIVATE POTATOES.—Our best potatoe growers now plant one eye on a piece, and plow them nine or ten inches in the drill. I have found it unsafe to the plants to harrow over the plants after they are well up; but so soon as the rows can be followed, they are worked with a sulky cultivator, and weekly thereafter until blooming, when the hills are not disturbed, but the rows are kept free of weeds by the use of double shovel plow.

A good time to apply the manure is after the first working, by spreading it evenly over the surface. No doubt commercial manures have made much of their reputation from the fact that they are always applied to the surface, while those from the barnyard have been deeply buried with the plow.

—Mr. Erastus Corning has offered to mate his horse, George Palmer, against any trotter in the world, mile heats, best three in five, in harness and to wagon. The races to be for $25,000 a side each race.

—Anna Dickinson says that "there is no work a man can do but that will be better done by having a woman at his side." How about making love to her 'val?

AMERICAN COMMERCE AND SHIPPING. On Tuesday, in the House of Representatives, Mr. Wood of New York addressed the House on the bill to revive American commerce and shipping, correcting what he characterized as a popular error, viz: That the foreign commerce of the United States was on the decline. It was merely not the foreign commerce of the United States that was decaying, it was the navigation interests of the United States that were on the decline. The mistake was to confound commerce with navigation. So far as foreign commerce was concerned, as shown by the value of imports and exports and by their relative proportions, it was in a safe, sound, and satisfactory condition. What were the causes that led to the decline of American tonnage? The common idea was that it was attributable to the depredations of the Alabama. He admitted that it had some influence, but not to the extent generally supposed. He assigned several general operating causes for it. The first was the substitution of steamers for sailing vessels and iron for wood. The second was economy in the reduction of tonnage in consequence of the substitution of steam for sails, one steamer being able to do the work of three sailing vessels. The third was the over-production of ships from 1848 to 1860, stimulated by the discovery of gold in California, and the trade to which it gave rise. The fourth was the influence of the navigation laws, in which respect the United States was behind all other nations in the policy of refusing American registers to foreign-built vessels. French steamers were bought in England and so were Austrian vessels, and so were the steamers of the Hamburg and Bremen lines, but the navigation laws of the United States, founded on a Chinese policy of exclusion, stood at the threshold of American harbors and shut out foreign-built vessels from entering under the American flag.

Mr. Lynch of Maine inquired whether the commercial marine of England and the United States had not attained their highest point of prosperity under the very laws he was now condemning.

Mr. Wood replied in the negative, and said that the gentleman's own report answered his question.

The fifth cause of the decay of American tonnage was the transfer of American vessels to foreign owners during the late war; that transfer amounted to 833,303 tons; nearly one-quarter of the aggregate tonnage of the United States. The sixth cause was the depredations of privateers during the war, but the loss by that means did not exceed 100,000 tons. While he would hold England to a just responsibility in that matter, he would not overestimate or magnify the actual loss of our tonnage. He hoped to live to see the day when England would be compelled not only to make reparation but restitution for the wrong. The seventh cause was the appreciation of the cost of labor and material, in consequence of the depreciated currency and heavy taxation which was causing a large difference in the cost of building and sailing ships. Mr. Wood then argued against the bill as entirely inadequate and ineffectual for the removal of the difficulties which it sought to remedy. It might palliate or temporarily stimulate, but that was all. In his opinion the true remedies were to be found in a very general revival of trade founded on a sound basis with specie payment and currency; the abolition of internal taxes and greater public and private economy; in new avenues of foreign commerce; in readmission to American registy of American vessels which sought the protection of foreign flags during the war; in the modification of the navigation laws so as to admit foreign-built vessels to American registry, either free of duty or on payment of a moderate duty on tonnage; in an allowance of drawback of the duty on shipbuilding materials; in allowing ship-stores to be taken out of bond for foreign voyages; in exempting tonnage from all taxes other than by the federal government; in granting moderate compensation by way of postage on mails; in favoring American bottoms in the imposition of tariff duties, so as to discriminate in their favor on all foreign merchandise imported.

Mr. Washburn of Wisconsin followed in support of the report of the committee, after which the bill went over till next day. Mr. Lynch of Maine giving notice that he would ask for a vote on the bill on Thursday.

A QUESTION.

As Annie was carrying the baby one day,
Tossing aloft the lump of inanity,
Dear to its father and mother no doubt—
To the rest of the world a mere lump of humanity—
Sam came along, and was thinking then, maybe,
Full as much of Annie as she of the baby.

"Just look at the baby," cried Ann, in a flutter,
Giving its locks round her fingers a twirl;
"If I was a man I know that I couldn't Be keeping my hands off a dear little girl,"
And Sam gave a wink as if to say "may be,
Of the girls I'd rather hug you than the baby!"

"Now kiss it," she cried, still hugging it closer,
"Its mouth's like the roses the honey-bees sips!"
Sam stooped to obey, and he kissed Ann and baby together,
There chanced to arise a confusion of lips!
And as it occurred, it might have been, maybe,
That each got a kiss, Sam, Ann, and the baby!

It's hard to tell what just then was the matter,
For the baby was the only one innocent there;
And Annie flushed up like a fully blown peony,
And Samuel turned red to the roots of his hair;
So the question is thus—you can answer it maybe,
Did Annie kiss Sam, or did both kiss the baby?

[Albany Argus.

—Among the stories told of General Thomas, is one of an incident which occurred when he and his chief of staff, Gen. Garfield, were inspecting the fortifications of Chattanooga in 1863. They heard a shout, "Hello, mister! You! I want to speak to you," and Gen. Thomas found that he was the person addressed, by an uncouth backwoods, East Tennessee soldier. He stopped, and the dialogue which ensued was as follows:

"Mister, I want to get a furlough."

"On what grounds do you want a furlough, my man?"

"I want to go home and see my wife."

"How long is it since you saw your wife?"

"Ever since I enlisted, nigh on to three months."

"Three months," good naturedly. "Why, my good man, I haven't seen my wife for three years."

The East Tennessean stopped whittling for a moment, and then stared incredulously; at length he said: "Well, you see, me and my wife ain't that kind!"

Even General Thomas' grimness was not proof against the laughter which he rode away to conceal, leaving the astonished soldier without an answer. Of course it is General Garfield who tells the story.

RETIRED ON HALF PAY.—The army is not the only institution whose officers get "retired on half pay." We notice by the papers that the Metropolitan Bank of Washington city, has served its messenger, James Fitzpatrick, in that way. For nearly forty years he has served the bank faithfully, and having become feeble from age and long service, he has been granted a life pension of half the amount of his salary. The saying is that "corporations have no souls," but this case shows that the officers of one have hearts.

AN IRISHMAN was seen at the trenches before Sebastopool holding his hand above the earthwork. His captain asked: "What are you doing that for, Pat?" He replied, with a grin and a working of his fingers, "I am feeling for a furlough, sure!" Just then a Minie-ball struck his arm below the wrist. Slowly drawing it down, and grasping it with the other hand to restrain the blood, a queer expression of pain passed over his face as he exclaimed, "An' faith, its a discharge."

—Captain Chadwick, of the ship Sunbeam, which was burned off the coast of Peru on the 31st of March, belongs in Exeter, where he has just arrived. The ship caught fire from a candle while varnish was being drawn from a cask, and six of those on board were lost. Captain Chadwick stuck to the ship till the main-mast went over, and then, with his little son in his arms, jumped into the sea, where both were saved by clinging to a spar until picked up by a boat.

—A woman in Wisconsin had her face and neck so badly burned eighteen years ago that she has not been able to close her mouth since, until last week, when the doctors skinned her face and neck, and took some skin from other portions of her body, and sewed it on where the other had been removed, and she now shuts her mouth just as well as anybody. Since she has got it to working again her husband has not been heard from. There are surmises that he has suicided.

—It is wonderful what may be accomplished in the way of manuring by merely saving the slops, etc., of an ordinary family. If all the soapy water, chamber-slops, ashes, etc., are carefully saved it will be quite possible to fertilize a garden of quite respectable dimensions; and if to these matters be added the manure from a few hens and the cleanings of the privy, a garden sufficiently large to supply the wants of the family may be easily kept in a state of fertility.

—John Russell Young, who edits the New York Standard, declares that the stories so freely circulated about Mr. Greeley being a habitually profane man, are base fabrications.

THE OLD RELIABLE
NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
TO BE FOUND IN EVERY VILLAGE AND TOWN IN NEW ENGLAND, IS DODD'S NERVINE
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC.
DODD'S NERVINE is not a new medicine, but has been before the public for the last fifteen years. It is compounded from the best and purest drugs. Contains no OPIUM, STRYCHNINE or MERCURY in any form, and is expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of
NERVOUS DISEASES, &c., &c.,

Coughs,	Neuralgia,	Female Weaknesses,
Colds,	Headache,	Fainting Fits,
Fevers,	Convulsions,	Palpitation,
Agues,	Sleeplessness,	Restlessness,
Biliousness,	Dyspepsia,	Dizziness,

Consipation, Liver Complaint, Children's Troubles Diarrhœa, Consumption, &c., &c., &c.,
DODD'S NERVINE
Is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that good sleep is better than all medicines. And all folks that
CAN'T SLEEP NIGHTS,
Should use this truly wonderful medicine.
DODD'S NERVINE
Is one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS.
For Whooping Cough.
DODD'S NERVINE is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in Measles, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no OPIUM in any form.
LOOK OUT FOR COLDS.
It is proverbial that people treat a cold (and the generally accompanying cough) as something that will cure itself; but neglect is serious and sometimes fatal. The fame of DODD'S NERVINE in the relief of colds is established. Use this standard remedy, and so far abstain from liquids of all kinds as to keep somewhat thirsty for a few days, and the worst cold will soon be gone.
DODD'S NERVINE
Is a PURE TONIC—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE—gives new vigor and energy to the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, and other viscera—and supplies FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It operates soothingly yet effectually upon the system, without the use of opium, mercury or strychnine, (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative power. my17tw

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public generally need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection through out the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and in a length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or vestiges of the Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections or symptomatic or Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

FRIDAY, MAY, 20, 1870.

PASSAGE OF THE NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL.—On Wednesday the U. S. House of Representatives went into committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill, the question being on an amendment of Mr. Stevens of New Hampshire to the first paragraph, adding 33 per cent. to the pay of officers.

Mr. Stevens withdrew his amendment relating to the pay of officers, and Mr. Washburn offered a substitute from the committee, which after discussion was agreed to—96 to 90—making the annual pay of naval officers as follows:—Admiral $12,000; vice-admirals at sea $9000, on shore duty $7200, leave of absence or waiting orders $6000; rear admirals at sea $6000, on shore duty $4800, leave of absence or waiting orders $3600, retired $2400; commodores at sea $5000, on shore duty $4000, on leave of absence or waiting orders $3000, retired 2260; captains at sea $4300, on shore duty $3360, on leave of absence or waiting orders $2250, retired $2000; commanders at sea $3500, on shore duty $2800, on leave of absence or waiting orders $2100, retired $1800; lieutenant-commanders at sea $3125, on shore duty $2500, leave of absence or waiting $2000, retired $1700; lieutenants at sea $2500, on shore duty $2000, leave of absence or waiting orders $1500, retired $1300; masters at sea $2000, on shore duty $1600, leave of absence or waiting orders $1200, retired $1000; ensigns at sea $1600, on shore duty $1280, leave of absence or waiting orders $960, retired $800. Staff officers are to receive pay according to their relative rank, as specified in the general order of the Navy Department of March 13, 1863.

Mr. Washburn explained that this annual salary was to be in lieu of all the pay and allowances now made. It diminished the pay of admirals $1333, of vice-admirals at sea $833, &c.

An additional proviso was agreed to, that nothing in the bill should be construed to give to any staff officer any amount of pay larger than will be covered by a line officer of corresponding rank.

The next paragraph was for the pay of petty officers, seamen, ordinary seamen, landsmen, and boys, including men for the engineer force,—3500 men at an average pay of $300 each per annum—$2,550,000.

Mr. Sargent of California moved to increase the number of men to 10,000, which was rejected after remarks in favor of the increase by Messrs. Myers, Scofield and O'Neil of Pennsylvania, and against it by Mr. Washburn of Wisconsin, and Dawes of Massachusetts.

At the evening session the consideration of the bill was resumed, and Mr. Sargent of California moved to increase the appropriation for labor at the navy yards, from $100,000 to $200,000 in connection with the ordnance bureau. The estimate of the bureau was $400,000.

Mr. Dawes of Massachusetts opposed the amendment, and expressed a hope that the number of navy yards would be soon reduced to three on the Atlantic coast and one on the Pacific. If ships hereafter were to be built they should be built at private ship yards, where they could be built quicker and cheaper.

Mr. Myers of Pennsylvania supported the amendment and condemned the attempt, so frankly confessed by the chairman of the committee, to destroy the navy yards.

Mr. Sargent said that if the chairman of the committee on appropriations desired to abolish the navy yards and to cripple the navy, he should do so by direct legislation. No party could stand or deserved to stand under such leadership, and for his part he repudiated such leadership.

Mr. Dawes of Massachusetts defended his position, and spoke against the extravagant ideas which required $400,000 for the mere manipulation of ordnance at the navy yards. The efficiency and power of the navy seemed to be measured solely by the amount of money it could expend. It was when the navy had the least money that it achieved its greatest glory; and it was because of its surfeit of money, and because of the immense amounts paid to prize officers in prize money, that it had become demoralized, weak and effeminate.

The discussion was continued to considerable length, with a good deal of excited feeling, and, finally, the amendment was rejected. The other amendments were agreed to, and the bill was reported to the House, and was passed.

The appropriations for salaries of Chief Accountant, Clerk to Chief Accountant, and Gate Keeper at the various navy yards, were stricken out.

The appropriation for contingent expenses of the Navy Department was reduced from $150,000 to $125,000. The salary of Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler at this yard was increased from $1500 to $2000.

THE CONCORD RAILROAD. — This name, signifying at different times different things, has been a watchword in this city for many a long year. First it meant the rail connecting us with Concord, called alternately the Portsmouth & Concord, and now the Concord & Portsmouth; and what a series of troubles and trials it was dragged through—until at last it found solid rest in the arms of the Concord Railroad proper, where it bids fair to remain at present; and entirely to our satisfaction, and that of all Portsmouth people, so far as we know—especially since the recent reduction of rates for travel and freight. As to the change of route, to Manchester, our people have no occasion to find any fault, as it creates a good deal of new business here. No doubt this was rather a sharp game, but a few Concord folks seem to be the only ones to object.

New Hampshire needs more Railroads and greater facilities, and is gradually getting them, particularly at the upper end of the State. And the interests of these corporations are or ought to be identical; there is no more real antagonism here than between capital and labor. Railroads are creatures of and for the people, mainly, when legitimately managed—the interests of the stockholders being of course guarded also.

The Concord Railroad has been a prominent subject of public discussion for several years, in one way or other. The high-handed proceedings which ended in the Gilmore overturning and the Conductor suits, are fresh in memory.

But the matter of deepest interest to the people, has been one which perhaps even now is not yet settled, but awaits the vote of the stockholders at the meeting the 24th inst. The unfavorable and unjust influence of the B. & M. Road on the Concord or Manchester & Lawrence, has long been a subject of complaint from the latter; but the most powerful opposition to the late management or managers of the Concord Road, was in 1867, when an attempt was made in the Legislature to get the State to take possession of the Road, and place it in the charge of certain petitioners.

This failing, it is now stated that a ring or combination of nearly the same wealthy bankers and business men, have bought up, at very high prices, a controlling amount of the stock, and will be put in officers of the road. This move, as our readers well know, has been met by another, the present Board of Directors, — against whom neither the public nor the stockholders have made any complaint, or have cause for any, so far as we know—having made a contract, as we stated at the time, by which the Concord and Northern Roads are to be managed jointly, by the two Boards of Directors, with Mr. Stearns at the head of all.

The Concord Directors say "This agreement shall be construed as a business contract solely, and not in any respect as a lease of one road to another, and that it was made for the purpose of providing for a more efficient, convenient and economical management of the business of said Roads, for the benefit of the public in better accommodations and with less rates of fares and freights, as well as for the interests of the Roads themselves." The new ring or combination declare that their movement to get control of that road is designed to defeat the great Boston consolidation scheme, and that the contract with the Northern road has been made with a view to aid that scheme. But the present high contracting parties to the Northern contract declare these representations exactly the reverse of the facts of the case and the purposes of the parties.

All these matters the people will settle, some time or other,—in their own way,—at the stockholders' meeting, in the Legislature, or perhaps in the Courts. The contract, by the terms of which, the Northern and Concord Roads are to be operated under a joint management for five years, is not satisfactory to the "ring," as the new purchasers of stock are called, and they say that the Directors had no authority to enter into such a contract, and propose to contest it.

The arrangement, so far as we can see or hear, is meeting with popular favor in this vicinity. The public find additional ground for confidence in the fact that the two roads, under the new arrangement, will be managed by Gov. Stearns, who has had a long experience in the management of railroads, and has no superior in ability in that line of business. His character is such as to ensure an honest management. His reputation as a railroad man, is a guarantee of success. As an exchange remarks, in Gen. Stark, Judge Minot, Gov. Stearns and John E. Lyon, New Hampshire has railroad Presidents in whom the people can safely trust, even if the people are a little afraid of Stark's consolidation plans.

The Grand Royal Arch Chapter of New Hampshire met at Concord Tuesday. G. H. P. Daniel R. Marshall opened the convocation and delivered an address. He stated the order of Chapter Masonry had been prosperous during the year, and its general condition was such as to be very gratifying to the officers and companions. A dispensation had been granted for a new chapter at Farmington. Three chapters, for which charters had been previously given, have been constituted at Exeter, Lancaster and Wilton. The reports of John A. Harris of Concord, E. D. G. H. P., and Edward Gustine of Keene, E. G. K., were also made. The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge and Council was held Wednesday.

☞ A "Hunker," who writes racily for the Troy Whig, says:—"The term, free-lover, is dear to me; 'tis almost the only rotten-egg that is now left to throw at American agitators. All the old epithets that used to defile their reputation have turned into trophies of their march, and are worn as wreaths of laurel. Yes, to have been an abolitionist is simply an honor now; and to be an infidel is mostly to be suspected of sending bread to the poor, instead of tracts, and of practicing the golden-rule, instead of repeating the liturgy."

THE SENATORSHIP.—The candidates now in the field, working, or consenting to be worked for, are: Hon. E. H. Rollins, Gen. Gilman Marston, Gen. A. F. Stevens, Hon. Mason W. Tappan, Rev. James Pike, and Ex-Governor Frederick Smyth. A correspondent of the Dover Enquirer, giving a list of candidates, and first favoring Cragin, brings out our fellow townsman in the following complimentary words: — "Hon. Frederick Smyth, with his extensive acquaintance and friends (for he has as many as any other man in the State,) will be within hailing distance when the votes are counted, if he so desires." Gov. Smyth may be said to be in the field, though we are not authorized to say so, and he is not specially brought forward. A lot more are spoken of, though not signalized in the telegrams to papers far away. So there will be a lively contest.—Man. Mir.

It is not very likely that the position will need go a begging; and of course both Portsmouth and Dover could present a few candidates in every way worthy and acceptable, did they deem it advisable.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Wear and Tear of Business Life.

The care and labors of business life are apt to tell severely upon the health and constitution of the ardent, energetic business man, and when the need of some sustaining agent is felt, stimulants that cause only a temporary exhilaration, and leave the system in a state of partial collapse when their first effect has passed off, are too often resorted to. As certainly as fire leaves behind it a residuum of ashes, the use of the adulterated liquors of commerce will inaugurate premature exhaustion and decay. Touch them not. Tone and regulate the overtaxed vital machinery with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

In that wholesome elixir, the alcoholic element which is the purest derivable from any source, is tempered by the choicest tonic, aperient, antibilious and febrific vegetable extracts and juices. To strengthen, recruit, solace and purify the system is the mission of the great vegetable specific. When the stomach is in a healthy condition, the bile flows regularly, the bowels perform their office properly, and the telegraphic fibres of the nervous system are in perfect working order, an enormous amount of labor can be borne without risk or inconvenience, and the direct effect of the Bitters is to promote this vigorous condition of the functions upon which the nourishment of the body, and its power of endurance mainly depend.

The great tonic and alterative is, therefore, emphatically recommended for its remarkable strengthening properties, to all upon whom the responsibilities of life press heavily, and who feel like fainting under the burden. A lively appetite, a splendid digestion, elastic spirits, and a marvellous ability to withstand fatigue, are among the blessings justly ascribed to the invigorating operation of this palatable and powerful cordial, and as a spring and summer alterative, there is nothing in the materia medica that can be compared with it.

☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

This valuable Family Medicine has been widely and favorably known in our own and foreign countries, upwards of

THIRTY YEARS!

It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest.

It is an External and Internal Remedy. For Summer Complaint, or any other form of bowel disease in children or adults, it is an almost certain cure, and has without doubt, been more successful in curing the various kinds of CHOLERA than any other known remedy, or the most skillful physician. In India, Africa and China, where this dreadful disease is more or less prevalent, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as European residents in those climates, a most valuable remedy; and as a most efficacious remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in unskillful hands.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them; that they mildly, but effectually cleanse. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAACA. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is almost equal to the wand of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a universal remedy for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merit, what then shall we think of any preparation I have ever yet known."

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Wanted—A Man To Enlist.

LENT'S NEW YORK CIRCUS, with its full "Brigade of Musicians," comes to-day. Among the principal performers are Melville and his little son; Robert Stickney, the somersault rider, and four-horse equestrian; young Frank Melville, the most agile and intrepid of juvenile equestrians; the Australian family of acrobats; the Levantine Brothers; W. Conrad and his funny little poodles; W. Lester Sagreni, the comic scene rider; Joe Pentland, the most humorous and well bred clown in the profession; and many others whose names will be found in the programme.

But the crowning feature, and one that will commend itself to audiences of culture, or such as can be moved by "Concord of sweet sounds," is the grand orchestral accompaniment to this exhibition, composed of the first talent, under the direction of Prof. Boswold, comprising brass and reed instruments, performing together throughout the entertainments in delightful harmony. They play all the fashionable music of the day, introducing operatic overtures, symphonies, waltzes, quicksteps, &c. William Rolland is said to be the finest cornet soloist in existence. Performances commence at 2 1-2 this afternoon, and 7 1-2 o'clock in the evening, on Middle Street.

THE PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY CONCERT on Thursday evening attracted a large audience, the Middle Street Church being completely filled. The entertainment passed off satisfactorily, the choruses being given with precision and firmness, the orchestral overture rendered beautifully, and Dr. Wilcox producing all the agreeable effects of a fine thunder storm, with none of its inconveniences.

It was one of the best as well as most successful musical entertainments our citizens have heard for a long time; and by request is to be repeated this (Friday) evening, with some variations of programme, at the same place—Dr. Wilcox having kindly consented to remain, and repeat the Thunder Storm, with other exhibitions of his exquisite skill in managing the organ.

The Society has labored under a steady succession of disadvantages in preparing for this concert, and had an up-hill fight with adverse circumstances, which commenced early in the winter and held on almost up to the moment of appearing in public. The regular evening for the Society's weekly rehearsal has been Monday; and the constant unpleasant weather of that day, all through the season, has been a serious drawback to their progress, as many members reside at considerable distances from the hall; at many rehearsals, not more than twenty singers have appeared; several meetings (?) have been entirely unattended; and until within a few weeks, there have not been more than five or six Monday evenings during the season, in which any but the most enthusiastic ladies and gentlemen could be expected to attend.

An attempt was once made to circumvent the clerk of the weather, by appointing a rehearsal for Thursday evening; but the attempt resulted in a miserable failure. On the Thursday morning a furious northeast rain-storm commenced, continuing till next day, and putting an effectual damper on the Society's plan for outwitting the clerk and getting one fair evening for a rehearsal.

Then, when pleasant weather did come at last, the shortness of the evenings and the private business engagements of many of the members made it impossible to secure a full attendance until a comparatively late hour. And even the very last rehearsal, which was to have been in the Church, with full organ and orchestral accompaniment, was a sad disappointment—Dr. Wilcox, fully expected to arrive in time to preside at the organ on that occasion, having unavoidably failed to appear. Judging from the discontent marked on many faces—on pretty as well as on bearded ones—that evening, the brilliant organist could have easily procured materials for a new "Thunder Storm" from among the Portsmouth Philharmonic Society, just then.

That the Society has been enabled to give such an entertainment as the concert of Thursday evening, in face of all discouragements, speaks well for the material of which it is composed; and is alike creditable to the vocalists, to the ability of the Conductor, Mr. A. Pearson, and to the Orchestra, whose invaluable assistance and support is acknowledged by every member of the organization.

Those who enjoy music of an elevated character have an opportunity to gratify their taste in the repetition of the concert, and doubtless a large proportion of those present on Thursday evening will again attend; and the knowledge that Wilcox's Thunder Storm is to be again presented will pretty surely suffice to fill the building. Tickets may be procured of Joy, Thacher and Preston, and at the door—and by the members of the Society, of Mr. W. N. Ilsley.

☞ Mr. Lang commenced operations on the extension of Summer Street, agreeably to his contract, on Thursday

NAVAL.—Captain R. W. Shufeldt is detached from the Miantonomah and ordered to ordnance duty at the Portsmouth Navy Yard.

☞ The alarm of fire about 10 o'clock, Wednesday night, was occasioned by the burning of a freight car loaded with hay, near the Kittery depot.

☞ The House and Lot No. 4 Cabot Street, recently owned by Mr. Wm. H. Murray, was sold on Wednesday by Betton & Co., auctioneers, to Mr. A. J. Sides, for $1575.

☞ Col. Andrew H. Young, the very courteous and gentlemanly Collector of Internal Revenue for this District, will be in town to-day and to-morrow, to receive the favors of our citizens in his line, and dispense his own,—at his usual rooms in the Custom House building, western end.

☞ The Portsmouth Cornet Band are having new pants made at Wm. P. Walker's City Clothing Store. On which Squibbs says that our Band having blowed so long and so well, it is to be expected they should now pant; and who better fitted to get up marching uniform, than a Walker?

NICE TEAS AND COFFEES.—We understand that the Oriental Tea Co. of Boston have about completed arrangements here for the sale of their goods, through a new agency which will be kept supplied with a full stock of all the different grades (over sixty varieties) of their pure teas and coffees, packed fresh in air tight tin cans, and for sale at the same low prices that they have won such a reputation for in Boston.

Epicures and all who love a good cup of these wonderful drinks which cheer but cannot inebriate, and who know when they get it, as well as those prudent housewives who appreciate a saving in their household bills, (and who does not?) will thus have an opportunity to obtain the celebrated Male Berry Java, Black Dragon Chop, and all other kinds, as fresh, nice and cheap as though they lived in Boston.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, Wednesday the evening session was devoted to Mr. Cragin's speech in favor of the bill abolishing polygamy in Utah. Mr. Cragin gave a long description of the unhappy state of affairs in Utah, protraying forcibly the fearful evils of the system of polygamy, and said, in reply to the repeated threats of war from Mormon sources, that he did not share in the apprehensions that war would result from an attempt to enforce the bill. War or no war, he was in favor of enforcing the laws and breaking up the vilest nest of vipers on the continent. The Gentile element was gradually increasing in Utah, and the Pacific Railroad would bring about a peaceful victory. When the tide of civilization shall fairly throw its waves over the Rocky Mountains, the wicked and blasphemous career of Brigham Young would be at an end, and the loathsome and festering monster of polygamous Mormonism must perish and be burned out of sight.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,

Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500 and $100,

and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

Morning Chronicle.

NEW HAMPSHIRE FARMING.—Levi Bartlett, of Warner, the veteran agricultural writer of New Hampshire, contrasts our own State most favorably with the Western States:

When contrasted with many other States in the Union, New Hampshire does not rank very high as an agricultural State. We have not the fertile and easily worked soils of the west, nor the milder climate of the sunny south. But we "still live," and I think it can be shown that the old Granite State is not, in an agricultural point of view, such a poverty-stricken, God-forsaken part of creation as some would have us believe.

Every part of our country has its advantages and disadvantages. We have many inconveniences, as farmers, to contend with, and so they have everywhere else. But, upon the whole, I have come to the conclusion that the great majority of the farmers of New Hampshire have as few real evils to contend with as have the farmers in any other section of the country, and to substantiate the truthfulness of the above assertion, I give a large array of facts, that can neither "be hushed up or coughed down."

According to the statistical reports of the Department of Agriculture for 1867, there were but four States in the Union that gave a larger average number of bushels per acre than New Hampshire in 1867. This and 1866 were rather unfavorable seasons for the corn crop, but New Hampshire farmers harvested fair crops of sound corn, while in both years scarcely half the corn was merchantable in a portion of Illinois, and some others of the Western States. From all statistics we learn that our State is not far behind the best of them, either old or new, for growing good crops of corn.

My old friend, W. D. Locke of New Ipswich, last spring procured two quarts of the Surprise oats. He sowed broadcast a little over three pints, and harvested two bushels and two quarts, weighing about forty pounds per bushel. He let a neighbor have less than a pint; these were carefully drilled in, and the yield was three and a half bushels—at the rate of two hundred and twenty-four bushels for one bushel sown. Quite a satisfactory yield.

As I said in the outset, every section of our country has its advantages and its disadvantages. The farming operations in New England are carried on in a small way, contrasted with many other sections of our widely extended country. But, notwithstanding this, we are slow in believing that there is any section of our country where all the essential elements of human happiness are more generally diffused, or where there is more equality, genuine hospitality, and pecuniary independence; or where, taken as a whole, there are better finished and furnished farm-houses or more substantial, well built and well filled barns, than are to be found in most portions of the old Granite State.

RAISING CELERY.—Colonel Freas of the Germantown Telegraph, sums up the whole manner of raising celery thus: The successful raising of celery is one of the most difficult things to achieve in garden culture. It requires nearly as much attention as hot-grapes. The failure in raising this vegetable, which is the rule, is mainly from the neglect of certain conditions. These are, 1. Trenches should be dug from eight to ten inches in depth, in rich soil. 2. The trenches should be half filled with well rotted manure, mixed with the soil, in which the plants should be set well down. 3. There should be only a single row of plants, instead of two or more as is commonly the case. 4. The plants should be set out from ten days to two weeks earlier than is customary; that is to say, for the first crop the last week in June, and the rest or the bulk of the crop in the first two weeks in July. Boards should be placed over the rows to protect the plants from the scorching of the sun from ten till four o'clock, until they have taken a firm grasp of the earth and commenced growing.

They should be watered for some time, in the absence of rain, twice a day, afterwards once a day. After growing about eight inches the earth should be carefully drawn to the rows and continued gradually as the growth progresses. Manure water is excellent and should be applied at least twice a week until the middle of October. Guano water is the best.

In drawing the earth to the plants care must be taken not to cover the leaders and stunt the growth. Use the hand altogether in distributing the soil about the plants and releasing the leaves when covered. Celery can be produced four feet in length from the root to the top of the leaves, by good management, and we have so grown it more than once upon our premises.

THE BEST SOIL FOR MOST FLOWERS, and especially for young plants and for seedlings, is a mellow loam, containing so much sand that it will not "bake" after hard showers. If we have not such a soil, we must, of course, use the best we have. A stiff clay soil can be much improved by a little sand, or ashes, or manure, and by pretty constant working. It must not, however, be handled when too wet. Always drain the flower-garden so that no water will be on or near the surface. Don't try to grow good flowers in a poor soil.

KEEPING A FARM JOURNAL. — No doubt there are many farmers who commence business with a determination to keep a daily record of their operations on the farm, and the execution of them. This resolve is carried into execution for a time, but after a while intermissions in these jottings occur, and finally they cease altogether. This delinquency does not prove that the practice is not a good one, and as an incentive to perseverance, we would cite a case of a man who commenced farm life barehanded, but eventually attained great wealth—a result he attributed in great measure to a daily journalizing of his farming operations—a practice kept up for forty-five years, and not then discontinued.

These daily memoranda were made in books of convenient size, each containing the records of a single year, and when fell, properly labelled and filed away for future reference when desirable. They contained the number of fields farmed each year, the character of the crop, the estimated or actual yield, the amount of labor bestowed, the names of the parties employed each day, the rate of compensation, the daily receipts for stock and farm produce sold, money paid out, and for what purpose, the character of the weather, together with such reflections as the current news of the day supplied.

This journal was uniformly written up each night just before retiring to rest, but when the party was absent, as was occasionally the case, it was the duty of the person in charge to make the necessary memoranda each evening. These records were often appealed to, to decide disputed points in regard to the weather and crops of particular seasons, and not infrequently taken before the courts for the purpose of determining the date of particular local transactions. At first these nightly records may prove rather irksome, but if the practice is kept up perseveringly for two or three years it becomes a habit, pleasurable rather than otherwise, and profitable to the parties who steadily pursue it.—Am. Farmer.

☞ The Boston Saturday Evening Gazette has been purchased by Mr. H. G. Parker, who has been for many years connected with the Boston press, has had much experience in the specialties appertaining to the weekly newspaper, and his ability and energy will infuse fresh life into this old and honored weekly. No man has a better understanding of what the readers of that journal desire, and we shall be surprised if in freshness, variety and enterprise he does not make his paper a model sheet. We welcome him to the field of weekly secular journalism with entire cordiality.

☞ Not very complimentary to the press, the idea that the Exeter News Letter, the Manchester Mirror, and other papers, hold out — that their brethren are governed in the Senatorial or any other question, solely or mainly by private interest in the matter.

—The growth of Republicanism is well shown by a comparison of the Governors of States now with those of 1860. Ten years ago the list showed 15 Republican Governors, 19 Democrats and a Know Nothing. Now the Governors of twenty-eight States are Republicans, seven are Democrats and two rank as Conservatives.

The Chronicle.

THE MCFARLAND CASE.—Edwin Bynner tells a story of an "old clo' man," of the Hebrew persuasion, who found himself obstructed in the sale of a coat by the suspicions of his customer, who kept smelling of the sleeves, turning up his nose, and insisting upon the question, "What makes it smell so?" Finally the Hebrew parried the question by taking the blame upon himself. "Bless you! (said he) it ish me that smells!" So, McFarland's lawyers seem ed bent on getting their client acquitted, by showing how much more they deserve hanging than he does.

Graham had a hard time of it, after Spencer withdrew, playing the part of two rascals in one piece. But he did it very well. How Mr. Greeley and the Tribune loom up in contrast with the New York press generally since the trial began! And Mrs. Runkle, who was so shamefully abused the first day, tho' her letters needed no apology or vindication, has fairly put the whole beggarly crowd of her accusers to shame by her straight-forward, upright and downright testimony.

Surely, nobody wants McFarland hanged, though it is hard to tell why he should escape the gallows; but it is easy to see that poor Richardson's memory is coming out unscathed, for there is nothing yet to show that he was guilty of seduction or of anything beyond imprudence and improper opinions as to the validity of an Indiana divorce, and as to his right to fall in love with a woman who had been compelled to leave her husband by his drunkenness and abusive conduct. His offenses, at any rate, whiten into virtue by the side of the gang who have been engaged for a month in libelling him and Mrs. McFarland.—"Warrington," in Springfield Republican.

The editor of the Boston Commonwealth, who was well acquainted with all the parties, and denounces the way in which the defence was managed, remarks:—

"One can hardly read the salient points of evidence in this case without feeling that, if the same efforts had been made by friends to heal the difference between Mr. and Mrs. McFarland that were put forth to separate and alienate them, they would be living in comparatively happy accord to-day. An appeal to his better nature by his wife's friends—a holding-aloof from interference in their domestic affairs—would probably have brought reconciliation, and in time, doubtless, as much concord in the family as comes to one-half the married state. * * A little more patience with human infirmities, a closer appreciation of the obligations enjoined by the marriage covenant, and a studious letting-alone of other people's domestic affairs, would have secured reasonable happiness in one, and the peace and sweet recollection of many another, family."

MANCHESTER & LAWRENCE RAILROAD.—The annual report states the earnings of the road for the year ending March 31, at $196,416.49, and the expenses $93,786.86; making the net earnings $102,929.63. From this two dividends of five per cent. have been paid—$100,000—leaving $2,629.63 to be added to reserved fund, which now amounts to $51,336.53. The road is in good condition, the rolling stock and track having been kept good, and the fencing improved. The business has been prosperous, showing an increase of earnings over the previous year, and a prospect for future improvement.

After referring to several other matters, the Report speaks of the contract between the Concord & Northern Roads and expresses the opinion that the effect of it will be favorable to the interests of the Manchester & Lawrence Road. As this road is leased to the Concord Road, its Directors have little control over it and little to do except to see that the Concord Road fulfils its contract—just as the Directors of the Concord Road hereafter will have to watch the Northern.

—An English sailor was washed overboard from a ship in the South Atlantic last year. The case was duly reported to the British Vice-Consul at the port next visited, who granted a certificate to the captain of the vessel, of which the following portion is rather Hibernian:—"I hereby certify that the within named —— has been discharged and left behind at sea on the alleged ground of being drowned; that I have inquired into the matter, and find the allegation true and the ground sufficient; and I have accordingly granted my sanction to his being so left behind."

Elder Pettingill of Carroll, while loading up household goods preparatory to removal, was severely hit in the stomach, and after w[illegible]king about two miles fell and died. He was 65 years old.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about six months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight ounces! We now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly afflicted to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that, after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they other wise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

DR KEYSER
is a physician of ever thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Incosed please find our rate advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold:

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently). When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had taken the third bottle, but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, but the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which stickered together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so bad! I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but rluce that has passed, which is eight weeks ago and nothing has come yet, as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have tired you enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park.
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Remedy received by the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the care of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily mortifying attendance of the chambermaid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children of every body may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Supt and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney complaints, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using Fluid Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and more quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. I was advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, he being in the habit of examining of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to deferter, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

DODD'S NERVINE
Is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. Every body knows that good sleep is better than all medicines. And all folks that should use this truly wonderful medicine.
DODD'S NERVINE
Is one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS.
For Whooping Cough.
DODD'S NERVINE is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in Measles, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or powerful relief. Remember, it contains no OPIUM in any form.
LOOK OUT FOR COLDS.
It is proverbial that people treat a cold (and the hacking cough accompanying cough) as something that will cure itself; but neglect in this respect is sometimes fatal. The fame of DODD'S NERVINE for the relief of colds is established. Use this standard remedy, and so far as possible, all liquids of all kinds as to keep somewhat thirsty for a few days, and the worst cold will soon be gone.
DODD'S NERVINE
Is a PURE TONIC—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE—gives increased energy to the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, and other viscera—and supplies FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It operates soothingly—is as pleasant to take as any wine, and will SLEEP AND GOOD DIGESTION, which it promotes, restore the afflicted to sound health of body and quietness of mind. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine, (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative power. my17tw

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the accumulation of contamination, until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unbidden tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection through out the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.

Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and in time, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or kindred forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the painful affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for probably some scrofulous maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.

Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of a Weak State, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, MAY, 21, 1870.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, Thursday, the debate on the bill to enforce the Fifteenth Amendment was continued. The judiciary committee reported on the Georgia corruption business, showing that indirect efforts had been made to bribe senators, and that Governor Bullock had spent enormous sums of money for various questionable methods of influencing the opinions of senators. The committee found that wholly unsuccessful attempts were made to buy Senators Tipton and Carpenter, that reports of outrages in Georgia were furnished to order and paid for by the Bullock party.

The House debated Mr. Lynch's bill for the relief of commerce and ship building.

ANOTHER CONGRESSIONAL BAT.—In the House of Representatives, Thursday, the diplomatic appropriation bill gave rise to a lively time. The debate was in the customary vein till a motion came up for restoring the mission to Rome which was abolished 3 or 4 years ago. The democrats have tried every session since then to make party capital by bidding for the Catholic vote on this question, and no one doubted that they would again indulge in their usual rhodomontade.

Mr. Bingham intimated that Mr. Brooks of New York was only bidding for the Roman Catholic vote.

Mr. Dawes also replied to Mr. Brooks, and Mr. Voorhees of Indiana twitted Mr. Dawes with representing a State that burned witches and convents.

Mr. Bingham replied indignantly. He "had said what no gentleman had chosen to reply to, that the syllabus, issued but recently with the sanction and under the direction of the ruler, temporal and spiritual, of the See of Rome, struck at the freedom of conscience, at the right of religion, at the freedom of representative government, and at the right of the people to establish and maintain their own forms of government, in short at all the advanced and accepted ideas of the Nineteenth Century, and he did not believe that any gentleman on the opposite side of the House would dare this day to republish that syllabus and declare that he accepted it as his creed either morally or politically."

Mr. Dawes referred to Mr. Brooks who had formerly been an advocate of Know-nothingism.

Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts declared that the statement as to the burning of witches in Massachusetts is entirely false; that no human being had ever been burned at the stake within the limits of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Mr. Voorhees—(excitedly). That is not true.

Mr. Hoar went on to say that a few people were responsible for burning a convent, not the State of Massachusetts. In conclusion he said "It did not become the political friends of the man who had buried alive our soldiers at Fort Pillow, or of those men who had burned the orphan asylums at New York, and had hung negroes on lamp posts," to talk of the cruelty in a past age.

Before Mr. Hoar could finish his sentence, Mr. Voorhees and several other democratic members vociferated order, order, rose, and Mr. Voorhees exclaimed at the top of his voice, and in a highly excited manner, "Every word he says is false, and he knows it." At this time, many members were on their feet, making excited gestures and motions of various kinds, amid which nothing could be distinctly recognized by the chair.

Mr. Hoar was rigidly cool and serious after having launched the dart which had so stung Mr. Voorhees.

Mr. Voorhees was repeating the charge of falsehood against Mr. Hoar, and refusing to take it back or modify it.

Messrs. Stevens, Cox and others demanded that the offensive words be taken down.

Finally, Mr. Voorhees' remarks having been written out by the official reporter and read, were declared by the chairman (Mr. Ingersoll) out of order, and on Mr. Hoar's remarks, which Mr. Cox persisted in having written and read, the chair ruled the language as rather pungent but not unparliamentary, which was received with universal shouts of laughter.

The Sherman bill reducing taxation will relieve the country to the extent of $43,600,000, and leave an aggregate of $116,400,000.

It is calculated that 20,000 fraudulent votes were cast by "repeaters" in New York city.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES—No. 2.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

THE SECOND CONGREGATIONAL MINISTER IN PORTSMOUTH.—Rev. Joshua Moody, whom we sketched in the preceding number, died in 1697. The meeting was the only one in town, which then embraced Greenland, Newington and a part of Rye. Newcastle had been disannexed, but had preaching only a part of the time. The meeting in Portsmouth was consequently fully attended.

The second pastor was Rev. Nathaniel Rogers. He was born, we think, in Ipswich, Mass. His genealogy is honorable. It is traced back in a direct line to John Rogers, the first martyr in Queen Mary's reign, burnt at the stake in 1555. The martyr had a grandson, Rev. John Rogers, who lived in Dedham, England. This Rev. John had a son Nathaniel, also a minister. He came to this country and settled in Ipswich, Mass., in 1639. And what is remarkable and interesting, the martyr John Rogers had descendants in the ministry in almost if not quite every generation from his death down to within a few years. Queen Mary designed to rid the world of the Protestant faith, but her success was very poor. We should have said that Rev. Daniel Rogers, the first pastor of the second Congregational church in Exeter, was one of this Rogers family.

Mr. Rogers of Portsmouth was son of Rev. Mr. Rogers, for some time President of Harvard College. He graduated at that College in 1687. Within a few weeks after Mr. Moody's death, he was invited to Portsmouth. He came, but in those times frequently the people had a fair trial of the minister and the minister of the people, before a permanent settlement. And when a settlement was made, it was intended it should last till death or incapability ended it. Frequent changes of pastors were not known then.

Mr. Rogers supplied nearly two years, and then (May 3, 1699) was ordained.

From such accounts as we are able to gather, it appears that he was an efficient, successful minister. During his pastorate of 24 years, members of his congregation had societies of their own, with pastors, in Newcastle, Newington, Rye and Greenland. So where there was but one church at his settlement there were five when he closed.

But his meeting was the only one in Portsmouth proper, and it is presumed the congregation was large. We do not know the dimensions of the meeting house, which stood in the vicinity of the South mill-dam, but in those times about all were large.

The settlements becoming great farther north of the church and in what has long been the business part of the town, it was concluded to build a house of worship there. A spacious one was erected although there was much opposition, many wishing to remain where their fathers had worshiped. This new one stood near the Parade and is recollected by many. It was three stories in height, and had two galleries, one above the other. It would hold a throng, and for a time—a century or three-quarters of a century ago perhaps—more attended there than in any other church in the State. But finally the old North church in Concord had more.

It should be noted, too, besides towns being disannexed and churches constituted, a second Congregational church was constituted in Portsmouth. The house of worship was long known as the South, or old South. Rev. John Emerson was settled pastor in 1713. The existence of this church originated from opposition to locating the new meeting house so far north as the Parade. That meeting became larger.

Mr. Rogers' ministry terminated with his death in 1723. The town was just 100 years old at his death. It had had but two pastors, with the exception of Mr. Gibson, who supplied the Episcopalian church for a time previous to 1642. Centennial celebrations were not then thought of. The town waited another 100 years, to 1823, when it had one worthy of the name. In the mean time, however, Rev. Timothy Allen, pastor of the South church, sometime after 1799, delivered a historical discourse, we are told; but we do not know whether it was printed.

Elijah Munsell, of Monson, who some weeks ago caught the small pox and ignorantly spread the contagion to his family and neighbors, hung himself in his house Tuesday night. His wife, mother and two children have died with the dire disease within two weeks. Despondency from his terrible bereavement undoubtedly drove him to suicide.

BOOKS OF FOREIGN TRAVEL.—Every year there is an increase in the stream of travel. The oceanic steamer lines have their state-rooms engaged months beforehand, and soon it will be a distinction not to have gone to Europe. Every one who goes provides his trunk or bag with such wearing apparel as he needs, and packs all he can into a small compass. But he would be very foolish to omit packing his head too with the mental clothing he will need abroad. H. O. Houghton & Co. name several books in the advertisement this week which are the productions of intelligent travellers, who have moreover put what they had to say into brief, portable form. Any one of the books would be a good one to take to read on the way; and stay-at-home travellers, who hope to go, or have been, or do not expect to go, can travel by proxy in company with Peabody, Hoppin, Howells, Jarves, Darley, and the sensible author of "An American Family in Paris."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Wear and Tear of Business Life.

The cares and labors of business life are apt to tell severely upon the health and constitution of the ardent, energetic business man, and when the need of some sustaining agent is felt, stimulants that cause only a temporary exhilaration, and leave the system in a state of partial collapse when their first effect has passed off, are too often resorted to. As certainly as fire leaves behind it a residuum of ashes, the use of the adulterated liquors of commerce produces premature exhaustion and decay. Touch them not. Tone and regulate the overtaxed vital machinery with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

In that wholesome elixir, the alcoholic element which is the purest derivable from any source, is tempered by the choicest tonic, aperient, anti-bilious and anti-febrile vegetable extracts and juices. To strengthen, recruit, solace and purify the system is the mission of the great vegetable specific. When the stomach is in a healthy condition, the bile flows regularly, the bowels perform their office properly, and the telegraphic fibres of the nervous system are in perfect working order, an enormous amount of labor can be borne without risk or inconvenience, and the direct effect of the Bitters is to promote this vigorous condition of the functions upon which the nourishment of the body, and its power or endurance mainly depend.

The great tonic and alterative is, therefore, emphatically recommended for its remarkable strengthening properties, to all upon whom the responsibilities of life press heavily, and who feel like fainting under the burthen. A lively appetite, a splendid digestion, elastic spirits, and a marvellous ability to withstand fatigue, are among the blessings justly ascribed to the renovating operation of this palatable and powerful cordial, and as a spring and summer alterative, there is nothing in the materia medica that can be compared with it.

PAIN KILLER
Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors,
1840. PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1870.

Time tests the Merits of all Things.
FOR THIRTY YEARS!
PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

This valuable Family Medicine has been widely and favorably known in our own and foreign countries, upwards of

THIRTY YEARS!

It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest.

It is an External and Internal Remedy. For Summer Complaint, or any other form of bowel disease in children or adults, it is an almost certain cure, and has without doubt, been more successful in curing the various kinds of CHOLERA than any other known remedy, or the most skillful physician. In India, Africa and China, where this dreadful disease is more or less prevalent, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as European residents in those climates sure remedy; and while it is a most efficient remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in unskillful hands.

Directions accompany each bottle.
Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the activity of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have prepared my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives the best satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet thrown."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a test. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

as PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. mh12dawlm

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

New Books—Houghton & Co., Cambridge.

Notice—Memorial Day.
Engagement Wanted—A Dressmaker.

☞ An item in this column Thursday, repeated a rumor that a certain newspaper writer had been obliged to change his boarding place because of unwelcome advances to a young lady. We are informed by the lady's father himself, that there is no truth in the statement—that there was no difficulty of the sort, and that the change was made for no such reason. We willingly make the correction—for we wish not to misrepresent any man, no matter what his course toward us. Especially would we not in any manner compromise the fair fame of any lady—and we did not, even by intimation. F.

NAVY YARD FIRE DEPARTMENT.—Government has now a very efficient and well appointed Fire Department at this Naval Station; having (besides one common hand engine,) two steamers—the "Cataract," Wm. W. Fellows foreman, and George Manent and Henry Taylor engineers; and the "Union," Daniel Parry foreman, and Wm. Otis engineer—the whole directed by Edwin C. Neally, Chief of Fire Department. They were called out on Tuesday for monthly inspection, without previous notice, and had a stream of water playing in five minutes, through about a quarter of a mile of hose.

FISH STORIES.—Take a strip of halibut 4 feet long, 15 inches wide, weighing from about 15 to 20 lbs., just caught, and lay it skin side down on a plank, stick a pitch-folk in the centre and try to lift. No man in the city of Portsmouth can raise it, says our Newcastle savan.

He is responsible also for the following. A person fishing from a schooner had bites from two cusks. The cusks held on by their tails between the rocks so that they could not be pulled in. The line was made fast to the schooner, which sailed off and both heads of the cusks came off. Cusks are obstinate fishes, you know.

☞ The Southern mackerel fleet embraces a large number of vessels from the Cape Cod fishing towns, Salem, Gloucester, Rockport, Newburyport, Portsmouth and the Maine fishing ports, all of which are now upon the fishing grounds improving the good weather. The prospect for a successful catch is quite promising, mackerel having been taken in Cape Cod Bay in considerable numbers and a few having been caught along the shore. Two Newburyport schooners were at New York last Thursday, where they disposed of about 40 bbls. of fresh mackerel, the result of a single day's fishing, at prices which realized about $13.50 per bbl.

☞ Among the attendants at the Philharmonic Concert, Thursday evening, were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Lawrence of Epping. Mrs. L. is a native of this city, and both formerly resided here; and both are fine musicians, and were and now are indentified with the very best of our home music. We have heard all the good concerts given in Portsmouth for more than thirty years; and at the close of the Mass, we remarked that this was the best of all in the chorus line. Mr. Lawrence, besides being a thorough musician, is an able critic, and he remarked the same to us as we have stated, and more—that this was the best concert ever given in the city — and his memory runs back to Cooper, Ostinelli, Jack Thompson, and the rest of the notables forty years ago.

And there is no doubt of it — for the music is sublime, the chorus was astonishingly effective considering its size, the organ-playing was immense, and the Orchestra astonished and delighted everybody. And this last was a great feature, and one which was never combined with a good organ before here.

Well may the Society be satisfied with this peformance,—and congratulate themselves on having for a conductor one whose precision of time and sturdy drill was well shown by the solidity and accuracy of the varied and broken music. Mr. Pearson is certainly one of best musical conductors who ever swung the baton in this old city.

Besides Mr. Lawrence, who was a member of the old Portsmouth Music Society, there were one or two other members present in the audience; and in the chorus were Messrs. John Christie and E. M. Brown, of the Portsmouth Sacred Music Society, a later institution, of which Mr. Christie was the very efficient conductor. A lady member of the Philharmonic, absent on this occasion, was also of the Sacred Music Society.

THE TINKER'S KETTLE QUESTION.—The answer to this problem, submitted in your paper of 7th inst., is, 24.40 inches top diameter, 14.64 inches bottom diameter. N. D.

This was likewise answered by G. R. and I. N. F. with the same result.

☞ Mr. Brooks of Boston, a stockholder of the Northern New Hampshire Railroad Company, has filed a bill in equity in the United States District Court in this city, asking an injunction against the completion of the contract with the Concord Railroad.

☞ In the Naval Appropriation bill, which has passed the U. S. House of Representatives, there are no appropriations for second clerks to commandants at the various Navy Yards. At this Yard, the salary of clerk to civil engineer is raised from $1200 to $1400, and the salary of clerk of pay rolls in the same department is raised from $1400 to $1500.

☞ The Dover Cornet Band, under Jerry Rothwell, seem to meet with great favor in their Concerts, of which they have given three of late—with vocal assistance, including Portsmouth talent. At the Concert last week, the Dover Gazette says "Mr. Chase, from Portsmouth, made a handsome and successful debut in the song, No Tongue Can Tell, and was well received. His Dream of Home settled his status as a singer of no inferior order. At an urgent request on the part of the audience, Mr. C. H. Tompson played a cornet solo, Home, Sweet Home, with a charming sweetness of expression. Jerry Rothwell's Trombone Solo, Sweet Spirit, was one of the finest features in the programme." Another concert by this Band was given on Thursday evening, and Mrs. Marcy and Mr. Tompson of this city assisted.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET

AT HOME AND ABROAD.

TRAVEL, HISTORY, ART, and POLITICS.

Spring time is moving time, and while half the American world is getting ready to go to Europe, and the other half to California, the remainder are stay-at-home travellers, and wish to read the best books in travel and home history.

SEVEN BOOKS ON EUROPE.

"One must carry the wealth of Indies with him to the Indies if he would bring it back."

1. REMINISCENCES OF EUROPEAN TRAVEL.

By Professor A. P. PEABODY. $1.50.

Professor Peabody took the familiar route in Europe, and has written a very agreeable account of what all travellers wish to see but cannot so well describe.

2. AN AMERICAN FAMILY IN PARIS.

Fifty-eight illustrations. $1.50.

A book professedly written for the young, but readable by all. It gives a clear and straightforward account of the sights of that wonderful city, and is illustrated with beautiful pictures.

3. THE PILGRIM'S WALLET.

By GILBERT HAVEN. $2.00.

Crowded with experience of travel, minutely and racily described.

4. OLD ENGLAND.

By Professor HOPPIN. $2.00

The book of an American thoroughly read in English Literature, ready to enjoy all of Old England without ever forgetting his New England education.

5. (a.) VENETIAN LIFE, (b.) ITALIAN JOURNEYS.

Mr. HOWELLS' two books. Each $2.00

Unquestionably the most generally admired of American books on Italy.

6. Art Thoughts.

By JAMES JACKSON JARVES. $2.50

No better preparation for seeing foreign picture galleries could be obtained than by reading this latest book of the most eminent American art critic.

7. SKETCHES ABROAD WITH PEN AND PENCIL.

By. F. O. C. DARLEY. 88 illustrations. $3.50

A bright, entertaining, and beautiful souvenir of travel.

AMERICA.

We are just beginning to discover the more than Indian wealth in the untravelled regions of our own country.

1. The Heart of the Continent.

By FITZHUGH LUDLOW. With illustrations. 1 vol. 8 vo. 570 pages. $3.75.

The book takes the reader over the most wonderful part of our country, into the famous Yo-Semite country, and also to Oregon. It gives besides a most thorough turning inside out of the Mormon question.

2. THE OPEN POLAR SEA.

By DR. HAYES. Thirty-five engravings; three charts. $3.75. The same, popular edition, $2.50.

A most captivating and thrilling account of the great voyage of discovery toward the North Pole. Dr. Hayes was commander of the expedition.

3. TWO THOUSAND MILES ON HORSEBACK.

Santa Fe and Back.

A Summer Tour through Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, and New Mexico, in the year 1866.

By JAMES F. MELINE. 1 vol. $2.00.

4. THE INDIAN PASS.

A Tramp Through the Woods.

By ALFRED B. STREET. 1 vol. $1.50.

A narrative of adventure in the wildest part of the famous Adirondack region.

TWO BOOKS FOR EVERY AMERICAN.

I.

THE NATION.

THE NATION: The Foundations of Civil Life and Political Order in the United States.

By E. MULFORD. 1 vol. 8vo. $3.50.

This book, just issued, promises to be accounted the most thorough, comprehensive, and sound statement yet made of American national life. Every voter should read it. It goes to the bottom of things, and is a live book.

II.

A HISTORY OF NEW ENGLAND.

By JOHN G. PALFREY. In two volumes. $5.00.

The standard History of New England. After an acquaintance with his family history, every New England boy ought to know the history of his home, as planted by his ancestors.

OF THE

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad

Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,

Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500 and $100,

and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

Morning Chronicle.

SENATOR CRAGIN, THE PUBLIC LANDS, AND PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.—We have never been among those who denounce all who receive any portion of the public domain for Railroad purposes, as plunderers and land-grabbers. But we are among those who would like to see the Northern Pacific Railroad laid soon. Regarding both these matters, the Nashua Telegraph has received the following letter from Hon. A. H. Cragin, with a request to publish.

U.S.SENATE, WASHINGTON May 16.

Orren C. Moore, Esq.,—Dear sir: My opinion of your character will not allow me to believe you would intentionally make a false statement against me, or misrepresent me, in order to defeat my re-election, or for any other purpose. In the Telegraph of the 14th inst. you say:

"As Senator Cragin voted the other day for the Joint Resolution making a new grant of forty-seven million acres of public lands to the Northern Pacific Railroad, it strikes us that the Monitor, if it is sincere in its warfare on these land grabs, should also 'cry aloud and spare not' for rotation,"

Hardly anything could be further from the truth than the first part of this statement. I never voted for any such resolution, and I would sooner cut off my right hand than vote for a new or additional grant of forty-seven million acres of land to the Northern Pacific Railroad. I presume you have fallen into the same error that others have, concerning this matter, and this, from the false statements of the enemies of the Northern Pacific Railroad. The resolution referred to does not increase the number of acres of land originally granted. The object of the resolution as first introduced was to enable the Company to issue their bonds and mortgage the lands granted in 1864.

But the Committee on Pacific Railroads thought, as some of the lands heretofore granted to this road, in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Oregon, had been disposed of by the Government, since the grant, they would make up that deficiency, as this was promised in the original charter. I voted for the resolution with the full understanding and belief that it made no new or additional grant of lands, and, as a matter of fact, no such additional grant is made, except what may be occasioned by a change of the original line of the road shown to be necessary by surveys on the Pacific side.

Senator Howard in the debate on the resolution said:—"Mr. President, the Senator (Mr. Harlan) has criticised the language of the proposition before us. He insists that the object of the first clause of the resolution is to enlarge the grant which was made to the company. I deny it. It has not that effect. It contemplates no such thing. The original charter of the company granted to it through the States through which the line of the road should run ten sections of land on each side of the line, and through the territories, twenty sections on each side of the line; and it proceeds to say, 'and whenever prior to said time'—that is, prior to the time of fixing the line—'any of said sections or parts of sections shall have been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or pre-empted or otherwise disposed of, other lands shall be selected by said company in lieu thereof.'

That was the original promise made to this company by its charter — to grant to the company sufficient land in lieu of sections already disposed of by the government, to make up the quantum of sections contemplated in the previous part of the act, to furnish new sections in lieu thereof."

This statement by the chairman of the Committee covers the whole case. The original grant referred to by him, was made in 1864, before I came to the Senate, and was a very large grant of land—forty-seven million acres. The resolution referred to by you has this effect simply: It enlarges the area within which selections may be made to supply deficiencies occasioned by government sales, or the attachment of homestead or pre-emption rights, since 1864, the date of the original charter. But the right to have those deficiencies made up was given by the original charter, as above shown by Senator Howard.

I voted for Senator Wilson's amendment requiring that the lands granted to make up deficiencies should be sold to actual settlers at not exceeding an average price of two dollars and fifty cents per acre. I hope the House will engraft that amendment upon the resolution. I send you a copy of the resolution, as it passed the Senate, in order that you may judge for yourself as to the correctness of the above statement. I regard the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad as an enterprise of great national importance, and more especially so to New England.

Truly Yours, A. H. CRAGIN.

The Telegraph does not approve Mr. Cragin's vote for the bill, however, but says it did not originate the charge referred to, but that it appeared in the Monitor before the Telegraph published it. Nobody will credit any charge of land-grabbing against Mr. Cragin, or any member of our New Hampshire delegation in Congress.

—A valuable horse belonging to A. P. Huntress of Biddeford, broke loose from a post, and ran, upset the wagon, smashing it to pieces, fell down, and broke his hind leg. The leg was set by John Gains, Esq., and it is hoped the animal may recover.

Four lumbermen were drowned in the Penobscot River, Thursday.

YEARNING.

Tell us, kind Stars, with jewelled sandals pressing
The radiant splendors on Night's mystic floor,
Where are the dear ones that to our caressing
Responed no more?

We would but know where we might run and find them
In that bright world where all the blessed are;
Lest we should mourn, to be thus left behind them,
So lone and far.

We miss them from the old accustomed places,
With Friendship's tried memories entwined,
Where Love has sanctified the faintest traces
They left behind.

We call them fondly when the Night-Priest
His silver censor in the templed sky; [swinged
But to our ear, each answering echo bringeth
But this—Good bye.

And when the lark soars gally, singing over
Out through the golden gateway of the morn;
In their loved haunts we seek them—but they
To us return. [never.

Have ye not seen their angel pinions gleaming
Across your pathways, heavenward and far?
Have ye not caught the quenchless light outstreaming
Through gates ajar? [streaming

And did ye hear the songs of the immortals,
The while their harps flashed back Heaven's
Lost ye thought
And the strong warbler's welcome, as the portals
Wide open flew?

Do not soft eyes look down yon shining vistas?
Do not sweet voices chide our long delay?
Are no white hands stretched earth-ward to assist us
Up the steep way? [us

With restless feet we pace our narrow prison,
We beat the casement bars that shut us in,
Eager to rise where they before have risen,
From Sense and Sin.

O, Stars! ye shine but coldly on our sorrow,
Nor will ye heed Affection's urgent quest;
And we must wait till God's sure-coming morrow
Gives us, too, Rest.

New Hampshire Items.

The burglars in Concord still keep at their work. On the night of the 17th, the house of Robert N. Harris was entered and the sum of $25 taken from the vest pocket of Mr. H. in his bedroom. Nothing else was taken. His fellow workmen on the railroad have been contributing to make up the sum lost.

The Manchester Mirror states that all the manufacturing establishments of that city approve of the contract between the Concord and Northern Railroads.

In the Hopkinton Association of Congregational clergymen, at Concord, Rev. Mr. Savage of Franklin read an essay on woman suffrage. A heated discussion followed, in which Rev. Mr. Blake of Concord defended his views, previously announced, and made some free criticisms.

Rev. J. F. Lovering of Concord is to deliver a oration on Memorial Day in Manchester before the G. A. R.

☞ A good many people seem really to believe that "of all taxation, the income tax is the most odious." But this is a delusion — for the only taxes we know of that are not equally odious to many folks, are other people's. There was just as much growling and groaning about taxes ten or twenty years ago, and always will be, as now. Taxes, gas bills and water rates are made to be growled over. At a recent Parish Meeting in this city, the Clerk, referring to the taxes, stated that they were complained of by many—but he added, not a bit more than they were twenty-five and thirty years ago. The cry is, in church or State, for mercy sake don't touch us, but put the taxes on our neighbors.

☞ An exchange, in stating that an ungallant Congressman proposes to lay a tax of twenty-five per cent. on corsets, asks, since there is no tax on men getting tight, why shouldn't the ladies have the same privilege? Now we don't see why women may not as well kill themselves with corsets, as the men with rum; but let neither flatter themselves that they can escape the penalty of so doing—the physical tax, at any rate.

The Chronicle.

THE SON OF HENRY CLAY.—Last week, the papers announced the end of a weary life, in stating that Theodore, eldest son of Henry Clay, had died in the Lexington Lunatic Asylum after a long confinement. The record of his blasted life in brief is this: At thirty years of age Theodore Clay was a promising lawyer. He was the image and hope of the statesman whose fame was on every tongue. It is true that there were whispers of wild living, and of indifferent morals, that somewhat tinged his fair repute, and even darkened his future prospects. Still it was hoped that these were but the result of youth, and would be cast aside when circumstances called upon the matured man to assert himself and make his talent felt in the community.

It was at this turning-point in his life that Theodore Clay began to pursue, with an unwearied perseverance that caused his friends great uneasiness, a young lady of Lexington whom he had long loved hopelessly. The object of his attachment, who is at the present moment one of the brightest ornaments of Kentucky society, repulsed, firmly but kindly, every attention offered by the infatuated young man, after his meaning had become manifest. It was useless; he would not be refused, and followed her in the streets by day, and wandered in the neighborhood of her home by night, in an annoying manner, until at last it became evident that he "was not all there," to use the soft phrase by which a kindly peasantry express insanity. Subsequent violent demonstrations tended to confirm the impression, it being even related that he went to the house of Mr.——— and demanded his daughter at the pistol's point, until at last the wretched truth could no longer be ignored, and confinement in an asylum become a necessity. This was accordingly done (in 1852, we believe), his father providing for his support at that time, and leaving $10,000 in his will, the income from which was secured to Theodore for life.

That life, after thirty-eight years of imprisonment, in what in the earlier days of his confinement he was wont to call "a good boarding-house, but having some of the biggest fools he ever saw as boarders," has just closed. For nearly thirty years he was one of the most noted of the inmates, not only his proud descent, but his graceful manners and flow of conversation, rendering him an object of interest to all visitors. He labored under the hallucination that he was George Washington, and was fond of assuming the traditional attitude of his Country. At the occasional balls given to the inmates (averaging some 500 in number) he was always exquisitely dressed in the style of his day, and was the beau par excellence.

During all these long years, despite his general gentleness and cheerfulness of manner, he was restless and discontented, and required close watching, it never, in fact, having been considered prudent to allow him to go out into the grounds without attendants. About the year 1860 his condition began to grow worse, and he soon after became demented, continuing in hopeless idiocy until a few days since, when death, greater healer than time, placed him again upon an equality with the peers of his early manhood who had gone before him to the God that created him and did with him according to His inscrutable will. And so ends as sad a story as the truth of history ever commanded to be written.

Two sons of Henry Clay yet survive him, T. H. Clay, Ex-Minister to Honduras, now residing on his place, "Mansfield," near Lexington, and John M. Clay, the raiser of Kentucky, and one of the greatest turfmen living.

HE HAD HIM THERE.—The following squib was perpetrated in a school down east. It is to good to be lost. It seems that a few hours exemption from mischief had greatly enlarged the bump of treachery in the upper stories of the young idea, and they took and smeared the balustrade from top to bottom with mud, and when the master came in he very naturally laid his hand on it when he mounted the stairs. He was soon aware of the mishap, but said nothing about it till the scholars had been called in and taken their seats, when he acquainted them with the fact, and said he would give any one five dollars to tell who had a hand in it. Up jumped a little red headed urchin, who said:

"Thir, you theth you'll give any one five dollars who'll tell you who had a hand in it?" "Yes."

"Now, thir—now you won't whip me thir?" "No."

"Well, thir—now you won't whip me thir?"

"You young scamp, I'll whip you if you don't tell pretty soon!"

"Thir, you—oh, thir, I don't like to."

"Go on, or I'll skin you alive!"

"Well, thir, you had a hand in it, you did, thir!"

The master gave in and forked over five dollars.

—A singing-masters, while teaching his pupils, was visited by a brother of the tuneful art. The visitor observed that the chorister pitched the tune vocally, and said: "Sir, do you use a pipe?" "No, sir," said Semibreve, with admirable gravity, "I chew."

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the inconvenience of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

TESTIMONY.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named "B. Excell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
EGGLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I whild say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting my testimony to the value of your Buchu, I read from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rate of advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE, Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon the subject of your Buchu. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be, and yet live, but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, allsignored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

I would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad, but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind if some one was trying to get rich off me, the time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. I got up for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the colour of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of it as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see the stone, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time. so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD H. DOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park.)
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Patrick, aged 4 yrs., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chambermaid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a superadded misfortune to Public Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from Disease, be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping that they may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicines prescribed, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and nitrate of potash, it commended to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting with me and the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much encouraged to persevere in its use, for I was at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to deter, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

M. MCCORMICK.

Should any doubt Mr. McCormick's statement, he refers to the following gentlemen:

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, MAY, 23, 1870.

Chat.

Both Houses of Congress have voted to adjourn on the 15th of July.

The U. S. House of Representatives has passed the bill giving $190,000 to the officers and crew of the Kearsarge.

The House committee on commerce thinks government ought not to build a breakwater at Barnstable before the Cape Cod canal has been dug.

Espartero has again refused to accept the Spanish crown.

Trinidad has cholera.

3370 immigrants arrived at New York, Thursday.

Georgia has drought.

The steamships Erin and Lafayette are in quarantine at New York, having small-pox on board.

On Friday, the U S. Senate had an all-night session. The bill for the enforcement of the 15th Amendment passed at 7 o'clock, Saturday morning, by a vote of 42 to 9. There is a provision in the bill intended to prevent the "repeaters" in New York city from continuing their rascality at future elections.

PORTUGAL POLITICS.—The Duke of Saldanha, on Thursday, successfully executed a coup d'etat in Portugal. By aid of the army he captured the castle of St. George, and marched to the Palace, which his soldiers entered and took possession of. At this point the prime minister, Duke de Soule, resigned, and the King autnorized the Duke of Saldanha to form a new ministry. This was the whole purpose of the demonstration, in which several soldiers were killed and wounded.

NORTHERN RAILROAD.—The annual Report for the year ending March 31, shows the receipts to be $689,628.03, and the expenses of all kinds, $433,-356.11; balances $256,271.92; add to this the balance of interest account, $1,119.66, and the amount is $257,391.-58. Increase of receipts over the previous year, $74,011.44; increase of expenses, $7,403.93; net increase of income, $66,607.51.

As to the contract with the Concord road, which is appended to the Report, the Directors modestly say:

A contract has been made with the Concord Railroad Corporation, which, it is believed, will be advantageous to the road and the public. Under this arrangement a considerable annual saving can be made by working the two roads together, while better and cheaper facilities can be afforded to the public.

A MODEL VALEDICTORY.—One style of Illinois journalism is illustrated in the following paragraph, which appears in the Keithsburg Observer under the heading of "Obituary:"

About two and a half years ago we took possession of this paper. It was then in the very act of pegging out, having neither friends, money, nor credit. We tried to breathe into it the breath of life; we put into it all our own money and everybody else's we could get hold of, but it was no go; either the people of Keithsburg don't appreciate our efforts, or we don't know how to run a paper. We went into the business with confidence, determined to run it or bust. We have busted. During our connection with the Observer we have made some friends and numerous enemies. The former will have our gratitude while life lasts. The latter are affectionately requested to go to the ——."

New Hampshire Items.

Hon. Asa Fowler of Concord has been appointed Supervisor of Public Printing, under the new act regulating the State Printing, passed at the last session of the Legislature, taking effect May 20, 1870.

A son of Mr. Ambrose Brown of Dover, aged fifteen, died Friday night from the effects of a blow in the temple, received from a base ball while playing at school.

EDITORS' DISLIKES.—The following are only a few of the deadly sins committed against an Editor:

Boring him when he is writing.

Boring him when he is reading proof for printers who are waiting to correct it and make up their "forms" in order to catch the mails.

Reading his exchanges without permission.

Carrying off exchanges before he has glanced over them.

Asking the name of the correspondent who signs "X" or "Quidnunc" or "Q in a Corner."

Asking him to say to the public that Smith or Brown may be classed among the most honorable merchants in the State; when the public knows both S. and B. should have been in State Prison, for divers offenses, long ago.

—At the British Museum, Hardappe, being informed by one of the courteous officials of the institution that the carvings representing a serpent with its tail in its mouth were intended for emblems of eternity, answered, "Yes! it represents the ceaseless struggle to make both ends meet!"

NAVAL REFORM—THE WRONG WAY.

The subject of the annual pay of the officers of the Navy was discussed in the House of Representatives May 18th, when it was arranged that staff officers were to receive pay according to their relative rank, as specified in the general order of the Navy Dept. of March 13th, 1863, which would, to an extent, equalize the pay of the different corps of the Navy. An "additional proviso," however, was agreed to, that "nothing in the bill should be construed to give to any staff officer any amount of pay larger than will be covered by a line officer of corresponding rank."

This "additional proviso" totally annuls the former clause, regulating the pay of the staff according to their relative rank as specified in the order of March 13, 1863, for the reason that the clause referred to does not restore to the Staff the rank they held by virture of general order of March 13,1863, (altho' it was evidently designed to do so,) but simply gives the pay of corresponding line rank, which the "additional proviso" annuls, by providing that staff officers shall draw but corresponding pay with the rank they now hold, and to which they were reduced by general order No. 120, issued by Secretary Borie, last year.

By the original clause, the pay of Surgeons, Paymasters and Chief Engineers would be reduced 5 per cent., and that of line officers of corresponding rank 5 7-10ths per cent. But should the bill be passed in its present form the effect will be as follows:

Surgeons, Paymasters and Chief Engineers will have a reduction of twenty-six per cent. on their pay, and line officers of corresponding rank will lose only two per cent. By this it will be seen that the staff will lose all, and more than all the increase of 33 1-3 per cent. which was given them during the war; while the line will retain about thirty-one per cent. of the same increase:—for 25 per cent. of the deduction is exactly equal to the 33 1-3 per cent. increase.

By referring to the latest issued Naval Register, I find an illustration of how the proviso will operate on the two branches of the service at this Station. One staff officer loses 25 per cent., when officers of the line with whom he will rank and draw pay (and they are many years his juniors in the service) will be reduced but 6 1-4 per cent.; a difference of 18 3-4ths per cent. greater reduction in the pay of the staff than the line officer. Again, two staff officers will have their pay reduced 40 per cent., whereas those in the line with whom they will rank and draw pay will not have their pay reduced at all; yet these two staff officers have been over double the length of time in the service that any line officers have, with whom they are placed on a level. Again, one of the staff will be reduced 31 8-10ths per cent., one over 28 1-2 per cent., one 25 per cent., and two 16 2-3ds per cent. each, and corresponding line officers nothing.

If, however, the original clause of the bill should pass, and the "additional proviso" be stricken out, the case will be different; for then the officer of the staff above referred to, who will under the additional proviso be reduced 25 per cent., will in the original clause view of the case be reduced 10 per cent., exactly the amount of the reduction in the pay of an officer of the line with whom he will rank and draw pay, which certainly has the appearance of greater fairness.

The two who would lose 40 per cent. by the "additional proviso" would by the "original clause" be reduced 16 per cent., and line officers of equal rank and pay but 6 1-4 per cent., or 9 3-4ths per cent. more reduction on the pay of the staff than the line. One staff officer will be reduced 4 1-2 per cent. and the corresponding line officer 6 1-4—or in this case there will be 1 3-4 more reduction from the line than staff officer. One will be reduced 6 1-4 per cent. when the line officer of same rank and pay will draw the same pay he did before; consequently the staff officer's pay will be reduced 6 1-4 per cent. in this case and the line officer's not at all; and in two cases the pay of the staff officers will be increased 4 per cent., against no change on the part of the line.

Summing these up, we have, here, in the cases mentioned (those of the Surgeons, Paymasters, and Chief Engineers on duty at this Station) a reduction of pay on the part of the staff of over 6 1-2 per cent. in the case of the clause restoring the rank of 1863, against a reduction of pay on the part of the line of 4 8-10ths per cent., or 1 7-10ths more reduction of pay for the staff, than for the line. Whereas in the case of the "additional proviso," the reduction of the staff pay would be over 28 8-10ths per cent., and that of the line less than 1 1-10th per cent. reduction; or a reduction on the pay of the staff of over 27 7-10ths per cent. more than that of the line. Is this fair?

Do away with the "additional proviso," and let the bill stand as it then will—with an additional clause recognizing the rank conferred by the Navy Department, May 20th, 1867, upon Passed and Assistant Surgeons, Paymasters and Engineers,—and the difference in the reduction in the cases of line and staff officers will be by no means so glaring, tho' still the line would be considerably favored. As the bill now reads, no provision whatever is made for the Passed Assistant Paymasters.

The bill referred to is not for reorganizing the navy, but to fix the pay of naval officers; and whether Congressional rules would admit of a clause being added to restore to the staff the rank they formerly held, as well as one to reduce their present pay, I don't know—nor care. But that its passage in its present shape will add another to the long list of wrongs and one-sided decisions to which the staff have been subjected, seems plain. The friends of fair play, in Congress, have need to look sharp lest their intentions be defeated by defective legislation or adroitly-laid traps.

PAKEHA.

BOSTON, May 16, 1870.

J. W. McCulloh, Esq., New York:

Dear Sir:—Learning that you were appointed by the Legislature of your State to make an examination into the affairs of the "Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York," in regard more particularly to "certain charges preferred by you and others against the officers of the Company," and that you have now completed your investigation and are now ready to make your report, we, as policy-holders in the Company, of this city, respectfully request you to meet us and others interested in this matter, at the rooms of the Board of Trade, Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, that such action may be taken by us as the occasion may seem to require.

Your obedient servants,

GEO. D. BALDWIN,	EDWARD W. KINSLEY,
GEO. D. WISE,	HENRY W. FRENCH,
P. G. PORTER,	JAS. H. FREELAND,
CHAS. H. SHAPLEIGH,	B. F. ROLLINS,
CYRUS DUPEE,	CHAS. H. ALLEN,
JAMES W. HAYWARD,	AMORY LELAND,
A. B. BUTTERFIELD,	F. A. FOSTER,
ALDEN SPEARE,	JNO. S. SHEPARD,
SAMUEL MANSUR,	WILLIAM HILTON,
W. F. POOLE,	FRANK SNOW,
JNO. H. POOLE,	NATH'L G. CHAPIN,
AUGUSTUS TOWNE,	GEO. J. FISHER,
BARNEY S. SNOW,	L. A. WRIGHT.

NEW YORK, May 17, 1870.

Gentleman: I will cheerfully comply with your request, and meet you on Thursday.

J. W. MCCULLOH.

BOSTON, MASS., May 18, 1870.

To George W. Miller, Insurance Superintendent of the State of New York:

J. W. McCulloh represents that he was appointed by the Legislature of New York to examine the affairs of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, and that he has made many charges against the officers of that company, all of which have been sustained by you. Is this true? Have the officers, or any of them, committed wrong or breach of trust? What is the result of your examination? A public meeting of policy-holders is called to meet here Thursday, which McCulloh proposes to address. In your opinion, after the investigation you have made, is there anything in the conduct of the officers of the Company which should forfeit the confidence of the policy-holders in them? Answer by telegram, and also by to-day's mail.

GEORGE C. RICHARDSON.

NEW YORK, May 18, 1870.

George C. Richardson, Esq., Boston, Mass:

Your dispatch received. J. W. McCulloh was not appointed by the Legislature of this State to examine the affairs of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. He was allowed by the Investigating Committee of the Assembly to attend, and with my consent and the consent of the Company, he did attend and participate in an examination which I have been making. All charges made by McCulloh or others were fully investigated. The charges of breach of trust and mismanagement have not in my opinion been established. Nothing has been shown which should forfeit or impair the confidence of the policy-holders or public in the Company or its management. My examination has satisfied me that the Company has been managed with peculiar ability and integrity, and that its condition is eminently sound. I shall publish an official report soon.

GEO. W. MILLER,

Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. cod3t m23

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Wear and Tear of Business Life.

The cares and labors of business life are apt to tell severely upon the health and constitution of the ardent, energetic business man, and when the need of some sustaining agent is felt, stimulants that cause only a temporary exhilaration, and leave the system in a state of actual exhaustion when their first effect has passed off, are too often resorted to. As certainly as fire leaves behind it a residuum of ashes, the use of the adulterated liquors of commerce produces premature exhaustion and decay. Touch them not. Tone and regulate the overtaxed vital machinery with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

In that wholesome elixir, the alcoholic element which is the purest derivable from any source, is tempered by the choicest tonic, aperient, anti-bilious and anti-febrile vegetable extracts and juices. To strengthen, recruit, solace and purify the system is the mission of the great vegetable specific. When the stomach is in a healthy condition, the bile flows regularly, the bowels perform their office, properly, and the telegraphic fibres of the nervous system are in perfect working order, an enormous amount of labor can be borne without risk or inconvenience, and the direct effect of the Bitters is to promote this vigorous condition of the functions upon which the nourishment of the body, and its power of endurance mainly depend.

The great tonic and alterative is, therefore, emphatically recommended for its remarkable strengthening properties, to all upon whom the responsibilities of life press heavily, and who feel the need of some agent to impart a lively appetite, a splendid digestion, elastic spirits, and a marvellous ability to withstand fatigue, are among the blessings justly ascribed to the invigorating operation of this palatable and powerful cordial, and as a spring and summer alterative, there is nothing in the materia medica that can be compared with it.

PAIN KILLER.

Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors, 1840. PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1870.

Time tests the Merits of all Things.

☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

This valuable Family Medicine has been widely and favorably known in our own and foreign countries, upwards of

THIRTY YEARS!

It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest.

It is an External and Internal Remedy. For Summer Complaint, or any other form of bowel disease in children or adults, it is an almost certain cure, and has without doubt, been more successful in curing the various kinds of CHOLERA than any other known remedy, or the most skillful physician. In India, Africa and China, where this prevailing disease more or less prevails, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as European residents in those climates, a sure remedy; and while it is a most efficient remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in unskillful hands.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

Price 25 cts., 50 cts.; and $1.00 per Bottle.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says; "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly the Chest of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedy for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what then are we to about "

☞ The Dover Gazette says that "Mrs. Marcy is one of the sweetest singers in New Hampshire."

☞ Mr. Charles W. Gerrish was buried with Masonic honors, on Saturday afternoon. The Portsmouth Cornet Band furnished music.

☞ There was no quorum in either Board of the City Council on Thursday evening. And no bids were presented for the purchase of the City Farm land.

☞ Rev. James DeNormandie has consented to deliver the oration at the South Cemetery on Memorial Day. Mr. Albert Laighton is to write a poem for the occasion.

☞ Lent's New York Circus gave two good entertainments (of the kind) in this city Friday—that in the evening to a large audience. The dogs were fine, and the bare-back and four-horse riding was nicely done, as of old.

☞ The late residence of Mr. Thos. D. Bailey, on Court Street, was sold by Auction on Saturday, for $2850—to Mr. John Stokell. A gentleman in New York, formerly of Portsmouth, telegraphed too late, for a friend to bid $3000 for him.

Two shares of the Rockingham National Bank were sold at auction, Saturday, for $76.50 each.

☞ In a notice of the Philharmonic Society, in the Journal, it is stated that every choir in the city is represented therein, except that of the Catholic Church. But that choir, too, is represented by Mr. and Mrs. Malsbenden, who have been members of the Society and constant attendants at the rehearsals for some months—and who sang at the late concert.s

☞ We call the attention of those of our readers who are interested in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, to the correspondence relative to the recent examination of that institution made by the superintendent of the insurance department of the State of New York; the charges of breach of trust and mismanagement on the part of the officers of the company made by Mr. J. McCulloch, we are glad to see, are not sustained by the superintendent.

☞ The liberality and public spirit shown by the Middle Street Baptist Society, through the Wardens, in granting the free use of their elegant church and fine organ for the Philharmonic Concerts, is freely appreciated by the Society, and no doubt by our whole musical public, who otherwise could not have enjoyed such grand entertainments as the vocal, orchestral and organ effects combined, presented.

The second Concert, on Friday evening, had a fair attendance, considering all things, and passed off well.

—A Pennsylvania town employs equestrian lamplighters, who stand in the saddle to light or extinguish the gas. Exchange.

The lamplighter of the goodly city of Dover used to do that way, but his horse stepped out from under him one night and he came down "ker whop;" since then he discarded the saddle nag, and now travels his rounds on "Shank's mare," shins up the post, lights up, and has a nice slide down.—Dover Gazette.

Here in Portsmouth, part of the street lamps are lighted by a man standing in his express wagon, and the rest by a lad who carries a gossamer ladder on his shoulders.

G. A. R.—One of the committees appointed for Memorial Day, was omitted in our mention last week. That on Subscriptions was Dr. N. B. Colman, Alfred M. Lang and J. H. Mawbey. As the occasion requires considerable "material aid," it is hoped that this committee will be eminently successful.

The Kittiery branch of the G. A. R. are to observe Sunday, the 29th, as Memorial Day. The Maine delegation will march to this city to receive Storer Encampment, who will assist in the ceremony. The Portsmouth Cornet Band will furnish the music. The Kittery organization will take part in the observances here the following day.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT,—Saturday.—The case of Geo. T. Wentworth and W. F. O'Neil of Dover for fraudulently procuring a pension has been on trial for four days.

Wm. M. Hanscom retracted his plea of nolo contendere and goes to the State Reform School for 6 months.

Young Hanscom has conducted himself in a very exemplary manner since his first arrest and we are glad that the little fellow escapes the severe punishment with which he has been threatened the past year. With good associations and honest attempts to continue in the course he has pursued of late, his future prospects may be good; his efforts to continue in the right course will be seconded by friends and acquaintances.

☞ The following description of Willcox's Thunder Storm is from the pen of one of the ablest and most severe musical critics in the Country—Watson, of the Art Journal:—

We now must touch upon the most questionable number of his programme, namely, his representation of a storm. This effect has been tried over and over again in the orchestra, and has always been criticised as of doubtful propriety, although as the effects are so pronounced, we think they are admissible in an orchestra. Dr. Wilcox has conceived a very clever and effective storm effect. He presents a vivid true picture, and he makes his effects, not by securing the aid of mechanical additions, but by the exceptional use of the legitimate resources of the organ as existing in the regular schedule.

His storm movement consists of a sort of a sicilians movement; descriptive of the calm but sensuous beauties of the country. It is a pastorale, and following the sounds of animated nature comes the rustic dance and games. In the midst of this the threatening of distant thunder is heard, and the storm breaks out in lashing fury; while the storm rages the grand power of the organ is developed to the utmost, but as it dies away, the faint murmurs of a prayer is heard, which gradually swell out into a prayer of thanksgiving. The whole scene is beautifully conceived, and is worked out by Dr. Wilcox with admirable skill, and with fine artistic perception.

It was a performance of rare excellence and aroused the audience to a high pitch of excitement, and it became almost a question whether to award the highest praise to the conception and execution of the organist, or to the magnificent resources of the organ. Suffice it to say, that Dr. Wilcox made a marked and positive success, which was in every way deserved.

MASONIC.—Among those present in Concord, was the venerable Hon. Horace Chase. Mr. C. was elected Grand Secretary of the Grand Chapter in 1849, and has filled the office faithfully and to the perfect satisfaction of the fraternity ever since. With regret on all sides he resigned the position, after his long course of services to the fraternity. The Patriot also mentions the long service of John Knowlton, Esq., of Portsmouth, in the office of Treasurer, from which he this year retires. His term of office has been nearly as long, and as acceptable, as that of Mr. Chase, which is praise enough to accord any man.

The eighth Annual Convention of the Grand Council of Select and Royal Masters of New Hampshire was held the 18th. Among the officers elected are Chas. G. Pickering, Portsmouth, Gr. Steward and Conductor, and all were installed in due form by Past Most Ill. Gr. Master John R. Holbrook of Portsmouth.

☞ The Biddeford Journal says it is rumored that Mr. Chase, the present Supt., of the P. S. & P. Road, will resign, and that Payson Tucker will be likely to be elected. Mr. Tucker is at present a conductor on that road and, if we mistake not, also pay-master. He has the dignity and bearing of a gentleman of the old school, so rare to find, with much executive ability and experience, and if a new Supt. is to be elected, the promotion of no man would be hailed with greater satisfaction by our business men and the travelling public, than that of Mr. Tucker.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the morigage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,

Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500 and $100,

and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent, per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

THE MAN AT THE DOOR.

"No tramps here," said I; and I shut the door in his face. The wind blew so I could hardly do it, and the sleet was beating on the pane, and the bare trees were groaning and moaning as if they suffered in the storm. "No tramps here, I'm a lone woman, and I'm afraid of 'em."

Then the man I hadn't seen yet for the dark, went away from the door—champ, champ, champ came the man back again and knocked on the door—knocked not half so loud as he had before—and I opened it hot and angry. This time I saw his face, with yellow brown hair, cropped close, and great staring blue eyes; and he put his hand against the door and held it open.

"How far is it to the next house, ma'am?" said he.

"Three miles or more," said I.

"And that is not a tavern?"

"No," said I; "no drifiks to be got there; it's Miss Mitten's, and she's set against tramps as I am."

"I don't want to drink," said the man, "but I do want food. You need not be afraid to let me in, ma'am. I've been wounded, and am not able to walk far, and my clothes are thin, and it's bitter cold. I've been trying to get to my parents, at Greenbank, where I can rest until I'm better; and all my money was stolen from me three days ago. You needn't be afraid; just let me lie before the fire, and only give me a crust to keep me from starving, and the Lord will bless you for it."

And then he looked at me with his mild blue eyes in a way that would have made me do it, if it hadn't been that I had seen so much of those impostors. The war was just over, and every beggar that came along said he was a soldier traveling home, and had been wounded and robbed. One that I had been fool enough to help limped away out of sight, as he thought, and then, for I was at the garret window, shouldered his crutches and tramped it with the strongest.

"No doubt your pocket is full of money," said I, "and you only want a chance to rob and murder me. Go away with you."

Drusilla, that's my niece, was baking short-cake in the kitchen. Just then she came to the door and motioned with her mouth to me, "Do let him stay, aunty," and if I hadn't had good sense I might, but I knew better than a chit of sixteen.

"Go away with you," said I, louder than before. "I won't have this any longer."

And he gave a kind of groan, and took his hand from the latch, and went champ, champ through the frozen snow again; and I thought him gone, when there he was once more, hardly with a knock at all—a faint touch like a child, now.

And when I opened the door he came quite in, and stood leaning on his cane, paler than a ghost, his eyes bigger than ever.

"Well, of all impudence," said I.

He looked at me, and said he, "Madam, I have a mother at Greenbank. I want to live to see her. I shall not, if I try to go further to-night."

"They all want to see their mothers," said I, and just then it came into my mind that I hoped my son Charles, who had been a soldier—an officer he had got to be, mind you—wanted to see his, and would soon.

"I have been wounded, as you see," said he.

"Don't go a showing me your hurts," said I. "They buy 'em, to go begging with now, so they tell me. I read the papers—I read the papers, I tell ye, and I'm principled, and so's our clergyman, agin givin' anything, unless it's through some well-organized society. Tramps are my abomination. And as for keeping you all night, you can't expect that of decent folks—go."

Drusilla came to the door, and said, "Let him stay, aunty," with her lips again, but I took no notice.

So he went, and this time did not come back, and I sat down by the fire, and listened to the wind and sleet, and felt the warm fire, and smelt the baking cakes, in the kitchen stove; and I ought to have been very comfortable, but I was'nt. Something seemed tugging at my heart all the time.

I gave the fire a poke and lit another candle to chser myself by, and went to my work basket to get the sock I had been knitting for my Charlie, and as I went to get it I saw something lying on the floor. I picked it up. It was an old tobacco pouch, ever so much like the one I gave Charlie, with fringe around it, and on it written in ink, "O. F. to R. H.," and inside was a bit of tobacco, an old pipe, and a letter; and when I spread it out I saw at the top, "My dear son."

I knew the beggar had dropped it, and my heart gave one big thump, as though it had been turned into a hammer.

Perhaps the story was true, and he had a mother. I shivered all over, and the fire and the candles and the nice comfortable smell might not have been at all, I was so cold and wretched.

And over and over again I had to say to myself what I had heard my pastor say so often, "Never give anything to chance beggars, my dear friends, always bestow your alms on worthy persons, through well organized societies," before I could get a bit of comfort. And what an old fool I was to cry, I thought, when I found my cheeks wet.

But I did not cry long, for as I set there, dash and crash, and jingle came a sleigh over the road. And it stopped in our gate, and I heard my Charlie's voice crying, "Hallo, mother!" And out I went to the door and had him in my arms, my great, tall, handsome brown son. And there he was in his uniform, with his pretty shoulder straps, and hearty as if he had never been through any hardships. He had to leave me to put his horse up, and then I had by the fire again my own boy. And Drusilla, who had been up stairs and had been crying—why, I wonder—came down all in a flutter—for they were the brother and sister—and he kissed her, and she kissed him, and then away she went to set the table, and the nice hot things smoked on a cloth as white as snow; and how Charlie enjoyed them! But once, in the midst of all, I felt a frightened feeling come over me, and I knowed I'd turned pale, for Drusilla said, "What is the matter, Aunt Fairfax?"

I said nothing, but it was this; kind o' like the ghost of a step going champ, champ, over the frozen snow; kind o' like the ghost of a voice saying, "Let me lie on the floor before the fire, and give me any kind of a crust;" kind o' like seeing some one that had a mother, dropping down on the wintry road, and freezing and starving to death there. That is what it was, but I put it away and only thought of Charlie.

We drew up together by the fire when tea was done, and he told us things about the war I'd never heard before. How the soldiers suffered, and what weary marches and short rations they sometimes had. And he told me how his life had been set upon and he was badly wounded; and how, at the risk of his own life, a fellow soldier had saved his, and carried him away, fighting his path back to camp.

"I'd never have seen you but for him," said my Charlie. "And if there's a man on earth I love, it's Rob Hadway—the dearest, best fellow. We've shared each other's rations, and drunk from the same canteen many a time; and if ever I had a brother I couldn't think more of him."

"Why don't you bring him home to see your mother, Charlie?" asked I. "Why, I'd love him, too, and anything I could do for him, for the man who saved my boy's life, couldn't be enough. Send for him, Charlie."

But Charlie shook his head and covered his face with his hands.

"Mother," said he, "I don't know whether Rob Hadway is alive or dead to-day. While I was still in the ranks he was taken prisoner. And the prisons are poor places to live in, mother; I'd give my right hand to be able to do him any good; but I can't find any trace of him. And he has a mother, too; she lives at Greenbank—poor old lady. My dear, good, noble Rob, the preserver of my life!" And I saw Charlie nearly crying.

Not to let us see the tears, he got up and went to the mantelpiece.

"Great heavens! What is this?" And I turned and Charlie had the tobacco pouch the man had dropped, in his hand.

"Where did this come from?" said he. "I feel as though I had seen a ghost. I gave this to Rob Hadway the day he saved me. We soldiers had not much to give, you know, and he vowed never to part with it while he lived. How did it come here, mother?"

I fell back in a chair, white and cold, and said I, "A wandering tramp left it here; never your Rob, my dear, never your Rob. He must have been an impostor, I wouldn't have turned away a person really in want. Oh! no, no, no; it's another pouch, child; not that, or he stole it. A tall fellow with blue eyes and yellow brown hair, wounded, he said, and going to his mother at Greenbank. Not your Rob."

And Charlie stood staring at me with clinched hands; and said he, "It was my Rob, it was dear old Rob who saved my life; and you have driven him out in such a night as this, mother. My mother, to use Rob so!"

"Curse me, Charlie," said I; "curse me, if you like; I'm afraid God will. Three times he asked only for a crust and a place to lie, and I drove him away. I, I—and he's lying on the road now. Oh! if I had known; oh! if I had known."

And Charlie caught up his hat. "I'll find him if he's alive," said he. "Oh, Rob! my dear friend."

And then—I never saw a girl in such a flurry—down went Drusilla on her knees, as if she were saying her prayers, and says she, "Thank God, I dared to do it!" And says to me, "O, Aunt, I've been trembling with fright, not knowing what you'd say to me. I took him to the kitchen way. I could not see him so faint and hungry and wounded, I put him in the spare chamber over the parlor, and I have been so frightened all the while."

"Lord bless you, Drusilla," said Charlie, and "Amen" said I. And she, getting bolder, went on. "And I took him up hot short-cake and apple sauce and tea, said she, "and I took him a candle, and a hot brick for his feet, and told him to eat and go to bed in the best chamber, Aunt Fairfax, with the white counterpane."

After this, Charlie, not being ungrateful, nor poor, either, helped Rob into business. And he got over his wounds at last, and grew as handsome as a picture, and to-day a week is going to marry Drusilla.

"I'd give you anything I have," said I," "and I won't refuse you even Drusilla," when he asked me, telling me he had loved her ever since she was so kind to him on the night I've told you of.

And Charlie is to stand up with him, and I am to give Drusilla away, and Rob's sister, from Greenbank, is to be bride's-maid, and I have a guess that some day Charlie will bring her home to me, in Drusilla's place.

I don't drive beggars from the door now, as I used to, and no doubt I'm imposed upon; but this is what I say: "Better to be imposed upon always, than to be cruel to one who is really in need of your help." And I've read my Bible for four of my good I know who says, "Even as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me."

THE LORRAINE
VEGETABLE CATHARTIC PILL
LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILL,
—OR—
LA MEDICINE CURATIVE.
Mild, Certain, Safe, Efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing injury to any of them. The most complete success has long attended its use in many localities; and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs free from irritation, and does not cover tastes or excites the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys,—of children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, it brings prompt relief and certain cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it; and no person who once uses it will hesitate to return to the use of any other cathartic.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for wet bills, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 30 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in keg, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other Foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers drawn for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign patents, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

Samuel Haines, Esq., agent of the Columbian Mills, at Mason Village, recently presented a fine toned bell, to be placed in the tower of the school house in that town.

Nashua is an Indian name, and signifies "beautiful vale."

The house of Mr. E. P. Farnham, in Wakefield, with all its contents, was consumed by fire a few nights since. Loss estimated at $1900 and insured for $1000,

A Newmarket letter-writer denies the report that the mill girls are forbidden large looking-glasses in their work rooms.

Mr. N. P. Kimball of Hudson recently sent to Boston 1700 small skins, chiefly of musk rats. These skins are forwarded from Boston to London, and return to the United States again, transformed into Russian sable, or something but a little inferior.

Bartholomew Wentworth of Lebanon, Me., was drowned while crossing the Salmon Falls River, on Wednesday, May 10. He was about 46 years of age. His body was recovered.

Men were at work to raise the new safe of the Pittsfield National Bank to its place in the second story of Tuttle's Block; a hitch occurred, and the cable soon broke and the safe, said to weigh thirty-six tons, by the Times, went down stairs smashing things generally.

Gen. Stark has given notice that he shall apply to the Legislature for an act to consolidate the Railroads under his charge, so far as they lie in this State. This gives occasion for a great "boo" upon the bug-bear of "consolidation." The roads in question are now operated by one management—are practically consolidated, as are the several roads run by the Concord Railroad.—Patriot.

One day last week while at the freight depot of the Boston & Maine railroad, attention was called to a car load of live stock of the Jersey breed, 19 in number, from the farm in Belmont, Mass., of John Trickey, Esq. They were en route to New Durham and excited general remark from the cattle growers.

Dover expects soon to have a lodge of the Knights of Pythias.

The reception of Hon. John P. Hale upon his return to Dover will, it is anticipated, be quite an event, as the City Council has been for some time in consultation upon the matter. Mr. Hale will sail from Liverpool by the steamer Java, June 1st, and will probably arrive in Dover about the 15th.

The Laconia Democrat, speaking of the provisions of the contract between the Concord and Northern Railroads, says:

This arrangement ought to be satisfactory to the legitimate holders of Concord stock. And that it is so there is no reason to doubt. Except the "ring," the stockholders and the general public are more than satisfied.

The Dover Gazette suggests to their City Government the idea of having one or more bells rung forenoon and afternoon, say fifteen minutes previous to the time for public schools to commence their sessions, as it says is done in other cities.

Mr. Hugh McQuestion of Mont Vernon lately saw a big black snake and laid hold of its tail to snap the reptile's head off. The snake did not agree in the plan and began to chew up the gentleman's right thumb, but was finally laid out.

Mr. John S. Hayes sold a lot of land belonging to the Wm. Jenkins Estate in Durham, containing about 15 acres, to six different persons for the sum of $1900.

Col. John W. Kingman, formerly of Dover, is Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Wyoming Territory.

Mr. Byron Fellows of Grafton tells the following. He keeps four ducks, and one night last week, between seven o'clock at night and six in the morning, they laid eight eggs, and the second night after, they laid six in the same time; and very frequently in the morning he finds more eggs than there are ducks. They are confined at night, and there is no possibility of any mistake about the matter, and Mr. Fellows is a reliable man. Mr. Fellows keeps thirty hens, and the four ducks have laid more eggs than the thirty hens.

The Swamscott Machine Works at South Newmarket are being greatly enlarged.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it the more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold, Sir:—We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was received some time from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other disease by two physicians present. Incosed please find our rate o advertising. Yours truly,
T. I. B. H. STENHOUSE,

TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts resting upon myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a deal of the cloudy water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. This was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined, found it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday. I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see me I think I can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time. so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD H. BOWARD,
Paper Maker, Burnside, Hartford County, Conn.

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park.
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J. G. his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a broken constitution. Schools, Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, and undeserved punishment, (habit not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have become a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, prescribed by the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies, and found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu and Juniper Berries, it was highly recommended to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and comparing it again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you at the commencement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to deter, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

THE OLD RELIABLE
NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
TO BE FOUND IN EVERY VILLAGE AND TOWN IN NEW ENGLAND, IS DODD'S NERVINE
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC.

DODD'S NERVINE is not a new medicine, but has been before the public for the last fifteen years. It is compounded from the best and purest drugs. Contains no OPIUM, STRYCHNINE or MERCURY in any form, and is expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of

NERVOUS DISEASES, &c., &c.,

Coughs,	Neuralgia,	Female Weaknesses,
Colds,	Headache,	Fainting Fits,
Fevers,	Convulsions,	Palpitation,
Agues,	Sleeplessness,	Restlessness,
Biliousness,	Dyspepsia,	Dizziness,

Constipation, Liver Complaint, Children's Troubles Diarrhœa, Consumption, &c., &c., &c.,

DODD'S NERVINE

Is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that good sleep is better than all medicines. And all folks that

CAN'T SLEEP NIGHTS,
Should use this truly wonderful medicine.

DODD'S NERVINE

Is one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

For Whooping Cough.

DODD'S NERVINE is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in Measles, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthy. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no OPIUM in any form.

LOOK OUT FOR COLDS.

It is proverbial that people treat a cold (and the generally accompanying cough) as something that will cure itself; but neglect is serious and sometimes fatal. The time of DODD'S NERVINE in the relief of colds is established. Use this standard remedy, and so far abstain from liquids of a heroic character as to keep warm for a few days, and the worst cold will soon be gone.

DODD'S NERVINE

Is a PURE TONIC—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE—gives increased energy to the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, and other viscera—and supplies FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It operates soothingly and pleasantly to take any wine, and with SLEEP AND GOOD DIGESTION, which it promotes, restores the afflicted to sound health of body and quietness of mind. It contains no spirits, mercury or strychnine, so often used for nervous complaints, and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative power.

George Hartford, of Dover, committed suicide by hanging, Monday. Depression of spirits from straightened circumstances, with temporary insanity, was the probable cause. He was a carpenter by trade, 45 years of age, and leaves a wife and four children.

☞ Mr. Eusebius Hutchings of Louisville, Ky., a Portsmouth boy, sends $100 for the public library.

CONGRESS.—On Saturday, the House unseated Ryan, Democrat, of Louisiana, and gave Newsham, Republican, the seat, by seven majority.

New Publications Received.

The Atlantic Monthly, and Our Young Folks, for June. From the publishers, Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston. Joseph and His Friend, and We Girls, are continued.

Good Health, for June. Alex. Moore, publisher, Boston. A valuable monthly.

Old and New, for June.—crowded and crammed full of good reading. Boston: H. O. Houghton & Co.

The Nursery, for June, for youngest readers. John L. Shorey, publisher, Boston. A beautiful publication.

Harper's Magazine for June is for sale by Batchelder & Co., and is a more than usually interesting number of a monthly that is always interesting. The illustrated articles are Travels in Spain, Frederick the Great, Mysteries of a Thunder Shower, the Rob Roy on the Jordan, and the Hot Current of the Atlantic.

New Sheet Music, from O. Ditson & Co., Boston, who will furnish any article in the musical line.

The Galaxy for June is a splendid number. Put Yourself in His Place draws to a close, and each month's conclusion leaves the reader in a provoking uncertainty as to what will become of Reade's hero and heroines. J. S. Black of Pennsylvania has an irritable letter to Senator Wilson on the late Edwin M. Stanton; Justin McCarty has a very interesting article on The American Man and the Englishman; and Mark Twain has streaks of fanciful humor in his Memoranda. Sheldon & Co., publishers, New York.

YORK COUNTY.—The following appointments have been made by the Governor of Maine; To solemnize marriages, S. A. Hutchinson, Kittery; Trial Justice, H. A. Butler, North Berwick.

The P. S. & P. R. R. Co. have torn down the freight house and a woodshed at Kennebunk, and are about to build a new freight house. A new track is being constructed, by which the delay made by up and down trains meeting at the depot can be remedied, and ten minutes saved in the time from Kennebunk to Boston.

Wednesday morning, just after a freight train had left Kennebunk, a car containing sixteen bales of cotton belonging to the Pepperell Manufacturing Co., was discovered to be on fire. The cotton as far as possible was rolled into some water in the vicinity. But considerable was destroyed. It was insured in Boston.

The Advent soci ety will undoubtedly build a church this season near the depot, at Kennebunk.

The following persons have been appointed to take the Census in towns in York county. Alfred, Abner Mitchell; Berwick, M. E. Marshall; York, A. G. Goodwin; Eliot, J. F. Kennard; Kittery, Alex. Dennett; Kennebunk, P. C. Wiggin; North Berwick, Geo. H. Snow; South Berwick, E. F. Neally; Wells, C. L. Meldram.

☞ It has been well said, that he who charges the whole world with being rascals, convicts at least himself. We commend this to the Exeter News Letter, which has an outrageous article on our State delegation in Congress, charging them all with being for sale and being bought—thus:

"The members of our delegation in Congress are closely related to articles of barter in every market: they are for sale; their commercial value is set."

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—On Saturday, the jury found Geo. T. Wentworth and Wm. F. O'Neill of Dover guilty of fraudulently obtaining a mother's pension for Mrs. Hannah Smith of Ossipee, mother of Thos. L. Ambrose, deceased, formerly chaplain of the 12th N. H. Regiment.

Counsel for respondents entered a motion in arrest of judgment. The case was continued to the October term. Defendants furnished bail in the sum of $3000 each.

The case of Hattie O. Bean, who was too unwell to appear, was continued and the Court adjourned.

☞ The Concord fight is on to-day, the occasion being the annual meeting of the Concord Railroad stockholders. A lively time is anticipated, and the new stockholders have high hopes of ousting the old Board of Directors.

BASE BALL.—The Athletic nine from Philadelphia arrived in Boston, Saturday evening. They were to play the Harvards Monday, Lowells Tuesday, and Tri Mountains Wednesday.

—The perpetrator of the following we are happy to say is deceased. He was bled to death with hair pins, afterwards drowned in catnip tea. When are babies not babies? When they are robin' red breasts.

—Benevolence often consists in an ambition to distribute others' money.

POLITICAL. — The Republican Convention for the nomination of a candidate for Congress in the First Maine District will meet at Saco, June 20th. Congressman Lynch, who has served three terms, and Gen. Mark F. Wentworth, of Kittery, are the leading candidates.

There are only 27 candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor of New York.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Thrice Armed!

Thrice is he armed who keeps within reach of his hand a specific that at one and the same time will strengthen, regulate and purify his system when enfeebled, disordered and corrupted.

Such is the three-fold operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, and hence the great superiority of that standard vegetable restorative over all medicines that are merely tonics and nothing else. The effect of the ordinary astringent tinctures and extracts upon the bowels is disastrous, and upon the depraved blood or bile they produce no beneficial effect whatever. In dyspepsia and liver complaint all the fluids and humors of the body are more or less infected, and the bowels are often badly constipated. An unmodified astringent—quinine for instance—does infinitely more harm than good in such cases.

In Hostetter's Bitters, on the other hand, the stimulating and tonic elements are equalized with aperients and antiseptic ingredients. The finest laxatives and blood deputents in the vegetable kingdom are intermixed with those of a purely invigorating nature, and under the operation of this admirable combination, the three important processes of invigoration, regulation and purification go on together. The rapidity with which the disordered organization returns to its natural condition, under a course of the Bitters, is due to this cause.

Every disturbed function of the body is favorably affected by the various properties of this comprehensive and well balanced preparation. As a general rule the bowels are more subject to irregularities, and the fluids more liable to become vitiated in spring and summer than in winter, and hence the Bitters are especially valuable as a spring and summer alterative, aperient and invigorant. At all seasons where the seeds of intermittent fevers infect the air, this healthful vegetable elixir should be taken as a protective medicine.

PAIN KILLER
Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors,
1840. PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1870.

Time tests the Merits of all Things.

☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

This valuable Family Medicine has been widely and favorably known in our own and foreign countries, upwards of

THIRTY YEARS!

It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest.

It is an External and Internal Remedy. For Summer Complaint, or any other form of bowel disease in children or adults, it is an almost certain cure, and has without doubt, been more successful in curing the various kinds of CHOLERA than any other known remedy, or the most skillful physician. In India, Africa and China, where this dreadful disease is more or less prevalent, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as European residents in those climates, a sure remedy; and while it is a most efficacious remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in unskillful hands.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is much more far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

as PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

DOGS.—A Boston business man, formerly resident here, was in town a couple of hours last week; and writes thus, in a brief business letter:

The old town don't alter much, that I see. O yes, I forgot one thing—I think I saw more dogs and curs, in proportion, than in any other place of its size I know of. I should think it would be a good place to go a gunning. However, I am glad you excel down there in some things, if not in others; and think you can take the championship on dogs.

A FISH STORY.—A very intemperate fish, and judging from his portliness and the quality of his drink, one of no small consequence, was found in a fare landed by Capt. Spinney at Messrs. Harding & Doane's. On opening him the workman noticed the unusual size of his stomach, and cutting into it discovered a champagne bottle, with the cork drawn and the former contents appropriated. What a headache his fishship must have had!

QUICK RETURN.—On Saturday, a fellow named Chas. H. Bailey, 20 years of age, stole $95 from his employer, a farmer named Hunniwell, near Exeter, and cleared out. Marshal Johnson of this city was telegraphed to, and received a description of the thief and a request to look out for him; and starting for Newburyport by rail, saw the man on the track just beyond Salisbury, walking towards Boston. Getting out at Newburyport, he found the Marshal of that city and Deputy Sheriff Towle of Exeter, who were also on the lookout for Bailey, and told them the thief was coming in on the track. The officers quietly waited for him to approach, caught him, and he was taken back to Exeter in the afternoon, having spent but 20 cents of the money stolen, for two cigars. He was examined on Monday before Justice Bell of Exeter, and bound over in $300 to appear at the October term of the S. J. Court, in this city; and he will probably have to pay heavily for his smoke.—When our City Marshal gets after a thief, or other rascal, he generally makes it lively for him.

☞ Encourage your own—and don't take it all out in talk, either. Don't patronize foreign peddlers of any kind, whether of books, dry goods, printing, fancy goods, carriages, or what not. Every dollar and every hundred spent here, helps the city. Cames' Carriage Factory now employs 30 hands, and they are turning out nice vehicles of all sorts, for this and other markets. And there are other creditable, smaller establishments in the city. Call on some of them if you want anything in this line.

In the printing line, a good joke was told us the other day. A printer of this ilk, having occasion to buy furniture, patriotically selected quite an amount—of a dealer at home; and on paying his bill, laughed in his sleeve to find the heading was printed by a travelling pedler of stationery, who deludes many un-learned people into believing he does work and sells paper cheaper than dealers and printers in the city. All a humbug. Isn't it a likely story, that he can pay travelling expenses, and the high rents in Boston, and yet do this?

☞ At a special meeting of both Boards of the City Council on Monday evening, the annual Appropriation Bill was passed, as follows:

☞ The Sheridan Bit is an elegant affair, and durable as well as powerful. It is well shown in the cut we publish this morning, and we have found it to be very pleasant and effective in use; and while an easy bit if not pulled upon hard by the horse, it will punish if needed. A short time since we bought a full plate English curb bit, as good as we could readily find in the market, for a mare with rather a hard mouth, and the first time we pulled on it one of the check pieces broke in two, and the bit dropped out of the horse's mouth—but being a sensible, though spirited animal, she was easily stopped, when she found something was wrong, as any decent horse will do. The Sheridan Bit is all of wrought iron, and will thus stand all the pulling a horse ought to oblige a driver to do.

The Sheridan Bit we are using came in a package of goods from the manufacturers, for Messrs. Main & Winchester; and we understand that this patent Bithas the approval of these experiedced and tasteful connoisseurs in all that appertains to horses and saddlery goods, as well as most other good things in life. And the Bit speedily wins favor wherever it is introduced.

☞ Sunday night was cold, and Jack Frost stole a march on May, clothing the fields with a coat of his own fitting.

☞ The Rockingham County (Exeter) Agricultural Society is announced in the News Letter to hold a Fair, Sept. 13, 14 and 15; place not given.

L—O—A—N
—OF THE—
CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad
Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.
In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.
When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.
It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.
It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.
The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)
The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of
INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,
Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500 and $100,
and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.
Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.
All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.
They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

THE SHERIDAN BIT.

THE ORNAMENTAL "SHERIDAN" BIT. There is a growing desire on the part of the more humane owners of horses, to subdue and bring them under the control of their driver by kindness and the use of such appliances only as are absolutely necessary. That the horse is not naturally vicious, may readily be inferred from the success that has attended the efforts of those owners and trainers who have, for a number of years back, been engaged in subduing the most intractable, and rendering them docile and obedient to kind treatment. The use of harsh and cruel bits have, in a great measure, been dispensed with, and at the present time the snaffle, the ring, and the Hanoverian, are the most used in this country. The two first mentioned are the favorites for light harness and riding bridles, while the Hanoverian is used on coach and other double harness, where ornaments are desirable.

The military still adhere to the gag, as do the Spanish and Mexicans, but in most countries the snaffle is the great favorite. Major Dwyer of the Austrian hussars says of it, "Of all instruments employed in handling, riding, or driving horses, the common smooth snaffle is by far the best and most generally useful. It is that by means of which the highest results can be obtained, while, on the other hand, less mischief can be done with it than with any other." Other kinds of bits are used, such as the loop-ring, port, and bradoon, but their use is more the result of the caprice or whim of the driver than from any actual advantage over the snaffle.

There may be cases where the use of a severe bit is a necessity, but humanity would dictate that resort should never be had to those that are only productive of pain, without giving to the driver any additional advantage. So constant is the bit in use, that care should be taken to render it as nearly painless as possible. The introduction of the rubber and leather mouth piece has been productive of much good, and we hope that the day is not far distant when these, or some other equally desirable material, will be used exclusively in the winter months, for it is an act of cruelty to the horse to force a frosted bit into his mouth.

There are about twenty varieties of bits in use in this country, and every year new patents are granted; during the past year eight patents were taken out, and while some of them were intended for the control of vicious horses, yet none were gotten up with a view to cruelty.

The finest bit in use is without doubt the forged bit, made out of "U B" Norway iron. These bits are forged throughout, and worked up entirely by hand. They are in every respect equal, if not superior, to the best imported bit. The next best is the forged mouth-piece, with malleable iron cheek-pieces, while the lowest priced bits are the malleable, all parts being cast.

While the bit is an absolute necessity, it is also an ornament, and we believe that a great majority of owners of horses are governed in their choice of bits more by their ornamental appearance than by their adaptability to the purpose for which they were constructed. It is this that gives to the Hanoverian its great popularity as a coach bit, the heavy cheek-pieces, with an elegant "boss" in full gilt, giving to the bridle a rich and stylish appearance

The latest style of ornamenting we have seen, as it is, in fact, the latest issued, having been patented Nov. 2d, 1869, is that of which we give an illustration. It is known as the patent ornamental "Sheridan" bit; it is constructed with a tubular mouth-piece, the eye is forged on a short rod which is swedged to the proper size to fit the bore of the mouth-piece, into which it is inserted and held to its place by means of a rivet, which passed entirely through the mouth and eye pieces. The large washer is made of heavy patent leather, the small washer is of metal, and can be plated with silver or gilt, or finished in any other manner desired.

The effect produced by these two products is showy and ornamental. The use of the leather washer is the new, but heretofore, when used, it had to be cut apart and switched together on the bit; this stitching soon became unsightly, and the leather had to be removed; this washer is, however, solid, a small hole being punched through the center to allow the eye-piece to pass through, and when finished they cannot slip, as they are held between the end of the mouth-piece and the shoulder on the eye-piece. This ornament as shown here is on a Hanoverian bit; but it is equally well adapted to all other styles and looks particularly well on the snaffle and ring bits. Independent of their effect as ornaments, they serve to keep the cheek-piece clean, as the saliva from the horse's mouth cannot get outside of it.

Many horsemen prefer bits with washers of this kind, claiming that a horse will obey it much quicker than most others, on account of the pressure brought to bear against the cheek, also preventing the horse getting the ring into his mouth. The rubber or leather mouth-piece can be used on these bits without much trouble, by removing the rivet and pulling out the eye-piece from one side and sliding the cover over the mouth-piece and fixing the bit as before. This bit is manufactured by Messrs. Weiner & Co., of Newark, N. J., who are the exclusive owners of the patent.—Harness and Carriage Jour.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

DOVER, May 21.

The annual Episcopal Convention of the Diocese of New Hampshire will be held at the St. Thomas Church, in Dover, the 25th inst. Rev. Dr. Parker of Exeter, will deliver the Convention sermon. The matter of choosing a new Bishop will be attended to. Several candidates are talked of, both in and out of the State, but it is said that Rev. Dr. Hoffman of Philadelphia is the most popular.

Opening services will be held Tuesday evening, when Rev. Dr. Thos. R. Lambert of Charlestown Mass., the founder of the parish, and out of compliment to whom the name St. Thomas was given it, will deliver the sermon. Wednesday morning there will be regular service and Holy Communion.

The Strafford Guards of this city, will celebrate their anniversary on Tuesday the 24th inst. Exercises will consist of marching and target practice in the daytime, with banquet at the American House, and reception and promenade in the evening at the City Hall, music by the Dover Cornet Band.

Our City Fathers last week convened, and after a general discussion it was voted to appropriate $23,000, for the building of a new schoolhouse, with eight rooms. It was also voted to petition the coming Legislature to pass a Betterment law, which will it is thought, add to the attractions of old Dover.

A Souvenir was discovered by an antiquarian, searching among the ancient graves of Pine Hill Cemetery, last week. It is a head stone, which declares the dust beneath to have been transported in the ancient May Flower in the person of one the Pilgrim Fathers. Here is a rare-ripe for the Historical Society.

The annual out door picnic of the High and Grammar schools, will this season be celebrated together, and on Friday next, our entire stock of young ideas, "in course of training" will hie away to the woods at Berwick Junction, to enjoy a day "let loose from school." Two bands are engaged and a nice time is anticipated. K.

—There is in Detroit a young man who has on the right side of his face a heavy black beard, and has also a moustache, while his left cheek is, and always has been, entirely beardless. He is now nineteen years of age, and his beard upon the one side began to grow luxuriantly when he was a mere infant.

—It is said that within the whole range of histories used in the schools of Great Britain, nothing can be found which relates to the war of the Revolution in this country, or which describes the results following it.

—A Maine doctor, applying for a position as an examiner to a life insurance company, replied to the question as to the system on which he practiced: "On the human system."

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and gives its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with wet suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and tints, ready for use, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in Keg, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with despatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works to determine the novelty and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copying of claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a gummy sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil the most delicate head dress, and is yet a lasting and a rich glossy lustre and a gratefull perfume.
